sales tax that would raise $400,000,000, and it was to include clothing and many of the other items you have now taken out. We thought that somewhere along the line we had to believe some spokesman for the Republican Party and so, true to my word upon this floor, I went over to the House and gave them the message that the House was waiting for. The House Leader, Charles Smith, candidate for Auditor General on the Duff ticket, said that he was not going to commit himself on these conferences and I know that it is right for me to expose this because the people ought to know that particular phase. He said he was not going to commit himself because he would take whatever tax bill the Republican Senators said they would vote for.

Senator Kessler, as the spokesman of the Republican Party and Chairman of the Finance Committee, said that he would be for a three per cent sales tax that would raise $400,000,000 in the length of time remaining to be collected. So, the House of Representatives met in their Committee on Ways and Means and presented to the floor this afternoon the Republican sponsored—Hewitt bill, in its original form as it was sponsored, without a Democratic amendment of any kind, and raised it to three per cent. Incidentally, that was done after I talked to the sponsor of the bill, Representative Hewitt, who agreed that it would take three per cent. They presented it to the floor and your Republican Leader immediately fell into a frenzy to think that he might have to vote before election.

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, the reason that you went into a hurried up meeting today to bring out your version of a sales tax, which exempts everybody but the people, was because you ran into trouble, as I predicted you would in your own House of Representatives. You thought that you could beat them to the punch and put the Democrats on the spot. We are so used to that, it does not even phase us anymore. We were on the spot under the classified income tax. According to you people, it was the most unpopular tax ever passed or ever attempted to be passed. We were on the spot with the manufacturers' excise tax. According to you people, again the most unpopular thing that was ever attempted. I suppose now that we are in this position, according to Senator Kessler, this is the most popular tax that was ever offered to the people. Babies are crying for it, women are howling for it, dogs are barking for it, and, all over the State there is a great clamor and a huge cry, "Give us the sales tax. We want it so badly." You better tell Charlie Smith about this because he has not heard their cries.

Mr. President, the people of Pennsylvania have been subjected to thirteen months of dillydallying on the part of the Republican Membership in the General Assembly. To say that this Governor is stubborn is to utter a falsehood. If a man were stubborn, he would not offer three separate tax proposals. If a man were stubborn, he would not say to you, "Gentlemen, we have gone beyond the day of petty politics; the State is in dire straits." Therefore, I say to you Members of the Senate on the Republican side, choose any tax that you want and provide fifty per cent for the needs of the Commonwealth and we will do the same. You rejected it, but, lo and behold, your spokesman over in the House today accepted it. He wants it. I do not know whether Senator Mahany has a direct line over to Charles Smith, but if he does not have, I would like to make a motion that they get one so that the two of them would at least go down the same street together. It may be the two-way street that my friend, Harve, talks about all the time. However, it seems that it is a two-way street and they are traveling in opposite directions.

I do not know where Senator Kessler got his estimates, but I think he will admit that the sales tax that was placed upon the books by Governor Fine and the Republican Party raised $5,200,000 a month. That tax bill contained within it industrial machinery, construction material, and many of the items that you have exempted. For instance, gas was in that bill. That item was good for approximately $2,300,000. You have exempted all of these. The industry leaders tell me that a three per cent machinery tax would hit them for approximately $35,000,000 in two years. Reducing that, you would find that it is almost $3,000,000, or $1,500,000 a month. You have exempted that. If you exempt features that were not exempted in a tax that pays $5,200,000 a month, how can you get $305,000,000 added? I do not believe that your tax bill will bring in $12,000,000 a month with the three per cent. It certainly will not bring $20,000,000 a month. I do not believe my grandson, Johnny, who is only in the second grade, would try to add that up and come up with your answer. Say that it averages, by giving you every break in the world, $15,000,000. Say that we do go out and make the merchants pay it on their sales instead of the operation that they had under the late lamented Republican Administration. Suppose we collected every cent that is paid by the people. You and I know that that cannot be done. The experience in the State of California is that for every per cent of tax collected on the breakage of less than an even dollar price, the people paid two and eight-tenths per cent. In other words, for every $1,000,000 that the State collects on the breakages of prices under a dollar, the people in California pay $2,800,000. One million eight hundred thousand dollars goes into the pockets of the people in this State who so violently fought the one percent sales tax in Pennsylvania two years ago and, as I predicted two years ago, they have come in this time asking you to pass it.

Mr. President, if you collect $15,000,000 a month, and I do not believe you can, in the remaining fifteen months that you will have to collect it, you will have $225,000,000. There is a slight difference between $225,000,000 and $305,000,000. What happens if it does not collect $305,000,000? Do we then go into the second phase of the diabolical scheme, worked out in the minds of the cutie pie politicians, who would like to leave this Administration with a deficit of $150,000,000 to $200,000,000, starting next January in order that they would then, starting next June a year from now, be able to say, "They have a deficit; they do not know how to run government; this is mismanagement"?

I am going to answer one criticism here today and I want it to be understood that we will accept Senator Mahany's usual speech about it regularly every week. However, I think we should clear it up. Senator Mahany has accused Governor Leader of going before the people and stating that no new taxes would be needed. That is not quite the truth. However, we will admit that Governor Leader did say to the people that he would not sign a sales tax and that he did not believe in taxation upon those least able to pay.

Governor Leader, you know, was in the same fix that Governor Duff was in. When Governor Duff was a candidate, he had to rely upon the figures given him by the Budget Officer of Governor Martin. He went out into the State and he told the people that there was a $200,000,000 surplus in the treasury of the State of Pennsylvania, and that there would be a reduction in taxes. You need not ask me how I know, because I was a candidate that year for Lieutenant-Governor and had to fight that $200,000,000 surplus. Then, we came into office in January, a month or so after the election, and, lo and behold, Governor Duff found out that he did not have a surplus of $200,000,000. He found out that what he needed was $124,000,000 in new money. Governor Leader, as a candidate, had to rely upon the same Budget Director's figures.

If you will remember, during the year of the campaign, there was quite a debate along the line somewhere between Duff and Mr. Fine, one time, when Mr. Fine said that he was left a deficit by Mr. Duff and that he was leaving a surplus on the way out. Mr. Duff said that he left a surplus and that Mr. Fine was going to leave the deficit. So, when you accuse the Governor of making false statements, go back in your own history a little bit. The Governor, when he did take office, realized the position he was in and he came before this General Assembly in a forthright statement. He assumed the responsibility for the increases he was asking for for mental health, welfare, and he assumed the responsibility for an industrial expansion program. He laid before this General Assembly the costs of government that were mandated, plus the $152,000,000 which was needed to meet the deficit and to put back into the budget the same amount in order that there would not be a deficit.

I am not going to try to discuss the merits or demerits of this particular measure until I read it. I am convinced, however, and I would like to have Senator Kessler, tomorrow, present at least to this floor some authority for his statement that this butchered excise tax will yield $305,000,000 in a collection period. I also would like to have read onto the floor a statement from Charlie Smith that he will accept a three per cent sales tax. I believe it is only fair that that be done in order that the people of Pennsylvania will know that after thirteen months, the controversy is not between Democrats and Republicans; the controversy is between one batch of Republicans and another batch of Republicans.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, as usual, we are getting into debating bills before they are on the Calendar. If we have as much debate when this bill reaches the Calendar and is up for a vote as we have had preliminarily, we will probably be here for a couple of days.

Senator Dent has seen fit not only to deliver himself of his own pervocation but has also tried to anticipate what I might say, I am not going to go into all the promises which the Governor made again today. I think I talked to some extent on that yesterday. I do remember, however, an editorial in the Erie Times which stated that they could not go along with Governor Leader, or rather candidate Leader, because although he stated that he would not be for a broad base sales tax or a broad base income tax, he had as yet not come up with a type of tax which he would go along with. They realized that we would have need for more money in this biennium to finance the State's needs, and they felt that certainly if he had not told the people what type of tax he would go for up until a week before election, then they could not go along with him as a candidate. However, as we all know, there were a great majority of people who felt that he did have some kind of an answer and so they voted for him and he was successful. Now, after he was elected, we do find that, as we thought, he would need more money. He not only needs a few million dollars more; he needs upwards of $400,000,000. We say that we think he can get along with $400,000,000 extra, and the Democrats admit that he needs somewhat like $465,000,000 or thereabouts.

Mr. President it would be very nice today if we were in the same position as George Leader was when he was a Senator here in this Chamber. It would be very nice if we were in the same position which Senator Dent has enjoyed over the past few years, when we could all say, "No, we are not going to be for these new taxes." As I remember Senator Dent's answer when I asked him why George Leader, when he was Senator, did not even vote for the real estate transfer tax, he told me that probably the reason he did not vote for it was because it was a new tax and it was awfully difficult for representatives to vote for something new. That was the reason he did not vote for that. Certainly, if that is an excuse, we surely, on this side, have a lot of excuses because all we have seen to date has been some new type of tax, something new to be tried on the people of Pennsylvania as guinea pigs. We are not in that position, however, Senator Dent. We are in the position where we know that we have to furnish some votes for some type of tax. The type of taxes which you have brought over to us have been obnoxious. The classified income tax was very obnoxious, not only to us but to the people generally in the State of Pennsylvania.

Then we rested awhile and you brought over another one, which was the manufacturers' excise tax. That tax, also, was undesirable and we could find no votes for it. We, therefore, felt that we did have some obligation to the people of Pennsylvania. We could not just sit here and say "no." We wanted to go on record and say, "Here is a type of tax that the majority of the Republicans in the Senate will vote for and we feel that that will bring in so much money."

We do not expect to finance all this additional need by a sales tax. I believe that would be very burdensome to the people of Pennsylvania. I do not remember that anyone has stated that that was what we should do. I certainly would not be a party to financing this entire need by a sales tax because it would have to be too great a percentage. I feel that certainly the greatest percentage that we should put on the people is three percent, and we should have the same type of exemptions as they have under the Ohio plan.

Mr. President, the people over in Ohio have been getting along very nicely with a three per cent sales tax. They also have about the same exemptions in their plan as we have under the Kessler amendments. I suppose that when the Ohio tax was originally put on, there was a certain amount of criticism and I believe they even voted out of power the party that was in power when the sales tax was placed on the books. However, over the period of years in which they have had Democratic Governors and Democratic Legislatures, they have not seen fit to remove it from the books.

I live quite near to the border of Ohio and I get over there quite often, and I find that the people there generally are pretty satisfied with paying this rate of tax. Senator, if you are not satisfied with this tax of course, it is up to you to vote "no" on it. I will say that the same thing is true with any Republican who wants to vote against this tax. He has a perfect right to vote his convictions.

Although this starts out to be a three per cent sales tax, I understand that the amendments provide that beginning with January 1, 1957, the rate will be reduced to two per cent. How much money this tax will raise may be very much the subject of debate. I presume we would have to get together with the Budget Director and the Department of Revenue and others in order to find out about what they would estimate this tax to bring in. Certainly, it will bring in over $100,000,000 and it might bring in over $200,000,000. Also, maybe as Senator Dent said, it might not hit the $305,000,000 mark but whatever it will bring in will help us finance our school needs and the various things which need to be done. If we keep arguing back and forth here day after day, pretty soon we are going to see some of the schools of Pennsylvania have to close down for want of money, and none of us want to see that happen.

Senator, I have failed to find people over here on this side of the aisle who will vote for an income tax, and I can find none who feel that they can vote for an income tax and properly represent the people who sent them down here. It is, therefore, not my fault that we are in this position. They feel that if they are going to be called upon to help raise the money for the tax program and for the budget requirements, they can go along with the sales tax.

Mr. President, perhaps there might have to be some more amendments put in here. It might be a matter of trying to work it out between Democratic and Republicans. I personally am willing to work hours to try to work some kind of a compromise with the Democratic leadership, but for them to close their eyes and turn down their thumbs and say, "Nothing doing, we are not going to vote for this because it bears a Democratic Member's name on the bill and you are up to some kind of skulduggery," I think is an indication that they are closing their eyes to the needs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. We expect to bring this bill up for a vote tomorrow and if they do not want to vote for it, then the bill will fall because we do not have a sufficient number of Republican votes, due to two absentees that I know of, to pass this bill.

In addition to this, we have not placed all of the tax burden and we are not trying to raise it all through the sales tax. In addition to this tax bill, you will remember that Senator Kessler reported out an increase of one percent in the corporate net income tax, which will raise $55,000,000. He also reported out a bill which will accelerate the payment of the capital stock tax, which will bring in another $25,000,000. Therefore, all together, this will amount to $70,000,000 in additional taxes, and these are additional taxes on what you call big business. We feel that both business in Pennsylvania and the citizens of Pennsylvania must raise these funds.

I also believe in the doctrine of ability to pay. I know from my experience of being a lawyer for many years that the old saying is that you cannot get blood out of a turnip or you cannot get blood out of a stone. The only way you are going to get any money out of anybody is to try to get some out of the fellow who has money.

Mr. President, I believe that the sales tax is, more or less, based on ability to pay, Senator, when you and I go down to the store to buy suits, we usually pay a lot more for our suits than the fellow who, we will say, is in poorer circumstances than we are. The fellow who has more money than we have perhaps pays more money for his suits, and pays more money for the various things that he buys. If he buys a yacht, he will have to perhaps pay a sales tax on that yacht. He will pay the tax on whatever he buys. If he buys a Cadillac car, and we buy a Ford, he will have to pay more sales tax. In effect, therefore, as I say, the sales tax is based more or less on the doctrine of ability to pay.

This is our program. I personally can vote for this bill, as amended, as part of the package of the bills brought out to put more taxes on industry in Pennsylvania and if it does not receive enough votes to pass, then we will have to start all over again.

Perhaps, Mr. President, we could have very well also rested here under the provisions of the Constitution and said, "Send over some more taxes from the House and when you finally get one over here that we like, we will vote for it." However, had we done that, we feel that we would be here perhaps another year and in order to resolve this problem somewhat, and show to the people of Pennsylvania the type of program which a majority of the Republicans here can endorse, we have brought out this bill as amended. It was the only way that we could bring to the attention of the people our ideas on taxation.

Mr. President, as the Senator knows, we could not institute or initiate a tax bill in the Senate and the only way that we could possibly do this was to amend a tax bill which we had before us, and that is the reason we amended this particular bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will have to read the amendments tomorrow to make sure about this yacht business because, as I understand it, if they are up to certain tons they do not have to pay the tax. Of course, most people know that yachts are bought by persons who are big corporations and are paid for by the corporations; not only the yachts but the operation of them. However, that is beside the point.

I am not going to get into another discussion, but I just want to tell a little story which probably will illustrate what I mean by the attitude of the Republican Party in the House. Senator Mahany called attention to the fact that these were business taxes, or so-called big corporation taxes; one per cent on corporate net income and a $25,000,000 accelerated collection of the capital stock. It is not fair to say that the $25,000,000 is a new tax. That is just an accelerated collection of a present tax; one that is on the books and does not cost industry one more cent. It is just an acceleration so that we can meet some of the bills in this biennium which were left to us. However, we will take the $55,000,000 figure, although the best experts say $54,000,000 is tops, that Senator Mahany estimates they are putting on business and industry in Pennsylvania, and we will take the $305,000,000 figure that the fair chairman of the committee intends to put on the little people of this State. Of course, that is your idea of 50-50 but it reminds me of the story of the butcher who was arrested for selling rabbit sausage, and he was arrested because he was not advertising it truly. When they had him up before the judge, they said, "What kind of sausage is this? What is your defense?" "Well," he said, "it is rabbit sausage. I mix a little horse meat with it." The judge asked, "What proportions?" The butcher replied, "It is a 50-50 basis. I use one rabbit and one horse."

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. BARR asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I am going to be very brief but I just wanted to tell Senator Mahany that if he is looking for me to discuss this tax bill, he should look elsewhere. You go and find your man, Smith, and discuss it with him before you ever try and discuss any more tax bills with us. Since you have put yourself up as a Justice, which you were called when we debated the classified income tax, I would like to ask you a few questions.

INTERROGATION

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I will, of course, but I wish that the Senator would wait until we have the printed bill before us. There are many of these amendments which I have not yet had an opportunity to study but if there is something I can answer, I will try my best to do so.

Mr. BARR. Mr. Mahany, you are familiar, I guess, with the fact that there is a Constitution in this State?

Mr. MAHANY. I thought there was up until this Session of the Legislature.

Mr. BARR. I would suggest then that you read Section 14, which states that all bills for raising revenue shall originate in the House of Representatives. This section provides that the Senate may propose amendments as in other bills.

Would you tell me if a manufacturers' excise tax is the same type of a tax as a retail sales tax?

Mr. MAHANY. I did not understand that this is called a retail sales tax. As I understand it, it is a use tax. There is a case, which I will be happy to show the Senator tomorrow morning, in which the Supreme Court held that they will not go behind the Governor's signature to inquire into the proceedings that were had before the Legislature in the enactment of a bill.

Mr. BARR. Was that a tax bill?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, I believe that was a tax bill.

Mr. BARR. I would like to see the case.

Mr. MAHANY. I will be happy to show it to you.

Mr. BARR. Would you answer my question? Can you see any comparison between a manufacturers' excise tax and this consumer or retail sales tax?

Mr. MAHANY. Well, I can see a great amount of comparison, Senator. Suppose we had passed your manufacturers' excise tax, as it came over to the Senate. I believe it was to become effective as of January 1st, 1956. Suppose there were a tax on all of the inventories in all of the stores in the State of Pennsylvania, on the manufactured articles therein, and the store keeper had, we will say, paid a tax on a typewriter and I had gone in on January 2nd to buy that typewriter. He would have added onto the price of the typewriter the amount of tax.

I probably would have said to him, "What is this, a sales tax?" He would have then said to me, "No, it is a manufacturers' excise tax." Under this bill, instead of saying that to the customer, he can say, "No, this is a use tax or a consumers' tax." I think this tax takes money out of the pockets of the people who are buying articles in the stores, the same as the manufacturers' excise tax would have.

If you would have been honest about it—and I think you tried but sometimes held back a little—and if you had placed this manufacturers' excise tax on the books, it would have been handed down the line and the manufacturer would have handed it down to the wholesaler, the wholesaler would have handed it down to the retailer and the retailer would have handed it down to the customer. I think that was your intent, instead of it being absorbed by the fellow who paid the tax. I, therefore, think there are a great number of similarities, Senator, between this tax, as it was brought over from the House, and the tax as it is now amended.

Mr. BARR. Thank you, Justice Mahany. I will tell you this. We are not going to ask the Lieutenant-Governor to rule on that, because this tax has as much chance as a proverbial snowball in you know where.

Mr. President, I told them in committee today and they agreed with me, your colleagues who are in the majority, that the paper which we sent to your Caucus yesterday had in it the words that when the sales tax, if it were passed in the House, came over here, Senator Dent and I would not ask you to bring your two sick Senators, Senator Pechan and Senator Watson, here to vote, as we would furnish those two votes. However, as I told the Senators today, we would not vote that way for a sales tax sponsored by a Democrat, because the thing came over a dove and has now come out a raven. We are not going to give you any votes for this monstrosity which has been placed on our desks this afternoon.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator, I did not understand that you could talk for all the individual Senators over there. I thought that you did not take Caucus action, but it looks now as though you are going to dictate how all the individual Members over there vote. If that is true, then this bill will fall tomorrow sometime.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I desire to further interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be further interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Can you produce your twenty-four votes for this bill tomorrow?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Barr, I do not say that I can, nor do I say that I cannot. I will say that I can produce one and that is my own. If any Senator over here thinks that he should vote against this bill, that is his prerogative. I can neither spank him nor reward him for his vote.

Mr. BARR. I just want to say to you that when we told the Members on this side about the exemptions that were written in this bill, they said, "Over our dead bodies."

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 854, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 20, 1947 (P. L. 733) entitled as amended "An act to provide revenue in school districts of the first class A by imposing a temporary tax upon certain classes of personal property . . ." by changing the date for the filing of returns of taxable property requiring the payment of the tax at the time of filing such returns and providing penalties for failure to pay such tax when due.

On the question,

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 855, on second reading, entitled:

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I rise to make the same objection. I am rather surprised that the Republican Majority has decided to recommit these three bills. All they do is postpone a date for the filing of personal property tax returns. There is not a single cent lost and the provision is that instead of filing it on February 15th, it would be filed, I believe, on June 1st and the money paid at the same time.

I, therefore, object again to the recommitment of this bill and ask my colleagues to vote against the motion.

Ordered, That the Clerk inform the House of Representatives accordingly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I merely want to state, particularly for the information of the Minority Leader, that we are prepared to call up Reorganization Plan No. 7 and move for its approval. However, we understand that it was unanimously opposed in the House for some reason today. Therefore, we will not call it up.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I appreciate the information. I was going to say that if you would, it probably would be the procedure to pass Resolution No. 7B, which is a disapproval resolution. The reason for it is that there is an error in it and they are going to re-submit it at a later date.

I think to clear the desk, as I understand the law, it would be best for us to vote on Resolution No. 7B, which would be a disapproval and then they could enter another resolution later, if it is all right with the majority.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. FLEMING asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I would certainly second the motion of Senator Dent.

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 7

Reorganization Plan No. 7 was read by the Clerk as follows:

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 7 OF 1955

L. 1198), known as the "Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Conservation Act," amended August 19, 1953, (P. L. 1115), and in sections 14, 16 and 19 of the act of June 27, 1947, (P. L. 1095), known as the "Anthracite Strip Mining Law," amended August 19, 1953, (P. L. 1112), are transferred to the Secretary of Forests and Waters.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of Forests and Waters to be used, employed and expended in connection with the functions, powers and duties transferred by Section 1 of this Reorganization Plan, all property, supplies, equipment, records, files and contract obligations now being used or held in connection with such functions, powers and duties, and all personnel engaged solely in the performance of such functions, powers and duties, and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use in connection with such functions, powers and duties.

Section 3. The following acts and parts of acts are suspended in so far as they confer functions, powers and duties on the Secretary of Mines:

Sections 11, 12, 13, 14 and 18, act of May 31, 1945, (P. L. 1198), known as the "Bituminous Coal Open Pit Mining Conservation Act," and their amendments.

Sections 14, 16 and 19, act of June 27, 1947, (P. L. 1095), known as the "Anthracite Strip Mining Law," and their amendments.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the resolution?

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 7 OF 1955 DISAPPROVED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if you will note, the Resolutions are A and B. If you adopt the A Resolution, it approves the Reorganization Plan. If you adopt the B Resolution, it disapproves the Reorganization Plan.

Therefore, I move the adoption of Resolution No. 7B.

Mr. FLEMING. I second the motion, Mr. President.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, that last motion made by Senator Dent just goes to prove that we were right when we said that you would certainly get into a lot of trouble by trying to bypass the Constitution and the regular legislative processes in enacting laws in the Commonwealth.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, York, offered the following prayer:

Most Holy God, Eternal and merciful Father, we beseech Thee to hear us and inspire us in all our endeavours as we go about this day's business.

O Christ help us:

To relate our own personal lives and spirit we manifest to the world to Thee and Thy Gospel;

To be Christ-like in our manner of living and in our attitude to others;

To retain our self control in the face of difficult and provoking situations;

To be easy to live with because of the day by day conduct of our life in Thy Spirit;

To take criticism gracefully because we trust in God and His judgments rather than taking overmuch heed to the words of men;

To fashion our character by keeping before us Thyself, the author and finisher of our faith.

Now may the power of our Lord and Christ be strong within us and His peace invade our spirits. Amen.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Speaker has referred the following resolutions:

By Miss LEIBY.

RESOLUTION No. 143.

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1956.

The one great secret to the success of the American people, which has made them the envy of all peoples of the world, is their firm belief that God is the creator of all good things and that only through Him are we enabled to maintain the height of success which we now enjoy and to achieve even greater success in the future.

Realizing our continued need for inner strength and a wisdom greater than our own and for communion with the invisible and the omnipotent, a channel is needed where, in solitude and silence, we may meet with God and draw upon the never ceasing springs of strength through the medium of prayer; therefore be it

Resolved, That a centrally located room in the Capitol be set aside for the purpose of providing legislators and State employes with a place of meditation and prayer, so that they may look to God for strength and guidance to better their lives and to better conduct the affairs of our Commonwealth.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. AUKER, MILLER and ERB.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed)

In the House Representatives, January 16, 1956.

In the year that James Buchanan, the only native born Pennsylvanian to attain that distinction, was elected President of the United States, there was established in the then Borough of Altoona one of the early newspapers of central Pennsylvania.

The Altoona Tribune stands out from other early news publications in that it has continued uninterrupted publication since its first issue on January 12, 1856, and is now, as the oldest daily newspaper in central Pennsylvania, observing its one-hundredth anniversary; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives note the centennial of the Altoona Tribune and congratulate its publishers and editors on their publication's long and outstanding history; and be it further

Resolved, That it instruct its chief clerk to transmit a certified copy of these resolutions to A. B. Crane, Publisher of the Altoona Tribune, Altoona, Pennsylvania.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTIONS FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

SENATE SERIAL No. 144.

In the Senate, August 31, 1955.

During recent sessions of the General Assembly there has been considerable controversy with respect to proposed taxes and their effects upon persons at different income levels; and

Much controversy has been generated by the paucity of reliable data regarding the income position and expenditure pattern of the residents of the Commonwealth; therefore be it

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission is hereby directed to ascertain for Pennsylvania families the level and source of income, number of dependents, and major expenditures such as those for food, clothing, durable goods, and federal, state and local taxes; and be it further

Resolved, That the Joint State Government Commission report the results of its investigation, together with such other fiscal data as may be pertinent, not later than October 1, 1956.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

SENATE MESSAGE

RESOLUTION FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced presented an extract from the Journal of the Senate, which was read as follows:

SENATE SERIAL No. 163.

In the Senate, January 16, 1956.

This being the historic year of the Sesqui-bicentennial Anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, one of the most distinguished of Pennsylvania's adopted citizens, the attention of the General Assembly of Pennsylvania is attracted to an institution he founded—an institution the theme-center whereof is bearing the imprint of his genius and which is still serving the People of our Commonwealth.

In 1727, when Franklin had just come of voting age, he gathered together twelve of his Philadelphia friends to form a small club where each could improve the other. They met weekly, after the long working day, to discuss the topics of the times: the politics of the Republic-to-be, the character of the men who were about to make history in the Revolution, the businesses and industries that were springing up in Philadelphia, the new discoveries of scientists and travelers, the state of the arts and culture in Colonial America.

The name that Franklin gave to his club was "The Junto," derived from the Spanish word for "group" or "get-together." Franklin's Junto lasted for 40 years, as one by one the members passed on.

However, in 1941 there swept over this country a fresh desire among our people for additional knowledge—things that they had no time to study in their public school education—or had no desire to study in these younger years. In Philadelphia a handful of civic-minded men sponsored a mass meeting in the Academy of Music where they invited the public to come and make their wishes known. On that night in 1941, the 3,000 people who jammed into the hall, were matched by another 3,000 who overflowed onto the streets outside. So great was the cry for continued education for adults! In giving form and substance to this need, the guiding spirits of this project took Franklin's old name, "The Junto," for the school for adults which became a non-profit educational institution.

Our Commonwealth gave the new Junto a charter and good wishes—nothing more. It was up to this handful of public-spirited men to underwrite the costs of operation until the students' fees could support the movement. In the short time, The Junto proved that people who want education can support a school which gives them what they want. Moreover, in doing this, The Junto's non-profit tuition fees were lower than the national average, while its teachers' honoraria were higher than those paid in the rest of the country.

One of the answers to this minor miracle lay in the dedicated people, who gave their time and talents to guiding the destiny of this unique institution. Among these have been: Dr. Albert A. Owens, Director of Extension Education of the Board of Education of Philadelphia; Edward Shippen Morris, Esquire, prominent Philadelphia attorney; Dr. J. Frank Jones, renowned English teacher; John Frederick Lewis, public-spirited communal leader; George F. Kearney, noted publicist; Daumant Kusma, radio engineer; Dr. Benjamin Barkas, labor education expert; Donald Jenks; the late Arthur Bloch, department store magnate; and Philip Klein, President of Harcum Junior College.

As the Junto is rounding out its 15th year in 1956, it is attracting an average of 15,000 students annually to its three terms of nine weeks each. Its alumni number over 150,000. These are men and women who have discovered that learning must be life-long—that leisure hours can bring untold pleasure if spent in improving the mind and body skills—that learning can be real fun. The Junto has performed an extra-ordinary service for one of our great cities, for our Commonwealth, and for our Nation by offering to our citizens a range of over 200 subjects designed to help everyone from the new American to our senior citizen.

Moreover, The Junto has furnished leadership—in manpower and in sparkling new ideas—to many other educational institutions in our Commonwealth, setting an inspiring example for emulation by others.

Now be it resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That the General Assembly of Pennsylvania congratulates the "Junto" upon its egregious success and commends it for the cultural values it is steadily forging in the City of Brotherly Love, thereby contributing to Philadelphia's Renaissance of the Holy Experiment as well as setting an example for emulation elsewhere in and in our Land.

And be it further resolved that upon the adoption of the instant Senate Concurrent Resolution by both the Senate and the House of Representatives of the General Assembly, the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby directed to forward copies of the instant Resolution to Philip Klein, President of the "Junto" at the "Junto" Building, N. E. Corner, 12th and Walnut Streets, Philadelphia, and to Edward Shippen Morris, Esquire, 1136 Fidelity Philadelphia Building, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for its concurrence.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 17, 1956.

To the Honorable, the Members of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

I urge the General Assembly to give favorable consideration to several measures designed to promote the welfare of our children and youth.

Juvenile Delinquency is a problem which properly has engaged the attention and aroused the concern of thoughtful people all over the United States. Because the incidence of delinquency has increased in Pennsylvania, as in all States, the Commonwealth must take firm action and give leadership to local communities in meeting this problem which cripples children, destroys family life and represents a cradle for future inmates of our mental hospitals and adult prisons.

Each year approximately 2,500 children are committed to institutions by the Juvenile Courts of Pennsylvania. These children are not born bad. They get into trouble when family life is weak and religious training is meagre. These children can be saved for productive citizenship. We can and must help them and their families.

I was appalled, as I am sure you will be, to learn that Pennsylvania has more children in public and private institutions committed by Juvenile Courts as delinquents than any other state in the Union. We do not need to send so many of our children to institutions and separate them from their families.

Many could be rehabilitated in their home communities if enough and proper personnel facilities were available.

The advantages of keeping children in their own communities when this can safely be done are apparent. Children and the families to which they will ultimately return can be helped by local services to change the behaviour which brought the child to court. House Bill 1618 which has been passed by the House provides consultation to local communities and courts to aid these children and their families and in planning measures for the prevention of delinquency.

Some delinquents, however, require institutional care. Through House Bill 1618, the training schools to which delinquent children are committed will be assisted to improve their programs. The bill also provides for a better system of reimbursement by these counties to the institutions so that county, state—even federal funds expected to be available—may be used to develop better services for these young people. This entire program is urgently needed. Recent studies completed by the Institute of State and Local Government reveal that Pennsylvania's institutional program falls far below the minimum standards required, if we are to rehabilitate our problem children for socially useful lives. Of the 48 states, Pennsylvania is the only one which does not assist its counties in helping disadvantaged children. We cannot be proud of this distinction.

I also submit for your consideration amendments to House Bill 1073, which authorizes the Department of Forests and Waters to establish forestry conservation camps for the development, maintenance and protection of the State forests and State parks, and for the rehabilitation and training of boys between the ages of 15 and 18. These boys will be engaged in developing the State forests and parks for recreation areas. The care, education and training of these boys will be under the supervision of the Departments of Public Instruction, Justice and Welfare, which may operate forestry conservation camps as annexes of existing State-owned institutions. These camps will add to our facilities for education, training and treatment of young men while serving another useful purpose. They represent another means whereby the Commonwealth will assist home communities in helping to rehabilitate otherwise unproductive young people.

Fortunately, only a very small fraction of our troubled young people commit delinquent acts. For these and for all who need help we must provide treatment. Prevention is equally important. Our concern must be for all of our youth. We must provide for recreational opportunities and facilities which will meet the needs of the rural and urban areas and which will serve people in their home communities. We must provide physical and cultural activities for leisure time. Such programs offer our young people a positive approach to life and serve to keep them from rebellious and destructive behavior.

House Bill No. 1546 establishes a State Department of Recreation which will aid in the development of local recreational programs and facilities. This Department will provide information and technical assistance to local governments and agencies in examining needs for recreational facilities and programs and in their development. At the present there is no comprehensive program for recreation in the Commonwealth. What we have is not coordinated. We are not making maximum use of our great natural resources for recreation nor of the cultural opportunities and facilities which exist in many areas of our State. I do not propose that the State Government supplant efforts of local government or private philanthropic groups. House Bill 1546 offers to them assistance, direction and a method for achieving teamwork to make full use of the Commonwealth's wonderful natural and cultural resources for recreational purposes.

Only through a full partnership of local government and citizens' groups with the Commonwealth can we help to protect the future of our young, to redirect our rebellious and troubled children and provide proper facilities and services so that all of our youth may grow up to become happy and useful members of society.

GEORGE M. LEADER, Governor.

SENATE MESSAGE

CONCURRENCE IN HOUSE RESOLUTION No. 73

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, informed that the Senate has concurred in the resolution from the House of Representatives as follows:

In the House of Representatives, May 9, 1955.

It is tragic that many persons traveling in Pennsylvania are unaware that near Titusville a man drilled the first oil well in the world thereby opening the door for the development of the oil industry which has played a great part in the progress of this great Commonwealth.

It is fitting and appropriate that legislative recognition be accorded Colonel Edwin L. Drake for his drilling the first oil well therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring) That State Highway Route No 36 between the Borough of Pleasantville in Venango County and the City of Altoona in Blair County be dedicated as a memorial to Colonel Edwin L. Drake and that this portion of the highway be known as the "Colonel Drake Highway" and be it further

Resolved That the Department of Highways shall erect along the highway suitable tablets and markers and shall carry out suitable landscape development to perpetuate this resolution but shall not replace the officially designated route number of the highway hereby designated as the "Colonel Drake Highway"

RECESS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is about to declare a recess for one hour and a half for the purpose of holding Democratic and Republican caucuses. The Members are requested to repair to their respective caucus rooms immediately.

Without objection, the Chair will now declare a recess for one hour and thirty minutes. The Chair hears none, and a recess is declared.

AFTER RECESS

The time of recess having expired, the House was called to order.

Mr. TOMPKINS IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEE TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. SARRAF asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Ways and Means to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. STRAUSSER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, since the Democratic party has now come to the point of considering a sales tax, I feel that this bill I am now introducing and which has been in the making since last September, is a most equitable tax measure.

I feel that it is the cheapest tax to the low income group and the fairest tax to all. I, therefore, respectfully request that the Ways and Means Committee give it immediate consideration along with the other bills.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The bill will be filed with the Clerk.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

By unanimous consent leave of absence was granted as follows:

Mr. Hocker for Mr. WESCOTT for the remainder of the week because of serious illness in the family.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday the House listened to two statements that were made by the gentlemen from Mercer concerning conditions in Mercer County which resulted in the presentation to the Speaker of two petitions with signatures and photographs involved in the conditions which exist there.

Now, the clear implication of both appeals to the House by the gentlemen is that the people of Mercer County are disturbed by incidents resulting from the strike which is now in existence for many weeks against Westinghouse by the I. U. E. AFofL-CIO.

If a court order has been violated, I wish to point out that it can be enforced by the remedies usually available to the courts, unless the courts do not consider the incidents which occurred serious enough to order such remedies. If the personal property of anyone in Mercer County has been injured, redress can also be had under our laws if the injury is serious enough and the complaint is presented to the authorities.

Why, therefore, do the petitioners apply to the Legislature? If the authorities had appealed to the Governor for help, and he ignored the request, it is obvious it was because the investigation showed that the conditions do not warrant such a request, or do not warrant any action on his part.

Do the petitioners from Mercer County feel that a strike of such long duration can continue without some incidents? Have the petitioners made any effort to get the community officials to intervene for the purpose of having the strike settled so that their neighbors can get back to work? Do the petitioners recognize the right of the neighbors who work for Westinghouse to strike in order to preserve their rights in their controversy with the management?

It seems to me that the people of Mercer County should petition the management to sit down with the representatives of the Union in order to make every effort to settle the strike. These people should commend the Governor for the effort he has made to get the parties together. Other Governors have tried the same thing but no success has been achieved as yet.

Labor disputes involve human emotions, human conflict. Patience and tolerance are expected of the other citizens of the community. When some of the citizens are on strike every effort should be made by all the citizens to get the parties to arbitrate their differences in a fair and cooperative manner.

These words I submit to you are an answer to the petitions which were offered yesterday for intervention by the Assembly.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. WELSH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, yesterday there was inserted into the records remarks of Mr. Young and Mr. Down, both dealing with the labor dispute at the Westinghouse Corporation, and in particular with the affairs of the Sharon Plants.

It certainly seems strange that both gentlemen made pointed remarks that they were not interested in the issue, but both seemed more than willing to have the blame for any activities laid at the doorstep of the Union, the International Union Electrical Radio Machine Workers, AFofL-CIO and its membership.

It goes without saying that no action in any manner can be taken without fully realizing the issues and from the issues recommendations and actions should be taken.

I can perhaps agree that this body has overlooked the situation too long and the record should be read.

Anyone connected even remotely knows that workers do not engage in a labor dispute, certainly not one of 13 weeks duration without good cause. And the cause and blame should be laid where it really belongs—on the Westinghouse Corporation.

Prior to the beginning of this dispute, negotiations such as they were, came under the supervision of the Federal government using the U. S. Conciliation and Mediation Services. The working agreement still has until October 16, 1956, to run. The only issues open were an increase for the balance of the agreement and the method of setting values on jobs.

When no agreement was reached, the Union offered to continue work and have the issues arbitrated in a peaceful manner; this the company refused to do.

When conciliation failed, the Director of the Agency, mind you, under Republicans, recommended to both parties that a fact finding committee be called into session, the employees return to work and the parties to negotiate on the basis of the Committee's report.

The Union accepted and again the Company refused.

This was a direct slap at the United States Government.

Men of all parties holding high offices as Governors and Mayors also recommended that the parties use the fact finding machinery. Again the Company refused.

Men of the cloth of all faiths, recommended fact finding and the Company again refused.

Is this the kind of record that we can ignore when we say we should ignore the issues?

Attention of the House has been called to the so-called violence and fear. In Columbus, Ohio, the auto belonging to the President of the Union was bombed while the President was attending a meeting.

Calls have been made to workers' homes, threatening them with loss of jobs or pensions if they don't act as scabs and return to work. This campaign is under direction of foremen and supervision.

Does this not seem as though the Company is responsible for the campaign of terrorism and fear?

Certainly if the Union was responsible there would be civil and criminal arrests made, and the record does not read that way.

The records to the courts show little, if any, arrests for violation of the injunctions.

This is the record. But looking at the record and not acting is not enough. We here have responsibility. Over 25,000 workers at Westinghouse are directly involved in the labor dispute. Thousands of other Westinghouse workers in the salary department are not working because of this dispute.

Countless of thousands of others are also without work—those who depend on purchasing power to make their livelihood.

I can agree with the gentlemen that the situation is serious. I believe that this House should approach the manner in a positive manner, with the end in mind the end of the dispute. This House should go on record asking both parties to act as follows:

1. Bargain for the remainder for this week and if no agreement is reached, call upon the Company and the Union to accept the fact finding committee as is done in all Railroad labor disputes, and
2. Have full production resume immediately while the Committee is in session with all returning to work, and
3. Call upon all parties and agencies to assist those who suffer because of this labor dispute.

Certainly we can take a positive forward looking position. Let us not be too hasty to judge without knowing all the facts. In order to know and act all information should be placed on the table.

Only through the medium of a fact finding committee can this be done. And this House, representing the Commonwealth, should call upon the parties to concur in these recommendations.

I call upon Mr. Young and Mr. Down to join with me in this constructive program that not only will end the labor dispute, but on the basis of facts, will bring justice to those involved in this dispute. Now is the time for cool heads and clear thinking to come to the forefront.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. YOUNG asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as I said yesterday and my colleague from Mercer, Mr. Down, stated, we presented our petitions with the specific understanding that we were not taking any part in the issues of the strike controversy. All we asked for was that law and order be preserved in Mercer County.

There is a court injunction. The President Judge of Mercer County asked the Governor for state police assistance. The former sheriff of Mercer County on two instances asked the Governor for state police assistance. Both were refused.

The present sheriff, the new sheriff, is doing a very good job of controlling the picketing at the main gates. However, once the cars of the "back-to-workers" leave the plant they are immediately followed by other cars that endeavor to drive them off the road, to wreck their cars, to stall their cars, to beat up the occupants, homes are being destroyed, disfigured by paint, windows are being broken, lives are being threatened.

All we are asking is that we have ample police protection for our citizens. There is one person who is the sheriff, and two deputies. Obviously three people cannot control 8,000 employees.

We reaffirm our statements, we would be glad to have this strike over. It is affecting the welfare, the morale, the health and the safety of our community. We are very anxious to have the strike settled, but we do not feel this is the issue. The issue before us now is law enforcement. A court injunction is being violated, lawlessness is being flaunted in the faces of these people. They are fearful for their lives, for their property and for their safety. All we are asking is that this House investigate the situation to determine whether state police assistance is required.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOLL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I just learned a few minutes ago with respect to the so-called problem in Sharon that a telegram was sent by the Mayor of Sharon to the Governor of the Commonwealth, to the effect that there is no trouble existing in the town of Sharon.

It would therefore seem that there is no warrant at all for police action, it is possible that some of the incidents which were recited are of considerable age, but as of this afternoon the Mayor of the town sent this telegram to the effect that there is nothing which would warrant state police intervention.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. RIGBY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I rise to ask permission to place upon the record certain articles which have appeared in one of our leading newspapers.

Last week a very interesting poll was conducted by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph on the preference for a tax. The Sun Telegraph, to give the voters themselves and the Members of the Legislature a scientific sampling of the will of the voters, selected the town of Jeannette as the community to be used in a unique poll. Without any advance announcement, the official voting list of the city of Jeannette, Westmoreland county, was obtained by the Sun-Telegraph editors and each voter of both the Republican and Democratic parties was asked to vote on the basic issue of what to tax.

These articles, Mr. Speaker, will give the results. It is a very interesting poll and the results are very interesting, and with your permission I would like to have them placed upon the record.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The newspaper articles may be noted in the record.

Following are the newspaper clippings placed in the record by Mr. RIGBY.

READINGER TO SUPPORT SALES TAX

By Thomas P. Snyder

Sun-Telegraph Bureau

Harrisburg, Jan. 12.—A House Democratic leader said today he was prepared to support a state sales tax if the Republican-controlled Senate refuses to accept any other revenue

Floor leader Albert S. Readinger, Reading, commented:

"In order to avoid the state's going into bankruptcy, I would go before the House Democratic caucus and urge that they supply the necessary votes.

"The situation is desperate and getting worse. A decision on taxes must be reached soon and I have urged Senate Republicans to take a stand on what program they'll accept when they caucus Monday."

The Readinger statement appeared to be the first real break in the solid anti-sales tax Democratic front.

May See Leader

It followed a three-hour conference of Democratic and Republican legislative leaders yesterday.

Readinger said he would confer with Gov. Leader Monday if Senate Republicans take a firm stand for the sales tax and ask Leader if he would change his position promising to veto such a revenue proposal.

The Democratic floor leader commented:

"Obviously I couldn't get any Democratic votes for a sales tax in the face of a promise from the Governor that he would veto it."

Chilly Reception

Readinger and Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent, Jeannette, appeared depressed after the meeting and indications were that Senate Republicans had given a chilly reception to the four-point Democratic tax program.

The Democratic program consists of a two per cent flat tax on net incomes after federal deductions; a two per cent distributors excise; a one per cent corporate net income tax increase and acceleration of capital stock tax collections.

Dent has said repeatedly that if Senate Republicans were willing to sponsor a sales tax he would recommend that House Democrats supply the nine votes needed to supplement the 97 GOP House members.

Position Unchanged

The Jeannette senator said yesterday after the conference that his position was unchanged and that 26 Senate and 97 House Republicans would have to vote for the sales tax.

Asked whether his proposal meant supplying only the nine extra votes Readinger replied:

"No, I would recommend that we supply the necessary votes to pass the sales tax."

The conference broke up with the understanding Senate Republicans will put the four-point Democratic revenue program before their caucus Monday.

Senate President M. Harvey Taylor, long-time state Republican leader, will be urging that the front hold fast for a sales tax.

No Agreement

He indicated as much when he came out of the conference and said.

"No, I'm stronger now in Dauphin County than ever because I opposed the classified income tax. Do you think I'd give in on an income tax now?"

Dent said no agreement was reached when he came out of the conference room, adding:

"We are still discussing the ultimate program but haven't agreed on anything. Nor have we closed the door to any possibility."

Asked if "possibility" included a sales tax, Dent shot back:

"Isn't that a hell of a question to ask a man who is negotiating. If there is a compromise, that is one thing, but if either party gets stubborn that party will have to deliver the votes."

Prefer Sales Tax

Senate Majority Floor Leader Rowland B. Mahany, Titusville, said Senate Republicans prefer to convert the revived manufacturers excise into a consumer use levy—another name for sales tax.

He added that House Democrats insisted that a sales tax would have to originate in the lower legislative branch.

Mahany also said his opinion hadn't changed that if Senate Republicans could not muster enough votes for their program they ought to accept the Democratic revenue measures.

He admitted that Republicans will be able to muster only 24 votes next week because Sens. Edward B. Watson, Bucks County, and Albert R. Pechan, Ford City, have been ill.

Not Necessary

With Democrats insisting that a sales tax would have to start in the House, it will not be necessary for Senate Republicans to muster all their votes next week.

Readeringer emphasized that there would have to be a hard and fast agreement in the Senate on acceptable revenue measures before the House will undertake to pass additional taxes.

The lower chamber already has passed the classified income and manufacturers excises which were killed in the Senate.

Dent, Kessler Row

Readeringer said there were two sales bills in the House which could be amended into the form Senate Republicans insist upon.

Senate Finance Committee Chairman Edward J. Kessler, Lancaster, has been pushing a three per cent tax with machinery used directly in manufacturing and take-home food exempt.

Jeannette Tally Favors Sales Levy

VOTERS GIVE TAX SOLUTIONS

By David T. Jones

The people of Jeannette are outspoken.

Not only are they freely expressing preference for a state sales tax in a survey being conducted by the Sun-Telegraph, but they are providing unusual expressions on the tax problem.

They are having their say on the postcard mail ballots which the Sun-Telegraph sent to each of the 7,800 registered voters of both parties in Jeannette.

An up-to-the-minute tabulation of the returns on how they are voting unofficially on the specific tax questions will be published in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph.

In the meantime here are the comments of both Democrats and Republicans in answer to the question:

"WHAT SOLUTION TO THE TAX PROBLEM DO YOU SUGGEST TO MEMBERS OF THE LEGISLATURE?"

DEMOCRATS

The Democrats said:

"Economize. Don't try to spend yourself into prosperity. Schools should be built for utility not beauty. Cut out the architects' ornate dream entrances and beautiful grounds."

"Don't try to increase the budget so drastically so suddenly."

"Cut out the damn foolishness."

"I do not like taxes!"

"Get rid of Leader."

"1—Get down to Business.

"2—Use more common sense.

"3—Stop acting like spoiled children.

"4—Vote the next election and throw out nine-tenths of them."

"Proper administration was sorely lacking. Poor organization. Think of the people FIRST. Politics are secondary in this matter."

"I'd appreciate any kind of tax which would make it easier on the working man."

"Any kind of a tax that would give the working man or working woman a break. Let's make the big man pay for a change."

"Tax the rich corporations."

"Tax the rich manufacturers."

"A wage tax is the best and only way, because you get it before the wife gets it. If it is any other tax she will not support it. Many women will not try or favor a retail sales tax, like myself." (This from a housewife).

Render unto Leader that which is his. An income tax would collect according to our ability to pay. No income—no tax. Don't take from those who have nothing. Any other tax imposed eventually is paid by the buyer, which includes pensioners, cripples and those who are underpaid. The church asks for a percentage of our earnings, so does the Federal Government. That is O. K."

"In your story in the paper urge the Legislature to forget politics and get down to business, especially the Republicans."

"If the working man has to pay any more taxes, he may as well just hand his pay check over to the government and let the government keep him."

"What I want to know is how much tax the Governor thinks we can take. If this state income tax goes through I will have four income taxes to pay. Have the politicians gone tax crazy?"

"Let the people be heard by their vote."

"Let the people who make the loot pay it."

A number of voters suggested legalizing horse racing, conduct a state lottery; higher taxes on utilities; a tax on gross income of utilities; increased motor car and truck licenses and increased cost of drivers licenses.

On legalizing gambling, one wrote:

"Legalize gambling. Why let the politicians get rich?"

Those preferring a sales tax and who offered comments felt a sales tax would work if it followed the pattern of the Ohio sales tax and if stamps were issued at time the tax was paid. A number suggested a sales tax on luxuries only, even as high as five per cent.

REPUBLICANS

The Republicans said:

"Please get down to work for the good of the people. Use the sales tax and increase if it necessary, since the machinery for collecting such tax was set up. Forget about political jobs and party."

"I am definitely against a state income tax. The working man of today already has too many fingers dipping into his pay check. Sales tax is most preferred of levies. We all pay Gov. Leader's wages. How is it he can disregard public opinion for their own pig-headed attitude. Ohio has a successful sales tax program for years, why not Pennsylvania."

"Let the legislators act like mature men in their thinking and try and forget political differences. Act in behalf of the people for the good of the state of Pennsylvania. Too much political bickering only makes it that much easier for non-Democratic groups to flourish. Think!"

"Let the Governor stick to his campaign promises. No more taxes. Be a man or a mouse."

"While it is possibly nice to be able to play, politically or otherwise, perhaps with a little more effort, other than toward a political farce, the solution would be solved to the best of all concerned."

"I suggest Gov. Leader stick to his campaign promises of economy in government and no new taxes are needed. And to think I was fool enough to believe him."

"I suggest economy of operation. Get rid of needless duplication of effort and departments that overlap or are obsolete. A graduated income tax that will be fair to all. Educate the public to the fact that no matter who 'gets socked' they pay in the end in increased costs. This would make them realize there can be no 'sock the rich' policy. Every one must bear their share if they want the benefits that taxes provide."

"Act the part of statesmen and leave petty politics at home—both parties."

"Gov. Leader should pull in his horns and stop being so stubborn. Let the Governor effect serious down to earth economies that he campaigned about and let him cooperate with House and Senate to enact a suitable tax program."

"Increase operators license to $10. Increase all vehicle registration plates $10. I own two cars. Also legalize horse racing."

"Reduce cost of education by amending the law to leave boys and girls out of school at the age of 15 years to go to work. This will also help solve the cause of juvenile delinquency."

"A working man should not pay tax up to $5,000 yearly wage. This is a good way to bring on Communism in our country which I don't want a part of it. Clean up crooked politics and rackets for a better America."

"Reduce expense and keep economy instead of waste as the goal."

"Use good sense."

"There never will be a solution as long as the Democrats are in office."

"A seven per cent federal income tax."

"Let the legislature, including Gov. Leader, re-enact a retail sales tax. Not only would this solve the tax problem but it would save the taxpayers the money necessary to disband the Republican organization set up to handle the sales tax but it would save the taxpayers the money necessary to establish a Democratic organization necessary to carry out a new tax set-up. In other words the tax set-up has developed into a program to pass out political plums rather than a tax program."

"The sales tax was good in form. However, not administered properly. Forget the party line. Govern for the people."

Poll Returns Still Pour In

VOTERS DEMAND RETAIL SALES TAX

Voters in the Sun-Telegraph test poll of the voters' choice of "What To Tax" showed a consistent demand for a retail sales tax.

Gov. Leader's proposed excise was favored by the smallest group of voters and a large majority, including many Democrats, took the opportunity to vote against it.

The poll is being taken in Jeannette, a typical industrial community. Each of the 7,800 registered voters of both major parties was provided with a mail ballot.

The returns to date, with returns still coming in total:

	Total	Dem.	Rep.
In favor of an excise	176	146	30
Opposed to an excise	724	359	365
In favor of a retail sales tax	756	409	347
Opposed to retail sales tax	268	211	57

Jeannette voters who are responding in surprisingly large numbers to the mail poll probably represent what would be a fair cross section of state-wide sentiment of both the Republican and Democratic Parties.

In a space on the mail ballot provided for comment on the tax wrangle and suggested solutions a high proportion of the voters express impatience with Legislature.

One pattern of voters express this displeasure with sharp comments. Examples of these are:

"Reduce expenditures, like any good business man does when his income is insufficient for his expenses. Live within your income."

"Let's have some of the economies that Gov.

Leader promised before election."

"Cut out a lot of foolish expense."

"Tell John Dent to be more cooperative to the voters who put him on velvet carpet." (Sen. John Dent is a resident of Jeannette).

"Tell John Dent and Gov. Leader to make up their minds what they do want."

"I suggest they send the governor back to his chicken farm!"

Sun-Telegraph Poll Shows:

MANY FAVOR TAX ON RACING

Many of those voting in the Sun-Telegraph's mail poll on how taxpayers would tax themselves seem to believe that a tax on horse racing would really help balance the state budget.

They indicate this reasoning by comments written on the mail ballots which have been distributed to every registered voter in Jeannette.

The vote sampling is being done in Jeannette because it was considered a typical industrial community which probably reflects the sentiment of the whole state.

The past experience of the several states which have legalized horse racing and tax it indicate that Pennsylvania could collect only a token part of its $1,800,000,000 budget by legalizing that form of gambling.

Tax Take Relatively Small

The tax take in the states which have big time racing is relatively unimportant in comparison with billion dollar budgets. The yearly gambling revenue from the horse racing states follows:

New York .....	$61,000,000
California .....	23,500,000
Florida .....	18,171,843
Maryland .....	7,319,000
Kentucky .....	1,851,000

These actual figures would indicate that the plans of some persons of financing the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania by spending happy afternoons and happy dollars at the horse tracks is as unrealistic as the "no new tax" suggestions of other voters.

Aside from the moral repugnance to legalized gambling which both voters and Legislators have often expressed, the potential take from horse racing would seemingly be unimportant in the over-all picture of state financing.

Other Race Bills

There are several pari mutuel and other racing bills in the legislative hopper. None seems to be getting important attention. It also is improbable that serious attention would be given to proposals to legalize and tax bingo, numbers and other forms of gambling.

The "no new tax" advocates who are expressing their sentiments in the Sun-Telegraph poll usually put no comments in the provided space on the mail ballot. As many as 18 who voted "no" on both Gov. Leader's original program and on the retail sales tax proposal appeared in a single mail delivery.

Want Economies

Those who commented indicated either a vote of impatience with the long dragged-out Legislative session or demanded stringent economies rather than more taxes.

Additional ballots from the Jeannette voters as yet untabulated indicate no change in trend in the last figures which stood as follows:

	Total	Dem.	Rep.
In favor of an excise	176	146	30
Opposed to an excise	724	359	365

In favor of a retail sales tax	756	409	347
Opposed to retail sales tax	268	211	57

Additional returns will be published during the coming week.

SEN. TAYLOR URGING 3% SALES LEVY

Also Asks Hike On Corporate Levy

By Thomas P. Snyder

Sun-Telegraph Bureau

Harrisburg, Jan. 14.—A drive to hold the line for a 3 per cent Ohio-type sales tax will be launched in the Senate Republican caucus Monday by Sen. M. Harvey Taylor.

The veteran and wily Dauphin County Republican leader also will try to persuade his followers in the upper chamber to turn down a four-point Democratic revenue program.

This collection of fund raisers hinges on a 2 per cent personal net income tax after federal deductions and a 2 per cent distributors excise levy.

Offers a 'Solution'

Taylor said:

"With a 3 per cent sales tax and a 1 per cent increase in the corporate net income tax, he (Gov. Leader) will have enough revenue to balance the budget."

The corporate net income 1 per cent boost would bring in $54,000,000 in the biennium but estimates vary wildly on what a 3 per cent sales tax would yield.

Senate Democratic Floor Leader John H. Dent, Jeannette, said the sales tax being pushed by Sen. Edward J. Kessler (R) Lancaster, would yield only $216,800,000 in the 15 months of the biennium remaining.

Kessler refused to be pinned down to an accurate revenue estimate but said he had received information from various sources that a 3 per cent sales tax would produce between $350,000,000 and $400,000,000.

Taylor Hits 2% Tax

Taylor refused to predict whether the 2 per cent income levy offered by Democrats had a chance of getting four Republican votes, which would be needed to supplement the 22 Democratic senators.

He commented:

"I won't say that it hasn't a chance and I won't say that it has a chance. I will say that I will never vote for it."

Kessler also said he would not vote for an income tax and Sen. G. Graybill Diehm, Lancaster, commented:

"One broad base tax in one session of the Legislature is enough."

SECRET POLL GIVES BIG VOTE FOR SALES TAX

Pennsylvania voters overwhelmingly favor a retail sales tax, a secret mail poll by the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph reveals.

Every registered voter in a typical industrial community of Pennsylvania was polled by mail and the returns, including volunteered comments on the tax wrangle in the Legislature, are seemingly conclusive.

To give the voters themselves and members of the Legislative a scientific sampling of the will of the voters, the Sun-Telegraph selected Jeannette as the community to use in a unique poll.

Without any advance announcement, the official voting list of the city of Jeannette, Westmoreland county, was obtained by Sun-Telegraph editors and each voter in both the Republican and Democratic parties was asked to vote on the basic issues of "What to Tax."

With more than 14 per cent of the mail ballots already returned and tabulated 667 voters of both parties preferred a retail sales tax as against 159 who voted for the Leader administration's proposed excise. In a negative vote 629 Jeannette voters against the proposed excise while only 266 from both parties voted against a sales tax.

One of the surprises of the first tabulation was that Democratic voters deserted the policy of their elected representatives to cast 365 votes in favor of a sales tax with 179 negative votes by the same group.

Republican voters polled 302 votes for the sales tax and 47 against it.

In a breakdown of the pro and con votes on the proposed Leader excise it is revealed that only 307 voted against it.

In a breakdown of the pro and con votes on the proposed Leader excise it is revealed that only 131 favorable Democratic votes were cast while 307 voted against it.

Only 28 Republican votes were cast for the excise and 322 were cast against it.

To give the voters a chance to offer some solution to the tax controversy that has kept the Legislature stalemated for more than a year the Sun-Telegraph added the following question to the mail ballot:

WHAT SOLUTION OF THE TAX PROBLEM DO YOU SUGGEST TO MEMBERS OF LEGIS- LATURE?

If there was any unanimity in the comments and suggested solutions it was one of impatience with the failure of legislators to reach some sort of agreement on the tax problem.

Many of those who commented pointed to Ohio's sales tax as a practical program.

Bet, Bingo Taxes Proposed

A few voted against any form of tax and added cryptic comments.

Several suggested heavy taxes on horse racing and bingo.

Following are some of the comments quoted directly from Democratic ballots:

"Instead of creating jobs let us economize and look for more economical operation of our government instead of searching for ways to tax people."

"We have enough taxes now."

"Legalize horse race betting and put a tax on it to support the state."

"I certainly do not favor any plan that would drive industry out of Pennsylvania. Strikes are doing enough harm."

"We feel it is now time to discontinue taxes and taxes and spend and spend. Let us assume only that which there is money to be spent for."

Ohio Tax Plan Favored

Many of the Republican comments were of the same general tenor. Some were a bit more caustic. The Republicans said:

"The previous sales tax should have been retained until such a time as a tax program could have been drawn up. If a sales tax works in Ohio, why not in Pennsylvania?"

"Cut out the friendship hiring of state employes and not boost the wages of employes that do nothing but collect their pay and throw big times. Use common sense and not all politics in state government."

"... get rid of those 5,000 to 10,000 extra state payrollers."

"Get a new Leader."

As the mail ballots continue to reach the Sun-Telegraph they will be carefully tabulated, analyzed and made the basis of what the voters—the real bosses in the matter—have to say about "What To Tax."

More pungent, informative and provocative quotes about what the voters have to say about the state's tax stalemate will be published in tomorrow's Sun-Telegraph.

DENT RAPS GOP SALES TAX MOVE

By Thomas P. Snyder

Sun-Telegraph Bureau

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—The Kessler sales tax proposal was rejected today by Senate Minority Floor Leader John H. Dent, who called it a "Republican plan to help party contributors in industry."

The statement by the Jeannette Democrat came as Senate Democratic and Republican floor leaders prepared to go into another conference in an effort to break the long tax deadlock.

Sen. Edward J. Kessler, Lancaster, Republican chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, has prepared amendments to convert the revived five per cent manufacturers excise into a retail sales levy.

CALLED GOP BILL

Over the weekend Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany, Titusville, said Republicans would push the three per cent sales tax when the session reconvenes next week if there is no prior agreement reached between Democrats and Republicans. Dent declared:

"This is a Republican bill. Let 'em vote for it but they won't get one Democratic vote in the Senate."

Earlier House Democratic Floor Leader Albert S. Readinger, Reading, doubted that Senate Republicans could muster enough of their own votes to pass a three per cent retail sales tax.

COMPROMISE PROGRAM

Dent said Democrats would offer their compromise program calling for:

● A two per cent personal net income tax after allowing federal exemptions and deductions to produce $210,000,000 up to this biennium's end, May 31, 1957.

● Converting the revived manufacturers excise into a wholesaler and retailer excise, $165,-000,000.

● A one per cent increase in the corporate net income tax, $50,000,000 and accelerating collection of the capital stock tax, $25,000,000.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, on House Bill 1754, page 5028 of the Legislative Journal for December 12, 1955, I am recorded as not voting. I was present and voted "no" on this bill.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I listened with a great deal of interest yesterday and today to the remarks relative to the strike situation in parts of Pennsylvania.

I just want to say that I belong to the CIO-AFL Local Union 601, which is on strike at East Pittsburgh, the largest plant in the Westinghouse group.

We have had no trouble out there whatever. In fact, there was an injunction asked for and the ruling of Judge O'Brien of Allegheny County was commented on very favorably by the union.

We have had no trouble there, and the only trouble we have heard about in connection with the strike as a whole has been newspaper talk.

I do not see why this Legislature should take any action on this matter since we have police officers, we have officials elected in the various boroughs and townships throughout the state, and they certainly ought to know when there is trouble, or when they need help, or when they need the State Police.

Since the Mayor of Sharon and the new sheriff down there say they are able to control the situation, I don't see why this Legislature should take any action. I think any talk on the floor today is probably in line with the keynote speeches for the next election.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. BRETH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, at this time I want to call the attention of the members of this House, and to the attention of the public in the state of Pennsylvania, that we citizens of Clearfield County are indeed proud of the fact that 305th Military Police Company of the U. S. Army Reserve at Clearfield has been singularly recognized as having the best recruitment program in the state.

Captain Richard Payton, head of the Company, certainly deserves much credit for this achievement.

With the permission of the Members of this House I would like to submit two letters of commendation to this effect which the company has received from Brigadier General A. W. Stewart and Major A. W. Smith.

I would like to have them included in the Legislative Journal.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNOR

The Secretary to the Governor being introduced, presented a communication in writing from His Excellency the Governor, which was read as follows:

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 8

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania,
Governor's Office, Harrisburg, January 17, 1956.
To the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania:

By authority vested in me by the Reorganization Act of 1955 (Act No. 8), I transmit herewith Reorganization Plan No. 8 of 1955. This plan transfers responsibility for handling Federal surplus property from the Department of Public Instruction to the Department of Property and Supplies. The background of this proposal is as follows:

A Federal law passed in 1944 provided that surplus property might be donated for educational and public health purposes either directly to tax supported or non-profit tax exempt institutions, or indirectly to such institutions through "state departments of education or health."

On April 12, 1945, the General Assembly of Pennsylvania passed Act No. 99 (P. L. 220) to take advantage of the Federal offer. This authorized the Commonwealth, or any administrative department, board or commission, acting through the Department of Property and Supplies, to enter into contract with the United States for the purpose of obtaining surplus products.

Because the Federal law specifically stipulated that states receiving Federal property for redistribution should do so through departments of education or health, the Governor, in December, 1945, and by authority of The Administrative Code of 1929, established in the Department of Public Instruction the Division of Surplus Property Disposal.

But Federal law has since changed. Amendments made in 1955 permit donations of surplus property either to state departments of education or health or to other state instrumentalities.

The plan is recommended for your approval for the following reasons:

1. State law (P. L. 220, 1945) first authorized the handling of Federal surplus property through the Department of Property and Supplies and this arrangement was changed only because Federal law made it necessary;

2. Now that Federal law has been changed there is no special reason why donable goods should be handled by the Department of Public Instruction;

3. The Department of Property and Supplies is the State agency which normally handles property procurement and disposal;

4. Improved administration, economy, and efficiency can be expected from grouping similar functions within the Department of Property and Supplies;

5. It is advisable to free the Department of Public Instruction from numerous miscellaneous duties that are not essential to the performance of its primary purpose.

GEORGE M. LEADER,
Governor

Dated: January 17, 1956

Transmitted to the General
Assembly on January 17, 1956.

REORGANIZATION PLAN No. 8 OF 1955

Section 1. The division of Surplus Property Disposal in the Department of Public Instruction where it was established by the head of the department, with the approval of the Executive Board in the year 1945, pursuant to the provisions of section 212 of the Administrative Code of 1929, is transferred from that department to the Department of Property and Supplies.

Section 2. There are hereby transferred to the Department of Property and Supplies the files, records, property, contract obligations, personnel, supplies and equipment now being used or held by the division of Surplus Property Disposal, and the unexpended balances of appropriations, allocations and other funds available or to be made available for use by the division of Surplus Property Disposal to be used for the payment of salaries, wages, general expenses, supplies, printing and equipment necessary for the work of the department with respect to the acquisition of Federal surplus property and the distribution of such property to schools and other agencies authorized to receive it.

Section 3. The following acts and parts of acts are suspended as particularly set forth:

Section 1, act of April 12, 1945 (P. L. 220), entitled "An act authorizing the Commonwealth and any administrative department, boards, and commissions thereof acting through the Department of Property and Supplies, and political subdivisions of the Commonwealth, including municipal authorities, to enter into contracts with the United States of America, or any agency thereof, for the purchase, lease, or other acquisition of property, real or personal, offered for sale pursuant to the Surplus Property Act of one thousand nine hundred forty-four, without complying with any requirement of existing law as to specifications, advertising, award of contract, and approval of purchases by a State agency receiving competitive bids, or the delivery of property purchased before payment therefor," in so far as it confers any powers upon the Department of Public Instruction.

Section 3, act of December 22, 1955 (Act No. 29A), entitled "An act to provide for the ordinary expenses of the Department of Public Instruction for two years beginning June first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-five, and for the payment of bills incurred and remaining unpaid at the close of the fiscal year ending May thirty-first, one thousand nine hundred fifty-five, and making appropriations to the Department of Public Instruction for reimbursements to school districts," in so far as it is in conflict with this Reorganization Plan.

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1956.

RESOLUTION

Resolved, That Reorganization Plan No. 8 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of January 17, 1956, which is incorporated herein by reference, be approved.

RESOLUTION

Resolved, That Reorganization Plan No. 8 of 1955, transmitted to the General Assembly under date of January 17, 1956, which is incorporated herein by reference, be disapproved.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, as most of us know, one of the reasons for the delay today was the fact that the Ways and Means Committee was going to meet and was expected to bring out a sales tax bill.

A difficult situation has been created by Governor Leader, because he won his election on promises that he would abolish a one per cent sales tax and would make up the difference with economies in state government. So far I believe, and I believe it is the opinion not only of myself but every Member in the House, and certainly the people of Pennsylvania, he has failed, and failed dismally, in view of the fact that he has made no economies to make up the necessary money because of the one per cent sales tax having expired.

When he found he was wrong and that he had been elected on promises he was not able to keep, instead of admitting it to the general public—and I believe I stood here and said that he could have made himself a very big man by retaining a sales tax at the rate of 2 per cent—he proposed two of the most outrageous taxes that have ever been proposed in this Commonwealth.

One, and I do not need to go into detail, was the classified income tax which most everyone here and all of the people were against.

The second was what he called at the time the manufacturers excise tax. I believe that it was proven in public hearings that that tax would pyramid on most anything that the people of Pennsylvania would have bought. Some people tried to call it a sales tax.

As I said, and as I say again, this tax would have picked the pockets of everybody before they even had a chance to know what was happening. With very few exceptions, no one in Pennsylvania that I know of wanted either of the taxes that the Governor tried to put across. The people of Pennsylvania realized there was more money needed, but as far as I can see by reading the Press, as far as I can see by our mail, as far as I can hear from the people I have talked to, they want a sales tax of some sort.

Just because that the Governor has created the chaotic situation he has, and today we in Pennsylvania are in a chaotic situation, because of the fact that he talked either in ignorance or for other reasons, or worse reasons—and I do not want to infer what they were—is no reason why we should saddle our people today with a three or four per cent sales tax of the most obnoxious kind.

I have said before, I believe several months ago, that the majority of the Republicans in this House would not vote for a three per cent sales tax. We certainly cannot see any reason why we should assume the entire responsibility for the financial condition of this Commonwealth. We do not see why we should assume the responsibility for the loss of probably of $60 million because of the Governor leaving the present tax expire.

You are still in the majority in this House, it is your Governor who is the chief executive of our state and the man with whom the responsibility rests, particularly because of the promises he made to win the election to put you people in your seats. It is your Governor who has brought the Commonwealth to the situation we now face by his blind stubbornness and his blind refusal to acknowledge that a sales tax is the most equitable and fairest of the broad base taxes.

Now that he has reached this situation what does he want you to do? He tells you to bring out the worst and the hardest sales tax bill possible and ram it down the people's throats. He tells you, and I know he met with you this morning, to bring out a bill that will put a three per cent sales tax on everything that people buy except their food. It would be a tax on food too, because this bill is unusual in that it taxes all raw materials, all feed, all fertilizer, all the insecticides that our farmers buy and all the coal and fuel that our public utilities burn to make our gas and electricity.

Let me say to you that no one can absorb any of that tax, it will be passed on to the general public. The public would not be paying a three per cent direct sales tax, but would be paying an indirect sales tax because of the raw materials, which in some cases would be double and triple taxation.

I am going to tell you that this is not a Republican bill. The sponsor of this bill handed amendments to the Ways and Means Committee months ago, I believe your own Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee will admit to that, and you today refused to put them into the bill you brought to the floor of this House.

It was you, the Democrats, who increased the rate of the bill that was put into Committee to three per cent. That was the amendment you put in. It is you, the Democrats, who want to tax the farmers and the little people and want them to pay more money, not the Republicans. Do not try to sell it to us because we are going to refuse to buy it. We on this side of the House are not going to give you any votes for this bill.

The majority of our caucus today, the House Republican caucus, will be a fair and equitable sales tax at two percent, a similar sales tax to the Ohio plan, but never for the tax that you have brought out today after turning down our amendments.

We in this House have not suddenly gone mad because your Governor has. We still understand there is a problem that the people of Pennsylvania want solved. We are not going to try and jump off a cliff just because your Governor has lost $60 million for this state by being stubborn in his opposition to a two per cent sales tax.

Let me say to you and tell you what this tax you brought out will do, the tax you would not allow to be amended in Committee. It taxes all purchases of public utilities, including all of the coal and fuel they use; it taxes all purchases of manufacturers, including all of the raw material that they use to go into a finished product; it taxes all purchases that the farmer makes, seeds, fertilizer, anything that he uses in his orchards, materials that he uses, all of the machinery that he uses; it taxes all types of clothing whether it be work clothing, dress clothing, shoes, stockings, neckties, or anything. It puts a tax on all of that of three per cent. It taxes all newspapers in the state; taxes all the materials used in the newspaper, the ink and the paper.

Gentleman, we had a caucus today. It never has been our policy to divulge what happens in our caucus. I asked my caucus if they would allow me the prerogative, let me put it that way, of saying to you some of the things we have thought about, some of the policy that we set.

Today in our House caucus we agreed we can give to you on the other side of the House a majority of our Republican votes for an honest equitable two per cent sales tax similar to the Ohio method of collection and with exemptions similar to those of last session.

I know someone is going to say to me immediately, "How much is that going to bring in?" I am going to be very honest with you, we did not go too deeply into the details of the amount of money that would be collected but I know one thing, it will bring in a sufficient amount of money to meet at least the Republican share of the amount that is said to be needed today.

I do not believe, and you do not believe if you are honest that we should bear the whole responsibility. I know most of you men and women on the other side of the House are fair. You are not in our party, but very seldom have I run into people in politics on either side who have been unfair. You do not believe that we should solve your entire tax program. You know it and I know it. It would make no more sense for us to do that than it would be for you to do it.

We are willing today to accept our share of the responsibility. What you come up with on your side of the House is your business, as far as this side of the House is concerned.

If you will allow us to take either of the bills that are in Committee now, or allow us to amend those bills, or allow us to introduce a new sales tax bill, we will sponsor it. We are not bashful, we are willing to accept responsibility. We will give you a two per cent sales tax, which will meet a good portion of the responsibility and of the financial situation we have in this state to meet the requirements for teachers, for welfare and for the many other uses of this Commonwealth.

The Governor has promised economy. It is the Governor's fault that he has lost $60 million. All of you remember that in his speech at the very beginning, his inaugural speech, he started talking about the deficit that those horrible Republicans left, he was not going to do this, and he was not going to that.

Well, the Governor has left us with a deficit in this Commonwealth. He was the fellow who left the sales tax expire, he was the man who left $6.5 million go down the drain every month since last August. That is his responsibility, and yet we are still willing on this side of the House to meet our share of his responsibility. He has caused the chaos, and he is not going to pass it off on us by having us pull him out of the hole. We are willing to help, but we are not going "whole-hog" and be foolish and give you every vote to solve your financial situation.

That is the position we are in. We are trying to be fair, we are trying to be fair to you, we are trying to be fair to the people of Pennsylvania. We know that the people are getting disgusted not only with the Republicans but with the Democrats, too. They do not want us to stay here fighting and bickering, going for each other's throats day in and day out, and leaving this situation get worse.

It has not been the Republicans who have tried to make political hay from it, it is your own Secretary of Welfare who goes around over the state crying about what we are doing. He is a tear-jerker with the people. I know he has a nice subject, and it is a subject that we do not much like to discuss, the mentally insane. Yet I have said time and time again, of all the money he has asked for you cannot show me one cent in your budget that is going to supply an extra bed for the mentally insane. He and the Governor have made use of the worst kind of tactics to ram down the throats of Pennsylvania people taxes they do not want.

Let us be fair, as the gentleman on the other side says, let us be fair to ourselves, let us be fair to the people.

That is our declaration of policy today from the Republican House caucus. I hope it is clear to you. I hope you take it in the fair and honest attitude in which we are giving it to you. We are not wedded to anything that we say, "We won't go for this part of the sales tax," or "We won't be for this," or "We will be for this," but we are trying to give you something by which you can solve your financial problems. We want to do it. Now you on your side of the House come up with something, it is your problem on your side.

We are going to have to ask you for some votes. I am not going to be dishonest and tell you that we are going to supply you 97 votes. I do say this, that we will supply you every vote that we humanly can get out of the Republican side of the House to pass a two percent sales tax which we are proposing to you today.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, the Auditor General designee on the Republican ticket is in fine voice today and drove home the points he wanted to make very emphatically as he usually does. I only wish sometimes as I sit here that we had some of the spirit of give and take in the other branch of this Legislature that we have over here.

I think the gentleman who just spoke and his colleagues are going to make an effort to help up solve this tax problem. This is the first time in my recollection he has very clearly come out and stated what the Republican minority in this House will vote for taxwise. But unfortunately even though we would follow his plan, we are still left with the problem of raising about $250 million or $200 million.

As I stated yesterday we accept our responsibilities over there, we know we are the party in power and we have got to make the move to raise the money to finance the Commonwealth. We have made that effort to do so, and very recently we proposed a four point program to be left with the Republican Senate because that is the place where it has got to get the votes to pass, and we were rejected. We were told emphatically that the only thing they would take would be a three per cent sales tax, plus enough business taxes to make up whatever amount of money they were going to let us spend.

There has been a standing dispute as to whether we need $400 million now or whether we need 450 or 465. The amount we are going to need is certainly going to depend on how much the State Senate of Pennsylvania is going to allow us in these appropriation bills. We passed appropriation bills here in the House, and the Senate, the Republican part of the Senate, has told us they are going to cut this and cut that, but the best figure I am able to come up with today that they indicated they will allow is $400 million.

Now, the gentleman from Philadelphia cannot give us a figure of the yield of the tax of the type he is talking about, but if I were to venture a guess I would say, not knowing, of course, what exemptions are intended to be put in, I would venture to guess we could not raise more than about $200 million on the type of sales tax he is talking about. Then the minority says to us, "now, we are willing to propose that as our half of the program, you get the rest."

Do not forget we have been told that they were going to take this and nothing else. So where does that leave us? It leaves us in the position of proposing as we have today a sales tax bill that is adequate to raise the amount of money we need, and no amount of talk, argument or anything else will change that fact. We have no assurance that the Senate will give us any other kind of a broad base tax, or any other kind of a tax to raise the rest of the money, and if the gentleman from Philadelphia is now indicating to us that he is proposing to adopt what the Governor has suggested as a 50-50 method of accepting responsibility for tax programs which will raise enough money, then let me remind him that the Governor made it quite clear the other day that if we are to pass the bills that you propose to raise half the money, then your people must give us votes to pass the ones that we would propose. That is something that the Senate has said "we will not do." So where does that leave us? Right in the same position as we were before.

We are going to bring this sales tax bill to a vote. Next week when the bill is on second reading, as the gentleman on the other side knows, you may write any philosophy you want of sales taxation by offering amendments to the bill. If you want the Ohio tax plan, which isn't in the Hewitt bill, offer an amendment. If you want clothing taken out, or want something else taken out, or want to cut the rate, offer your amendment, and you will get a vote on that amendment. How you will vote or how we will vote, I don't know. But you will at least inform the public exactly the type of sales tax bill you are willing to vote for, and so will we indicate to the public how we feel about it.

But even if such a bill should pass this House, in view of what the Senate has said to us only as late as yesterday, we still don't solve the tax problem. We are going to keep on trying and trying and trying. And the public of Pennsylvania is going to be given the most complete and full information as to exactly how the Members representing the people of this state are voting on these things. You are not going to be able to duck it, we are not going to be able to duck it, and neither is the Senate of Pennsylvania. We have to keep on moving fast because we have lost a lot of revenue in the last six or seven months.

The gentleman spoke about the horrible taxes that were proposed and passed by this House before this time. Well, that is a matter of opinion. We thought they were pretty good taxes. We still think so. You are entitled to your opinion, so are the people of Pennsylvania. Whether the classified income tax would have been popular with the people of Pennsylvania or unpopular is something we will probably never know, because it did not get on the books. Whether it would have been considered to be a fair and equitable tax by the people after it was in operation, we may never know. We thought it was fair, we proposed it and we voted for it and accept the responsibility for it. The same is true as to the manufacturers excise tax. Your saying that they are horrible bills and that the people did not want them, doesn't make it so.

I know that many newspapers used all the power they had against those bills, but that doesn't mean the public would not accept them if they were put on the books.

Many states in this Union now have two broad base taxes, both a sales and an income tax. I believe twenty-three or twenty-four of them have. The Senate of Pennsylvania says to us, "we won't take two broad base taxes." You say to us, "We will take a two per cent sales tax, which is a broad base tax. That is our responsibility, you assume the rest." Well, we want to, but we can't assume it under those conditions. We certainly are not going to raise about $200 million and run into a deficit for the next biennium of about $275 million. If the gentleman thinks we intend to do that he does not know us; because we don't intend to, if we don't possibly have to. We hope we never get forced into that position.

I am glad that some of these things have been said today because they clear the air of certain things that have been talked about for months, but nobody could put his finger directly on one side or the other and say they are for this or they are for that.

It has been my hope and my ambition in the last month to get something done on this matter. The gentleman really knows what he is talking about when he says that the public is getting to a point where it blames equally both sides of this House and the Senate for bickering and wrangling and not getting this thing solved.

We are trying to and we are going to keep on trying. If we get into five day sessions in the very near future, you will know it is because we want to get this thing resolved, and we have to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I believe the gentleman probably is right in some of his statements, and I believe that he and the Members on his side of the House and the Members on this side of the House are honest and sincere in trying to settle some of these problems.

I know that on our side of the House it is the most sincere effort we have ever made since I have been in the Legislature. Certainly I do say to the people of Pennsylvania and you people that have sat in the House, I have never yet seen a minority party offer a tax program to solve the problems of the majority. Whether or not it is because of a divided House, I think is beside the point. It takes courage from the minority, even thought it is divided, to offer to vote for taxes.

I do not say this sarcastically but there was very little of that courage on the majority side in the past, because we got a continual number of "noes." I do not mean that in sarcasm, but we did get a continual number of "noes."

I would like to remind the gentleman of something that I forgot to say when I first spoke, that if he is sincere about trying to solve this program, and we are, I would like to suggest to him that if he is willing to accept amendments next week that we do it in some kind of an orderly and decent fashion and stop trying to play politics to somebody's gain.

I do not think either of us is going to gain, no matter how smart politically we are at this stage of the game. I would like to say to him that if this bill is finally amended and put in position for final passage, that the bill at least lay on the calendar for a short period of time. I don't mean a week, but at least let it lay over for a few days, so that the public of Pennsylvania will see the kind of taxes that we in this House, both Republicans and Democrats, are going to offer to them.

I say that for one other reason. I am not trying to do any fancy double-talk when I say this. But I would like the Governor of Pennsylvania to see the tax bill that we of the House are going to propose. He won't be able to see it, nor will the people be able to see what it is until the Press has ample time to report it.

When that bill comes to final passage I would expect the Governor of this state, if he is as honest and sincere as his Majority Leader is in this House and as we are on this side of the House, will come out with no double-talk and not a ten page statement of ifs and buts, but with one little sentence, "I will veto the sales tax bill number so and so, that is in the House," or "I will sign the sales tax bill number so and so if it is placed on my desk in that form." That is all we ask on this side of the House prior to voting on the bill. I do not believe that is being unfair. But let the Governor come out and say he is for it or he is against it. If the Governor says that and it meets with approval on your side of the House and it meets with approval on our side of the House, we then can stick together and either concur or non-concur in any amendments that are put in by the Senate, either by Republicans or Democrats.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

Messrs. STEBBINS, LAWYER, HASS and RUDISILL offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1956.

The Honorable George M. Leader, Governor of Pennsylvania, celebrates his thirty-eighth birthday on January 17, 1956.

Mr. Leader, the second youngest man ever elected to this Commonwealth's highest office, is a native of Pennsylvania's agricultural York County. He is the descendant of early Pennsylvania Dutch settlers. Both he and his ancestry represent the highest virtues of true Americanism. The sturdy stock from which he is descended sought and found and have helped to maintain religious and political freedom in this Nation. Governor Leader's success as a farmer in private life and his keen interest and previous experience in government have done much to qualify him for his present high office.

Governor Leader's high personal qualifications for the office which he now holds, as well as his sincerity and devotion to the duties confronting him as the Governor of one of this country's greatest States, has earned the respect and admiration of all who know him and are familiar with his work; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the Members of the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania extend their individual congratulations and good wishes to the Honorable George M. Leader on his thirty-eighth birthday, and hope that he may continue to prosper and serve his State and Nation.

RESOLUTION

COMMEMORATING BIRTHDAY OF BENJAMIN FRANKLIN

Messrs. READINGER and CHARLES C. SMITH offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 16, 1956.

January 17th marks the two hundred fiftieth anniversary of the birth of Pennsylvania's most prominent example of the possible results of the American doctrine of equality of opportunity, Benjamin Franklin.

No one in the Commonwealth's history ever issued from more humble surroundings to achieve an enviable place in the annals of his country than did Benjamin Franklin.

Born in Boston on January 17, 1706, the son of a tallow chandler and soap boiler, and apprenticed at the age of thirteen years to his brother James, a printer, he ran away in 1723 and began work as a printer in Philadelphia.

Spurred on by his ambition and a burning desire to educate himself, Franklin studied the French, Spanish, Italian and Latin languages. The excellence of his work, his industry and his business shrewdness obtained for him a large share of the public printing of Pennsylvania, Delaware and New Jersey, and from that foundation his progress was rapid.

In 1728, he established the Pennsylvania Gazette which became the leading newspaper between New York and Charleston. He published Poor Richards Almanac in 1732 which achieved a circulation of ten thousand copies a year.

In 1730, he organized the first Masonic Society in Pennsylvania and was elected Grand Master in 1734. He was the Clerk of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth for fourteen years, beginning in 1736, and in 1737 he became a Member.

He was later appointed Postmaster of Philadelphia, founded the American Philosophical Society which became the University of Pennsylvania, and of which he subsequently became president.

His experiments with electricity won for him the rare honor of membership in the Royal Society. Harvard and Yale followed with degree of Master of Arts, and in 1762 he was given the degree of Doctor of Law by the Universities of St. Andrews and Oxford.

In 1775, he was a delegate to the second Continental Congress, and drew up the first Plan of Union Law before Congress.

He signed the treaty of alliance with the French King on February 6, 1778, and in 1785, together with John Jay and John Adams, he concluded the provisional treaty of peace with Great Britain.

His last public act was the signing of an anti-slavery petition in Congress as President of the Pennsylvania Society for Promoting the Abolition of Slavery.

This printer, statesman, scientist, linguist, educator and envoy died at Philadelphia on April 17, 1790, in the 84th year of his life; therefore be it

Resolved, by the House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania that it presents to the youth of the Commonwealth this resume of the life of one who soared to the heights from an obscure place in life by his own efforts, as an incentive to them to make a more careful and complete study of that life in order to draw therefrom inspiration to a like endeavor, and as a clear example of what can be accomplished here in America under the American Way of Life.

RESOLUTION

CONDOLENCE

Messrs. REIDENBACH, NEEDHAM, WARGO and Mrs. MUNLEY offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1956.

After a brief illness William F. Shea of Dunmore, Pennsylvania, died in St. Mary's Hospital on Saturday, January 14.

Mr. Shea was widely known because of his many years of welfare work and from 1938 until the time of his death was supervisor of the Lackawanna County Institution District.

He will long be remembered by the many unfortunate persons he helped by his generosity and kindness as well as by the countless orphans and neglected children for whom he arranged shelter and education in various private institutions.

Born in Dunmore, he was the son of the late Patrick and Hannah Flynn Shea. He attended Dunmore schools and was graduated from Scranton Lackawanna College and the University of Pennsylvania's Wharton School of Finance and Commerce.

In addition to Mrs. Joseph A. Walsh, a sister, and Daniel J. Shea, a brother, he is also survived by another sister, Mrs. Harry P. O'Neill, the widow of the Harry P. O'Neill, former Congressman and former member of the House of Representatives; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives extends its sincere and heartfelt sympathies to Mrs. Harry P. O'Neill, Mrs. Joseph A. Walsh and to Daniel J. Shea in their hour of loss in the passing away of the brother William F. Shea; and be it further Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be sent to Mrs. Harry P. O'Neill, Clay Avenue, Dunmore, Pennsylvania.

I have a telegram which I have just received which I will read:

For your information eight homes in Mercer County stoned last night. Only one of these eight was a residence of a Westinghouse employee.

Now is that law and order, Mr. Speaker?

The birthplace of this noted explorer is not only located in Cambria County, Pennsylvania, but the Commonwealth already has located and maintained an historical park and shrine dedicated to the memory of Robert Edwin Peary at Cresson.

Rear Admiral Peary was not only the discoverer of the North Pole but also a contributor to world geographical science and knowledge and a pioneer in the development of American aviation and the study of its relationship to our national welfare and defense; therefore be it

Leader, to issue a suitable proclamation honoring the birthday of this noted Pennsylvanian and calling upon the Department of Public Instruction and the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to urge the schools and all patriotic, civic, and historical societies to undertake suitable exercises, ceremonies, and educational activities designed to recall the heroic exploits and significant services of this great explorer, geographer, and promoter of aviation.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, over the period of this long Session of the Legislature, we have had deaths in this Body and we have had serious illnesses. Many of the Senators feel that one of the biggest reasons for these illnesses is because we go so long here after the regular luncheon and dinner periods that it becomes unhealthy to eat when the Senators are forced to eat, because of our long schedule of working hours. Due to that fact, Mr. President, I want to tell the Members of the Senate that the Republican Caucus has decided that, as a safeguard to the health of the remaining Senators here, we would like to start at 1:00 o'clock on Mondays and go until 6:00 o'clock. After that, for the balance of the week, adjourn at 6:00 o'clock in the evening, regardless of where we may be in the Order of Business of the day.

Therefore, Mr. President, I ask my Democratic colleagues to go along with that suggestion so that there will be no further impairment of our health. I think all of us feel that we should not jeopardize the health of any of the Senators here and, therefore, we would like to adopt that as a policy of the Senate; that henceforth we will stop at 6:00 o'clock in the evening, regardless of where we may be in the Order of Business.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I agree wholeheartedly with the gentleman's statements. However, I want him to know that, for instance, I think it was yesterday, we were to meet at 11:00 o'clock and you fellows came out of your Caucus at 4:00 o'clock. That is something which you will have to lay at your own doorstep. If you can use delaying tactics and come in here at 5:00 o'clock in the evening and think we are going to stop at 6:00 o'clock, that is not correct.

I agree with the Majority Leader that we should meet earlier in the day, but when the Session is called for 1:00 o'clock, the Session should start. If something is in your Caucus that has not been finished, at least, you should start and be gentlemen enough to let us know and then recess and caucus again, so that we will know just what we are doing instead of having us hanging around here for some four or five hours, doing nothing.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I believe Senator Barr realizes the impossibility of completing a schedule right on time. We call a Caucus for a certain hour of the day, as the Democrats do, and each of the Senators in their respective Caucuses want to be heard. For me to say that we are going to get out of the Caucus in an hour or two hours would just be impossible. We have to be lenient with each other. When the Democrats have an extended Caucus and cannot get back here on the floor right on time, we go along with them and extend the time for them.

Mr. President, yesterday's Caucus and the day before yesterday's Caucus were extremely long due to the fact that we were discussing at length the tax program. That is an unusual circumstance. I will assure Senator Barr that we will do our very best to get out here in proper time so that we may start the Sessions on time. I hope that the Democrats will do the same.

In the future, if it so happens that we do not get up here until 3:00 o'clock or 4:00 o'clock and it would look as though there was not going to be sufficient time to debate the bills at length, then we can put them over until the next day and meet earlier the next morning. However, I do feel that most of us would like to get out by 6:00 o'clock so that we might have our dinner at the proper time.

Mr. BARR. I agree with Senator Mahany wholeheartedly. However, you say that yesterday and the day before were extenuating circumstances. That has been going on for a period now of almost a year. I would suggest that if we are supposed to meet at 2:00 o'clock, then let us meet at 2:00 o'clock. If you have not finished your Caucus, then go down. As it is now, when you come up at 4:00 o'clock, people are scattered throughout this building and you have a terrific time assembling everybody who wants to be in their seats when the Senate starts.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. May the Chair suggest to both the Majority and the Minority Leaders that both parties make every effort to keep the new schedule?

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I know that we have a lot of work to do and I do not want to take the time of the Senate. However, there is one condition in Pennsylvania which calls for remedial action.

Just about a year ago, a judge was shot in Warren County, in cold blood. Another one was assaulted in Cumberland County, and yesterday you read that an eminent jurist of Philadelphia, Judge Vincent A. Carroll, was threatened.

Mr. President, I propose to introduce next week legislation to curb the situation and to throw a veil of protection around our jurists. For that reason, I will prepare appropriate legislation. However, I am not going to go into detail because I know that we are now pressed for time. I will leave it until Monday.

BILL ON THIRD READING DEFEATED ON FINAL PASSAGE

AMENDMENTS OFFERED

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1879, entitled:

An Act to provide revenue for Commonwealth purposes by imposing a tax on the manufacture use storage or purchase of certain manufactured tangible personal property providing for licenses reports payment of tax interest and penalties assessments collections liens reviews and appeals conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue public officers manufacturers wholesalers retailers corporations partnerships associations and individuals and making an appropriation

And said bill having been read at length the third time, On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 1, page 2, line 4, by striking out "education and welfare" and inserting: "Use."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the short title of this act has been changed on numerous occasions, previously. I feel that there is no further reason to now change it again.

I think that when the people pay this tax, if this bill is adopted and made into law, it would help some for them to understand that the money which they will pay will go to the education and welfare fund. I think the desire of the Democrats, when they originally introduced this bill, was to take a little of the stigma away from the bill by removing the words "sales tax" from it. Originally, they had in the title of the bill "an imposition of tax on sales." It was then changed to make it a manufacturers' tax. I do believe that the people will be a little bit happier, let us say, to pay the tax levied under this bill if they know it to be an education and welfare tax rather than to put some other name on it.

Therefore, Mr. President, I oppose this amendment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I have been reading the newspapers and I do not usually read them. However, since I have to compete with the newspapers on the other side, I thought perhaps I had better start learning to read them.

I note that every place I read, I find that the emphasis is on the fact that this is a use tax. All I am doing is amending it to be a use tax. Is that not what we were told on the floor yesterday afternoon? If you say that it is a use tax, why do you object to it being called a use tax?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman whether there is any provision in this bill which will set up a separate fund into which all these moneys will be paid, and that fund specifically earmarked for education and welfare, or is it true that these moneys will be paid into the General Fund to be used for general appropriations?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not understand that any separate fund will be set up. However, it would be earmarked for this purpose, as I understand it.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman.

If there is no special fund being set up and these funds specifically earmarked for this use, if they will then be paid into the General Fund, of course, they may be used for any purposes under the general appropriation bills that are passed. To pass such a bill with this title will certainly be misleading. In my opinion, it will give to the people of the Commonwealth a false impression. I would certainly object to labeling a tax for a specific purpose when we all sit here and know that once it gets into the General Fund, it is like a bucket of water poured into a well. You will not be able to tell this money from any other.

For that reason, Mr. President, I would strenuously object to this title and would support the amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. CAMIEL. Mr. President, I desire to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Philadelphia will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. BARR and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—17

Barr,	Hays,	McMenamin,	Seyler,
Camiel,	Holland,	Mullin,	Silvert,
Dent,	Lane,	Ruth,	Stiefel,
DiSilvestro,	McGinnis,	Schmidt,	Weiner,
			Yosko,

NAYS—23

Berger,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Wagner,

Diehm,	Mahany,	Taylor,	Wolfe,
Flack,	Mallery,	Van Sant,	Fleming,
Harney,	McPherson, Jr.	Wade,	Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 2, page 2, by striking out "soft drinks."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the amendment be adopted.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, may I ask the Clerk to read the amendment again?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the Clerk please read the amendment again?

The Clerk again read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 2, page 2, by striking out "soft drinks."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to the interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, what is the intent of this amendment, as to what it would do the bill?

Mr. DENT. It would add a little more money because you will be taxing soft drinks. You fellows have exempted them.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I understand that soft drinks will be taxed if they are bought in a hotel or restaurant. The only exemption is on the soft drinks which are purchased for off the premise consumption. If someone were to buy a case of soft drinks or even a bottle of soft drink to take home, then that would not be taxed.

I cannot quite understand Senator Dent's logic in trying to tax soft drinks because for so long a period he has been extremely opposed to taxing what he calls the little kids' drinks. We felt, in this instance, that soft drinks should be exempt. If they want to put a separate tax on soft drinks, that can be done in a separate bill. However, in this bill, it would be better to exempt them from this tax.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, whatever we intend to do, we will do. I wish Senator Mahany would not go completely overboard in trying to confuse the people. We have not said a word about putting the soft drinks tax on separately. If he is interested in that, then let him use his own language and speak for himself, Sir John.

Mr. President, if you are going to have a sales tax or an abuse tax—I have discovered that this is no longer a use tax, it is on abuse tax—I have discovered that this is no longer a use tax, it is an abuse tax—and since you are going to pass it, we just think that it should at least do what you have said you want to do, and that is put a broad base tax that covers everything. Quit fooling the people. Children go into restaurants, too. Maybe you do not know it, but you are going to tax soft drinks, you say, when they are served in a restaurant. If you buy them at a stand out along the road, however, or at a gasoline station, then they are not taxed. I can imagine how much money you will raise from that particular little item.

Of course, you will vote "no" because that is your Caucus order. However, I want a roll call, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call. Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. LANE, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—18

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 2, page 3, lines 7 to 19, and page 4, lines 1 to 6, by striking out all of said lines.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to oppose this amendment. There has been much work done in connection with the drafting of this bill, although perhaps it may be amended if we can better it in any form. I do not think, however, that this amendment would better it. This amendment would seek to tax newspapers, magazines and periodicals. We feel that they are manufactured products which should not be subject to tax. I think you could go on here for an hour or so in order to show why the press should not be taxed. It is a media of information to the public. It is something which the people depend upon to find out what is being done in the halls of the Legislature, in the halls of Congress and in various places throughout the world. We feel that we should not tax that particular media of information.

Also, Mr. President, there would be no way of taxing television and radio, which is a competitive industry to the newspapers. Therefore, it certainly would be an unfair tax if we just put it on the press.

The other items in here—I think the tax elimination on vessels designed for commercial use, with a registered tonnage of fifty tons or more, was put into to help out one of the industries, I think, down in Senator Barr's county of Allegheny. There is a shipyard there and, also, there is a shipyard in Delaware County, along the Delaware River. These shipyards do not necessarily have to be in Pennsylvania. They could very well move across the river; from Delaware County, for instance, over to New Jersey. We are trying to keep industry here as much as possible.

For that reason, Mr. President, we feel that this exemption should be in the bill and I oppose the amendment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President. However, I thought we would be further ahead if I just got up and said that I oppose the amendments instead of going into detail about why I am doing it. I am trying to be fair.

Mr. DENT. If you are trying to be fair, you stated here that there is no tax on the television industry or the radio industry and that they are competitors of the newspapers. Is it not true that when you start this tax at ten cents, you do not tax the daily newspaper which is probably the greatest medium of news dissemination that there is in the Country? If that is the case, then why do you have to protect, as you call it, the so-called freedom of the press? This would tax, perhaps, the dollar magazine like Esquire, Fortune and some of the fancier magazines that not too many of the laboring people buy.

However, this is my question. Do you have an amendment somewhere in the bill—I could not find it—where you exempted television and radio sets?

Mr. MAHANY. We do not exempt the television and radio sets. However, we do exempt the stations. There would be no way of taxing them. We feel that if we are going to put them on an equal basis, then both the dissemination by way of radio and television should be equal to the press.

You say that you would not pay a tax on a five-cent newspaper. That is true if you just bought one newspaper. If you happen to buy, like you and I do, perhaps two or three at a time and it got beyond the ten cent limit, then you would have to pay a tax. Although perhaps the workingman does not buy Esquire Magazine, he probably buys Colliers and the Saturday Evening Post and a lot of those. They are beyond the ten cent limit, and we feel that such items should not be subject to tax.

Mr. DENT. Would you say then that radio and television stations can buy what they need to build their stations, to repair any parts that may break or wear out without paying a tax?

Mr. MAHANY. I would say that if they are manufacturing concerns, such as the newspapers are, then they would not have to pay a tax. However, I have not gone into that detail to that extent. There is no way you can tax what they put out; that is, the news dissemination which the television station produces or the radio station produces. There is no way of taxing that product as you would a newspaper, if you put the tab on the newspaper.

I do want to call your attention to the fact that Sunday newspapers are anywhere from fifteen cents to twenty cents. The laboring man reads a lot of those types of newspapers.

Mr. DENT. If you will read the amendment carefully and if you will read the section being amended, I just wonder how much you really understand the bill. If you do not understand it any better than you explain it, Senator Mahany—this is without reflection on your intentions—I believe that you should take the week end to study it.

What this amendment does is put back into the tax the materials that are used, the component parts, to make or put out a newspaper. You see, the newspaper people, themselves, came in here and asked for an exemption to the excise tax. They wanted, themselves, to be excluded from the terminology of manufacturer. We acceded to their demands and we took them out of the bill as manufacturers because they claimed—and I have it in writing for your benefit—that they are not manufacturers.

If they are not manufacturers and they ask us to so designate in the excise tax bill, why do you now want to make them manufacturers so that you can then exempt them from the payment of taxes upon inks, papers and component parts, as we would call them, that go into a newspaper? However, you say that you want to be fair on one hand and yet you are going to tax all of the ingredients and component parts that go into making up both a television show and a television plant or a radio plant. If you go into a television studio and they put on a production, they spend many, many thousands of dollars toward getting their scenery together, buying cameras, light bulbs and all kinds of equipment that is necessary. If you say that you do not want to tax freedom of news dissemination and information to the public, then either you take them all on the same basis or you exempt them all.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the amount of money that a television station has to spend in order to produce a program would be a very small amount compared with what a newspaper has to spend to produce their paper. Newsprint has gone up terrifically, and as the newsprint goes up the price of the paper has to go up. I know that in my little town of Titusville, for years we were able to buy the Titusville Herald for five cents a copy, but due to the fact that the newsprint went skyrocketing over the past two years, the editor of the paper stated to his readers that it was necessary to raise the price to seven cents. The Pittsburgh Post-Gazette has been raised to seven cents. To put more tax on the newspapers would just mean that they would have to increase their price. The newspapers cannot very well absorb all these things, and they will have to increase the price which will go to the consumer. To place them under this tax would just be another reason why newspapers would have to increase their price again. We feel that it is not right to put this tax on those particular items for that reason.

Mr. President, we feel that these are items which can very well be excluded from the tax. It seems to be particularly hard to give money to the Democrats by our tax program. The Democrats seem to be raising hob with it. Only yesterday they said they were not going to vote for it at all, and now they are trying to put all kinds of amendments into it. I take it from that that, perhaps, they are now changing their minds and might give a few votes to it.

I will say this to the Senator, that when we get through here if this bill is passed by the Senate, no doubt it will have to go into some type of conference committee and many of these things which he is objecting to may be ironed out. However, if we are going to collect this tax, we will have to get this bill on the books pretty soon so that we may start to collect the tax by February 1st, anyway, and in order to do that it is necessary for this Senate to pass this bill, get it over to the House and put it into a conference committee and try to get that committee to come out with a report which we can adopt and then put the bill on the Governor's desk so that if we are going to enact this tax, we can get it started by February 1st.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think the gentleman is doing a pretty good job of missing the main purport of the amendment.

The amendment simply proposes to take out the fat cat of the Republican Party, Mr. Joe Pew. I, for one, do not want to be one of those who pay Joe Pew's way to San Francisco to attend the Republican Convention.

Mr. President, Sun Ship is the only one who has come and asked for this amendment to be put in. With regard to Mr. Mahany's story about the DeVoe Shipyards, I would like to say that they compete with shipyards in Ohio and they are not exempt from the tax.

This provision in the bill, as presented by the Senate Finance Committee which is Republican dominated, is simply to take care of the Sun Ship Building Company and Joe Pew, the biggest fat cat the Republican Party has.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think that the gentleman has raised a very important point when he says that newsprint has gone up and, therefore, they had to raise the paper's price up in Titusville. I understand that most other papers just raised their advertising rates instead of the price of the paper to get their money. They sell the Philadelphia Bulletin, for instance, which I think is a little bigger and sometimes even a better paper than the Titusville Bugle Call, and it still costs a nickle and they use about twenty times as much newsprint as what your little paper does. I just do not understand the relationship between these things.

Mr. President, I am just asking a question now. I wonder if the price of a stove has gone up to the little fellow at home, the same as the newsprint has gone up to the newspaper people? I am wondering if you are exempting stoves in this bill Mr. Mahany. Are stoves and refrigerators exempted?

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. I would like to ask you, Senator Mahany, if stoves and refrigerators are exempted, because you are speaking for the little man and I know that most of them try to buy a stove and a refrigerator?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, there is no question about the fact that the little man, and that includes Senator Dent and I, will have to pay some tax under this bill if it is enacted into law. When he or I buy a stove or a refrigerator, we will have to pay a tax on those items if this bill is enacted. You cannot very well put a tax bill on the books that is going to raise the amount of money this tax is going to raise without having somebody pay some taxes.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I appreciate that very much. That is exactly what we are talking about. We think that if you are going to have a tax, as you say, somebody ought to pay it, but why pick always on the little people?

This amendment particularly exempts the large boat manufacturer. For instance, here is one of your fifty ton so-called commercial boats. It is a beautiful seagoing yacht, called the "Arvida Bay." It is part of a fleet maintained by Alcoa. It is nothing but a seagoing yacht and that is all it is, because it is used by Mr. Davis, the president of that company. I am not the authority for this statement. Your newspapers, which you talk about and which you are protecting so much against any kind of taxation, printed that story in a Sunday Supplement.

Mr. President, now, do you know what this amendment does? This amendment puts the yachts in the same class as the outboard motor boat. The man who owns a little outboard motor boat has to pay your tax, but the man who buys a yacht and calls it commercial, because he does not even pay for it as it goes through his company, gets deduction on taxation and everything else but that is exempt from taxes. There is no place in this bill, Mr. Mahany, where you allow one cent of this tax to be paid by any person, corporation, unincorporated business in any way, shape or form. The entire burden of this tax is squarely upon the shoulders of the people of this Commonwealth and eighty-two per cent of the tax will be paid by persons earning less than $5,000 a year. I defy anybody to question those figures.

You say that you are talking about a broad base tax. Mr. President, I would like to tell Mr. Mahany in private what I think of the broadside of it. I, therefore, ask for a roll call on the Pew amendment.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do believe the yacht which Senator Dent described would be subject to the tax. The amendment exempts vessels designed for commercial use. I do not believe that that yacht, although I have never been privileged to be on it, Senator, would be exempt under the provisions of this bill.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, when we were on this subject and the excise tax was before us, the spokesman, one noted Phil Sterling, spoke for the Sun Ship Building Company and he asked that the excise tax be not passed. When we questioned him as to what kind of a tax he would favor for his clients, he said a sales tax. Now, you are giving him the sales tax and you are asking us to give it to him, but you are exempting him from the tax.

If he wants the sales tax, why does he not pay it, or does he only want it for the little people? That is the only question I ask.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. McMENAMIN. Mr. President, we Democrats do not know much about this yacht business, but it seems to us that some of the yacht owners ought to pay a tax and for that purpose I have an amendment here which would reduce the tonnage under the tax to ten tons. In other words, a ten ton yacht and up would have to pay the tax and the little fellows, with the little yachts, would not have to pay the tax. Someone has just suggested that we make it "sixteen tons," but I will offer this amendment as it is.

Mr. President, I now ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend House Bill Number 1879, Printer's Number 1299, on Page 3, Line 11, by striking out the word: "fifty" and inserting the word in lieu thereof "ten."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am pleased to see that Senator McMEnamin is considering the welfare of the yacht owners who own yachts weighing between ten and fifty tons, but I am still opposed to this amendment, too.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I might suggest to the gentleman that the Sun Ship Building Company, Joe Pew's company, only builds yachts and commercial ships of over fifty tons and make no smaller ones. They want to make sure that no one gets an exemption except those who paid for them.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am not quite sure of this, but I understand the Sun Ship Building Company does not build any ships down there of under 100 tons. The only reason the tonnage was brought down to fifty, Senator, was to take care of Senator Barr's little ship building place over there. If you want to bring it from fifty tons back up to 100 tons, we might go for that, but I do not know.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am given permission by Senator Barr to say to you that he is not asking any exemptions and has voted to the contrary of the statement just made by the gentleman from Titusville.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President.

Mr. WATKINS. Do you realize, Senator Dent, that as of October the 31st, 1955, there were only 1389 ocean going vessels being built in the whole world? Do you realize, Senator Dent, that in the United States there are only twelve of those ocean going vessels being built?

Mr. DENT. What is the point of the question? I do not realize it, if that is your question.

Mr. WATKINS. In other words, your whole argument and fight seems to be prejudice against one of our leading citizens of the State of Pennsylvania, instead of being really interested in the revenue, Senator, that would come in from the shipbuilding industry. I am trying to tell you that we are building no ships in this Country.

Mr. DENT. If we are building no ships, then what do you need the amendment for?

Mr. WATKINS. We are trying, Senator, to protect what little shipbuilding industry we do have.

I would also like to call to your attention the fact that the little repair work which we have in the State of Pennsylvania is in Delaware County, Chester, Pennsylvania.

I wonder, Mr. President, if the Senator ever heard of the Camden Ship Building and Dry Dock Company over in Camden, New Jersey.

Mr. DENT. Yes, I have.

Mr. WATKINS. Do they have a tax on anything that they build? Do they have a tax on what they put into their ships, Senator.

Mr. DENT. I do not know whether they have the tax. I am a citizen of Pennsylvania. I do know this; that the owners of that company pay an income tax in the State of New York.

Mr. WATKINS. Well, the owners of the Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Company also pay an income tax to the State of Pennsylvania, I think, too. It happens to be a corporation and they pay a tax to the State.

Mr. DENT. I am sorry, but we have tried to get the bill which would tax Mr. Pew but you will not let us pass that tax.

Mr. WATKINS. Mr. President, I think this battle over the Sun Ship Building and Dry Dock Company, and Mr. Pew, has become entirely out of order. I think it is a personal attack against a great American and a great Pennsylvanian. What they have been saying here has no relation to this bill at all.

As far as the revenue involved is concerned, it is picayune and amounts to nothing. I think the attacks upon this great man should be stopped as of now. There is no reason for any person to be insulted over something about which he has no control. It is my doing and my act that this amendment is in here, and I shall stand on it and ask every Republican on this side to vote "no" on the proposed changes to this amendment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I am sure that his impassioned plea will get him votes on the other side. I am positive of that.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the amendment be adopted.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I oppose this amendment and ask the Members to vote "no" on it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will you tell the Senate why you object to this amendment?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I feel that when someone trades a car in on a new car, or when the laboring man, about whom Senator Dent is so concerned, trades in an old refrigerator for a new refrigerator, he should be asked to only pay the difference between the amount that he pays for the new refrigerator and the amount of the trade-in. This is helping the little man buy refrigerators.

Mr. DENT. Senator, will you tell the Senate how much would be added to the revenue in Pennsylvania if my amendments went into the bill?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, may I confer with the Chairman of the Finance Committee?

I understand that there would be about $5,000,000 or $6,000,000 added to this amount of revenue if this amendment were adopted.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that everybody understands it, if we were to collect the so-called three per cent sales tax, which the gentlemen are imposing here today, on automobiles, the same as they do in the State of California, about which they brag so much, and in the State of Michigan, which they brag about so much, and also in the State of Ohio, that has always been held up here as such a great State—if you were to collect that tax on the same base, you would receive a tax of $72,000,000 a year, at three per cent. The best estimates that I can get are that you are throwing out the window, in automobiles, alone, in this tax $33,000,000.

I am wondering, Mr. President, whether the people are not being completely hoodwinked by all of this. Someone said to me, "Why are you doing this? You know they are going to vote them down." I will tell you why, because I do not want it said afterwards to me, by any Member of the Republican Party, that I did not know I was voting for a bill that exempted this or exempted that. I want to clearly state what exactly is being exempted. I want to say to the people of Pennsylvania that every high pressured lobbyist in this State has received his piece of cheese out of this bill. They are cutting them all out except the people.

Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. WEINER. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

MOTION THAT AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the amendment be adopted.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I oppose this amendment.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will you tell us why you oppose this amendment.

Mr. MAHANY. I just do not like it, Senator Dent.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, that was real funny; I am sure everybody enjoyed it. It is about the only time this afternoon that Senator Mahany knew what he was talking about.

Mr. President, this amendment is a serious amendment and you cannot just say that you do not like it. This is again preferential treatment.

If a man buys an automobile and drives it back and forth to work in order to feed his family, he pays a tax on it. However, if a man uses his automobile as a demonstrator, he does not pay a tax on it. I said before, and I am saying again for the record, that there is not a place in this bill where any businessman, large or small, any corporation, large or small, any industry, large or small, pays one cent of tax. It is entirely on the shoulders of the little people and you go to the extent of exempting from taxation a demonstrator's car to make sure that you do not tax anybody who might come in here lobbying next week.

Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I believe that Senator Dent understands that in nine cases out of ten, perhaps ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, when an automobile dealer uses a car for a demonstrator, he sells that car eventually and, at that time, the tax would be paid on that demonstrator car when he sells it to a consumer, as I understand it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, how does he treat that car in the matter of used and new cars?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are you interrogating the Majority Leader?

Mr. DENT. I just want to know. Anybody can answer me. I cannot get an answer out of Senator Mahany because he just does not like the amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Do you care to answer that question, Senator Mahany?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I would say that the tax would be paid upon the amount that the person pays for the demonstrator's car, less whatever trade-in he is allowed by the automobile dealer. That would include sewing machines, refrigerators or any other items which are generally sold by dealers.

Mr. DENT. Then, does that not have the effect that I said, that certain privileged parties in Pennsylvania will pay no tax whatsoever under this bill?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President—

Mr. DENT. Because, my dear friend, an automobile dealer never does buy a car. He uses demonstrators all the time. The other people have to buy automobiles and pay a tax on them. Show me where this automobile dealer pays any tax on an automobile under this bill.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not know about the dealers in Senator Dent's county, but I do have a pretty good friend, by the name of W. W. Waterhouse, who is an automobile dealer in Corry. I will not charge him anything for that plug. However, he is now buying a car, I understand, and he is going to take title to it and I understand that he would pay a tax under this bill. If he uses it as a demonstrator, then he would not pay a tax.

Certainly, when people buy cars from a dealer, which cars have been used as demonstrators, they do not expect to pay as much for the car as they would if they got it absolutely new, with no mileage on it. I do not believe it would be right to charge the sewing machine dealer, the refrigerator dealer or the automobile dealer a tax on the amount that he would lose by reason of having demonstrated the car.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I notice that with each one of these amendments, somehow or another, Senator Mahany puts it in the housewives' kitchens. He makes it a sewing machine or a refrigerator.

I would suggest to him that if he would really want to help these people, he would exempt those items and start taxing the other items instead. Just think how many refrigerators you could buy for a fifty ton yacht.

Mr. President, I ask for a roll call.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Allegheny, Mr. Koprivier, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. Senator Koprivier, are you in the florist business?

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. I am.

Mr. BARR. Thank you, very much.

Mr. President, we just saw an amendment offered which would take out what is a favor for another Senator on the other side. I am asking the same thing; I do not see why the florists should be exempted. I do not see why they must get their votes on the other side that way. I am in favor of taking the farmer and the agriculture out, but not the florist.

Mr. President, we were trying to make this bill into a bill which we could consider voting for, and that is the reason for all these amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I move that the amendment be adopted.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. If you exempt flowers, bouquets and roses, would you be saving the poor people a lot of money?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, in the first place, I want to say that they would not be exempt under this bill. Secondly, I wish the gentleman from Westmoreland would read it. He has accused me of not knowing what is in the bill. All that this does is exempt the supplies, the little containers, I presume, which the florists, including Senator Koprivier, would use in connection with raising roses or the various flowers which are raised in greenhouses. I understand that when you go and buy a bouquet for your wife or a corsage—we poorer people cannot afford that, but sometime when you do it, you will have to pay a tax on it.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to make a contract with that gentleman across there. I would like to sell myself to him for what I am worth. I would like to sell myself to him for what I know I am worth and take the difference between that and what he says I am worth.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I would like to say to both gentlemen that they should be very cautious about exposing their true worth to the other Members.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to explain that under the old tax bill, which Governor Fine passed, they did not think that they should exclude this particular feature. However, it seems that this bill is going to go much further in exclusions. Here is another unincorporated business, in most instances, and a businessman, in all instances, and again you are going to make sure that under no circumstances must he pay any taxes.

I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. KOPRIVER, JR. Mr. President, I do not want to disappoint Senator Dent. However, I must say for what connections I have in the florist business, I would prefer not to be recorded as voting on this amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I presume you are raising a constitutional question.

Mr. DENT. No, he just does not want to vote for it. I presume he does not like it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

VERIFICATION OF THE ROLL

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, for purposes of the record, I would like to have the roll verified.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Request has been made to have the roll verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the affirmative as follows:

Barr, Camiel, Dent, DiSilvestro, Hays,	Holland, Lane, McGinnis, McMenamin,	Miller, Mullin, Ruth, Schmidt,	Seyler, Silver, Stiefel, Werner, Yosko,
--	--	---	---

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Are there any corrections? The Chair hears none. The affirmative roll will stand as verified.

The Clerk will call the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative.

The Clerk read the names of those recorded as having voted in the negative as follows:

Berger, Blass, Chapman, Diehm, Flack, Harney,	Kessler, Madigan, Mahany, Mallery, McPherson, Jr., Peelor,	Propert, Scott, Taylor, Van Sant, Wade,	Wagner, Watkins, Whalley, Wolfe, Fleming, Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I note that the gentleman was at least honest enough to disclose his personal interest in the matter and declined to vote on the amendment. I think that is very worthwhile. Of course, under the same constitutional provision, he cannot vote for the bill in its entirety.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 202, page 20, by striking out all of lines 6 to 13 and inserting: "(b) The use of manufactured tangible personal property limited to "(1) Water "(2) Manufactured tangible personal property purchased from any public utility subject to the tax on its gross receipts derived from the sale of such tangible personal property."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

MOTION THAT AMENDMENT BE ADOPTED

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that the amendment be adopted.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate any one of the Senators on the other side who can answer the question as to why they are voting against this amendment, without giving me the silly answer that he does not like it.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a volunteer on the Republican side to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. All right, Mr. President, in order that they do not vote in ignorance, I would like to state that this amendment does exactly this. It removes from this bill any chance of taxation upon any public utility in Pennsylvania that is paying the gross receipts tax. It removes from taxation water sold in the State of Pennsylvania to any of its peoples or industries. However, it puts back into the taxable items in this bill, natural or manufactured gas. Those were items which were taxed under the Fine one per cent sales tax. Now they are exempting gas from this tax.

I would like to ask, Mr. President, whether or not the $3,200,000 of anticipated revenue per year from this will be made up in some other fashion somewhere along the line? Why should gas have this competitive advantage over Pennsylvania produced power and heating elements that compete with it? Why should this tax exempt gas, the great bulk of which comes from a few southwestern States when this item is taxed by those States? We are not only allowing it to be transmitted freely and stored freely in this State in the great natural storage basins which are a natural part of this great Commonwealth, but we are also exempting them from any tax that would make them somewhere near more competitive with competitive fuels in this State.

Therefore, Mr. President, if the Republicans want to do that, all right. If you want to keep doing what you are doing in your blind voting, do not expect any of us to go out and vote for any bill that is the biggest hoax ever put over on the little people of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend page 37, lines 10 to 19, by striking out all of said lines.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate anybody on the other side who would volunteer to answer the question of why they are opposed to this amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there a volunteer for interrogation.

There appears to be none, Senator Dent.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that they all be informed, under the so-called Fine sales tax they paid the tax receiver, or the person who acted as the Commonwealth's agent, three-tenths of one per cent for the collection of the tax. That was a one per cent tax, and I assume that there will be about the same amount of work to collect three cents as there was to collect one cent. In order that they make sure that they get the support of the Chamber of Commerce, whose main contributor is the main street merchants, they are now going to pay two per cent of the tax collected as a collection fee.

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I believe the Minority Floor Leader indicated that under the former sales tax which we had in Pennsylvania, the collector of the tax, who was a retailer in most cases, was reimbursed three-tenth of one per cent for his collection of the tax. I believe that is incorrect. I think the retailer received three per cent for collecting the tax.

Mr. President, in this bill we are proposing that this commission be reduced to two per cent. Certainly, we cannot expect these men to keep records and to do the necessary bookwork and act as the agents of the Commonwealth without some reimbursement.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would suggest that even if Senator Kessler's figures are correct, and I only have before me the old tax as it was originally written, I am sure that it does not cost twice as much to collect and keep twice as many books for collecting the tax at a three per cent level as at a one per cent level. I am sure, Mr. President, if you carry out the theory of taxation of the gentleman from Lancaster, and you eventually get to an eight or ten per cent sales tax in the State, in order that the big people do not pay any taxes in the State and you keep it up, who will be the greatest beneficiary of the tax?

Does anybody in this room have any idea if this tax raises, as he says, $300,000,000, how much it is going to give to the main street merchants for acting as the collector, from the little people, of this tax? I would say that they ought to be for the tax. I imagine that next year these same merchants will come down and ask you to pass a five per cent tax to make up the deficit you will have, if you pass this tax, and to make up the mandated increases that will be necessary because of the Duff legislation which is still on the books.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 202, page 24, by striking out all of lines 15 to 19.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will you tell me why you are opposed to this amendment other than that you do not like it?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have not said that I was opposed to it.

Mr. DENT. Thank you very kindly.

Mr. President, since I know that he is going to vote for the amendment, I do not want to antagonize him but I thank him very kindly, because I think it is important that this particular amendment also be put into this bill.

For the information of those who have not read the bill, this amendment attempts to get a little bit of this cost of government out of some businessmen in the State. This amendment, as introduced by Senator Kessler and put into the bill, would exempt all the wrapping paper, wrapping twine, sales books, tape, and any other items which are used by Strawbridge and Clothier, Gimbels and all of the big stores in doing their business. Up until now, I guess it was considered a part of the cost of doing operations, but now they are going to exempt it from taxation.

Everybody in this room knows that when a little person goes in to buy any item at any of these stores, or any other place of business, he will pay the tax. When you have a retail sales tax, that tax is placed upon the sale price and included in that sale price are these items which the store had to buy, as it were, to carry on its business. Now you exempt this particular operator from the tax, so why do you not carry it on and say that he is only allowed to tax the retail value in the amount against the sale price that is reflected in that amount which was not taxed by the individual operator? That is the one reason, Mr. President, that we were for an excise sales tax at the manufacturers' cost level, because items such as this would not be charged to the little people.

Now here you are with another amendment, making sure that nobody over and above the working class of people of this State have to pay the sales tax.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if we had adopted the Democratic excise tax, it is true that items such as this would not have been taxable. We do not feel that it is fair now for items such as this to be taxable.

It is not just the little, poor people who buy things that are wrapped up. I think that the millionaires, and the people whom Senator Dent consorts with on yachts, buy things that are wrapped up in paper. If they were forced to pay this tax on their wrapping paper and their cartons and their twine, it would be true, as he states, that they would just add it onto the cost of the product and the little fellow or the rich fellow, whoever it was who bought the product in the end, would have to pay the amount of tax which the merchant had to add onto those items in which he wraps up the parcel.

sential and necessary as food, as clothing. Shelter and comforts are the aims of people who work.

I believe that when you propose a tax, if you do so with an honest intention of meeting a common burden, that you attempt to pass legislation that makes it a common burden and puts all activities of business, peoples, railroads, transportation, corporate interest and the rest into the same common pool. If you say that you want a broad base tax, why do you not place it on a broad base? There may be some reasonable and humane reason for removing from the taxable category food, as such. Food, incidentally, whether it is cooked or raw, is still essential to life, and you exempt so-called food for home consumption. I believe that all of us feel that most of the States in the Union have recognized that necessity. We find that other States have it. Michigan does not exempt it; Illinois does not exempt it. Many other sales tax States have their own peculiar laws.

When I was talking to the Members on the other side about what we might be able to do in case of sudden sickness on their side or illness or acts of God, I said that I thought that that was a proper amendment. However, I do not believe that any person over there expects any Member of the Democratic Party, who believes in the philosophy of the Democratic Party, to vote with you on legislation where you are deliberately exempting every possible agency, organization or person that might be able to pay a greater share of the tax from paying any of the tax and when you are placing all of the burden upon the little peoples.

You have asked whether or not we will support it. You are sitting over there in your domain, looking down from your ivory castle, refusing to even consider any amendments that might spread the cost of this government a little around other activities, rather than just peoples.

Mr. President, I do not believe that any of you expect us to accede to that kind of dictation. If you were anxious to really work out a solution, you would have accepted my invitation, made many times and as late as this morning, in which I said that I understand that you do not have all your Members today because three of them are sick. I said, "If we can reach some common ground, we could probably work out a situation where we could give you three votes, even if it is against our basic principles." However, you say, "No, we will not accept any amendments; we will not consider any amendments; we are going to take the bill as we want it." When I am asking the question as to why certain exemptions were made and I ask that the exemptions be disallowed, I am treated with the very hilarious answer, "I do not like it."

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, I accuse the Republican Party in the Senate this afternoon of knowing that they do not have the votes and are planning this massacre of refusing to give the Minority consideration, quite contrary, if you please, to the way we handled the situation on the legislation that our House passed over here. We stood on this floor and said that if there are features of the bill that you do not like, we will be glad to discuss the amendments with you. On the classified income tax, you refused to even read the bill. You almost fell over yourselves being recorded against it. On the excise tax, some amendments were suggested and, in fairness to the Democratic side of the Senate, every amendment that was suggested, prior to the vote, was accepted by us. We cut the yield on that legislation down to some $80,000,000 in an attempt to reach a reasonable compromise. This afternoon you are deliberately driving for a vote. You are doing everything in your power to make it impossible for any Democrat to vote for the bill, hoping that the newspapers, that are your political bible, any newspaper that writes you up right, will picture to the people a stubborn minority that would not give you three votes when you had three sick men.

Mr. President, I know that it would be much easier to jump into the stream and float along with the current, but I happen to believe that we do not live forever and I would be more ashamed of myself if I subjected my colleagues to that type of dictatorial attitude.

The reason that Germany was brought to its knees was because its leaders were not amenable to argument. The reason that Italy, under Mussolini, became a destroyed nation was because Italy's leaders would not listen to compromise or become amenable to argument. The reason that most of the world hates Russia is because its government does not allow for minority opinion.

Mr. President, those of us who think more of this democracy than we do of life itself realize that if we allow this kind of legislation action to become historical in Pennsylvania, there can be no future Democratic action in the halls of the Legislature under conditions similar to the ones that we find ourselves in today.

We have tried, in every possible manner, Mr. President, to work out a compromise. For twelve months the Republicans have said, "Nothing but a sales tax," and finally in complete desperation and only looking to the interest of the people of this State, you forced the Governor of this Commonwealth to say to you, "All right, you write any kind of a tax bill you want to." He did not exclude your sales tax, which exempts everybody but the people. "You write any kind of a tax bill that you want and I will accept it for half of the revenues, and then we will assume the responsibility and the sponsorship of the other half." What was your answer? The answer was, "We accept one-half of your proposition, Governor. We will write a sales tax for our half," so said Charlie Smith, "but you cannot write what you want for your half."

Mr. President, we have tried for many months, through the known stalling tactics, through the many dodges, through the many excuses, through the many meetings where we almost despaired because we could get no one to speak with authority, for hours and hours that we have spent in an effort to compromise, in an effort to reach some conclusion and so, finally, after rejection of four separate tax plans advanced by the Governor, and admittedly making no friends for a Democratic political party, we were finally given an ultimatum by the Republican Leader on Monday afternoon, in which he said that they rejected both the Governor's 50-50 plan, they rejected our proposal of compromise on a two per cent excise and a two per cent net income tax and that the only tax which could pass this Senate would be a sales tax.

Mr. President, I said at that time that I would not be so cruel or so inhuman as to request that their sick Members be brought down. However, I also notified them that if their only source of revenue was going to be a sales tax, then that tax bill ought to come over from the

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 202, page 23, by inserting after line 19: "(g) The use of manufactured tangible personal property purchased or to be purchased for incorporation into or attachment to real estate in the performance of a contract for the construction of a building or improvements thereto or the sale of said real estate entered into prior to the date of approval of this act under which the purchaser of said manufactured tangible personal property is required to sell the said building make such improvements or sell such real estate at a price not subject to adjustment by reason of the tax hereby imposed Provided however That unless notice of such contract is given by the taxpayer to the department within forty-five (45) days after the effective date of this act the exclusion allowed by this subsection shall not apply."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that they do not get into a fluster, I might tell them that this is the amendment they put in to take care of the big housing development people, in order that they will not pay any tax on any materials that they buy when they build a home or a single dwelling that they sell. However, they forgot to take out any materials that an individual who happens to own an old house, like I do, and has to buy a couple pieces of wood for repair or plaster or anything. I have to pay the tax, but the builder does not have to pay it.

I understand that there is a question, too, as to where you would be able to differentiate here as to a house that is used for two families and a house that is used for one family. Supposing a man has a daughter and she gets married. He does not pay the tax and she moves in with him. Do you think he would be arrested for it?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I have not had a chance to thoroughly read this amendment that Senator Dent proposes. However, as I get the gist of it, he is endeavoring to exempt contracts negotiated prior to the effective date of this act. On page 61, of House Bill No. 1879, beginning with line 8, you will find that we do exempt contracts entered into prior to the effective date of the act.

It is true that if I am remodeling my house, not on a fixed contract, material that I would purchase after the effective date of this act for that purpose would be taxed.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I wish the gentleman would read my amendment. We are not attempting to do anything other than what is in the bill on the exemption for contracts already entered into. We are just saying that you cannot differentiate between a house for a single family and a house for two families.

When I get looking over this legislation and I think of the amendments that might be more apropos, I wonder whether we should not get Tennessee Ernie in here and have him sing "Sixteen Ton" for the amendment dealing with the boats, and then come in and sing "This Old House Ain't Good No Longer" or something like that.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, in order that there be no misunderstanding on this amendment, this is the Bill Reiter of the Pennsylvania Railroad amendment. We thought they should pay a little wee bit of tax in Pennsylvania, too.

Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Section 202, page 25, by striking out all of lines 3 to 9.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, this also gives special privileges and special exemptions to those who I believe are better able to pay taxes. They say that a three per cent tax will not hurt the little people; they will not even know they are paying it. If that is true, do you think that the railroads would know that they are paying it? Let me show you something, gentlemen, for your own education.

The Pennsylvania Railroad earned more money in the first nine months of 1955, by some thirty odd millions of dollars, than over the entire year of 1954. The small amount of tax that they would pay under this bill would certainly not hurt them as much as a young, married couple who has to go out and buy, for the first and probably the only time in many, many years of their lifetime, a houseful of furniture. I do not know how many people realize that furniture, for a family, is just as es-

Mr. President, a little while ago the Senator offered an amendment and he kind of gave us a browbeating because we said we were for the public utilities. I had not had the opportunity to read the entire amendment before we had a vote on it, but I notice that had we adopted his amendment, the fellow who went to the gas company to buy a refrigerator or a stove would not have had to pay a tax on that, but if he had gone to a store to buy a refrigerator or a stove, he would have had to pay the tax. In other words, he would have excluded purchases from any "public utility, subject to the tax on its gross receipts derived from the sale of such tangible personal property." He knows, or should know, that gas companies do sell items such as stove and refrigerators, and had we adopted his amendment those items, when sold by the public utility, would not have been subject to the tax. Therefore, he is a lot more favorable to public utilities than we are.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, you know, my Dad told me once that they never put locks on doors to keep out thieves, but just to keep honest people from becoming thieves.

Mr. Mahaney, you have made two direct misstatements. In my younger days, when I felt much stronger, I would have probably called you a liar. Now days, I would not do that and I just say in kindness that you made two misstatements; one, of course, where you always try to put me out yachting. I might say to you that if you are going to go yachting with me, you better wear darn high hip boots because most of my yachting I do in darn shallow water.

Secondly, Mr. President, the amendment which we just offered was to put the gas companies in the tax bill, not out of the tax bill. We exempted the gross receipts paying utilities out of simple justice. If you are going to include them in the tax bill, all we would ask and the only fair thing to do, and I understand you believe they ought to be included, would be to take the gross receipts tax off and let them pay the regular sales tax like everybody else. However, we were putting the gas companies into the bill, not out of the bill. When you finally get to where you understand what we are doing, I will take you yachting with me.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the gentleman has called to my attention two misstatements which he said I made. The only thing I know about the yachting of the Senator is from the very fine Kodachrome prints, on which I saw him sunning and lolling on a yacht in the sunny waters of Miami, where I wish I were now. I complimented him on being able to be there. I think it did a great deal for his health. I will be happy to accompany the Senator, as soon as we adjourn, on another yachting party if he will just arrange an invitation.

Mr. President, as to the second misstatement, if he will just read his amendment, he will have to admit that under that amendment, if adopted, if a man bought a stove or a refrigerator from the gas company those items would be exempt from the use tax.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I think I will not only buy him a yacht, but a stove and a refrigerator.

Let us see what I did do in order to find out what the truth is. I would not attempt to rush it too much because this is a very important item. I am not so sure but what some of you might find a little spark of friendliness for the little people in Pennsylvania, and maybe one of you might even vote for an amendment which will hurt somebody in business.

I say here that we exempt from the tax: "(1) The use of manufactured tangible personal property limited to water"—w-a-t-e-r. That is the stuff that yachts run on. "(2) Manufactured tangible personal property purchased from any public utility subject to the tax on its gross receipts derived from the sale of such tangible personal property."

Will you, Senator Mahany, explain to the Senate how, under that amendment, a gas company would be excluded from the tax or anybody who purchases anything from a gas company would be excluded from the tax?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I understood that these items are excluded from the tax, if this amendment were adopted. Is that correct?

Mr. DENT. The item I just read, sir—that is the amendment.

Mr. MAHANY. All right, take a stove that I would buy from a gas company back home. Is that not manufactured tangible personal property?

Mr. DENT. I will answer that by asking you a question. Do the gas companies come under the gross receipts tax of Pennsylvania?

Mr. MAHANY. Manufactured gas does. Perhaps, also, we could put it on an electric company. They also sell stoves.

Mr. DENT. Since you are such an expert on stoves, let us get down to the fundamentals. What are you talking about, gas companies or electric companies?

Mr. MAHANY. Either one; they are both utilities. If the gas companies do not pay gross receipts, and I understand that they do not, then we will take the example of a stove being bought from an electric company or a refrigerator bought from an electric company. That would be manufactured tangible personal property, and it would be exempt from the tax if this amendment were adopted. Is that not true?

Mr. DENT. Yes, Mr. President, that is true. However, the other part of Senator Mahany's statement is not true, because anybody who buys from a gas company, which is not subject to the gross receipts tax, would not have to pay the tax. In order to clear up the matter for Senator Mahany, since he is so worried about this little stove buyer and the refrigerator buyer, I did not think it was fair to put three per cent on him, plus one and four-tenths per cent, too. In other words, the way he would like to have it is that the individual who buys a stove, at an electric company, would have to pay a sales tax of four and four-tenths per cent. The yacht owner would not have to pay for any. All I am exempting, sir, is where they are subject to the gross receipts tax; when the sale of any tangible goods is part of their gross receipts, subject to the tax in Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, I am only trying to clarify it. However, if you want to tax the little stove buyer four and four-tenths per cent, it is all right.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. BARR, and were as follows, viz:

House of Representatives where taxes are constitutionally originated. However, when the House of Representatives met and decided to bring out the three per cent sales tax, which is exactly what the Senate Majority said they wanted, and to raise the money in conjunction with the one per cent corporate net income tax and the acceleration of the capital stock tax which would raise somewhere near the revenues required to meet the absolute needs of the Commonwealth, plus some $30,000,000 in school teacher increases voted by this Legislature; some $10,000,000 taken out of the General Fund by action of this Legislature and earmarked for specific purposes in the Department of Forests and Waters; some $8,000,000 added to the budget for purposes of school building construction in the Commonwealth, immediately when it hit the floor the greatest demonstration of personal lost control was put on in the House of Representatives by the Leader of the opposition over there, who screamed and called the Governor some very serious names and he completely refuted the Republican position in the Senate. He announced that there would never be one tax vote in the House of Representatives for any three per cent sales tax. We, in the Senate, are told that there will never be any vote for anything else but a three per cent sales tax. They state on this floor that they are for a sales tax and then they tell their House Members, "Now do not pass one," and caught between the jaws of the nutcracker are the people of Pennsylvania.

We have asked you to accept amendments to this bill which, in conjunction with the corporate net income tax and the accelerated capital stock tax, would raise somewhere in the neighborhood of $440,000,000. You have rejected them completely, and in order to make the record clear I am going to present to the Chair all of the amendments that we have prepared and inasmuch as the Republican side of the Senate has agreed among the Membership on that side to greet our efforts with stony silence, wisecracks and a negative vote, I am going to ask that they be voted for or against in bulk.

Mr. President, I do this because I do not feel too good at this moment. I do not know whether my depressed feeling comes from a physical strain or whether it comes from the fact that we are today witnessing in Pennsylvania the destruction of what I would call a great political party, because of its adamant position in spending twelve months up until now, since the Governor was sworn in one year ago today, and the threat of the Republican Leader of the House, Charlie Smith, that unless we take that which they want and only that which they want, he will keep us in Session the rest of this year.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I believe Senator Dent's amendments would amend section (m) on page 25 of the bill. The bill, as it is written, provides that:

The use of manufactured tangible personal property used or to be used directly in the production delivery or rendition of railroad services or which is purchased by sold by leased to or leased by any railroad for use or to be used directly in the production delivery or rendition of such services."

Mr. President, now I, like every other Member of the Legislature, am rightly concerned as to the manner in which legislation will helpfully or adversely affect my constituents. There are at present approximately 13,000 employed in the Pennsylvania Railroad shops, located in Blair County. Some of those people possibly live in Cambria County, some in Bedford County, some in Centre County and I know quite a number live in Huntingdon County. Those 13,000 men have received, during the past year, approximately $63,000,000. There is no section of the United States that would not like to have an industry having an annual payroll, as of this time, amounting to $63,000,000. Furthermore, the whole economy of my Senatorial District is based upon the health and prosperity of the railroad.

We all know that the business of any railroad is that of hauling freight and passengers, but very few of the railroads in the United States are not operating at a loss when they are hauling passengers. The Pennsylvania Railroad is the largest taxpayer and it pays almost as much in taxes as all other industries and people in business in Blair County. I read in the paper this past year that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is the largest taxpayer in the city of Pittsburgh. I think Senator McGinnis read that article, and believes that to be a fact.

Mr. President, I want to also state that at no time have I been uncooperative when problems were facing other Senators involving the prosperity or depression of their Senatorial Districts. I have always been cooperative with my colleagues from the anthracite region and with those from the western part of the State where much of their prosperity depends upon the production of soft coal. This is a very serious amendment and a good amendment.

Now taxes are an important factor in the cost of doing any business. As I have said before, business is a series of acts directed toward one end, profit. There may be some new fantastic idea of business, but who in this room would invest any sizeable amount of money, which they have saved, in a business where they did not expect to receive some profit? We can do that, but how often do we lose our principal?

Mr. President, therefore, in railroading, the railroad business, like every other business, has the cost of materials, they have wages and they have research. By the way, the Pennsylvania Railroad is spending, now within Blair County and I believe in Cambria County, over $53,000,000 in improvements. I think there is work going on in the Conemaugh Yards. I believe Senator Haluska can tell me whether or not that is in Cambria County. Therefore, taxes are an elemental part in the cost of doing any business.

I am safe in saying that ninety-nine and ninety-nine one hundredth per cent of those 13,000 people who are employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad would rather pay a sales tax than have no job, no money to support their families with and no money to pay a tax.

Mr. President, that has been my philosophy and I think it is sound. We better have everyone pay some little tax and have jobs and money to support our families rather than have no jobs, no money to support our families and, of course, then no money to pay a tax.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I listened to the speech of the Senator from Blair County and, of course, we on this side realize that actually his speech was not necessary because the Republican Majority is going to vote down this amendment.

We, too, realize the necessity of keeping industry alive in Pennsylvania, Mr. President, but we also feel that industry should pay its proportionate share. Mr. Mallery talked about the Pennsylvania Railroad being a large taxpayer. Sure, they are a large taxpayer in the city of Pittsburgh by virtue of special legislation which was passed a long time ago. Senator Mallery seems to forget that all these employes in Blair County are going to pay a three per cent tax, if this legislation passes, and that applies to those on the unemployed rolls also.

Mr. President, I would like to make this remark. I have observed what is going on here today. I think the Republican Majority has found themselves in a rather precarious position, because the schools are on their backs and so are the hospitals and they, therefore, sponsored a sales tax. They sponsored some legislation which is so obnoxious that we, on the Democratic side, cannot possibly vote for it. That was a well thought out plan, because ordinarily they never bring up legislation for a vote unless they have those twenty-six votes, and this has been proven by them over the years. Therefore, they do not expect this legislation to pass and they are making doubly sure it does not pass because they will not accept any amendments. All of these speeches are of no avail.

Mr. President, we realize what is going on and we know that you people are afraid to accept any amendments, because you feel there might be three or four votes over here for a tax program.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I wish with all my heart that we had twenty-six Republican Senators here today. Certainly, there is no ground for the Senator to accuse us of bringing this up when we know that we do not have the votes. I do not know when Senator Pechan or Senator Watson will return to this Chamber. Both men are in serious physical condition. If we would delay this vote until such time as Senator Pechan and Senator Watson return, it might well be the end of March or it might not be the rest of the Session. I have no way of knowing. I understand that both men are seriously ill.

If we are to get some type of tax program through so that it may be put on the books and taxes start to come into the treasury of the State of Pennsylvania, then we have to do something soon. The estimates on this tax yield are based pretty much on the fact that the tax will go on the books and the taxes will start coming in February the 1st or very soon thereafter. To make all these charges, I think is very unfair of the Democratic Senators.

Mr. President, if I had my way right now I would say, let us put the thing back into committee and forget the whole thing and let them sweat. However, I feel an obligation on my part to see that the schools are maintained and that hospitals receive their share of subsidy. I feel that we have to do something. I have told the Democrats, time and time again, that we on this side do not feel that we can go for an income tax; that there are no Senators over here who want to vote for an income tax, and, therefore, we cannot put an income tax on the books.

Senator Dent brought up the subject of what he called the 50-50 proposition, and I would like to refer to the story which he told yesterday about the 50-50 proposition of the rabbit and the horse. We were given a proposition, that the Governor would try to work out some kind of a tax plan, but he did not tell us what it was for his half. He knew that we were going to be for a sales tax for our half, because we had said so on numerous occasions. The Governor, himself, although he intimated that an income tax might be within the thinking of their plan to raise their half, did not come right out in so many words and say so. We were asked to buy some type of a plan that was not quite definite.

Mr. President, I want to say that time and time again the Democrats have told us that if you are not satisfied with our plan, you put out your plan. If you need votes to get your plan on the books, we will give them to you.

I can see the political campaign starting now. I can see my good friend, George Pennington, over there taking all this in and I know that he has the ability to put all this terrible program, as they call it, on the poor Republicans and say that the Democrats had no choice in this matter; "We were forced, we were blocked, we were blackmailed, we were hit over the head and rather than see the schools close down and the hospitals close, we had to accept this terrible Republican plan which they forced on us."

Mr. President, I hope that sometime soon we are going to be able to vote on this bill. I, for one, am going to vote for it. I feel that this is a good plan to raise a greater part of the money necessary to make up the difference between what the yield is coming in from the taxes which are already on the books and the amount that we say, or think, will be necessary. We are ready to vote for this bill. We feel that this is a good plan. We studied it at length, and Senator Kessler spent many hours over it. We feel that it is a plan that, although it is going to penalize industry to some extent, will not penalize them to the point where they are going to be forced out of the State of Pennsylvania.

I want Senator Dent and the others to understand that this is not the entire plan. Also on the Calendar, if this plan is adopted, there is a bill which puts an additional one per cent on the corporate net income tax of corporations. With the tax laws on the books of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, plus these two bills, industry is going to pay at least half and perhaps more than half of the amount to be raised for taxes. Industry does not escape this tax. They are very much under the tax. Many of the things which industry has to buy will be subject to this tax. I can say that you can reasonably estimate that industry will pay at least $30,000,000 or $40,000,000 of this tax under this bill. In addition to that, they are going to pay another $51,000,000 on the corporate net income tax, so how can you say that we are excusing industry and putting it all on the little fellow? I think both industry and the citizens will share pretty much equally in the tax revenue which will be derived.

Mr. President, I hope that sometime soon we are going to get to a vote on this bill. If the Senator wants to submit all those amendments in bulk, I will be happy to go over each one of them because I do not think we should vote for them sight unseen. I would like to bring out to the attention of the Senators what each of these amendments would do.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President—

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Senator Lane, might the Chair suggest to you that we have one amendment before us? If you are talking on it, that is very fine, but if you are not would you let us dispose of this one amendment?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I will withhold my remarks until we dispose of this amendment.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. BARR, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—18

Barr,	Holland,	Miller,	Seyler,
Camiel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Silvert,
Dent,	McGinnis,	Ruth,	Stiefel,
DiSilvestro,	McMenamin,	Schmidt,	Weiner,
Hays,			Yosko,

NAYS—23

Berger,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Wagner,
Blass,	Koprivier, Jr.,	Propert,	Watkins,
Chapman,	Madigan,	Scott,	Whalley,
Diehm,	Mahany,	Taylor,	Wolfe,
Flack,	Mallery,	Van Sant,	Fleming,
Harney,	McPherson, Jr.,	Wade,	Presiding Officer

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I also was going to ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment. If you care to, we could add it to that group and present them all. By the way, this amendment amends the act and places it at the first purchaser.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I also was going to ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I would suggest that the gentlemen confer with Senator Dent, whether it is acceptable to him to have these amendments included with his amendments. If not, we will certainly recognize the gentlemen in order that they may offer the amendments separately.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask that all of the amendments be voted upon at one time except that last amendment, which is the amendment to be offered by Senator Lane, on behalf of myself and the Caucus. That specific amendment deals with the changing of the collection base. If you will act upon all of the other amendments which were handed up, including the amendment by Senator Schmidt, that will be satisfactory.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. You want to hold the one presented by Senator Lane?

Mr. DENT. Yes, sir; I would like to treat it as a separate subject.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the Clerk will read the amendments offered by Senator Dent.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Section 202, page 24, by striking out all of lines 6 to 8; Amend Section 202, page 24, line 9, by striking out "(j)" and inserting: "(i)"; Amend Section 202, page 24, line 20, and page 25, lines 1 and 2, by striking out all of said lines; Amend Section 202, page 25, by striking out all of lines 10 and 11; Amend Section 504, page 61, lines 8 to 19, and page 62, lines 1 to 13, by striking out all of said lines.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I have been given these amendments, which consist of four separate amendments, and it is rather difficult to follow them all. I do understand that one of the amendments would knock out the exemption of clothing.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Senator Dent.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. DENT. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. MAHANY. If one of these amendments is adopted, would that eliminate clothing from the exemption list?

Mr. DENT. In fairness to ourselves and in fairness to the people of this Commonwealth, we are asking that the tax be a broad base tax. In asking for it to be a broad base tax, we have taken into consideration the very things that the Republicans have been saying for years and that is, that everybody ought to pay their share and pay it in order that they receive the services. Therefore, when we say that we want to place part of this burden upon tools, and part of this burden upon capital, we, as a people, are willing to accept our share of the burden. Only out of consideration of the fact that in the last analysis water and food are the two things that are the very, very essentials of life, are we asking that the bill be passed with water and food exempted, the only other exemptions being the exemptions on those particular items that are carrying their share of taxation at this moment through direct taxation in Pennsylvania.

We will accept the responsibility of placing a tax upon clothing. We will accept the same responsibility for placing it upon refrigerators and stoves, but at the same time if we are to accept that responsibility, we would like to have the same tax placed upon the business people and the manufacturing people and other organizations of taxable means in the Commonwealth. I accept the proposition, sir, that we are willing to take the tax on clothing as well as other items.

Mr. MAHANY. I certainly feel that there is one item which should not be taxed under this bill, and that item is wearing apparel. I feel that the working man, who goes to the store to buy clothes for himself and his family and little children, certainly should not be asked to pay a tax on these items. We excluded from the old sales tax, wearing apparel, except there were some exemptions. I understand that neckties and other things were taxable, but under this bill all wearing apparel would be exempted. I feel that this is the way it should be. We feel that we are placing enough burden upon the people who buy things and now for the Senator to come along and say we ought to put more on, seems to be different from what he has stated all afternoon.

Mr. President, I feel that we certainly want to exempt wearing apparel from the provisions of this bill. Also, the Senator has taken out from the exclusions the materials which would be used to erect a single family occupancy residence. That is the type of residence which the average working man erects. He does not erect some large apartment house or duplex houses; he erects a small place for himself and his family. We have excluded from the tax the cost of building construction materials for that type of construction.

Mr. President, I think that the Republicans have tried to take care of the working man, the little fellow as Senator Dent says, to the greatest extent. Now, for the Democrats to come along and becloud the issue by putting in amendments which would take out those exclusions, I think, quite unfair. We feel that this is a fair program, and it is the one which we hope they will vote for.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, will the gentleman explain why the single dwelling home is exempt when it is under contract construction but when a fellow builds it for himself, he has to pay the tax?

MR. MALLERY. Mr. President, the question that Senator Dent has asked is a good question. My reply would be that there should be an exemption of any materials that any man buys to construct himself a home. We are engaged in the most important thing pertaining to all of the people of Pennsylvania that we have been concerned with during this entire Session. This is no time for levity.

I think that it is a fact that around some thirty States of the United States have a sales tax. While I do not know much about Ohio, I do know that industry is spending millions and millions of dollars in Ohio. My thought would be that no one can give serious consideration—at least, I cannot. My memory is not that retentive. I cannot hear the Clerk read the amendments which are submitted by my colleagues on my left. My thought would be to have all of these amendments mimeographed so that we could give consideration to them and then a small group of not more than six from each side could seriously consider making a fair tax, the best possible tax, out of this proposed program.

I would call on my colleagues on my left, too, to consider that most everyone is paying high Federal income taxes. We will always have a Federal income tax. A great State like Pennsylvania should have a broad base tax. I think we will all agree on that. I can only think of two broad base taxes, and they are an income tax or a sales tax. We must consider that most of the people in Pennsylvania, under Act No. 481, are paying an income tax. Therefore, to have a State income tax in Pennsylvania, most people would be paying three income taxes. Also keep in mind, my friends, and you know it as well as I do, as I say, taxes are a part, just like the cost of materials, the cost of labor, the cost of research, because industry is making wonderful strides in coming up with new articles, in providing more employment. The most important thing, too, is to keep in mind that we should do everything possible to make available jobs for all people who are physically able and want to work. I think that there are very able men on both sides, excluding myself, and I think if you able men would get together, we could come up with a tax that would solve our problems, provide for the many needs of this great Commonwealth, and we could go back home and be satisfied with a job well done. However, if we are going to consider this matter from a political point of view only, by one side trying to derive an advantage over the other, we are not going to resolve it satisfactorily to the people back home.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, by indirection, of course, the attempt is being made to picture this side as a group of men whose aim is to destroy Pennsylvania. However, I want Senator Mallery to know that I stand ready right now—I talked to your Floor Leader this morning and I stood ready then, and for the past year I have offered what services we can on this side to do exactly what you have proposed on the floor.

Senator Mallery knows that a committee meeting was called by the Finance Committee and that the amendments which were offered were offered without being read or considered or with any advance notice to the Members on this side. I doubt if the Members on the other side had too much advance notice. I happen to have watched the writing of some of the amendments and I know who wrote them. Therefore, Mr. President, I am willing at this time to say to the Republican leadership that we are willing to sit down and present to you our series of amendments. We are willing to sit down and present to you the revenue estimates that we believe can be attained by the inclusion of certain amendments. We are willing to spread the tax over as broad a base as is humanly possible to spread it. We are willing to do anything to work out a solution. We are unwilling, of course, to have it said that we must vote for one interpretation of a tax bill that we have opposed for years, when we are told from the floor that our interpretation of a tax bill is unacceptable under any conditions.

If Senator Mallery, and I have known him for a good many years, can prevail upon his colleagues to open their minds a little, to open their hearts a little and to sit down for a little while with the Members from this side and we can come out with a program that will raise the necessary funds without being too burdensome on either business, industry or the people, I am sure that we can provide the votes required, because we have never lacked courage to do those things that are right for the people. We do not say that you have to accept our amendments. We do not say that you have to accept any of them. We do say, however, that we should at least be permitted to sit down and try to work out a solution if we are expected to vote for it. We did not ask you to take our program blindly.

Senator Mahany, I know that you reach a good press and what you say will be given big play. However, I do not think it is fair for you to say that you did not know what the Governor's half of the tax program was, when you said that the reason you would not be for his half of the program was because it was an income tax. Either you knew what it was or you could not have been against it. I am sure, Senator Mahany, that if you wanted to work out a program, you would have said, "We will sit down with the Governor and see if we cannot reach some kind of a position whereupon we can both stand."

Therefore, Mr. President, on behalf of the Democratic Party, I would accept the invitation to sit down and see if we can come to a common meeting ground upon the one tax which the Republicans said they will accept. If we are to provide some votes, I am sure that we ought to be at least allowed to look at what we are voting for.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SILVERT. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voted "aye" on all of the amendments, except the amendment relating to clothing.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman will be so recorded.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if the gentleman from Philadelphia, Senator Silvert, desires to be recorded, it would be necessary to have a roll call. Therefore, I ask for a roll call to permit him to be so recorded.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I move that all of the amendments that have been passed over to the desk at this time be returned to me in order that they can be compiled and passed on to the Republican Members for their information and to the Democratic Members who seem to be a little confused about some of them.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, is there anything before us except the calling of the roll? I understand that the amendments have been offered, they have been debated, they have been acted upon and now we are in the process of a roll call on them. Is that correct?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. It would be the opinion of the Chair that that is right, and that there is nothing before the Senate except the calling of the roll.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if the roll must be called, then the amendments have not been acted upon and, as a sponsor, I have a right to withdraw them. I ask for a ruling on that.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would like to state, for the benefit of the gentleman from Westmoreland and for the Membership, that a voice vote was taken and then Senator Silvert got up and requested that he be recorded as voting "aye" on all the amendments except the one amendment pertaining to clothing. At that time, the Chair inadvertently said that he would be so recorded. I recognize that Senator Silvert cannot be recorded without the separation of that amendment from the rest.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if the voice vote has been taken, then is it not a closed matter? If the voice vote has been recorded, as you say, any gentleman can get up and ask to be recorded "yes" or "no" after a voice vote, if he so desires, without a roll call. We are not afraid of being recorded, Senator Mahany. I will vote now, if that will make you feel better. I will vote "aye." I do not care about that. It is just that I thought, as Senator Mallory suggested, that we try to get them in shape in order that every person would know what was in them. However, if you want to continue your tactics, just go ahead; I do not care.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, if the Minority Leader does not care, I do not know why he is making such a fuss. However, I want to reassure him that I was in accord with Senator Silvert in voting against this clothing amendment. That was the only reason I wanted to have a roll call.

There are others here who would also like to go with Senator Silvert in opposing your amendment, Senator Dent, and that is just on the wearing apparel. We will not ask for a roll call on any of the others.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask for a roll call on all of them separately, if you want.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, all we would have to do is make note of the remarks of Senator Silvert upon the record, would we not? I think that would cover the situation.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I think the point of order is well taken and I would suggest to Senator Silvert that his remarks will be spread upon the Journal, and trust that that will satisfy him. If there is any other Senator who feels likewise, let him ask for the same.

On the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection?

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, before getting on to this present amendment which has been submitted, going back to the previous amendment, I would like to ask that it be spread upon the record that I voted "no" on the amendment pertaining to clothing apparel.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I was busy talking here with some of my colleagues and I did not understand that I had withdrawn my request for a roll call on that one amendment relative to wearing apparel. While I was talking, you evidently bypassed me in some way I have not withdrawn my request for a roll call.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I believe, if I understood the Chair correctly, you said that my point of order was well taken and all that would be necessary would be that the remarks of Senator Silvert be spread upon the record.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is what the Chair said.

Mr. LANE. Thank you.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I will be satisfied with this. I want the record to show that if the roll had been called, all of the Republican Senators here would have voted against the amendment which would have included clothing as a taxable item.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The remarks of the gentleman will be spread upon the Journal.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want it clearly understood that the record will show that I voted to include clothing, to include the Sun Ship Building Company, to include the Pennsylvania Railroad, to include the gas companies, to include the railroads and to include all of the business people who have been exempted by the Republicans and Senator Mahany.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, make sure that includes all the rest of the Democrats.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. There being no objection, the Clerk will read the amendment offered by Senator Schmidt.

The Clerk read the amendment as follows:

Amend Part VIII, Section 482, page 58, line 7, by striking the word "three" and inserting in its place the word "five."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I rise to object to this amendment because it seems to me that what the amendment proposes to do is to require all licensees, or persons who are collectors of the tax, to retain records for five years instead of three as proposed in the bill. It seems to me that it becomes burdensome to retain records for an unnecessarily long period of time. At least the Department of Revenue should be able to audit and check reports within a three year period.

I would like to ask my colleagues to vote against the amendment.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, the Federal Government has a requirement for these same people who are going to receive these taxes to keep their business records for income tax purposes for a period of five years. I do not think it is unreasonable to expect our business people to keep those records for a period of five years. In fact, I think they do keep their records for that long.

To make the statute of limitations for three years, it is possible that fraud could be committed and it would be impossible for the State to catch up with it within the three year period. I say that after five years an unreasonable time has elapsed and, therefore, this period should be extended to the five years.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, is it not true that most of the frauds which are discovered, or uncovered, are uncovered by the Federal Government in the income tax division. Is it not also true that if the Federal Government comes in after a four year period and some person who has acted as a collector is under scrutiny and under investigation, and they make a claim of having paid to the State government so many hundreds of thousands of dollars in taxes that they collected out of their income and if that is in the fourth year or the fifth year, which might be the only chance they have of being checked in those two years, any fraud that might be discovered by the Federal Government would in no way be proveable against that particular person for any case in Pennsylvania?

Is it not also true, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, that you are paying to the merchants of Pennsylvania $6,000,000? According to your own figures, you are paying $6,165,000 to these people to act as collectors for the State, and it does not cost one cent more to keep a record for five years than it does for three years. Once the record is kept, it is kept. If it is in your file for three years, along with the five years that you have to keep it for the Federal Government, why are you allowing the destruction of files pertaining to Pennsylvania's collection to be destroyed in three years? Some one give me a reasonable answer and I will have the amendment withdrawn.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, what Senator Dent and Senator Schmidt have stated is absolutely a fact. It seems to me that in a large State like Pennsylvania, if this legislation would be adopted, there might be a time when, within a three year period, investigators might not be able to complete their work.

I think it is only fair, reasonable and just that the amendment should be adopted to comply with Federal regulations. After all, the Federal Government collects a lot of taxes and they have had a lot of experience. I imagine if we would follow through with their rules and regulations, there would not be much opportunity for any fraud.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. SCHMIDT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. SCHMIDT, and were as follows, viz:

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Dent, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, when the roll is called in such a manner and it is not just a voice vote, isn't it true that each and every one of us is recorded according to party lines?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Chair would say that is correct.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I just wanted to give that information to Senator Mahany. He seemed to be aroused about that.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the only reason that I arose in relation to this was because Senator Silvert did not evidently want to be recorded as voting according to party lines, and wanted to leave you just for a little bit and come over and join us and I was happy to have him. I wanted that to be so recorded.

Mr. DENT. You know, Mr. President—and this is without reflection on Senator Mahany but more with reflection upon myself—my father told me many, many years ago when he sent me to do something and I did not do it right, when I got back he said, "Johnny, learn this in life. Never send a jackass to do something; go yourself."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, we have an amendment I believe on the table which we excluded from the whole batch.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. I checked on that, Senator Dent, and I understand from the parliamentarian that we do not have such an amendment.

Mr. BARR. Senator Lane has that amendment.

Mr. DENT. While Senator Lane is getting ready, I might say to the Senate that what this amendment does is to put the collection of the tax where it is more economical to tax and less burdensome upon the ultimate consumer. In other words, we are trying to place the collection of the tax by these amendments at the next receiver of goods.

What this amendment does, and I want it clearly understood, is keep the little fellow from paying the tax upon the markup that the merchants put on, upon the transportation costs, and is more nearly related to the actual cost after manufacturing of a product. It also, Mr. President, gives to the State of Pennsylvania a more accurate accounting of the amount of taxes paid. It will give to the State approximately one dollar out of every dollar of taxes paid by the people, whereas the tax, as it is now written, will allow those who collect it at the retail level from the consumer to profit almost as much by the tax as the State itself. Therefore, in the interest of economy of collection, in the interest of fair play to the consumer or the payer of the tax, I ask that these amendments be accepted.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. For the information of the Senate, and so that there will be no misunderstanding, the bill has not passed third reading.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer amendments at this time.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

The Clerk read the amendments as follows:

Amend Article I, Section K, page 10, line 1, by striking out the words "wholesaler or retailer"; Amend Article II, Section (A), page 13, line 13, by inserting after the word "person," the words "other than the manufacturer"; Amend Article II, Section (A), page 13, line 13, by inserting after the word "who," the word "first"; Amend Part VII, Section 473, (b), pages 54 and 55, lines 16 on page 54 through line 14 on pages 55, by striking out the words "any person maintaining a place of business in this Commonwealth who advertises or holds out or states to the public or to any purchaser or user directly or indirectly that the tax or any part thereof imposed by this act will be absorbed by such person or that it will not be added to the selling price of the manufactured tangible personal property sold or if added that the tax or any part thereof will be refunded other than when such person refunds the selling price because of such property being returned to the seller and any person maintaining a place of business in this Commonwealth and selling or leasing manufactured tangible personal property the use of which by the purchaser is subject to tax hereunder who shall willfully fail or refuse to collect the tax from the purchaser and remit the same to the department and."

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. KESSLER. Mr. President, I would like to ask my colleagues to again vote against this amendment. It seems to me that when we had the public hearing on House Bill No. 1879, as it came to the Senate, we learned of all the difficulties that would be involved in collecting the tax from the manufacturer.

This proposal would place the tax on the manufacturers' price and be paid by the first purchaser, whoever purchases first from the manufacturer. As I read the amendment, if a wholesaler were to buy from the manufacturer and pay the tax, he would have to show that tax below the line when he delivers the goods to a retailer or to the ultimate consumer. The latter provision, I believe, is to avoid any markup on the tax itself. I believe that is right, Senator Lane, is it not?

There is one thing which we cannot get away from,

Mr. President, and I think we ought to have it clearly expressed, and that is if you tax a commodity which sells for $100 at three per cent of the manufacturer's price—say the manufacturer's price is $100—you get three dollars. If you place the tax on the consumer price level, which might be $150, your tax is only two per cent. If you lower your tax base, you must increase the tax percentage in order to get the same amount of revenue. How much this bill would reduce the revenue, I do not know. However, while I am talking on this, I would like to correct another misimpression which I believe has been very evident during these discussions this afternoon.

Taxes of business, and I believe the Minority Floor Leader was in business at one time, become a part of the cost of doing business and appear somewhere in the cost to the consumer or the purchaser of the service. The only time that an employer or a manufacturer can absorb the tax is when his profits are so large that he can still pay that tax and not collect it and compete with other merchants or other manufacturers. The difficulty in Pennsylvania, and why so many of our manufacturers are concerned, is that they want to remain competitive with people similarly situated in adjoining States. If we tax manufacturers, as has been proposed by some of these amendments, it puts them at a competitive disadvantage to manufacturers in other areas and the natural thing is, over a period of time, that those people will move from the location where they cannot compete to the location where they will compete.

Mr. President, this amendment, as I see it, just re-establishes almost all the evils that we had in the original manufacturers' excise tax, and I urge my colleagues to vote against it.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. LANE. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

So the question was determined in the negative.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Mahany, I have heard you talk about the constitutionality of a classified income tax and I have heard you talked about the constitutionality of any income tax that we have ever proposed. You have always based your argument on the ground that the uniformity clause was violated in the Constitution by a classification, although the rate was the same and the base was the same. You have argued about the manner in which the base was arrived at and allowed exemptions which you felt would make the bill unconstitutional.

Does the Constitution demand that taxation be uniform in rate, in application, only for the purpose of income tax, or does it qualify that taxation must be uniform for whatever method or source of taxation that there is, in your opinion?

Mr. MAHANY. I think that the latter is true, obviously. It would not just apply to income taxes; it is on all taxes.

Mr. DENT. Would you say that if legislation were passed in which it was said that there was a two per cent tax on all income up to $1,000, and a three per cent tax on income from $1,000 to $2,000 and a four per cent tax from $2,000 to $3,000, would you say that that was uniformity, as you understand it, under the Constitution?

Mr. MAHANY. I would say that it was not uniform.

Mr. DENT. If I say, then, to you, sir, that if I place a one cent tax on all items up to ten cents, and a two cent tax on all items from ten to forty-one cents and all items from forty-one cents up to $1.00, at three cents, would you say that that is uniform under the Constitution?

Mr. MAHANY. I would say that would be uniform, because it is based pretty much on a three per cent uniform tax. In other words, the three per cent is uniform. You can figure out a three per cent tax and that is about what it would yield on those brackets.

Mr. DENT. Would you say, sir, that a tax of one cent on eleven cents and a tax of one cent on forty cents is uniform in relation to your basis of discussion?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, because if the tax is based on three per cent, then three per cent would yield one cent on that basis. You cannot split up a penny because that is the lowest denomination of coin we have. Therefore, although a cent on an eleven cent sale is more than three per cent, it is within the bracket from eleven through to forty cents that three per cent would yield that amount.

Mr. DENT. If a merchant marks his goods forty and one-half cents, would he be entitled to collect the tax?

Mr. MAHANY. I want to get to that place in the bill, Senator Dent.

Mr. DENT. Take the last page; that will give you enough. Take page 19 or the last page; either one will do.

Mr. MAHANY. All right now what was the question, Senator Dent?

Mr. DENT. I questioned you whether or not if a person charged a tax, what tax would a man charge for an item that sells for forty and one-half cents?

Mr. MAHANY. Under the provisions of this bill, he would charge one cent.

Mr. DENT. What would he get for forty-one and a half-cents.

Mr. HAMANY. He would get two cents.

Mr. DENT. Would you say that that would be a uniform tax on the purchaser who bought for forty-one and a half cents and the purchaser who bought for forty and one-half cents, when one paid twice as much tax with less than one cent difference?

Mr. MAHANY. Yes, because of the fact that we do not have any lower denomination than one cent. Therefore, we must make the break somewhere, and I think that the courts would say that they would not be concerned with trifles and they have what they call a De minimis ruling or law or decision in which they say that they will not go into trifling amounts. I believe that the court would uphold it on those grounds.

Mr. DENT. Would you then say, sir, that if I had an income of ten cents and I paid a one cent tax on it, and you had an income of forty-one cents and you paid a tax of two cents upon it, and if you paid the three cents from there to a dollar tax upon that income, would the court then say that it was uniform because the earnings were somewhere commensurate to a three per cent base?

Mr. MAHANY. Senator Dent, there are no decisions on that particular point. It would just be my guess that I think they would uphold the uniformity provisions in connection with a tax such as that.

Mr. DENT. Am I to understand then, sir, that if we just take the denomination of ten cents and move it over to $10.00, or $100.00 and the $41.00 denomination and move it over to $400 or $4,000 or $400,000, and we just move it along the line in the same demonominations, then would we be able to place a tax upon the books of Pennsylvania that would tax on an equal base, although it would be the same as this sales tax, a tax which some people think is graduated?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I do not think that the question goes along with my answer to his previous question. The only place where you have these bracketed amounts is in the first dollar. After that, there is definitely a three per cent tax on anything over $1.00.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, am I to believe, then, that when you have the second dollar and an article is sold for $1.11, that you have no stipulation how to collect the tax, or does it not follow that on every sale in this regardless; that part of the dollar is chargeable to a tax based upon your graduation in this bill?

Mr. MAHANY. There is only one dollar of the sale that would be within the graduation. All the other dollars would be taxable at the rate of three per cent. If you had a purchase of $1.40, you would collect three cents on the first dollar, plus one cent on the second and you would have a four cent tax. This certainly will help all the clerks that the stores must bring in around Christmas time. I can well imagine how the young ladies would struggle in trying to figure out three per cent of $1.41. They would have to carry pencils and pads around with them. However, If they knew that the tax on the first dollar was three cents and after that we had the bracket of up to forty cents, then there would be a one cent tax and then the bracket from forty cents through seventy cents would be two cents and from seventy-one cents to the next dollar would be three cents, I think it would ease their burden considerably.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, this is not a question of easing the burden. This is a fundamental question on the basic law of this Commonwealth. I think if you will read your law and look at it, you will see that you do say that it is three per cent of each dollar of purchase price plus "the above bracket charges upon any fractional part of a dollar in excess of even dollars shall be collected."

Let us take the thing right where I want it and where you know it should be. Supposing, sir, that you have the store merchant and the merchant had seventy one-cent sales and he collects three cents. He then had sixty nine-cent sales and he collects two cents. Who is going to determine how much money the State gets? Are you going to allow them to pay, as you have allowed under the old sales tax, one cent? Are you going to allow them to collect it as they see fit and then to pay to the State on a gross business? Who is going to go into every sale made and who is going to be the goat in the collection of this kind of a tax? There will be two losers under this proposal and you are opening it wide for a greater amount of fraudulent payment to the State.

One store has informed me, or a man connected with that store—and I want it clearly understood that I do not believe it is fair to me or to anybody else to have this happen. However, there is only one store in this particular bracket, but the others are in larger brackets and some in smaller. This particular store earned in the last year of the tax collection, because of the breakage from ten cents to a dollar on the tax, $42,000 net on the breakage. You are now giving a three cent breakage, from seventy-one cents to a dollar. You are giving a spread that will be collected directly out of the pockets of the people to the merchants of this State, and then you are paying them $6,000,000 to collect it on top of that. You have absolutely no method whereby you can collect all of the tax that is paid by the taxpayer. That is why we insisted, in our amendments, that the tax be placed at the manufacturers' cost price, because every invoice would show that cost price and the tax would be a unit that could be measured and could be collected. There was no skulduggery, no deep thinking, no idea of hurting anybody by the imposition of the tax at the next receiver of goods. In the first instance, we thought that collecting it right from the manufacturer would be the easiest and most accurate method of collection. Then, when they said about the psychological barrier being built up, we acceded to their demands and we removed the word "manufacturer."

Mr. President, I say to the people of Pennsylvania, if we collect $300,000,000 by the imposition of this tax from the little taxpayers of Pennsylvania, you will be collecting a great many more millions of dollars that the State will never receive. There has not been one sales tax State in the United States that has ever been able to collect the tax honestly and accurately. The State of Ohio, which has been held up so many times to us as the great tax State—I do not want to get into that, Mr. President, but I talked to one of the big manufacturers recently and I said to him, "If you were given a choice and you were to start your business all over, fresh again, your manufacturing plant, would you go to the State of Ohio or would you settle here in Pennsylvania?" This plant is worth hundreds of millions of dollars. He said to me, "Johnny, we made investigations in Ohio, in Illinois and in New York and we chose Pennsylvania." I said to him, "If we put this sales tax on and we exempt that machinery of yours, or tools that you use which are directly associated with the manufacture and are consumed, and we tax you upon the machinery that you can, over the years, amortize and depreciate, would you say that that is unfair and would cause you to shift from Pennsylvania to Ohio?" He said that it would not. He said that, under any conditions, it would not. He said, "We have moved some of our subsidiaries to California and we paid a sales tax on everything, including machinery, tools and all. We paid an income tax in California. That is not what we measure when we go into a State." He said, "If you ask any person to give you an honest analysis of their taxes in Pennsylvania, remember that you just cannot measure taxes by what you want to measure them by for your own purposes."

If Senator Kessler, who has used Ohio so many times as his point of argument, is willing to accept the Ohio method of taxation from top to bottom; if Senator Kessler is willing to accept the Ohio method of taxation for local, county and State purposes; if Senator Kessler is willing to pass the legislation in Pennsylvania that is on the statute books in Ohio in relationship to State-aid to schools, hospitals and universities, I will co-sponsor, with Senator Kessler, repeal legislation on every tax law in the State of Pennsylvania and will sponsor with him legislation that will give us the Ohio tax structure, if that is what he wants. If Senator Kessler believes Ohio is a better place to live, then he should accept my proposition or move to Ohio, one or the other. There is no other answer. The other day he said to me, "Here is Indiana and look what a great State that is." I said, "Well, Senator Kessler, I will take Indian's taxes and repeal all of Pennsylvania's taxes, and go along with you and put Indiana's taxes in." He said, "I cannot do that because they tax machinery in Indiana."

Mr. President and Members of this Senate, this is an unfair, an unreasonable and dishonest tax plan. I know that you have said that you want a sales tax and that is all you want. All right, Mr. President, if we find that you have three sick Members or four or five sick Members—I do not know how many more will be sick before the final vote comes before the Senate on a three per cent sales tax that has a chance to pass and I hope no more become sick, and I could be selfish and say particularly myself. However, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, if you really want a sales tax, then do not put it all upon the shoulders of the little people. Spread it out over those who can best afford to pay. Spread it out upon those who are best able to carry the burden and we, who represent the so-called little peoples of this State, as you have often said, are willing to place a share, and a just proportionate share, upon the shoulders of our people, if you will just place your share upon the shoulders of your people. If you will do that, I will gladly give you my vote for any tax plan that is at least a little more equitable in its imposition.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I believe if the observers here today are fair-minded, and if the newspapers are fair-minded in their approach to the tax problem, they should be convinced that we have tired to liberalize this legislation to the point whereby we, on the Democratic side, could provide the necessary votes to pass this tax program. All of our efforts have been in vain. Now we are at the time when we shall vote on this particular piece of legislation. I think that the Members on the other side realize that should this bill go down to defeat, it is dead because it will be the second defeat for this particular piece of legislation.

We, on the Democratic side, are not fully convinced that this legislation is in the proper form that it should be in. I believe that Senator Kessler said in the Finance Committee meeting that the revenue for the next fifteen months would be approximately $305,000,000. We have information that the best we can receive would be $225,000,000. There is a gross inequity in the various figures, which is something that all of us should consider.

Mr. President, I want to assure the Members on the other side that all of us do not understand this legislation. We do not want to be arbitrary and we do not want to take the position of voting "no" on a tax program, but we want you to know it is not in its proper form. This tax is not in the form that we Democrats can vote for this piece of legislation.

If I recall correctly, Mr. President, in the committee meeting, Senator Kessler called it a use tax. The newspapers call it a sales tax. I believe in the bill it is called an education and welfare tax. I think it is a catch-all phrase. You are going to say that the Democrats voted against an education and welfare tax here today. We do not want to vote against it; we want it in proper form.

As Senator Dent has said, Mr. President, we tried to spell out how this tax could be collected, how it would not pyramid and how it would be economically collected. Then you could not accuse us of having an army of snoopers throughout Pennsylvania. That amendment, too, was rejected.

All I have to say is this, gentlemen. I cannot vote for this bill in its present form, and I suggest to the Chairman of the Finance Committee that if he is sincere, if those on the Republican side are sincere and want to salvage this legislation, you will agree to recommit it to the Finance Committee and let us get together and offer the proper amendments to put this bill in the proper form so that it can pass this Senate and pass the Democratic House of Representatives.

MOTION TO RECOMMIT BILL

Therefore, Mr. President, I move that this bill, House Bill No. 1879, Printer's No. 1299, be recommitted to the Committee on Finance for further study and proper amendment by the Democratic Minority.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I think even that paper they talk about up in Titusville will be able to record what I am going to say, because the gentleman from Titusville got on his feet in this Senate and objected in very loud terms to the fact that, I think they said, within seventy-two hours or three days the House of Representatives passed a manufacturers' excise tax bill. Here today the Juggernaut on the other side is rolling with a bill that has been on this Calendar only—I do not think it has been six hours since we have had a copy of the bill. The bill was given to me when I came to the Hill this morning. I came rather early this morning and the bill was not available. The first time that I was able to get a copy of this bill, in my hands, was sometime a few minutes after noon.

Mr. President, I have read this bill as well as I can. There is one gentleman on the other side, by the name of Senator Watkins, who told me he could not read the original bill and with all this in it, with four sets of glasses, I do not think he could read this bill.

You are attempting to pass a bill written finally, written by all the chief lobbyists, the high paid lobbyists in this State, which has been available to the Members of this Senate for a period of five hours. If the press wants me to, I will name to them after I finish, privately, the lobbyists who sat with Senator Kessler and wrote this bill, because they were seen and the news room was so notified as to who was sitting with him when the amendments to this bill were drawn.

Mr. President, I, like Senator Dent, am one of those who will not ask Senator Watson or Senator Pechan or Senator Stevenson to return, if they are not well, to vote on a true sales tax bill. If the gentlemen on the other side were sincere, they would wait until such time as they have this bill in shape where we could pass it. It was agreed by us and it was thought, as I mentioned here yesterday in the Finance Committee, that this is not the type of bill that we agreed to vote upon. I will say that the gentleman from Lancaster, who I like to refer to as "Senator Tory" or "Senator Whig," did go along with me and agree with me on that.

Mr. President, I want to say to you that it is preposterous to assume that the action of the Republican Senate in trotting out an indigestible excise tax bill, even under another name, was motivated by a sincere desire to resolve the tax impasse. Republicans on the other side saw the handwriting on the wall in the House where their own sales tax bill is due to come up for a vote. The obvious strategy, with such a horrible moment at hand, was to push through the reconverted excise measure in a desperate effort to block a showdown on the Hewitt tax bill.

Certainly, Mr. President, no one in his right mind will regard the juggled excise bill as a bonafide sales tax, notwithstanding Republican efforts to make it appear as such. Since our Republican colleagues have been clamoring for a legitimate sales tax and they have openly assailed the idea of hiding it, I believe they should have an opportunity to show where they stand on a broad base sales tax bill, whether it be the Hewitt bill or the Waterhouse bill or the Strausser bill in the House, if it ever reaches the Senate. I understand now that the Strausser bill is the Republican bill.

Mr. President, I place a big "if" before that prospect, for we Democrats are not so gullible that we believe the Republican Membership of the House, its eyes on this year's election—good old Charlie and good old Bob Kent—will permit itself to be led to a political guillotine by a concerted rush to back a sales tax. They may claim, speaking for the record, that it is the only tax that will save Pennsylvania from financial collapse, but we all know that that is a political window dressing that will not mean a thing when the time comes for every Republican legislator to be recorded.

Mr. President, here we have a little monstrosity, which we have had for five hours already, to raise between $200,000,000 and $225,000,000 to cover a $450,000,000 debt. Their run-out on the sales tax will be the fastest footwork ever seen on Capitol Hill. It will be faster than Harvey Taylor ran when he read that speech which Bill Livengood wrote for him on last August 4th. Mr. President, it is just as well, for at long last that will strip them of the political crutch they have been using to hobble away from any serious Democratic proposal to settle the tax deadlock on a bipartisan basis.

The only clamoring we have heard for a sales tax comes not from the man in the street, whom it would hit most inequitably, but from the big business friends of the Republican leadership which is determined to snap the handcuffs of such a tax on the laboring people of this State.

I might just interpose here and say that as a Member of the Finance Committee, I sat on that rostrum and I asked as many questions as the chairman, who was running a dictatorial committee, "Senator Tory," would allow. He would not let us ask the questions as we wanted to ask them and would cut us off, but I did manage to get my question into probably eight or nine of the big manufacturers in this State as to what they would suggest. They all agreed that the State needed this money and they all suggested a sales tax. They immediately ran over to Waterhouse and Hewitt, and they in turn ran to Doc Saraff, the Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, and gave him just a little amendment to take them out of the bill. They were rather smart; they came over to the Senate and those same fellows not only gave the same amendments to the Republicans, but helped write them into the bill down in the Republican Caucus Room with "Senator Tory," from Lancaster County.

All I can say is, Mr. President, the Republicans who have been chanting loudest for a sales tax now have a golden opportunity to throw their weight behind the Hewitt bill, the Strausser bill or the Waterhouse bill and they should not lose any time demonstrating their sincerity or fakery, as the case may be. I do not think that you fellows over there truly represent the party that elected you here. If you did, you would not lead them as you did down a dark alley last November 8th. I do not think that you have any leadership because every time I talk to a man on your side, he tells me, "I cannot speak for anyone else." That is no way to even run a football club. You must have somebody quarterbacking. I would suggest that if you do not like your quarterback in Mahany, get a new quarterback but somebody who can talk for the twenty-six of you over there.

Mr. President, if the Republicans are so convinced, notwithstanding evidence to the contrary, that a sales tax is what the people want, now is their chance to pass it and enjoy whatever political glory it might bring them. We do not want to deny them their great day of decision. I doubt very much that Republicans, anywhere along the line, either in the House or Senate, will develop sufficient courage to risk public reaction on a showdown vote for the sales tax. You say, "Where did you get that?" I got that out of the morning press. That is what Charlie Smith said: "No votes for the sales tax." Of course, he is a candidate for office. They know that and we know that.

The basic difference between our political philosophies in the tax debate has been refusal of the Democratic leadership to drug its sense of wrong or right, Mr. President. Obviously, we cannot afford the luxury of Republican indifference to the financial calamities four Republican Administrations left on the Democratic doorstep, shades of James Henderson Duff. Nor do we intend to submit to any tax by coercion without fighting for the only interests we represent, the people of Pennsylvania.

Mr. President, as Senator Dent has said, if we finally come out of this tax jungle with a sales tax, it is going to be a Republican sales tax, and if such a tax is as popular as they crack it up to be and it is just what the doctor ordered, it is their bady and, boys, you are going to be stuck with it."

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I assure you that I will finish my remarks in time to meet the gentleman's agreement deadline which has been set. I just have three remarks to make and they all apply to points which have been made and I think not answered.

The first point refers to some statements made by the Majority Leader yesterday, in which he said that the excise tax, which this bill originally was before the amendments, was no different from a sales tax because it was all going to be passed onto the consumer anyway. I would like to make a point for the record, Mr. President, that when the hearings were held and manufacturers appeared from all over the Commonwealth, wholesalers and retailers, I asked them, as a member of the committee, about the question of how much of this tax would be absorbed. They were unable to give me a definite estimate but all of them agreed that there was a considerable part, a part which certainly mattered to them, which could not be passed on. I would like to have it stand, on the record, that either they were misinforming us at that time, and they should certainly know their business, or else the Majority Leader, when he spoke yesterday, was making a misstatement.

Secondly, Mr. President, when the excise tax was before us for consideration, both the representatives and also the Republican Senators, some of them, those who spoke, made a great point of the fact that if the three per cent excise tax passed, we were going to have to hire an army of enforcement officers to man our borders so that people who bought things in another State could not bring them into our State without paying the tax. As I understand it, the process will be identically the same in this case, and I certainly have heard no objection from the proponents of this particular bill, who, in the other case, were opponents of the excise tax, to the effect that they are going to have to hire an army of enforcement officers to prevent smuggling goods across the border which were bought in another State.

On the third point, Mr. President, I am afraid Senator Kessler will probably think me just a bit demagogic, according to his definition, because he does not give me and my colleagues credit for the same interest in protecting the people whom we want to protect as he undoubtedly has in protecting the people he wishes to protect. However, the remarks made by Senator Watkins interested me today, because he spoke of Mr. Pew and he objected to the remarks that were made about him. He admitted that he was responsible for putting in the part which took care of the Sun Ship. That is a constituent of his and certainly Senator Watkins has every right to do that and I do not criticize him.

I want to say that on Sunday, Senator Watkins, I had a visitor come to my house to object strongly to a sales tax. His name was Smith and he is a worker in a laundry. You said that Mr. Pew, I believe you thought, was a great American and a great Pennsylvanian and I would agree, but I think this laundry worker, by the name of Smith who came to my house, is also a great American and a great Pennsylvanian. I want Senator Watkins, and everyone else, to know that I am just as much interested in protecting a constituent of mine, who is a laundry worker by the name of Smith, as he is in protecting his constituent by the name of Pew.

Mr. HAYS. Mr. President, obviously, this will be anti-climatic after these other speeches. I should say that the paper which this speech is prepared on is different, unless there be some misunderstanding, from the paper used by my distinguished colleague from Allegheny County.

Obviously, Mr. President, if the Majority really wished to pass this amended bill, they could await the return of their full strength. I, too, am anxious to have additional tax legislation, but adequate tax legislation. I am of the opinion that House Bill No. 1879, in its present form, as amended, is the major tax proposal to be offered by the Chairman of the Finance Committee. Since this is the major piece of tax legislation, we all have a responsibility of giving it study and consideration. As I recall the explanation given when this amended bill was reported yesterday, I believe that even the most optimistic figure estimated by the usually conservative Chairman of the Finance Committee would still show an income less than the needs, as indicated in the Governor's budget for this biennium. This, it seems to me, means that the intention is to cut that budget and, in fairness to all of us who want to vote on this question, I think that such proposed cuts should be known not only by the committee chairman, but by the entire Membership.

Mr. President, here are some questions for which we feel we should have some answers. What about the proposed increases in the allowances to the blind? What about the appropriations to the hospitals of the State? The Philipsburg Hospital, with which I have some slight familiarity, completed a substantial addition last summer and it has been idle ever since because of no funds. Is this and other facilities, for which we have paid and are ready to use, to remain idle for the entire biennium? Are they to remain idle and unused? Will this tax program provide additional moneys for the retired teachers of the State, so that their retirement allowance may keep in step with increased living costs since 1949? Will this tax program make it possible to make the provisions of the teachers' retirement system as liberal as the provisions of the other retirement system of the State, so that in this respect school employees will not be second class employees of the Commonwealth? What does this program provide for the neglected, slow learning children in our families and the families of our neighbors? I am sure many Senators are anxious to know the provisions for the mentally ill. I think that you believe, with me, that the citizens of the Commonwealth want us to move from our 47th rank in this respect up the scale, and that right early.

What about our institutions of higher learning? Each institution, I am sure, is holding back important research and other extensions of their programs. Out in Pittsburgh, there just could be another Doctor Jonas Salk, straining at the leash to get a research project under way that might do for heart disease what Doctor Salk has done for children and parents. Up at Penn State, there are projects awaiting the green light, projects that just could double crop production, eliminate plant and animal diseases and add uncalculated wealth to our farm population and to the prosperity of the whole Commonwealth. I know too well, and you know well enough, of the tidal wave of young people now in public schools and coming out of the maternity wards of our hospitals. The diaper lines tell the solid white truth. However, too soon these young people will be passing through our ivy covered gates and hammering at the admission doors of our universities. We do need engineers, teachers, nurses, scientists, trained men and women. We are in a cold war and the relative competencies of our citizens will, in the final analysis, determine the issue. Will this tax program tie the hands by reducing the appropriations of Doctor Harnwell, President Johnson, the Chancellor at Pitt and the brother of the President of the United States, Doctor Milton Eisenhower, at Penn State?

Mr. President, the school building program is still far behind our needs. Several hundred projects in every section of the State are here in Harrisburg, gathering dust. Do we say, by this tax program, that we will or will not provide money so that these projects may really get underway and we can take thousands of children out of temporary schools and the fire halls and firetraps of the State? I have mentioned just a few phases of the budget, and I am sure that each Member has a similar list and I made no attempt to be all-inclusive.

Mr. President, some Members of the Senate, some weeks ago, complained and perhaps with some cause about being asked to vote on another tax bill hurriedly. I was greatly surprised yesterday when I learned that I might be expected to vote on a bill, inside of twenty-four hours, which I saw for the first time just five hours ago. In the previous case, the bill had been before the House for a number of days before it came to the Senate. This kind of haste, in a matter of this importance, may be intended to flatter us but as a freshman Senator, it strikes me that it is not the kind of legislative activity that I, who face high school youth weekly, will be proud to report. So, I hope that the tax program voted today may be one on which we may be informed not only as to what it takes from the people, but just as important, what services it will or will not give for the people.

May it not be true that the next General Assembly will have to start their budget building with an item of 152,000,000 to make up the deficit of this one, as was the case with the 1955-1957 budget in its relation to the last budget of the preceding Administration?

Mr. President, it seems to be the fashion in this Senate to relate the stories and the virtues of fathers. I am proud of my father and what he stood for. However, because I use my mother, instead of my father, does not mean that I am not proud of my father. My family was of the old school and I am afraid I inherited some of that point of view. My mother never ran an account at a grocery store. Each day she paid cash for the supplies, for the food and clothing that she bought. She never was in financial debt. I am old fashioned enough to think that it might be a good policy or, at least, nothing to be ashamed of if at the close of the biennium, instead of a deficit of $76,000,000, we had a surplus of some similar figure.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I did not intend to make this speech but, with the permission of the Senate, I would like to have it inserted into the record. If any of you would like to have a copy, I will be glad to furnish you with one.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The remarks will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

(Following are the remarks requested to be spread upon the record by the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. DENT:)

The ruthless emasculation of the excise tax which has converted it into an unworkable legislative monstrosity, and solely for the purpose of compounding the incredible confusion over taxes, demonstrates more clearly than anything I can say the complete depravity of Republican thinking in the great financial crisis now confronting the Commonwealth.

I cannot imagine what goes on in the minds of men who imperiously blind themselves to their Senatorial responsibilities and the shocking financial plight of their state.

Who are these men who have pierced the heart of compromise and shamelessly bound up the eyes of justice?

Who are these creators of a precarious destiny for Pennsylvania?

They, and they alone, are the promulgators of the very crisis they so indifferently shun.

They are the prodigal apologists for a decadent past when the free wheeling spenders and deficit experts of four Republican Administrations set the scene for the ruinous backwash of financial calamity that has engulfed State government.

The apparent Republican strategy, to conceal the real issues, is to keep us marooned on an island of tax confusion while they push us step by step toward the crumbling brink of bankruptcy.

They believe the more they can humiliate and embarrass the Leader Administration, the more it will pay off politically in this year's election.

What they overlook, in the malevolence of their political deeds, and in their attempt to be purposely ambiguous, is that there can be no political immunity or political future for those who willfully contribute further to the financial catastrophe now impaling this Commonwealth on the tooth of time.

The profundity of Republican thought, behind the mangled excise tax bill, should escape no one since it was born of high pressure political expediency and in the heat of a tax struggle that has been skillfully fanned and inflamed by the professional obstructionists of the Republican party.

It should be made manifestly clear by the newspapers of this State that our Republican colleagues are the party of political arrogance and political stubbornness, and that it is they who privately sneer in the face of appeals to act in the public interest.

What we have seen here today is not parliamentary wisdom, keyed to the needs of the people, but an almost unbelievable desecration and prostitution of political power by audacious and unprincipled self-seekers who have abandoned all of the elemental decencies which should bind of honor together in time of crisis.

As we stand by the watchfires of our anxiety and observe the destruction they have wrought, I am appalled by the cold-blooded obstinacy of those who have tried to whitewash their own defections, and their own petulance, by the malicious legend of Governor Leader's so-called stubbornness.

The pampered political darlings of the Republican party, spurred by the abortive influence of one James Henderson Duff, have given us a revealing insight into the real meaning of stubbornness by their peevish and persistent demands for a sales tax, and only a sales tax, as a way out of the financial wilderness.

For all their caterwauling about a sales tax, I charge today that their labentably depressive insistence upon such a tax is a monumental fraud, sunningly planned to catch the headlines.

They know, and we know, that the last thing the political geniuses of the Republican party want is to be tagged by such a political disastrous tax.

They know a sales tax is political poison.

Yet they pretend to embrace it with all of the poker-faced solemnity of men who hope, by the sheer magnitism of their political guile, to lead the Democratic party into a political entrapment from which it can never escape.

That is why I unhesitatingly predict today that the Hewitt-Republican sales tax measure now before the House will fall ignominiously by the wayside if we bank on Republican votes to pass it.

When the chips are down, and notwithstanding the Pollyanna support the sales tax is receiving from enchanted Republican Senators, I do not believe Republican House Members will jump into the same political bed with a sales tax any more than they would play footsy with a copperhead snake.

If we wind up with a sales tax, through the medium of some oblique Republican maneuver, I want to assure the gentlemen of the Republican Senate that it is going to be their sales tax. The noisy proponents of that inequitable, discriminatory and villainous tax will have an opportunity, after all of the months they have callously blocked the Legislature, to vote for it.

They can put themselves on record.

But I doubt that they will do it!

They want the sales tax all right, but only if they can slit the throat of the Democratic party by sticking it with that political Frankenstein.

Frankly, the intractable attitude of the Republican leadership has built up overpowering resistance against all logic and all compromise.

On at least six occasions, I have gone home with the firm conviction, based upon pledged Republican commitments, that the tax conflict would be solved on a nonpolitical, bipartisan basis and each time, upon my return to Harrisburg, I was dismayed to learn that someone has broken their word, thereby aggravating the tension and uncertainty.

I hate to say this, and I know it will play upon the heartstrings of our Republican colleagues, but they simply don't mean what they say. They seem to regard Pennsylvania's financial dilemma as a cosmic joke.

Already they have tennis elbows from patting themselves on the back and glorying in the wreckage they have caused by the furiousness and ghastly misdirection of their campaign to dismember and cremate the Democratic party.

Over in the House yesterday, we were treated to the wildly intemperate and injudicious rantings of a political bunco artist named Smith.

The Leader Administration was left lacerated and bleeding by the booming cannons of his displeasure when it finally dawned on him, after all these months when the Republican pitch has been for a sales tax, that he, Smith, and other exuberant apostles of that tax were going to have a chance to vote for it.

I can imagine the choking despair that must have paralyzed Charley Smith and other Republican brain trusters when they discovered they were standing in a bear trap of their own making.

The slick and uncompromising political hucksters of the Republican party who tried to unload a mangy white elephant on the doorstep of the Democratic party will have a chance to suffer publicly from the introspections of their own political follies.

They will have a chance to tell the newspapers why they are so enthusiastically for a sales tax but are reluctant dragons when the time comes to vote for it.

And the political erosions caused by their tears are not going to wash away the glaring fact that they have out-Barnumed Barnum with their phoney philosophy that a sales tax is the only passport to a financial Shangri-La.

It will be realized at long last by the public that they, and they alone, triggered the violent financial upheaval which has Pennsylvania rocking and rolling to the off-beat tunes called by the fumbling and indecisive tax wizards of the Republican party.

As an all-time example of political asininity, we heard here the other day the birth control theory of taxation expounded by Professor Kessler, the eminent tax savant, who sometimes serves as interlocutor for Harvey Taylor's minstrel men.

Senator Kessler's prodigious excursion into the realm of taxation provided the kind of logic we might expect from a cigar store Indian.

It solved nothing, except perhaps the incurable desire of Senator Kessler to expound recklessly on subjects about which he knows little or nothing.

Senator Kessler does not admit it, but under previous Republican Administrations we operated in an expansive vacuum of deficit spending, always putting off until tomorrow the repugnant realization that we had been tapped dry; that there was no more money in the till to pay the debts pyramided for us by the dissonance and incompetence and arbitrary rule of a political party which considered itself predestined to govern forever.

It should be obvious to everyone that even now, the Republican leadership regards us Democrats as crude and obnoxious interlopers, who must be endured for another three years until the might of Republican power politics can be reasserted and the crown of State leadership can be placed once again upon some fevered Republican brow. But I wonder if that's the way the cards will fall? Politics doesn't always follow a prepared script.

If the exasperating antics of our Republican colleagues are to memorialize their convulsive contributions to political and legislative progress in Pennsylvania, they are either knaves or fools to believe they can debunk and delude the people by their radical record of failure that is now clearly branded as the tragic antithesis of all that is good for Pennsylvania.

We have suffered through the illuminating agonies of their incapacity or disinclination to meet the challenge of public service.

We Democrats have worked month on end to solve the tightening tax deadlock while Senator Taylor and his faithful band of camp followers remained aloof on their Olympian hill.

It would be an epic of charity and compassion to say they are victims of political misunderstanding or misguidance but as one who has tried, time and again, to reduce their thinking to realistic terms couched in the public interest, I can only conclude—and reluctantly at that—that they recognize no greater law or obligation than their own ego-centric will and desires.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I wish to be recorded as voting "aye."

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Potter will be so recorded.

An Act amending the act of June 1, 1889 (P. L. 420) entitled "A further supplement to an act entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation' approved the seventh day of June Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred and seventy-nine" further providing for the computation and payment of the tax by domestic corporations joint-stock associations limited partnerships and companies.

Mr. TAYLOR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The motion was agreed to.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 941, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May sixteen one thousand nine hundred thirty-five (P. L. 208) entitled as amended "Corporate Net Income Tax Act" changing formula for determining gross receipts where entire business is not transacted in the Commonwealth and the penalty for failure to make report or for making false report and increasing the rate of tax for a limited period of time.

Mr. DENT. Will you explain why this bill is going back to committee?

Mr. MAHANY. For further study and possible amendment, I presume.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, if I am not mistaken, this move is to send back to committee the increase in corporate net income. I do not want to talk too much, but I just want to say that it is my understanding, and if I am wrong I wish to be corrected, that you are sending back to committee the corporate net income increase and the tax accelerating the capital stock payments in the Commonwealth. Is that correct, Mr. President?

Mr. MAHANY. That is right.

Mr. DENT. You say that they are going back for further study?

Mr. MAHANY. That is right.

Mr. DENT. Do you think that these bills, which have been over here for months, require further study when the bill that was just up before us had only been in the Senate five hours? Do you think that that bill did not require further study? When we asked for it to go back to committee for further study, it was unanimously rejected on the other side. This bill is simply an enactment of a present act of the Legislature and it has been in the hands of the Republican Chairman of the Committee for many months and now it requires further study. Because you have a majority vote, you prevail that it must go back. Yet, when we asked that we be allowed the opportunity to study the so-called converted abuse tax, we were not given that permission, because you said that it did not require further study. It was only five hours old, and this tax bill is almost twenty years old.

Senar Mahany I believe the real purpose for sending this bill back to committee should be divulged. Very frankly, I do not believe you when you say that it is going back for further study. I am sorry, but I just cannot be made to believe that. It cannot be going back for further study because if there is anything you want to know about it, I will be glad to tell you what it is. I am sure that you can take my word for it.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, the reason, of course, that this bill should go back to committee is in order that it may fit into the pattern of any ultimate tax which we finally adopt here. Certainly, we want to put a tax on business. We want to put on some type of broad base tax. Perhaps, if a sales tax is passed in the House, then they will have to find out what percentage will be in the bill when it is finally passed, what per centage can be agreed upon here and then some differences, of course, will have to be made up by a tax on business in the State of Pennsylvania.

Because of that fact, Mr. President, I feel that this extra additional tax on corporations should be studied in line with whatever broad base tax is finally enacted by this Session of the Legislature. For that reason, I feel that these bills should go back to committee so that they may wait there until whatever broad base tax is passed by the House will catch up with them.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, these are not business taxes, I want it clearly understood. The acceleration of the capital stock tax does not add one cent of taxation to industry. It is just an accelerated collection of a present tax form. All we are asking is that you allow us to have that money, if you are sincere in trying to keep some of the schools open, about which you are talking. If we get that revenue on the books and we have the money coming in, on the basis of immediate collections, would it not be possible for us to send that back to some of the school districts that are really in distress? If you add the one per cent C. N. I., is it not also true that you would be giving direct aid to the schools until we iron out our difficulties on the question of a broad base tax? If any tax program does come up, we will always allow for taxes already passed. I am sure that no one wants any revenue over the amount that is required to carry on the functions of government and whatever reforms we want to go into.

Mr. President, I see absolutely no connection between the so-called defeat of the converted abuse tax and the sending back to committee of these taxes. It is not for further study, but it is in order to chastise this Administration so that it cannot have the $80,000,000 of revenue that we could count on for immediate relief, practically, for borrowing purposes and so forth for the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I assure you, Mr. President, that if you let this C.N.I. go much longer, the rollback will become burdensome to those who have to pay it. It is not a tax on business; it is a tax upon the profits of business. We are willing to accept, as little people, a tax upon our profits. We have often said that. We said that if you want to tax us upon our net income, we would be willing to pay it. This is just a tax upon the profits of business. It is not a tax upon the cost of doing business. It does not affect in any way, shape or form the ability of a corporation in this Commonwealth to compete with any other corporation, because it is only upon the final adjustment of their figures. When they have analyzed their income and their outgo, paid out their expenses, and if they have a profit they pay a small percentage to the State. I believe that if you are sincerely interested in the schools, you will advance this legislation.

Mr. MAHANEY. Mr. President, although debate on the merits of the bill is out of order on a motion to recommit, I did permit Senator Dent to debate at length the merits of the bill. All I have to say to him is that if we pass this legislation, it would not bring in any immediate money. The returns that would be required, under the provisions of this bill, would not be due until March 15th. Certainly, we are not missing any money by not passing the legislation today.

And the question recurring,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT—Mr. President, I ask for a roll call, and I want to say to Mr. Mahany that again I have to disagree with him. This would give us added borrowing capacity to keep the schools open.

Mr. SEYLER. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.
The yeas and nays were required by Mr. DENT and Mr. SEYLER, and were as follows, viz:

YEAS—23
SENATE 49
Berger,	Kessler,	Peelor,	Wagner,
Blass,	Koprivier, Jr.	Propert,	Watkins,
Chapman,	Madigan,	Scott,	Whalley,
Diehm,	Mahany,	Taylor,	Wolfe,
Flack,	Mallery,	Van Sant,	Fleming,
Harney,	McPherson, Jr.	Wade,	Presiding Officer
NAYS—18
Barr,	Holland,	Miller,	Seyler,
Camel,	Lane,	Mullin,	Silvert,
Dent,	McGinnis,	Ruth,	Stiefel,
DiSilvestro,	McMenamin,	Schmidt,	Weiner,
Hays,			Yosko,

So the question was determined in the affirmative.

MOTION FOR ADJOURNMENT

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the hour of 6:00 o'clock p. m. having arrived, I move that the Senate do now adjourn until Monday, January 23, 1956, at 1:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time, in order that we maintain our position of adjourning at 6:00 o'clock p. m.

Mr. BARR. I second the motion, Mr. President.
On the question,
Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice having been taken, the question was determined in the negative.)

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. MAHANY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the senate.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, before the motion was placed, I was going to state that earlier in the day I stated that beginning next Monday we would adjourn at 6:00 o'clock p. m. I think it is only going to take a few minutes to complete the rest of this Calendar and if the gentleman on the other side will bear with us, I am sure that we will be able to clean up the Calendar and be able to adjourn within the next five minutes or so.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. DENT asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, the assumption being, of course, in order that we quit in five minutes there will not be any debate. Now that cannot always be true. Mr. Mahany, I am willing to go along with you on the proposition that maybe the health of the Senators has some important factor in our daily lives and in the positions that we occupy. If today you say we are not going to adjourn at 6:00 o'clock, and it is the very first day that you have made the rule, because of something you want done, then tomorrow, sir, it may be something that I want done.

Mr. President, if we are going to establish a 6:00 o'clock quitting time, you ought to establish it, but since you do not want to do that, then, of course, we beg to disagree with you upon any agreement of establishing a quitting rule in the Senate.

PARLIAMENTARY INQUIRY

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I rise to a question of parliamentary inquiry.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The gentleman from Cumberland, Mr. Wade, will state his question of parliamentary inquiry.

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, is it true that Senate Bill No. 866, on page 10 of today's Calendar, went over in order temporarily?

The PRESIDING OFFICER. That is correct.

SENATE BILL No. 866 CALLED UP

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I now call up from page 10 of today's Calendar, Senate Bill No. 866.

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of Senate Bill No. 866, entitled:

An Act to further amend section nine hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "The Vehicle Code" by changing the total maximum length of certain vehicles

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Messrs. WADE and WATKINS offered the following amendments:

Amend Section 1 (Sec. 902), page 3, line 19, by striking out the following: "motor"; Amend Section 1 (Sec. 902), page 4, line 2, by inserting after the word "inches" the following: "excepting that a semi-trailer designed exclusively for carrying motor vehicles may exceed such total maximum length by not more than thirty (30) inches".

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I request that the Senate be at ease for a few minutes until we look up the bill. This is a very important bill and we will be glad to vote for it if it is right.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. The Senate will be at ease.

(The Senate was at ease.)

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, there was a question on this because we were both trying to change the same point. So, I move that the amendments be approved and that the bill go over in order, as amended, so that we may read the bill and determine whether the amendments are properly inserted in the bill.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the amendments?

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section and title were read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 866, Printer's No. 453, on second reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDING OFFICER. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

REMAINING BILLS ON SECOND READING CALENDAR OVER IN ORDER

The motion was agreed to.

RESOLUTIONS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Speaker has referred the following resolutions:

By Messrs. WELSH, TOLL, LEVEN and MORAN.

RESOLUTION No. 144.

In the House of Representatives, January 17, 1956.

Over 50,000 employes of Westinghouse Electric Corporation, including over 20,000 in Pennsylvania, have been on strike for three months.

Collective bargaining has so far failed to effect a settlement of this dispute.

Governors of Pennsylvania, Maryland, and New York have appealed to both sides to submit the dispute to final and binding arbitration, and this request has been supported by a number of members of Congress from districts where striking employes live, by the Mayors of over 15 cities, and by clergy and other civic leaders.

The International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, AFL-CIO, the union which represents these striking employes, has accepted the arbitration proposal, but Westinghouse Electric Corporation has steadfastly refused to do so.

The Director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service has declared that "the economic effects of this work stoppage have had a serious adverse effect on many thousands of other workers and upon other related industries."

The Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service has declared that the conciliation efforts have not proven successful and has recommended that the Corporation and the Union submit all of the disputed issues in this strike to a fact finding board, which board shall report its findings of fact and recommendations to the parties to serve as a basis for negotiation by the parties for an honorable settlement.

The public interest demands that every reasonable means be resorted to by the parties in an attempt to resolve this dispute; therefore be it

Resolved, That the recommendation of the Director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service is fair and equitable; and be it further

Resolved, That such a fact finding board should be established forthwith and that the Westinghouse Electric Corporation and the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, AFL-CIO should submit the issues which caused this strike to this board so that the dispute may be honorably settled as soon as possible.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

By Messrs. MULDOWNEY and FRASCELLA.

RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

Today the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania celebrates the 250th birthday of Benjamin Franklin, one of its greatest citizens, whose name is famous throughout the world as symbol of enlightenment, tolerance, and wisdom.

The genius of Benjamin Franklin ranged through so many fields that it is difficult to list them all. He was statesman, scientist, philosopher, printer, writer, business man, patriot, and philanthropist. His inquiring mind ranged from the invention of an improved heating stove to experiments proving the identity of lightning and electricity, to the foundation of libraries and learned societies, and to improvements in the care and lighting of city streets.

His services to the Province and State of Pennsylvania were manifold. He was a member and clerk of the Pennsylvania Assembly, and an influential leader in the political development of colonial Pennsylvania. He represented Pennsylvania and other colonies in London, and was delegate from Pennsylvania to the Second Continental Congress, where he assisted in drawing up the Declaration of Independence. As President of the State Convention of 1776, he largely directed the framing of the first State Constitution, just as in later years he played an important part in the Federal Convention which framed the Constitution of the United States. In his last years, Pennsylvania made him President of the Supreme Executive Council, equivalent to the office of Governor today. In his lifetime Benjamin Franklin enjoyed the highest honors and respect which Pennsylvania could bestow, and present-day Pennsylvania fully shares the feeling of his contemporaries; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Commonwealth pays special tribute to Benjamin Franklin on this 250th anniversary of his birth on January 17, 1706, not only for his immense contribution to human understanding and enlightenment, but especially for his great services to the Province and Commonwealth as legislator, constitution-maker, diplomat, and Chief Executive.

Referred to the Committee on Rules.

REPORT FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. READINGER from the Committee on Rules, reported as committed, House Resolution No. 144.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, about a week or ten days ago the Minority Leader of the House made some remarks concerning House Resolution No. 53, which was introduced on March 30th of last year and referred to the House Rules Committee, in which the Minority Leader requested the Rules Committee to consider and report out that resolution asking for a study by the Joint State Government Commission of the costs under the new Unemployment Compensation Act adopted last year.

Under date of January 5th I received a letter from the Secretary of the Department of Labor and Industry, John R. Torquato, which I am going to ask be inserted in the record of this House. It is quite lengthy and states in detail why that inquiry sought by House Resolution No. 53 is unnecessary.

At the moment I do not have copies of the letter, but I have requested the Chief Clerk's Office to prepare copies for the Press, for the Minority Leader and for any other persons who are interested in reading this at an early date.

The letter discusses in detail the amount of contributions under the new Act, or the amended Act, and also the cost of the benefits as experience has indicated.

As I mentioned a moment ago it indicates that in the Secretary's opinion, while he has no objection to a study being made of this matter, the study would avail nothing that is not now public news and available to the public.

So I am now requesting that this letter of January 5th addressed to me as the Majority Leader of the House be inserted in the record of the House.

Commonwealth of Pennsylvania
Department of Labor and Industry
Harrisburg

January 5, 1956.

Honorable Albert S. Readinger
House Majority Leader
House of Representatives
Harrisburg, Pennsylvania

Dear Mr. Majority Leader:

The request of House Minority Leader, Charles C. Smith, that House Resolution 53, introduced March 30, 1955, be acted on favorably by the House Rules Committee, should cause no surprise. Some of the opponents of the progressive Unemployment Compensation Act of which this Administration is rightfully proud, would not scruple to question the accuracy of the Gregorian calendar. Even with all the facts plainly against them they ask once more for a new inquiry.

When liberalizing amendments to the Unemployment Compensation Law were steered through the House to passage under your able leadership, there were, I believe, only two or three votes cast against the measure and Mr. Smith publicly proclaimed that "if the Republican Party had won the election this is exactly the kind of a bill we would have enacted." Subsequently, however, when the Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association stirred up an artificial storm of protest directed at the Senate, Mr. Smith joined with Mr. Johnson in sponsoring a Resolution calling for the Joint State Government Commission to make a study of costs, observing that "it is obvious that the estimates supplied by the Governor and those made by industry cannot both be right."

The Bill was finally passed in the Senate, after several hearings, by an overwhelming majority. Nevertheless, Senate Majority Leader Mahany, weeks after enactment, stated that he had been chided for finally supporting the Bill.

During the Senate controversy, representatives of industry placed on the desk of each Senator an analysis of the Bill which challenged every estimate supplied by the Administration. Yet, after a full hearing before the Senate Labor and Industry Committee, Chairman Berger stated that he was making the decision to accept the Department's estimates, since they were based upon official records. They were indeed. The estimates supplied were produced by the same civil service personnel whose figures had been accepted and used by previous administrations and the salsame industry representatives who now derided the figures as "fantastic."

Senator Kessler, who took a leading part in opposing the amendments and finally voted against them, told us that he would require continuous statements of tax yield in order to see who was right. After the first tax returns had been made under the new Law the official figures were presented to Senator Kessler. The figures coincided 100 per cent with the estimates of the Bureau. For the first quarter of 1955 they were not even off the 3 to 5 per cent tolerance which must be allowed for estimates. After studying these and consulting with industry representatives, Senator Kessler wrote to me to say that he was both surprised and pleased and would continue to be interested in the figures for the balance of the year. Subsequently, the Bureau again posted Senator Kessler on the accuracy of Bureau estimates as the year progressed.

The final statistics for 1955 show that whereas the Department had estimated a tax yield of $135,000,000-$138,000,000 for 1955 (industry representatives forecast that the yield would be $200,000,000), the actual yield was $133,000,000, roughly 2 per cent off target. Bureau estimates as to actual rate of tax yield were without error. Dollar yield was lower than estimates only due to taxable wages of industry being some $300 million below expectancy.

Industry claims as to benefit costs were equally exaggerated as the year's experience now proves.

With this kind of a record, it is clear that the request for an inquiry by the House into the statistics of the Unemployment Compensation program is a face-saving device necessitated by the events of the last several weeks. The Bill provided that if the Fund sunk to less than $350,000,000 on December 31, 1955, a modestly higher tax schedule would go into effect; the rate would rise from an average of 1.63 per cent to 2.1 per cent. Six weeks before the end of the year it became evident that the Fund would be several millions of dollars below the $350,000,000 dollar level on December 31, 1955. The final figure was actually $345,100,000.

In a similar situation in December 1954, the previous Administration had accepted 1 and ½ million dollars of advance payments on contributions not due until January 1955 and had counted approximately $2,000,000 in interest not paid until January 1955, adding both figures to the balance of December 31, 1954. This shaky accounting action was countenanced by a letter from a Deputy Attorney General. In November 1955 I asked the Attorney General what our procedure should be this year. Late in December he advised that these items could not properly be counted as part of the Fund balance December 31, 1955. The Attorney General gave a great deal of consideration to this question and rendered a formal opinion on the subject.

Meanwhile, without consulting the Department, the Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association circulated flyers among its members urging them to make advance payments "in order to prevent a rise in tax rate." No official of the Bureau was asked whether this money would be acceptable or could be legally counted. Instead, the first notice we had of this campaign was when checks began to come in to the Accounting Department. At no time, may I emphasize, was there the courtesy of consultation with officials of the Bureau.

Some 3500 employers submitted $5,175,000 as advance contributions. When the Attorney General's opinion that these checks could not be accepted for the purpose of avoiding the tax rise written into the Act was publicized, the Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association denounced the Administration for the obvious purpose of justifying their ill-advised campaign to flood the Bureau with advance payments. To further this end, after midnight consultations, and to create the impression that we had done something wrong, they hastily brought suit for mandamus in the Dauphin County Courts on the last business day of the year. There the matter now rests.

I have recited the above facts so fully because it is necessary to understand that the revived request for House inquiry is part of the continuing program of opponents of Unemployment Compensation to keep long settled issues alive. I am sure you will agree that there comes a time when controversy must be stilled.

We have no fear or apprehensions of what the results of a fair inquiry would be; however, I do not think that in light of the facts which are publicly available such an inquiry would serve any useful purpose. It would merely help revive the shouts and cries of our opponents that the Leader Administration does not know what it is doing.

Sincerely yours,

(signed) JOHN R. TORQUATO,
Secretary of Labor and Industry.

SENATE

MONDAY, January 23, 1956.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. ROBERT W. ORVIS, Rector of Trinity Memorial Episcopal Church, Erie, offered the following prayer:

Two short prayers; one for our Country and the other for this Legislature. Let us pray.

Almighty God, Who hast given us this good land for our heritage, we humbly beseech Thee that we may always prove ourselves a people mindful of Thy favor and glad to do Thy will. Bless our land with honorable industry, sound learning and pure manners. Save us from violence, discord and confusion; from pride and arrogance, and from every evil way. Defend our liberties and fashion into one united people the multitudes brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues.

Endue with the spirit of wisdom those to whom in Thy Name we entrust the authority of government, that there may be justice and peace at home, and that, through obedience to Thy law, we may show forth Thy praise among the nations of the earth. In the time of prosperity, fill our hearts with thankfulness and in the day of trouble, suffer not our trust in Thee to fail; all of which we ask through Jesus Christ our Lord.

O God, the Fountain of Wisdom, Whose statutes are good and gracious and Whose law is truth, we beseech Thee so to guide and bless this Legislature of our Commonwealth. Bless those who are in the Administration; bless those who are the officers of the Senate and of the House; and bless those who serve them. Grant that everything may be ordained for our governance that only such things as please Thee, to the glory of Thy Name and the welfare of the people. These things we say and ask through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, last week we celebrated the Two Hundred Fiftieth Anniversary of Benjamin Franklin throughout the entire civilized world. I am even inclined to believe that behind the Iron Curtain they bowed before this great sage of mankind. However, today, I want to suggest to the Senate of the General Assembly a way to further perpetuate the glory of his name.

Mr. President, we now have a bill pending in the Committee on Appropriations to reprint the "Frontier Forts of Pennsylvania." This is a book which was first published at the end of the 19th Century, and it was then republished in 1913. Now, we have the appropriation to publish the third edition. The father of the frontier forts of Pennsylvania was none other than Benjamin Franklin. This petition asks to accelerate a bill so that we can proceed with the printing and dedicate it to the memory of Benjamin Franklin.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

"FRONTIER FORTS OF PENNSYLVANIA" TO BE ISSUED AS A BENJAMIN FRANKLIN MEMORIAL

Mr. STIEFEL offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Forests and Waters, Game and Fish:

In the Senate, January 23, 1956.

Today the 250th anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin on January 17, 1706 is being commemorated throughout Pennsylvania and throughout the world by all those societies and institutions which have benefitted from his great contributions to the enlightenment of mankind.

Pennsylvanians have reasons to remember and honor a special contribution of Benjamin Franklin, two hundred years ago during the French and Indian War. When the defeat of Braddock's army left frontier farms and homes defenseless and exposed to the raids of the French and Indians, Benjamin Franklin was one of the Provincial Commissioners who took the first active steps to establish a system of defense. He helped to plan a chain of frontier forts and to raise troops for garrison and patrol duty. After the force assigned to protect old Northampton County was routed by the Indians on the first of January, 1756, Franklin himself went to reorganize and complete the defenses of that important sector, and remained there until February 5th, building Fort Allen and supervising the building of three other forts.

Franklin's great achievements in other fields have tended to obscure his part in the planning and building of frontier forts. This service to Pennsylvania meant even more in terms of the political background of that day. Franklin was the leader of the popular party in the Assembly of Pennsylvania, and his party had been described to British officials as likely to oppose and hinder efforts to defend the Province. By his vigorous action in the crisis, Benjamin Franklin headed off any attempt to use the war emergency as an excuse for lessening the powers of the Assembly and restricting the number of voters. Thus he protected Pennsylvania's freedom in a double sense when he built frontier forts two hundred years ago, and we should be especially mindful of these services today; therefore be it

Resolved, That the new edition of "Frontier Forts of Pennsylvania" shall be issued as a Benjamin Franklin Memorial Edition with a suitable portrait of Franklin's as frontispiece and with an appropriate introductory essay on Franklin's services in this critical period of Pennsylvania history; and that the Committee on Appropriations is hereby urged on this significant date to report out the bill authorizing the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission to publish "Frontier Forts of Pennsylvania," so that the Benjamin Franklin Memorial Edition may be issued at the earliest possible moment.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the said bill to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

BILL ON THIRD READING

Agreeably to order,

The Senate proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1129, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 17, 1929 (P. L. 1798) entitled "An act providing a fixed charge payable by the Commonwealth on lands acquired by the State and the Federal Government for forest reserves" requiring the Commonwealth for a limited time to pay charges to counties on certain federal forest reserves

And said bill having been read at length the third time, and agreed to,

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the Majority Leader to explain the purpose of the amendment to the law provided in this bill.

Mr. MAHANY. As I understand it, the present law provides that where a county sells sufficient timber, or a certain amount, then it is prohibited from getting any further amounts from the State, under this law. Evidently what happened was that in Forest County, in one year, they did sell more timber than what was set up under the present law and, therefore, they put themselves out from receiving any further State money for the rest of the time. I believe you will agree with me that perhaps that would be all right for one year, but it should not affect them for the future. This bill was introduced, designed to take care of Forest County and any other county in a similar position, where they have sold a certain amount of timber, so that they might get this subsidy in the future.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, does the gentleman mean that, as the law stands, if they receive this amount for one year, it cuts them off from the State payments from then on? Is that correct?

Mr. MAHANY. That is my understanding of the present law.

Mr. SEYLER. Mr. President, I would like to ask the gentleman whether he does not think that we need to amend this bill so that if that happens to another given country, then we do not have to make a bill like this again. I understood the bill to mean that they would only lose the State subsidy for that one year. It seems to me that that is the way the law should read.

Mr. MAHANY. That is the way this bill does read.

Mr. SEYLER. As I understand it, this bill just takes care of the years 1953, 1954, 1955 and 1956.

Mr. MAHANY. Just give me time to get the bill, please. Would you tell me which page and line you are referring to?

Mr. SEYLER. Page 4, lines 3 to 10, is the essential part of this bill. As I understand it, it does not correct what you have explained and what seems to me is a defect in the law. However, it simply takes care of the years 1953, 1954, 1955 and 1956. It seems to me that if we have a defect in the law, so that in any given year a county attains the necessary funds from sales to the Federal Government, that you should only lose the appropriation from the State for that one year. I do not think that this bill really corrects that. I think it simply takes care of this one county for four specific years.

Mr. MAHANY. This bill was sponsored by the House Representative from Forest County and also the Representative from Warren County. I presume they have consulted with, perhaps, the Department of Justice, and certainly the Legislative Reference Bureau, before they had this bill drawn. I presume they were satisfied with it. However, if you have some question on it, and you would like to have time to consult these sponsors and anyone else with whom you would care to consult, I will be happy to go along with you and ask that the bill be passed over in order to give you sufficient time to do that.

Mr. SEYLER. I am perfectly willing to do that.

And the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1129, Printer's No. 1154, on final passage, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

CALENDAR

SECOND READING CALENDAR

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 53, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May one one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905), entitled "The Vehicle Code" prohibiting throwing of certain material from motor vehicles.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to,

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL OVER IN ORDER

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 173, Printer's No. 1247, on second reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that Senate Bill No. 231, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 11, 1921 (P. L. 522) entitled as amended "Dog Law of 1921," regulating and in certain cases prohibiting the impounding and killing of unclaimed dogs and providing that in the cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh they shall first be offered for sale to medical schools hospitals laboratories or other scientific or educational institutions be recommitted to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I just want to announce that I want recorded as voting "no" on this motion to send this particular bill back to committee. I am not prepared to say that I am for the bill in its present condition or its present style. I do believe that there is ground for some amendment. I do believe, though, that this is of such grave importance to the people and to the general welfare of this great Commonwealth that this bill ought to remain on the Calendar to see if we cannot iron out any differences which may be apparent in the thinking of the proponents and the opponents.

I want to remind the Members of this Senate that all this bill is trying to do, and whether it does it the way some people want it done or not is of little importance because of the manner of doing it can be corrected right in the bill itself, is to eliminate the present practice in this Commonwealth, particularly of forcing the schools to pay a great deal of money to persons who go out and get dogs and sell them to the hospitals for purposes of experimentation. They have been called dog snatchers and other names, but a great many pets have been stolen and sold for this purpose. All of us realize that the experimentation is not confined to dogs. I have never heard any opponent of this legislation get up and complain about the practice that has been known for many years where a human being, who is incarcerated in a prison and who can allow himself to be used in an experiment with a drug or a concept of surgery with the hope of being freed from incarceration. You allow, if you please, the advancement of medical science by the practice of experimentation upon human beings, but you want to disallow, because of an organized pressure group, the experimentation on animals that has saved many lives.

Mr. President, let us say here in this room that it is not any more inhuman to work upon a dog than a human being. Because that human being happens to be incarcerated in prison, he is no less a human. Are we to say then that guinea pigs are in a different category of relationship between man and beast than what dog and men are? Are we to say then that we are to stop experimentation upon frogs and, experimentation in medical science upon mice? Is the mouse in a different proposition in the relationship between human and beast than what a dog is? Certainly, none of us want our pets used and there is nothing in this bill that compels anyone to have their pet experimented upon.

I remember a Member of this Senate, by the name of Senator T. Newell Wood, who told me, as well as other Members of this Senate, that when he had an accident on his farm and was run over by his tractor, it was the experimentation upon his own dog—one that he loved as much as he would have loved a member of his own family—that saved his life. I do not think the question is one whereby only dogs are to be protected. If you are disallowing the use of dogs, this is one of three States in the entire United States that will not permit the experimentation for the advancement of medical science upon these animals.

Mr. President, many of the proponents of a so-called sales tax will get up and say, "We ought to have it because thirty-seven States have it." Yet, these same men do not have the courage to vote upon a measure that is meant for the advancement of human welfare and human health. However, forty-five out of forty-eight States have it. Why do you not come forth with your arguments now that if forty-five States have it, it should be good enough for Pennsylvania or do you only want to take out of the other States that which pleases your fancy, and that which does not please your fancy is of no use to Pennsylvania? I believe the time has come when we should face this question squarely. For many, many, many years we have had this problem before us. Let us vote on it. Those who do not have the courage or the will to vote for it, let them vote "no." Those who have the courage and the will, let them vote "yes."

Over the years, I have been in hospitals a great many times. I want to say that many of the advancements in medical science have been made possible because our hospitals, and particularly in other States, have been able to have experimental processes performed upon this animal and other animals. If you have no manner whatsoever in which you want to allow the experimentation upon this particular animal, then I say disallow it on all of them. In so far as I am concerned, the dog is no greater a creature of God than a guinea pig is, nor a mouse or any other living animal. The dog does not belong to the human race and so, the relationship between a dog and man is of no greater importance than that between any other animal. Every day of our lives, we kill chickens and eat them. We kill cattle and eat it and, yet, in the great country of India—a lot of people think that India is a backward country. However, in India, they keep the cow sacred and they do not kill it and they will not eat it. Here in this Country, we do not respect the Indian custom of keeping the cow sacred. Are we then to say to the Indians that we are a forward-looking country, but we do not allow experimentation upon dogs, but we eat cows?

Mr. President and Members of the Senate, there is an opinion here that has the making or the breaking of our future in so far as our medical science in Pennsylvania is concerned. Remember this, that the very people who oppose this legislation close their eyes to the violation of it. If these people were sincere, then why do they not go into the hospitals and stop the experimentation upon the dogs that are being experimented upon now? I say that either you stop it or that you allow it legally.

I want to say to all the Members of this Senate that the question of personal political success at home has nothing to do with measures when they aim at the general welfare. I think that everyone of us should vote upon this legislation and not hide behind the ruse of sending it back to committee for further study. I want to tell you that if, in the twenty years I have been here, they would take all the bills that went back for further study and piled them end to end, they would go around the world three times and have two lengths left over. I think the situation is one that calls for a clear-cut vote on the issue and, therefore, I want recorded as voting "no" on the question of sending this bill back to committee.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am always amazed at the fine speeches Senator Dent can make on a bill in which there is nothing in it regarding what he is talking about.

Mr. President, I want to say this to Senator Dent. Contrary to what he states, the State of Pennsylvania is one of the few States that does legally allow vivisection. That is probably the reason we have medical schools in the State of Pennsylvania and do not have medical schools in the other States. For instance, in New Jersey, they could not have a medical school because in that State, they do not allow vivisection. That does cost us quite a bit of money, because students come from all over the United States into the State of Pennsylvania to go to the University of Pennsylvania Medical School and the University of Pittsburgh Medical School and other medical schools which are located here. The taxpayers of Pennsylvania must pay a large portion of the cost of educating these students who do come from other States and we never get reimbursed for it.

The only purpose of this bill is to allow these medical schools and hospitals and research agencies to obtain the dogs from the dog pound instead of forcing them to pay anywhere from $10.00 to $50.00 for dogs which they procure from private agencies. At the present time, I am not either opposed to the bill or for the bill. I think that the proponents of the bill have some education work to do back home in trying to educate the people of the value of vivisection and the value of obtaining these dogs from the dog pounds. They also have to clear this with, we will say, some others before we can act on the bill.

Mr. President, we all know that while this bill is on the Calendar, we do receive thousands of telegrams and communications from the people back home. Perhaps when we finally get the proper amendments in here, which can be agreed to, then these people back home may withdraw their objections to the bill. In the meantime, however, it is quite necessary for the Members of the Senate to answer the letters which they get from back home. It does take a lot of our time and a lot of money of the State's to buy stationery, and so forth, to write these letters on. I believe it was a United States Senator who said that the way to get re-elected was by the primary rule to always answer the mail that you receive from back home. If all of us fellows had to answer all the mail that we receive on this bill, we would not have much time for anything else.

In order that we can get this thing properly worked out, Mr. President, and that it may be more or less satisfactory to everybody, I think it is well for us to put it back into committee and try to work out our differences there and then bring it out. At that time, we will be able to vote more intelligently on this particular piece of legislation.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I rise at this time in support of the position which has been taken by the Minority Leader, Senator Dent, on this matter. I feel, gentlemen, that we (on both sides of the aisle) felt very proud here last year when we were the hosts to one Jonas Salk, whom the Nation and this State honored because of the great advance that was made in the fight against poliomyelitis.

All of the work of men of the type of Jonas Salk has been predicated upon the fact that they have been able to conduct certain research with, what we call, so-called guinea pigs, whether they be humans or animals. This work that has been done has been for the benefit of mankind.

This is, as Senator Mahany has said, merely a bill to make available to the laboratories and to the medical schools of Pennsylvania a source of supply of dogs, as we refer to them, for the conducting of these experiments. These dogs are dogs that are condemned to death. They are dogs which have been collected by the dog pounds under the law, and have not been claimed and are about to be exterminated. Rather than to have these dogs exterminated, we feel that in the best interest of science and the advancement of science, we in Pennsylvania want to see to it that our laboratories and our medical schools have this supply available to them.

Mr. President, this bill is going to clear up an evil. It is going to clear up the evil that those who are opposed to it say will be caused by this act. Their feeling is, from all the misinformation, that if this act is passed it will lead to a lot of dog snatching. Well, the dog snatching is taking place now, because the medical schools and the laboratories cannot get a sufficient supply of dogs. This bill, therefore, is in the interest of those people who want to see to it that these dogs are available to the medical schools and are not snatched and sold for a price to the medical schools.

It may be that there should be some change in the law to make sure that these dogs which are deceased and brought to the pound are kept there until a certain period of time elapses and sufficient protection is thrown around them so that the rightful owners of these dogs will have a chance to claim them. If, after a period of time, these dogs are not claimed and they are about to be executed, then I say, and I do not think anyone should contradict this statement, that it is in the interest of humanity that these dogs be turned over to properly regulated laboratories, which are conducted either by laboratories or medical schools, and that we have the benefit of these dogs for the advancement of science.

Mr. President, I am not afraid to vote on this bill. I can tell you that today I received telegrams from some of my best friends, people whom I know personally and whom I feel are misinformed, and they have told me that they do not want this bill. I am ready to stake my political future, if that is necessary, to see to it that our medical schools and laboratories are able to get this supply of dogs. I would much rather see a dog furnished to the medical schools or laboratories than have it killed in the pound and serve no value whatsoever to humanity.

Therefore, I ask you, gentlemen, let us keep this bill on the Calendar and let us pass it over and get together and offer the amendments which may be necessary, to see to it that the owners of pets, which might be picked up, are given every opportunity to reclaim those dogs, but if after a reasonable length of time and after diligent search, these owners cannot be found, then let us turn them over to the medical schools.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I want to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford but, before I do, I would like to say to him that if he would listen to everything that I say, he would not just pick out what he thinks is false information.

If you will remember, when I started to talk I stated that the main purpose of this bill was to see to it that we eliminated the very thing which Senator Schmidt talked about, the so-called scarcity because of the necessity of getting dogs from sources that are not always reliable.

Now, Mr. President and Members of this Senate, I wonder if Senator Mahany will permit himself to be interrogated at this moment?

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Mahany, you said that you received thousands of letters against this bill.

Mr. MAHANY. I did not say that, Senator. I said there are Senators here who have received thousands of letters.

Mr. DENT. Have you received any?

Mr. MAHANY. I think I have. My executive assistant looks over these letters, and he is down there sorting them out. By the way, he just received a message that his mother is deceased and he has gone back home. However, we did get an awful lot of letters on this particular subject. Other Senators here have told me that their mail was just full of telegrams and letters against this bill. As for my own personal mail, I have not seen the mail today on this particular subject.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I do not want to, in any way, ask the Senator the next question because then he would have to call in his executive assistant, and I join with the rest of the Senate, of course, in extending to him our deepest sympathy in his hour of great loss and I would not ask him this question.

I want to thank you, Senator, and say that so far as the State of New Jersey is concerned, they are at this moment building a medical school. So, I am sorry if they are not going to be able to operate it after they build it, but I would think that the people of New Jersey would know what they are doing.

Mr. President, if anybody on the other side who has received any letters against this bill will hold their hand up, I would like to interrogate them.

Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Blair, Senator Mallery.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Blair, Mr. Mallery, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MALLERY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Senator Mallery, would you get one of the letters and read it?

Mr. MALLERY. The letters which I received, Senator Dent, were received at the time when the bill was first introduced and shortly thereafter. I will say that I received more letters against this bill than on any tax measure which has been introduced.

Let me say this. I agree with you absolutely that when experimentation on animals is made by people who can profit and do good by such experimentation, that should be permissible. I will say, on the other hand, that I think the medical profession has done the poorest job of disseminating information on this bill than on any matter I know of. You must keep in mind, as I heard you state in referring to the poor, and it is true, that God must have loved them because there are so many of them. There is one other saying which is absolutely true and that is, "If you love me, love my dog." Those people who have dogs, children and adults, next to members of their family, love the dog about as much as they do their neighbors.

In all sincerity, Senator Dent, let me assure you that by the motion to return this bill to committee, there is no intent on the part of anyone in our Caucus to kill this bill. Just as soon as I have an opportunity, I want to talk to the deans of several of the medical schools. I, for one, want to make certain that dogs, when they are used for experimentation, that it will be done by people in our medical schools and in our laboratories. Such institutions are the proper places to make these experiments.

I have read and I have in my pocket a section of the Philadelphia Inquirer, which I believe everyone should read and possibly all of you have. It is an argument for your stand in this matter. I am only sorry that the medical profession has not publicized this. I feel that more publicity should have been given to what is being done and what is being accomplished in medical research. Great strides are being made in industrial research and the same is being done in the way of promoting health and in saving lives, but that has not been given the publicity it should have. Evidently, it has not reached the peoples in our communities, especially in the rural community sections of the State where I come from, where every hunter and dog owner in the two counties which I represent are fearful that something is going to happen to their dog.

If you will be patient on that side and give a few of us an opportunity of a day or two, I feel certain that the bill will be more acceptable to everyone in Pennsylvania.

Mr. DENT. I thank the gentleman for the answer to my question. I think that his answer, of course, absolves me a little from some of the criticism I got from Senator Mahany when he said that when I answer, I make a long answer. However, I want Senator Mallery to know that I appreciated the answer because it more or less concurs in what I have been trying to say here.

The difference in our viewpoint is that I do not believe that the bill ought to go back to committee. I believe that any amendments which can be worked out, ought to be worked out on the floor. This is the thirteenth month of the Session, and we are not in the first month of the Session, and if we are sending bills back at this late date for further study, I wish someone would kindly tell me if there is any such thing as a target date when we are going to quit in this General Assembly. If we are just going to be referring these bills back for further study, I wonder if that means that we are going to be here all year.

Mr. President, I do not want dogs to get into the hands of persons not qualified or authorized. I said that the bill may not be in the form that we want it, but there is no reason why we cannot put it in the form here on the floor. I do not agree with Senator Mahany that we have to contact some people on the outside. I think we have enough intelligence in this Senate—although we do not display it too often, I do think that we have it—and I think we can work out the situation to the satisfaction of most of the people concerned.

The reason I interrogated the Senator from Blair, Senator Mallery, was because I wanted someone to read to this Senate some of the literature they have been receiving against this bill. I do not know how many Members of this Senate know it, but the information which is being fed to the dog owners of this State is that this bill is a vivisectionist bill, and that the propaganda being fed is by an organization called the Anti-Vivisectionist Organization. These people are not interested in whether they get the dogs from the dog pounds or from dog snatchers. What they are interested in, and what they have the people of Pennsylvania believing, is that the passage of this bill gives the right in Pennsylvania to practice vivisection. I particularly wanted to make the statement which I did in my first speech so that Senator

Mahany or someone would bring out into the open the very crux of the whole argument.

Mr. President, the anti-vivisectionists have not been reporting to the people on a true basis. They have the dog lovers in my community aroused to a fever pitch, because the dog lovers in my community believe that when we pass this bill, we are going to allow vivisection. Senator Mahany knows that I know they have vivisection in the hospitals because I have been to the sections in the hospitals where they practice it. I have gone down into the kennels where they keep the dogs and I have inspected them at both Temple and Pennsylvania. I know exactly what they go through, but I know also what they have to do to get dogs.

Mr. President, now say that you allow vivisection and you say the greatest danger to the dog lover is the present practice because a dog can be stolen and sold to a hospital and there is no way that the owner can trace it; whereas, if it goes to a pound, the first place that a boy or any person who loses a dog calls is a dog pound. If his dog is there, he can claim it. That is as true as anything that has ever been said on this floor. All we are saying is that if the dogs are unclaimed, why should the hospitals not get them?

Mr. President, if Senator Mallery has a formula by which we will see to it that only those authorized and qualified may experiment on dogs, I am for that, but I do not think that the anti-vivisectionists ought to go out into the highways and byways of this State and picture every man who wants to vote for this legislation as being a man who hates or does not like dogs.

Let me tell you all something, Mr. President. All of my life, like many men in this room, I have had a dog in my home. I think that people around Jeannette who watched me grow up can tell you that I do not believe I was ever seen too much without my dog. I had many occasions when I had to leave the classroom and take my dog home before I was allowed to be in, because he would sit outside and whine. Even if some of you do not know it, there are some people and some animals that like me. I want to say that I like dogs as much as any man on this floor, and I am trying to protect the dogs of the poor people, if that is the way you want to put it, Senator Mallery, because it is the dogs of the poor kids that are stolen by these dog snatchers and sold to the hospitals at exorbitant prices. There is no reason why we should add to the cost when it is being done in the interest of human welfare.

I would like to sit by the bedside of any one of the people who sent me a letter against this bill and if the doctor said to them on their sick bed, "We have to experiment with a dog or experiment with you," I would like to know what percentage of that crowd would say, "Experiment with me and save the dog." Senator Newell Wood gave the answer when they experimented on his dog and saved his life. I do not say that a dog's life is worthless. Some people may say that a dog is worth as much as a human being, and maybe that is so, but I do not measure it that way. I only measure it like this. I think that a dog or a human being who sacrifices their life or gives in pain for the future good of the human race is certainly not living a wasted or useless life.

I think, like Senator Schmidt, that to take a dog out and shoot it, because no one will claim it, is more inhuman than taking that dog and attempting to experiment in a manner that may save many, many human lives and also many dogs' lives. It may interest all of you to know that in the experimentation on dogs, they have developed dog surgery and medical science for dogs. The veterinarians all over the Country receive the reports and, when they receive sick dogs, they are able to do a great deal for the dogs that come to their establishments and into their dog hospitals because of the experimentations that have been carried on with dogs. If any of you believe that many human beings in the lifetime of this human race have not been used for experimentation on an operating table, then you are not facing facts. Medical science has at many times, had to dive into a human body on an absolute uncharted base. They have had to work on an experiment in trying to save a human life. That particular human being was being experimented on the same as a dog.

So, I say to the anti-vivisectionists, you should face the people and tell them the truth. Tell them that we are not trying to open it up so that every man's dog will be taken from him and cut up for the sheer joy of cutting a dog up. Tell them that what we are trying to do is to make it possible for dogs that are not claimed, wayward, stray dogs, poor, homeless pups, if you want it that way, to be given over to medical science rather than the dogs that are, in many cases, stolen from those who love them and sold into experimentation by persons who have no regard either for the dog or the dog owner.

Mr. McCREESH. Mr. President, the reason why I am against this bill is that I do not know how it got on the floor. The Chairman of the Committee on Health and Welfare is sick in the hospital. I think the least we could do is leave this bill on the Postponed Calendar until he returns to the Senate.

We have many Senators who have been taken sick lately, and I do not understand why we should get all heated up over this bill. There are plenty of other bills that we could consider and spend a few hours on until some of our Members get back here.

Mr. President, I have always been opposed to this bill. This bill might easily become a racket and you would have kids snatching dogs all over and selling them for whatever they could get for them to the universities. Therefore, Mr. President, that is the reason why I decided to talk on this bill. I think it should be passed over until the Senators return to the Senate. I think it is a disgrace to bring this bill up when the Chairman of the Committee is sick and in the hospital. Those who want to laugh and make mockery may do so, but I do not think that is good policy.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Mr. President, regarding the concern of Senator McCreesh, I will say that I happen to be the Acting Chairman of this Committee of Public Health and Welfare. I received word from the chairman of that committee to report this bill out. The committee met and I was present. The committee instructed the chairman to report the bill out, as amended. I am not concerned but what this bill will pass.

In order to allay some of the fears of those who think the bill is being returned to committee to be buried, that is a mistake. The Republican Caucus has agreed and many of them have spoken to me, saying that if you will amend the bill and tell which medical schools and which laboratories can perform these operations, then we will be for the bill.

Therefore, Mr. President, this bill is being returned to the committee and myself. I will agree that next Monday morning, at 9:00 o'clock, I will have those amendments about which I spoke corrected in the bill. I think there will be no question on our side but what the bill will receive the unanimous consent, I hope, of the Republican Caucus. If Senator Dent will concede to the bill going back to committee until next Monday, I think we will lose no time.

Mr. President, for twenty-six years, since I have been in the Senate of Pennsylvania, I have sponsored this measure. I do not think, therefore, that one week will make very much difference about the enactment of it. I am also informed that the House will also approve the bill with these amendments.

Mr. WEINER. Mr. President, I have an open mind on this bill, but I felt I would be remiss in my duty if I did not read this telegram I received for the bill. It might be that this telegram is a week late. It says:

"Your passage of Senate Bill 231 vital to medical education and public welfare!"

Mr. President, I thought we voted on that bill last week. I received another telegram which I think is rather cogent and would be of importance in this measure. It says:

"Heart attacks of four State Senators this year demands that you insure passage of bill 231!"

I think that is pretty close to our own home ground. I would say, roughly, that I have received about 150 to 200 telegrams from not only the Philadelphia area, but the surrounding counties for this bill. I think we should think seriously before we act hastily on this measure.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I certainly would not go against the wishes of Senator Chapman in the matter because I believe, for many years, not as long as Senator Chapman, I have tried over the years to advance this legislation. I agree with him that another week would not make that much difference. If Senator Chapman is assured by his Caucus that it will come out next Monday, I certainly will go along and withdraw my opposition to the bill going back to committee. However, I assure Senator Chapman that if it does not come out, I am very fearful that I will have to doubt any suggestions which he might make in the future.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I am not rising to be for or against the bill. However, an interesting point has been developed. I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Warren, Senator Chapman.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Warren, Mr. Chapman, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHAPMAN. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Senator Chapman, how long has this bill been in committee, about a year?

Mr. CHAPMAN. I have forgotten when it was; early in the Session.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Who was Chairman of the Committee?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Senator Pechan was Chairman and I was Co-Chairman.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Did Senator Pechan ever bring this bill before the committee up until the day that you brought it up?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Yes.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. When did he bring the bill up? When did Senator Pechan bring Senate Bill No. 231 up?

Mr. CHAPMAN. He talked about it, but—

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. But he never brought it up.

Mr. CHAPMAN. Senator Pechan was always in favor of the bill.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Was he favorable to it?

Mr. CHAPMAN. We did not vote on the bill until we knew that everything was ironed out.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Perhaps I got the wrong impression, but I can assure you that I visited Senator Pechan on numerous occasions, before his operation and after his operation. God bless him; I am so happy that he came through satisfactorily. However, do you think that maybe the doctor may have spoken to Senator Pechan and told him the value of vivisection and so forth? In other words, do you think that when Senator Pechan called you, he thanked God that maybe through the discovery of certain things—

Mr. CHAPMAN. He called his secretary down in his office and when she called me down, I talked to her then.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. This is not a laughing matter, Mr. President. I am not trying to ridicule anybody. However, when I took up pharmacy, I did not take up pharmacy to walk the boardwalk while people were suffering. I will get up at three or four o'clock in the morning for anyone who rings my doorbell. Even though they say, "Put it on the eye," I just take it like a man and give them the medicine and put it on the eye because we are helping humanity.

Senator Chapman, do you think this is a very important bill?

Mr. CHAPMAN. Next to the tax bill, I think it is the most important bill. It is a bill which I have been most personally interested in.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Why are we not men and vote for this bill just the way it is? There is nothing wrong with the bill. I am not saying whether I am voting "aye" or "nay."

Mr. CHAPMAN. The bill will not be changed except for what I said before, and that is by naming the various medical schools and the various laboratories in which these experiments can be performed.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. I made a discovery here this afternoon through a statement made by you a little while ago. It seems as though Senator Pechan is absolutely convinced, and it took an experience in a hospital to convince him, that this is a very good bill.

Mr. CHAPMAN. He is more convinced than he was before.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Let us not make a joke out of this; this is important. You know, I rarely rise but I love to get up when my conscience says, "get up."

I do not want to put you through any more cross-examination, Senator Chapman. Thanks a lot.

Mr. President, I really believe we should at least be men once in awhile. This business of amendments, I have heard about for twenty years. They take it back to committee for further study and I say, what is there about it to study? This bill is clear-cut. You men are all intelligent. I think we should vote for the bill. We should keep it on the Calendar.

Senator Chapman is a gracious man; he is an affable person; he is charitable; generous and he has a good heart. I think that by result of those affects that strike his good heart, he has risen to take the position. I do not want to say that I do not believe that in a week this bill will be out. It is out now, so let us work on it. Let us vote on it. I think it is an honest piece of legislation.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I have all the respect and admiration for Major Hunt. I know of no other authority on colonial Pennsylvania than Major Hunt. However, when it comes to this bill, I still feel that there is a lot which is illogical and untenable in the position taken by the anti-vivisectionists. When I traveled to the Near East, I was in the British Army. When we reached Constantinople, which today is known as Istanbul, they pointed out to us an island on the Marmara Sea where dogs, which had been captured, were sent to die in peace. At least, dogs were not killed.

Here in Pennsylvania, if a stray dog is captured, he has three chances. Either the dog will be recaptured by his owner, or it will be given to a new owner or it will be killed in a humane way. The last way, the killing in a humane way, is, in my opinion, illogical from the viewpoint of the anti-vivisectionist. Instead of spending thousands upon thousands of dollars in publishing the A. V., or placing costly advertisements in the newspapers, why not find an abandoned island and ship the dogs there? That would be more logical, in my opinion.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I question whether any man in this Senate is more heartily in favor of this bill, or similar bills that have been before us in the past, than I am. However, I want to rise now to endorse the statements which have been made by Senator Chapman. I think, possibly, he went a little too far in saying that the Republican Caucus endorsed the measure and promised to put it out on Monday. However, I know he speaks in all sincerity when he says that it was the sense of the Caucus that the bill should go back for certain amendments which many of the Members felt were necessary. As a member of the Health and Welfare Committee, I can endorse, for at least one vote, the statement that he made that the bill will be reported in the very near future. If he says it will be Monday, as far as I am concerned, it will be Monday.

Mr. President, as far as the statements of the gentleman from Philadelphia, concerning the reason that Doctor Pechan, the Chairman of the Committee, might have had for telephoning Senator Chapman and asking him to report the bill, I might say this. Before Senator Pechan went into the hospital, or knew that he was to undergo surgery there, action was taken upon this bill and the amendments, as presently appear in it, were discussed by the committee and Senator Chapman was given the duty of preparing the amendments, I believe, and reporting the bill out. That happened well before Senator Pechan ever went to the hospital. I will say, however, to Senator DiSilvestro, that I had occasion to talk to Senator Pechan on the day or the day after he had been released from the hospital and arrived in Florida. At that time, he did tell me that the very serious operation that he underwent had been developed as a result of research on dogs by an eminent doctor in Philadelphia.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to ask Senator DiSilvestro to go along with the suggestion of Senator Chapman, if he will, in order that we do resolve this question. However, I would like to remind Senator Mallery, and I hope he will hear me, that this bill would not affect the dogs that are caught in Blair County.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, our newspapers contain paid advertisements opposing this bill. Senator Dent may guess possibly, and I could guess, who is doing this publicizing against the bill. I did state that those who are in favor of the bill have done nothing in my District other than ask me to vote for the bill. What I think they might well have done was to point out, as has been pointed out by Senator Dent, the good that has been derived by the experimenting on dogs. This matter has been fully brought to our attention, but it has not been to the general voting public in my District.

Mr. DENT. Thank you, Senator Mallery.

Mr. President, I just want the rest of the Senators who have not read the bill—I do not know whether they all have or not—to know that all it affects are the dog pounds in the city of Pittsburgh and the city of Philadelphia. In our counties, it does not have any affect. I, myself, do not see any reason for that exemption. I think wherever a stray dog is homeless, it would be a darn sight better off by giving its life, if necessary, to the advancement of both the dog race and the human race.

Mr. MALLERY. May I ask you one question, Senator Dent? Would you object to an amendment being placed in the bill to provide that, where a dog bearing a license is taken, notice is given to that owner?

Mr. DENT. Senator Mallery, I would certainly accept that amendment if it is not already covered in the bill. As I understand it, the law is that any dog that has a license, when found, they must try to notify the owner. They have to do it, I understand, by registered mail. I thought that was covered. The dog law does cover it. . .

I certainly would never go along with any bill that would allow the taking of a dog that a license is paid on. That is just like taking an automobile or anything else. It is personal, private property. Certainly, we do not condone the taking of private property under any condition.

Therefore, Mr. President, I will go along with the proposal to send this bill back to committee with the understanding that Senator Chapman and Senator Berger have led us to believe that it is a sincere effort to correct whatever may be at fault in the legislation.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, in deference to Senator Chapman, whose interest in this bill is unquestioned, I, too, at this time, will withdraw my objection to this bill going back to committee, understanding that it will receive the consideration that every protective device be set up wherein these dogs shall be protected from being either killed at the pound or delivered to these laboratories unless sufficient time has elapsed and every opportunity taken to ascertain the ownership of the dog, and also that some regulation might be set up in the bill regulating the laboratories and the hospitals in the use of these dogs.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 944, on second reading, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August twenty-fourth one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 1417) entitled as amended "Corporation Income Tax Law" changing formula for determining gross receipts of corporations owning property or carrying on activities within and without the Commonwealth and the penalty for failure to make report or for making false report and increasing the rate of tax for a limited period of time be recommitted to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate the gentleman from Crawford, Senator Mahany.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Crawford, Mr. Mahany, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. MAHANY. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. DENT. Will you tell me why this bill is going back to committee?

Mr. MAHANY. I believe that these tax measures should probably be considered in committee as part of the tax package which we finally may be able to agree upon. For instance, and this is hypothetical, if we agree some time that we might have to have a two per cent sales tax and a two per cent income tax or some other type of tax, it might be that we would not have to increase the corporate net income tax. It might be that we will have to make some increase, but it might be either more or less than the rate as fixed by this particular bill. In order that the committee may have charge of all of the tax bills and so that they may consider them all in a package, I believe it is desirable that this bill be re-committed to committee.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I will not object to this bill going back since it is only a companion bill to House Bill No. 941, which is the real corporate net income tax proposal. I would like to ask at this time if the gentleman on the other side would rather go into the question that I would like to bring up in relationship to House Bill No. 941 and House Bill No. 944 at this time, or whether they would rather continue on through the Calendar. The thing that I would like to impress the Members with is that I believe this would be the proper time and if, after this motion, I can be recognized under the question of Petitions and Remonstrances, I would agree readily to having the bill go back to committee.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I am quite willing to stay here and listen to anything Senator Dent has to say about this bill or any other bill. However, I believe that it would be more orderly if we finished the Calendar and then reverted to Petitions and Remonstrances, as he had requested earlier, and take it up in that order. I believe then we will find a more orderly statement of what we are doing here in the Legislative Journal.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I agree with Senator Mahany on that. I made that suggestion, but I am so fearful that if we wait until the Calendar is finished, many of the Members will leave the floor. I believe that the matter I want to discuss is one of such grave importance to the Membership of this Senate that there is no order of business that cannot be interrupted to take it up. I think it is a matter that strikes at the very foundation of the integrity of this Senate and one that requires a great deal more attention than what might be given if we wait until the end of the Session and the Members can very readily and honestly leave the floor and not return. It is not imperative that they stay here to hear me or anybody else. However, it is rather imperative that they stay during the reading of the Calendar.

Mr. President, although I normally would agree that the proper procedure would be to finish the Calendar first, I am very much afraid of the departure of too many Members to receive the message that I think is of such vital importance to the Members of this Senate. The question that I want to raise is one that cannot be answered unless all of the Members are here on the floor.

Therefore, I would like to have the vote taken as to whether this bill goes back to committee or not. I agree that it should go back inasmuch as Senator Mahany said that it might be part of a package and it would not be in the same position that it is in at the present moment in so far as rates and so forth are concerned. I will go along with having it go back to committee, but I must urgently request that I be given permission to inject at this point, after the vote, the question of Petitions and Remonstrances, because it is one that vitally affects the integrity of this Senate. We might be wrong in what we believe to be a violation and, if we are, we certainly do not want to make false accusations. If we are not wrong, then something should be done about it. I believe everybody knows what I am talking about, since my statement appeared in the newspaper over the week end.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, we adopted a rule the other day that starting today we would adjourn the Session at 6:00 o'clock P. M. There are some other bills on this Calendar which we should take action on. I feel that we should be able to complete them within the next five minutes. If Senator Dent will just wait until then, I am quite sure that he will have a good audience inasmuch as he has kind of given us a preview of what he is going to say. I am sure that he is so interested in the rest of the Senators here, that I feel they will stay and listen to him.

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, this is not a trifling matter. I think that the Senate is going to have to be informed as to whether the chairman of a certain committee pulled a hoax on his own Caucus and on all the Members of the Senate. I would ask, in all fairness to them and to ourselves, that all the Members remain, because this is one thing that will have to be proven to the satisfaction of the people of the Commonwealth.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

BILLS ON SECOND READING

BILL ON SECOND READING AMENDED

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1330, entitled:

Will the Senate agree to the section?

Messrs. WADE, McPHERSON, JR., FLEMING, DENT, BARR and RUTH offered the following amendments:

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The title was read.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the title?

Messrs. WADE, McPHERSON, JR., FLEMING, DENT, BARR and RUTH offered the following amendments:

Amend Title, page 2, last line of title, by inserting after "to": "certain"; Amend Title, page 2, last line of title, by striking out "fire".

They were agreed to.

The title was agreed to as amended.

And said bill having been read at length the second time, as amended,

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on second reading, as amended?

BILLS OVER IN ORDER

Mr. WADE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1330, Printer's No. 800, on second reading, go over in its order, as amended.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that the following bills, on second reading, go over in their order:

House Bill No. 1417, Printer's No. 722; and

House Bill No. 1773, Printer's No. 1079.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON SECOND READING

Agreeably to order,

The rule requiring bills to be considered in Committee of the Whole being in this case dispensed with,

The Senate proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1795, entitled:

An Act to further amend the act approved the twenty-fifth day of April one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 723) entitled "An act regulating the investment of funds by administrative departments boards commissions and officers of the State Government" by increasing the investment powers of State administrative departments boards commissions or officers.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

Ordered, To be transcribed for a third reading.

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I move that House Bill No. 1880, on second reading, entitled:

An Act to further amend sections twenty and twenty-one of the act, approved the first day June, one thousand eight hundred eighty-nine (P. L. 420), entitled "A further supplement to an act, entitled 'An act to provide revenue by taxation,' approved the seventh day of June, Anno Domini one thousand eight hundred seventy-nine," by requiring additional reports and changing the due date of certain payments of capital stock tax and franchise tax; and changing the gross receipts fraction applicable to foreign corporations.

be recommitted to the Committee on Finance.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I would like to call your attention to the fact that this is one so-called revenue bill that does not cost anybody any more money than they would have to pay under the old bill. This bill is just trying to make available for us in this biennium some additional $25,000,000 through an acceleration of an existing tax. No matter what kind of a tax package we may agree upon, Senator, I see absolutely no reason, unless you can point one out to me, why this bill would have to go back to committee.

Mr. MAHANY. In answer to the Senator, Mr. President, it may be that we will be able to develop a tax program in which we will not need to accelerate the return for the capital stock tax. Although the corporations would not have to pay any more money, yet if we accelerate the time of payment, it might be necessary for them to go out and borrow money to pay this tax if they did not have it in their bank account. If they borrowed money from the bank to do this, they would have to pay interest on it and whatever interest they would have to pay would be an increased item of expense to them.

I am quite sure if we need this money and need it immediately, Mr. President, that the Committee on Finance may well bring this bill out at an early date if we are not able to agree on some type of broad base tax program. That is the reason why I would like to have it go back to committee.

Mr. DENT. Mr. President, I thank the gentleman. I might say that just the other day when I asked him a question and he gave me an answer, his answer was, "I do not like it." I am just going to answer him now and say, after hearing his reason for sending this bill back to committee, "I give up."

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

(A voice vote having been taken, the question was determined in the affirmative.)

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 107 TAKEN FROM TABLE

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I call from the table House Concurrent Resolution No. 107, for consideration at this time.

The Clerk read the resolution as follows:

JOINT STATE GOVERNMENT COMMISSION TO STUDY SURFACE AND GROUND WATER RESOURCES

In the House of Representatives, August 2, 1955.

There is vastly increased use of both surface and ground water for domestic, industrial, agricultural, irrigational, recreational and related purposes. The continued expansion of water use may create shortages of these valuable resources. There is an inevitable relationship between the utilization of waters and the utilization of other mineral resources.

The Act of June 22, 1937, P. L. 1987 has declared the discharge of sewage or industrial waste or any noxious and deleterious substances into the waters of this Commonwealth which is or may become inimical and injurious to the public health or to animal or aquatic life or to the uses of such waters for domestic or industrial consumption or for recreation not to be a reasonable or natural use of such waters and to be a public nuisance and against public policy.

The Commonwealth recognizes a public interest in the quantity, quality and utilization of these waters and a duty upon the General Assembly to insure that such waters are conserved and that their use is allotted in a fair and equitable manner; therefore be it

Resolved (the Senate concurring), That the Joint State Government Commission be authorized to study the surface and ground water resources in the Commonwealth and the inter-relationships between the utilization of water resources and other mineral resources and the urban and industrial development of the Commonwealth and more particularly to determine the adequacy or inadequacy of existing laws and to ascertain what new laws, if any, may be necessary to properly protect these valuable resources. The State Planning Board and the various administrative agencies of the Commonwealth now engaged in studies of these vital problems shall cooperate with the Commission in this study.

The Commission shall report its findings at the next regular session of the General Assembly.

SENATE CONCURS IN HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION No. 107

The House met at 1:00 p. m.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Reverend Harold J. Crouse, Pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church, York, offered the following prayer:

O God, our Strength, teach us the divinity of the still small voice within that is ever urging us in the way of righteousness.

Thou ever present Eternal Spirit who carest for us and loves us, enter into the hearts and minds of these Representatives here assembled, transacting the business of a great State—a business that concerns such a vast multitude of people. Grant, Eternal God, that their minds would reflect Thy truth; their words would show Thy love, and their actions would make plain Thy will. O Lord, open the eyes of their souls to Thy nearness so that they might live and walk and work as in Thy constant presence.

Bless us, O Lord, and make us a blessing as we pass through this day. Lend us Thy strength so that amidst the host of things we may have to do we may not flinch or fail, but that we may do all the good we can to as many as we can, as long as we can. In the blessed name of our Lord and God we pray it. Amen.

By Mr. JUMP. RESOLUTION (Not Printed).

In the House of Representatives, January 18, 1956.

On December 11, 1955, a new Jewish Community Center was dedicated at Wilkes-Barre, Pennsylvania. This event clearly stands out as the finest contribution of 1955 toward the cultural, spiritual, civic and educational growth of a progressive area of this Commonwealth.

Our brethren of the Jewish faith displayed great vision and spared no material cost, time and effort in planning this beautiful center, a million dollar monument dedicated to turning out the finest calibre of future citizens and leaders of this Commonwealth and Nation.

It was symbolic that the dedicatory exercises were attended by 1,500 citizens of all denominations. Persons of all faiths rubbed shoulders in the true spirit of God's brotherhood. It is also symbolic that this great center nestles on the campus of Wilkes College and the closely neighboring The First Baptist Church overlooking the gracefully curving banks of the Susquehanna River. It is truly as the name implies, a community center, a symbol of goodwill and brotherhood among men of all faiths; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives recognize the tremendous contribution the people of the Jewish faith of the Wyoming Valley have made to a community and State for which they are grateful, and be it further

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, about a week ago as a result of some conferences between House Members and Senate Members, a decision was made by the Republican majority of the Senate which led to the fact that House Bills 779 and 780 have been brought from Committee. These bills are those introduced by Representative Hewitt back in March of 1955 and they are retail sales tax bills. The one is the sales tax, the other is the use tax.

The amendments now before us have been offered to House Bill 779. After the bill was reported from Committee, it was discovered that it included certain things which we on this side of the House did not think should be included in a retail sales tax at any percentage, and it excluded certain things which we thought should be included.

In order to make intelligible the amendments which are before you, offered by both sides, I think that we should remind you we are assuming that we need additional revenue in addition to that now provided for by the tax bills already on the books, additional revenue, somewhere in the vicinity of $465 million.

What amount of revenue the Hewitt bill would have raised without any amendments, I do not know. But one thing which is being taken out by these amendments, which is now in the bill is multiple taxation of manufactured goods being taxed during the process of manufacture. The way the bill was originally drawn, an article could be taxed five or six times before it became a completed manufactured product and sold to the ultimate customer. One of these amendments which I shall discuss later will remove that.

The Hewitt bill also provided, as the old law had provided, that credit would be given on all trade-ins—credit for the amount of the trade-in would be given to the purchaser in computing the sales tax.

Mr. Hewitt's bill also failed to include restaurant meals and beverages. These amendments seek to put into the taxable category such meals.

Also in the Hewitt bill there was no provision for eliminating from the tax building materials which were covered by bona fide contracts entered into between a builder and a prospective purchaser before this act becomes effective. This obviously would work an injustice to any person who was bound firmly by a contract of that kind.

You will recall that in the 1953 session, the bill which finally became law was amended in the process to exclude persons who were bound by contracts for buildings. But when that was amended back in 1953 it was so worded, not by design I do not think on anybody's part, but it just happened to be so worded that practically every contract relating to the creation of a building after the Act became effective meant that the materials which went into that building, road or whatever it happened to be, were tax exempt. One of these amendments today seeks to tighten that up and in effect provide that only when the contract entered into cannot be adjusted because of the imposition of a tax will the person be eliminated from the payment of the tax.

Just to give you a little more background material and tell you what we are trying to accomplish by the proposal of these amendments, I would like to point out to you that the actual collections made for the last twelve months under the 1953 sales tax act, which expired on August 31, 1955, the actual collections at one per cent amounted to $65,300 thousand. If that tax had been imposed at the rate of three per cent it would have brought in for that twelve month period $196 million.

While the amendments here proposed make effective immediately the sales tax, I think we can only count on collecting a sales tax for fourteen months, because it will obviously take some time to get this measure, if it passes the House, over through the Senate, past the Governor's office, and into effect, so that no matter how you look at it, it is reasonable to assume that it will not become collectible before March 1. I think most of us realize that the collections for May of next year would fall into the next biennium and not into this one, and therefore, we are reduced to a period of fourteen months if this bill should become law.

Therefore, you take the $196 million which would have been raised under the three per cent rate, under the old Act, and add two more months to that period, you would have a revenue of $228,500 thousand under the old act at three per cent.

Now, speaking about these amendments again, if restaurant meals are now included in the yield, the yield would be increased by the following amounts; clothing, $45 million; meals and beverages for on premise consumption $40 million; eliminating the trade-in credits which were allowed under the old law, approximately $45 million; including building materials except those covered by the type of bona fide contract I mentioned a minute ago, an additional $15 million. Adding all these together we get approximately $375 million revenue for the balance of the biennium for fourteen months.

Now, I would like to point out a few more facts to you before we close this part of the discussion on these amendments. A two per cent rate for the same period, fourteen months, based on this bill with these amendments in it, would yield approximately $225 million; a two per cent rate based on the old law which expired would bring in $160 million during the fourteen months.

Now, what we are proposing today to you gentlemen and ladies of the House is a bill which when amended, with certain items included excluded, will raise a sufficient amount of money which when added to the business taxes which the Senate of Pennsylvania has indicated it is willing to vote for, would raise approximately the amount of money which is necessary to finance this Commonwealth's needs for the rest of the biennium.

I am asking all the Members to vote for these amendments for the reason that we have got to have the money. Not because we like these amendments any more than any one else likes them, not because we are fond of taxing people's clothing, not allowing any trade-in credits, not because we are fond of raising money but because we have got to get money in some way and we have been told that this is the only way we are going to have to raise it. We want a sensible bill and we think with these amendments in it it will be a sensible bill, in that it will not outrageously tax any segment of our economy, in that it will still include exemptions which we think are proper, but we shall still raise the amount of money necessary.

These rates can be changed. You can have a lower rate if you want to include many more items than you now have in this bill with these amendments. The rate could be raised higher than three per cent if you want to allow more exemptions of items that will be taxed under this bill, but I want you to remember in considering these amendments that we have been told by the Senate of Pennsylvania up to this time that the only way we are going to raise what we need is with the sales tax. Therefore, it does us no good to vote down these amendments on the ground that we do not want to include various items in a tax bill of this kind, because every time we vote them down we shall cut the yield, and if we cut the yield we are faced with the problem of raising a couple hundred millions of dollars. I mentioned to you a minute ago that the yield at a two per cent rate with these items in and out would only be $255 million. So, in considering these amendments I ask that you bear in mind the fact that you are either going to raise all the money this way or only part of the money, and I am now asking the Membership to vote for all of these amendments as submitted.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I do not believe the Majority Leader meant what he said when he said to vote for all of the amendments, because we certainly will agree with that. If he would like to give us votes for the clothing amendment, we are perfectly agreeable.

We are going to have quite a few amendments drawn on this side of the House, but we were informed by the Legislative Reference Bureau that physically it was an impossibility to do all of it.

The Majority Leader and I discussed some of the amendments this morning and, I would like to itemize them. As far as beverage sales for consumption on the premises and food, that would have been one of our amendments, but the Majority Leader has suggested it.

We wanted to take out also the sale of newspapers, magazines and other periodicals.

We also wanted to make the religious, charitable and educational organization amendments.

We were willing to put amendments in to exclude raw materials from the bill.

We were also willing to put in amendments for the farmer so he would have his seeds and fertilizer exempt.

We also wanted to put in the medical and prescription amendments

We are perfectly willing to go along with the breakage the way it has been set up, with the exception of the percentage rate which is now three per cent since it has been changed in Committee.

I think the gentleman might have misquoted accidentally when he said they knew nothing about the bill when it was in Committee. It would amaze me if they did not know. I am quite sure they knew the condition of the Hewitt bill in Committee before they reported it to the floor. Everybody else did, and I am surprised that they did not.

They were, I understand, also informed in Committee that the majority party had amendments that were offered by the sponsor to the Chairman of the Committee. If he had accepted those amendments and acted upon them in Committee, all of this would have been unnecessary today.

It was the majority party's definite stand two years ago, the party which is now the minority party, that in a sales tax bill clothing and shoes of any type should be exempt from taxation under a sales tax bill. We did not think it quite fair to tax the workingman's clothes, the baby's shoes, or anyone's shoes.

We thought at that time, and we have the same feeling today, that clothing should not be part of a sales tax bill. It rather surprises me to see the majority party at this time trying to tax the workingman's clothes, the workingman's shoes, the workingman's overalls, and things that the man uses in making his daily livelihood. If my memory serves me correctly, it was that very same party two years ago which fought to exempt the workingman's tools. It would be rather peculiar to exempt his tools which he used in working at that time and now tax all of his clothing he is going to use in his employment. That is the reason for the amendment we are putting in.

Another thing, we also feel we are in a position here in the House, as we told the gentlemen quite a while ago, that there would not be too many votes for a three per cent sales tax. We told them that the majority of our caucus would support a two per cent sales tax.

We are now witnessing something I just cannot understand. We are witnessing the Governor in one breath saying one thing and the majority leader saying something else. I do not disagree with the Majority Leader's thinking, but as far as I know the Governor has said he would veto any sales tax that did not contain a package. I believe the Governor is so quoted in the Press.

The gentleman says that with the amendments which have been put in the bill it will produce $380 million in revenue until the end of this biennium. I do not intend to dispute that figure. Perhaps he is right, but he may be wrong.

Let me ask you, does this bill have any chance of passing tomorrow, any more chance than any other tax bill had that has been passed in this long session? I would like to remind him that it has perhaps less chance. At least the other two bills that the majority passed had bipartisan support in the Senate. I believe this bill cannot pass in the Senate without Republican and Democratic votes.

If the other bills had passed in the Senate, they would have faced the approval or the disapproval of the Governor. We all know that he would have signed either the classified income tax bill or the excise tax bill, because he said so many times in the Press.

But I wonder where the Governor has said that he is going to sign this bill. He has already said he won't, if the Press is correct, and as far as I know they report accurately. He said last week he would not sign any sales tax bill, and I am quoting, "which will not raise all of the money that he needs." He says it must be part of a fifty-fifty compromise. This bill, as far as I know, is not part of any compromise. It might be that the Majority Leader hopes it is going to become part of a compromise in the future, but it certainly is not as of today, and certainly is not going to be, I understand, as of tomorrow. It would produce 80 per cent of what the Governor says he needs—not 50 per cent, not 40 per cent, but 80 per cent—yet he says he is not going to sign it. If the Governor means what he says, and we must assume that sometimes he does mean what he says, then he is going to veto this bill if it ever reaches his desk.

How about the other branch of the Legislature. Will the Democratic Senators vote for this bill if it passes here? I don't know, do you? Will the Republican Members of the Senate vote for this bill if it passes here? I don't know that. You know as well as I do that this bill in the form the Democratic leadership has it today, and seems to want it, will not have too much support, I think I can say Republican support, in the Senate if it has clothing in it. You know that as well as I do.

You know too that it is going to tax the full price of any trade-ins regardless of what they may be, automobiles, television, radio, or any other kind of trade-ins. That was one thing we were against two years ago, and I think we are still against it.

The bill as it stands doesn't have a chance even if it does pass the House, and you know it as well as I do. It seems to me it is headed for the ash can like the other tax programs that have passed this Legislature.

The Governor during the week, and I quote, accused the Senate of the "rankest kind of hypocrisy" because they brought a sales tax to a vote last week without enough votes to pass it. The Governor was quoted that way in the Press all over the state.

I want to ask you what are you doing today? Who is the hypocrite? Why are you trying to pass a bill when you know you do not have the votes to do it, and you know it as well as I do. Yet the Governor when the shoe is on the other foot said that the Republican Senators are hypocrites. It is the rankest kind of hypocrisy, according to his own quotes.

You know the Governor will veto it if it goes to him as it is, at least the Governor said that and we must assume again that he is telling the truth. You know the Democratic Members of the Senate will not vote for it if the Governor says he is going to veto it. So it doesn't have a chance even if all the Republicans voted for this bill.

I would like also to say that the Governor has said, and I quote, "We will give them ten votes in the House." That is a big deal. They are going to give us ten votes in the House to pass a bill that we did not even ask to come out of Committee. They are going to give us ten votes in the House to pass a bill that is going to give the Governor all the money he needs to spend—or part of it.

I would like, while I am on this subject, to say this: the Governor talks about a fifty-fifty plan. This fifty-fifty plan that he talks about, regardless of what the other tax is going to be, to me is just so much hypocrisy. I wonder if the Governor is foolish enough to think because the Republicans control one branch and the Democrats control the other branch of the Legislature, that that makes a fifty-fifty deal.

I am wondering if you have given just a little bit of thought to who is in the front office? Is he a Republican or a Democrat? What kind of administration is this? Is it a Republican or Democratic administration? Who is going to spend the money that is needed, the Republicans or the Democrats? The Governor in his big-hearted way says it is a fifty-fifty deal. It is fifty-fifty only in the House, and that is all. He must have the money, he needs the money, it is his administration that is going to spend the money, it is his Democratic jobholders who are going to get a lot of benefit from the money, and yet he still says it is a fifty-fifty deal. I have heard of hypocrisy but I never heard of it being carried that low.

I am not going to ask, nor did we in our caucus ask anyone to vote for this bill. I am not going to ask anyone to vote against this bill. I am going to tell them here today and tomorrow to vote on it exactly as their constituents want them to vote. There will be none of the high-pressure tactics that have been used on Members of the other side of the House.

There are a number of our Members who feel the time has come to vote for any tax program. If they must vote for this bill regardless of its provisions, whether the rate is two per cent or three per cent, I want them to vote for it if that is what their people want them to do. I want them to vote for it if their constituents feel that way and if they feel that way in their own hearts.

Again let me reminisce. We have been sitting here now for thirteen months. We as a minority party are offering to help the Governor solve his problems. We offered to supply as many votes as we possibly could for a two per cent honest and fair tax that contained the Ohio plan. That was one of our stipulations.

Our other stipulation was that the Governor himself should say he would not veto the bill and he would sign it. I do not believe to you Members who are sitting here, and to the people of the Commonwealth that it is an unfair offer.

As I say, let me reminisce. I never in the time I have been in the Legislature—and I would like to ask anyone here and I will yield to them if they would like to take the floor and say I am wrong—ever found the present majority party when they were in the minority sponsoring any tax legislation or offering to give us the majority of their votes. Do you remember? If you do, stand up and say so and I will admit that I am wrong. You gave us eight votes on a pop tax one time. Do you remember that? That is all the votes you ever gave us. If I am wrong in that, stand up and state I am wrong and I am willing to admit it. When did you offer to give us a majority of the votes on your side for a tax program?

So what are we doing today? We are coming in and offering to you a tax program from the minority party and yet the Governor calls us hypocrites over in the Senate.

I want to speak a little bit about the Governor and I will end this. We sincerely believe if the Governor would isolate himself for a while down on the farm, probably for the next two weeks, and cool down his temper, which he seems to lose control of so often, and not say another word about a tax program that probably Al Readinger, the Speaker of this House, myself and several from the Senate could sit down and honestly work out something. Maybe we could get out of this session. But the Governor continually tries to dictate prior to anybody's sitting down.

I would like to say just one more thing. We on this side of the House, and my caucus has instructed me to say this, are for a tax program with the Ohio tax collection system. That is one thing we want.

Another thing I would like to say, the Governor has been quoted, "We will give them ten votes in the House." He says, "It is not our baby." I wonder whose baby he thinks it is. I am just wondering when I see this kind of headlines. It was the rankest kind of hypocrisy to even offer to pass the bill, and you are doing the same thing today.

It says here, "Leader's voice rose and his face flushed and he pounded the table." I am going to be very personal, and I hate to be personal with the Governor of this state, but let me say to the Governor, I think he is a lousy salesman. He is trying to do one thing, he is trying to sell a tax program for the money that he, the Governor, needs and the administration needs, and one of the first principles of salesmanship is that you don't try to insult your customers.

If he wants to put a tax program through, I think the Governor had better think back to the time when he was in the Senate, when he was just a little more humble than he is today. In those days the Governor did not pound the desk with his first, the way the paper says he did—not once, but several times. It said at the end of the story he again pounded the desk.

I wonder if the Governor, when he was selling at his chicken hatchery and would get a customer would pound the desk in front of him. He wasn't that kind of a man when he was selling his eggs and his chicks. He wasn't that kind of a man when he was elected to the front office. He wasn't that kind of a man when he sat over there in the Senate. He never pounded the desk. He very seldom even rose to his feet to say a few words.

If the Governor is going to try to sell a tax program, let the Governor remember a few things. Humility is one way you can do it; you don't do it by insulting people. You don't do it by trying to rub salt in the wounds. You don't tell the other person not to play politics and play it yourself to the greatest extent. That is number one.

There are two other axioms that I would like to call to his attention. One is this "You can catch more flies with honey than you can with vinegar."

There is another old, old saying, and I think it applies to the Governor, "Put a beggar on horseback and he will ride himself to death."

Let me say to you, the Governor's attitude will have to change if he wants to put a tax program through to solve the Commonwealth's problems. If he wants to get an honest and fair tax program, he must be honest and fair himself.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman makes a fine speech as usual, and he did today, but I think there are so many holes in his speech that we should point out a few of them.

He says, among other things, that the membership on his side of the House wants an honest and fair two per cent sales tax bill. He also said about a week ago that would only raise about half of the money needed. In so far as the other half is concerned, we, the majority, should go see the Republican majority of the Senate and try to work that part out.

That is their conception, I believe, of a fifty-fifty program. We on this side have not proposed any fifty-fifty program. The Governor has said he thinks the Democrats and the Republicans should share responsibility for raising this money, and he would take a sales tax and sign it if the Republicans would furnish the votes for our half of a tax program needed to raise this money. I don't know whether the minority in the House even speaks to the majority in the Senate. I doubt it, but up to this time there has been no commitment whatsoever, no suggestion from the Republican kings in the Senate, that they will go along with anything we would propose to raise the other half of this money.

Let us analyze this two per cent honest and fair sales tax, as the gentleman describes it. It is very important not only that we know something about this, but that the public does too. If we were to reduce this rate to two per cent and eliminate trade-ins as proposed in these amendments and eliminate clothing as the gentleman would like to do, we would wind up with a tax bill which would raise about $285 million.

If we take the $465 million figures as being a reasonable figure of the amount needed; I have not computed it, but I can see we are about $160 million short. The gentleman told us last week, "Go see the Senate and see what you can work out with them." If that is an honest and fair program and position for the Republican Party in this House to take, then I don't know what I am talking about.

The Governor has not insisted that there be a fifty-fifty program, he has suggested it. We had high hopes on this side that the Republicans in the Senate and the House would see fit to do just that.

We have even gone so far as to introduce and report out to this House a two per cent net income tax bill which is calculated to raise about $210 million during the rest of the biennium. If you think it is fun for any party in the majority to suggest imposing that kind of a tax on the people of Pennsylvania, then I don't think you know what you are talking about. It certainly doesn't endear you to people to tell them you are going to reach into their pockets and take two per cent of a certain amount of their money as a means of raising funds.

So what do we have now? We have the gentleman on the other side saying, We insist that trades-ins not be taxed, we insist that clothing not be taxed, and we insist that we have a two per cent rate. I do not think they can seriously argue that the revenue would be any higher than I have just mentioned, about $285 million on that kind of a bill. Have they made any suggestion on the other side as to what kind of a tax measure we should have to raise the balance of the money? No. The only help we get is, "Go over to the Senate and see what you can do."

Let me remind you again that just about two weeks ago the Minority Leader in the Senate, and I as the Majority Leader in the House did go to the Senate and practically on bended knee asked them to go along with a two per cent income tax, a two per cent sales tax, any way they wanted to write it, and they could claim plenty of exemptions if they did that. But they said flatly, "You will get no votes on the Republican side for any income tax."

So I say, while the gentleman's speech sounds fine and he can criticize the Governor for saying, "I'll veto a sales tax bill which is inadequate if it comes to my desk," when you boil it down it means just what we are doing today. It means that if you are sincere and willing to raise this money, you are going to vote in favor of a three per cent tax with no more exemptions than these amendments call for and you are going to join with us in saying, we are going to raise the money. That was our program. We told you all along that the people of Pennsylvania wanted this money raised with a sales tax and not in any other way, and we are going to vote with you.

That is what I think they should say, but are they going to say it? No. They are going to vote against these amendments, these two major amendments, the trade-ins and the clothing. They are going to vote for their amendment of two per cent and then they will go back to their districts and say, "See, we saved you from a three per cent sales tax that would tax the clothing on your backs, we did this and we did that." Maybe the people will believe them, and maybe they won't. But the fact will still remain that no matter what they say about it, their tax as they proposed it would not raise the money we need in this Commonwealth and a lot of things would have to suffer if we don't raise it.

Not to prolong this any longer, I think most of us understand what these amendments are. I think most of us have a pretty clear idea of what the figures are. When the bill comes up for final passage tomorrow, we can add whatever comments we have on the rightness or wrongness of raising this kind of money through a sales tax alone.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Of course, there might be a difference of opinion, Mr. Speaker, as to how much money is needed and how much money they are asking for.

I would like to interrogate the Majority Leader, Mr. Speaker.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Before I interrogate the Majority Leader, I would just like to make one statement.

This bill as it has now come from Committee, this bill that is now being amended, happens to be practically a Democratic bill.

I would like to ask the gentleman how many votes he is going to have for the bill in your form tomorrow, and perhaps we could talk about the matter. I said to the Press today that we will deal on the floor of the House and not deal behind closed doors. Now, will the gentleman tell me how many votes he is going to have for the bill if we leave it the way he wants it.

Mr. READINGER. I can not tell that to the gentleman because I do not know myself.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. If the gentleman would be interested tomorrow to come to the floor of the House, before a caucus and tell us how many votes he has for this bill in the form he wants it, perhaps we can go to our caucus and help him out. Is there anything more fair than that? It is your bill now and your amendments.

Mr. READINGER. The gentleman's saying it is our bill does not make it so. We have amended the bill in the manner in which we think we must, in order to raise the amount of money needed but that does not make it our bill.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, it is his party's bill in the way it has been amended to bring in the amount of money which is needed, am I right on that statement?

Mr. READINGER. It is our version of how the bill should be written in order to raise the money.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Would the gentleman come to the floor of this House tomorrow and give me the number of votes he has for his version of this sales tax bill that has a Republican sponsor's name on it? Is there anything more fair than that?

Mr. READINGER. We will do exactly that when we call it up for final passage tomorrow.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. If he will do that prior to our caucus, then we will go to our caucus and talk about it.

Mr. READINGER. We plan to bring this bill on the floor of the House tomorrow for final passage. I intend to speak on the bill and ask the membership of this House to vote for it, and that is when we are going to find out how many of your Members will vote for it and how many of ours will vote for it.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I think we would be able to tell the gentleman tomorrow on the floor of the House. I am just trying to clear the air here. You say it is a Republican bill in the manner you think it should be now. Is there anything unfair in our saying that we agree with him, it is a Republican sponsored bill with the amendments drawn, Democratic amendments the way he feels. Now if he will come to the floor of this House and tomorrow guarantee so many votes for this bill in front of the Press, we will then caucus immediately and come back with a decision.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman for his kind offer but the time is long since past when we can accept kind offers. The time has come for us to all get on the floor of this House tomorrow and vote whether we think this is a good bill or a bad bill, there is no need to caucus as far as I can see. We will find out and the public will know who is for it and who is against it.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if it is a bad bill I am surprised that the majority party would even release it from Committee. I did not think they released bad legislation from Committee.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I might reply to that suggestion, that when it is a choice between the Commonwealth's going bankrupt or passing a bad bill the majority party will probably pass a bad bill and it does not matter how bad it will be.

Mr. FILO. Mr. Speaker, I would like to bring to the attention of the Minority Leader that some Democrats on this side of the House in the last session did vote for taxes, and if he checks his records he will find that to be so. It is true they did not vote for the sales tax, but they did vote for some other revenue bills that the Republican Members did not vote for.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair now lays before the House the amendments offered to Article 1 of the bill by the gentleman from Berks Mr. Readinger, as follows:

Amend Sec. 102, page 2, line 17, by striking out "and any" and inserting "but no deduction shall be made for."

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I think that the bill as it is now written is fair in this respect, that if Mrs. Housewife goes down to the store to buy a new mangle, desires to trade in her old mangle and pays a couple hundred dollars difference, she is going to pay the tax on that $200. When her old mangle is sold to the other Mrs. Housewife, they are going to collect the tax on the old mangle. That holds true with a television, with a radio, or anything else that they might be trading. They are paying a tax on all the money they are spending and what could be fairer than that? There are those who know I am an automobile dealer and I should not mention cars, but this bill is not taxing me, it is taxing John Q. Public. It will only tax me for the car I buy for myself. In eleven months and these are figures right from the Department, there were almost 40 thousand new trucks sold, and a three per cent tax would bring in $4,800 dollars. That is figuring the price of those trucks lower than the price actually would be, it is figuring a $4,000 average price, which is low.

There were 420,446 new cars sold, and at three per cent, figuring them at three thousand, which is low, this would bring in in eleven months on that basis $37,840,000.

There were 1,115,735 used cars sold, which figuring only on a basis of $500 would bring in $45 million in eleven months, and in twelve months this would bring in $64 million.

Now, you would get all of the tax on that money. If a man bought a new car and he traded his used car in you would get the tax on the cash involved. The dealer would sell that car and you get the tax on that and that is certainly double taxation any way you figure it.

I have many customers who come to me, they will buy a new car and they are back a couple months and they say "gee, I wish I had gotten a ford," or "my mother-in-law objects to getting in the back seat," or "I cannot get my mother in or my father in because they have a bad leg, so could you get me a four door." Why sure they probably paid $4,000 for their car. They give me maybe a couple or three hundred dollars and I give them a new car such as they want. Now, if we were to accept these amendments those people would pay the full tax on the $4,000. Then they would come back and they would pay the full tax on the car they got to replace that car. So, it is a question not of exempting but of establishing a price on an article and that price should be the amount of money that changes hands. It certainly is in practically everything else, I think. We want to be fair, we are not asking for anything that the other fellow should not have.

We know that in the State of Ohio, with all of the other exemptions they will not have under this bill, they still raised around $400 million in a biennium, and in Pennsylvania it would run closer to $500 million in a biennium. So, with this tax the way they want to set it up at three per cent, it is good for probably $600 million or more. That might sound fantastic but it is not, because in Ohio, with three million less people than we have they have been getting in excess of $400 million. This bill with the amendments they expect to put in, is good, as I say for in excess of $600 million a biennium. I certainly hope the membership will not accept the amendment that is now being offered.

Mr. READINGER. May I interrogate the gentleman from Erie?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Erie, Mr. Waterhouse, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. The gentleman was speaking about a biennium in connection with his estimate of revenues in the state of Ohio, is that correct?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Would you restate that?

Mr. READINGER. The gentleman was speaking about a biennium, a two year period in connection with his figures in Ohio.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Yes, sir, I was.

Mr. READINGER. The gentleman, of course, realizes that we have only 14 months in which to collect, if we do collect, on this one.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Yes, I am perfectly aware of that.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman what he suggests we use to raise the $45 million he has suggested the bills would necessitate our raising? Can he suggest another tax measure he would like us to pass to substitute for that $45 million?

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Well, Mr. Speaker, I might be able to but I do not believe I will.

Mr. READINGER. I thank the gentleman.

I reiterate that is the trouble we are faced with all the time. I could make a beautiful speech today against this amendment I am proposing to tax clothing. I could probably talk about the family of John Smith or Mary Doe or somebody else and maybe bring tears to your eyes, if I tried hard enough, maybe to my own, about how bad it would be to tax clothing, the poor little children's shoes and so forth. I could make such a speech but I am not going to because we have got to have money and the only way to get it is to raise it by imposing a tax on something. So, I am still asking the membership to forget about these fervent pleas, and vote for these amendments.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. I believe the Members are not 100 per cent sure that they are now only voting on the one amendment that has to do with trade-ins.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair will restate the question.

Those voting "aye" vote in favor of the amendment known as the trade-in amendment offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, for the trade-in amendment only. Those voting "no" vote against the amendment offered by the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendment?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. CHARLES C. SMITH, WEIDNER, JOHNSON and READINGER, and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the affirmative and the amendment was agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the Article as amended?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair now lays before the House the amendments which were offered by the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Charles C. Smith.

The amendments were read as follows:

Amend Sec. 102, Definitions, at page 6, line 10, by adding a new Definition as follows:

(13) "Clothing and Shoes" Any and all apparel utilized to cover the human body against nakedness or cold, including, but not restricted to, materials, fabrics, or other

Amend Sec. 102, Definitions, Sub-section (7), "Sale at Retail," at page 5, line 15, by adding the following:

(o) Clothing and shoes, but not jewelry or any other object not worn primarily to cover the human body against nakedness or cold.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if it meets with the approval of the gentlemen on the other side of the House and if there are no objections on our side of the House, we will accept the same roll call.

Mr. READINGER. We will be happy to do that.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the Chair hear any objection to that procedure?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I said if it does not meet with any objection or if there are any votes to be changed on this side of the House—

Mr. READINGER. We shall be glad to accept the additional ones who want to come over on our side.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. If they have any sense, they will come over on this side.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith, and the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman say cents or socks?

Mr. Speaker, of course, you realize we want it in reverse.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair did not hear the gentleman.

Mr. READINGER. I say, I hope the Chair realizes that we want that reversed, we are all voting "no."

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

It was agreed to.

Article II was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Article?

Mr. READINGER offered the above noted amendments to Article II.

They were agreed to.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the Article as amended?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 202, page 7, lines 1 to 15, by striking out all of said lines and inserting in lieu thereof

Section 202. Amount of Tax.—(a) The rate of tax shall be two per centum of the sale price of each separate sale at retail. The tax shall in each instance be computed and collected on the basis of the total transaction without regard to the value or price of the separate items making up the total amount of a single sales transaction.

(b) The tax shall be computed as follows:

(1) Where the consideration is twenty-five cents (25¢) or less no tax shall be collected.

(2) Where the consideration is from twenty-six cents (26¢) to fifty cents (50¢), both inclusive, the tax shall be one cent (1¢).

(3) On each sale where the consideration is from fifty-one cents (51¢) to ninety-nine cents (99¢), both inclusive, the tax shall be two cents (2¢).

(4) On each sale where the consideration is one dollar ($1.00) or in excess thereof, the tax shall be two per centum of each dollar or fraction thereof.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. GOLDSTEIN. Mr. Speaker, before you vote on this amendment I would like to make a few remarks.

According to the calculation given by the Majority Leader, a tax at two per cent would raise $285 million. Had we passed this tax eight months ago, it would have been sufficient, with the economies promised by the Governor, to have allowed us a sales tax at the rate of two per cent.

I am not afraid to face my responsibilities. I campaigned on a sales tax and I will keep my promise. I will vote against the amendment reducing it to two per cent because I believe three per cent is needed now. When I so vote, I am voting two per cent on behalf of myself and one per cent on behalf of Governor Leader whose dilatory tactics have compelled me to vote for a three per cent tax.

Mr. READINGER. The gentleman may speak about dilatory tactics all he wants, but his statement is no more true than the statement that the Republican Senate of this Legislature has not employed dilatory tactics. That is the reason we are still here today.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Section 3 This act shall take effect the first day of the registration year commencing 1956

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to debate this bill at length. The Journal is replete with a very substantial debate between Mr. Petrosky and myself on December 6th when the bill was defeated on final passage. As you know, the bill was brought back and is now up for another vote. The vote at that time was 61 in favor and 80 against.

For the information of the House, this bill increases the passenger car registration fees from $10 to $15 and makes a corresponding increase in light trucks.

The Democratic side today has turned down an amendment which would make it easier, if the sales tax passes, to buy cars. On a new car that costs $2,000 they want to levy a tax of $60 with no deduction for the trade-in. In this bill they are again reaching out after the small man, the average guy that is driving a car, and saying, "In addition to that, we want to increase your registration plates from $10 to $15."

I believe if you will go back and examine the record when we voted on the bill before, we at that time made quite clear the reasons why we do not favor increasing these fees at this time.

I am therefore asking those on the Republican side particularly to vote against this bill. I think those of you on the other side should certainly think of the people back home before you increase these plates from $10 to $15.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, it is true that the proposal before us at the present time fell some time ago due to some absenteeism in the House on that particular date.

However, it is a component part of a highway program that will supply an adequate highway system on the interstate, the state and the local level.

The passage of this bill means much to the motorists of Pennsylvania. We have received no protests against the small additional levy to have the motorist pay for a portion of this program.

I request the membership on both sides of the House to vote for this bill. We have approached this highway program on a non-partisan basis. We wish to say to you that never do we want to make it partisan because the highways are being used by both Republicans and Democrats.

We have had demand upon demand for additional highway facilities for the people of this Commonwealth. It inures to the benefit and the welfare of all the people of the Commonwealth to give to the people an adequate all-around program.

That is what we are trying to do with the highway package that is before us this evening. This bill is a component part of that package and is very necessary to the fulfillment of the highway program on every level of government.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, of all the tax bills that we vote for while we are in session trying to gather enough money to operate the state to the benefit and the interests of the people of Pennsylvania, this is the easiest tax bill I ever voted for. How can a man who owns an automobile object to an increase of $5 for his plates? He wants better roads and he wants to get where he is going. The automobile business today in Pennsylvania is the biggest problem with which the Pennsylvania police and the state government have to contend.

I would vote for it if they raised it to $25. I am asking everybody here to be free and honest with themselves, to do the thing we ought to do at this time and vote for this bill.

Mr. FLINT. Mr. Speaker, I listened to the gentleman from McKean in opposition to this measure. I feel his constituents cannot be a different kind of people than those whom I represent in the next county.

Relative to this increase in license fees, I would like to read a portion of a letter I received today from an officer of the Council of the Borough of Austin in Potter County. My correspondent says:

I have been a resident of Austin for a good many years, and this is the first time I can recall that any previous representative has ever supported any bill in the General Assembly that would afford the kind of relief to the small towns whereby they could have a decent street to drive on . . .

It is most certain no one would protest the increase of $5.00 or even $10.00 per passenger car to raise this revenue.

On the question recurring,
Shall the bill pass finally?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair lays before the House the first bill on special order fixed for this time, being House Bill No. 1831.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 1831, as follows:

An Act to further amend the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayor burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" by adding a certain classification and definition of motor vehicles and fixing a fee therefor The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows

Section 1 Section one hundred two of the act approved the first day of May one thousand nine hundred twenty-nine (P. L. 905) entitled "An act for the protection of the public safety regulating the use of highways and the operation of vehicles tractors street cars trackless trolley omnibuses bicycles pedestrians and the riding of animals upon the highways of this Commonwealth providing for the titling including liens and encumbrances and legal claims registration of certain vehicles and licensing the operators thereof upon payment of prescribed fees prescribing and limiting the powers of local authorities to deal with the subject matter of this act conferring powers and imposing duties upon the Department of Revenue the Department of Highways peace officers mayors burgesses magistrates aldermen justices of the peace the courts and the clerks thereof owners of vehicles and garage keepers providing that records are admissible as evidence imposing upon owners counties cities boroughs incorporated towns townships within the Commonwealth liability for damages caused by the negligent operation of their motor vehicles imposing penalties imposing certain costs upon counties providing for the disposition of fines forfeitures fees and miscellaneous receipts making an appropriation and providing for refunds" as last amended by the act approved the seventeenth day of July one thousand nine hundred fifty-three (P. L. 500) is hereby further amended by inserting between the definition "Street Car" and the definition "Tractor" a new definition to read as follows:

Section 102 Definitions The following words and phrases when used in this act shall for the purpose of this act have the meanings respectively ascribed to them in this section except in those instances where the context clearly indicates a different meaning

* * * * *

"Suburban Motor Vehicles" shall be a passenger motor vehicle with a convertible or interchangeable body usable for both passenger and delivery purposes and including but not restricted to motor vehicles commonly known as suburban station or depot wagons

* * * * *

Section 2 Article VII of the said act is hereby amended by adding immediately following section seven hundred two point one a new section to read as follows

Section 702.2 The fee for annual registration of suburban motor vehicles shall be eighteen ($18) dollars

Section 3 This act shall become effective immediately but the registration fee shall take effect the first day of the registration year commencing 1956.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I want to speak very, very briefly on this bill. I think everybody knows it is an administration bill and part of a plan to increase the amount of revenue available for highway purposes.

But as my name appeared on it as a sponsor and as the newspapers for some reason or other reported it by itself and not in connection with House Bill 1824, which provided for an increase of from $10 to $15 for motor vehicles, I was the recipient of practically hundreds and hundreds of postcards and letters from irate station wagon owners. I would like to say now for their enlightenment and so forth that it was never intended that we raise their license fee from $10 to $18 unless it was accompanied by an increase in the passenger fee from $10 to $15.

I am saying this because I do not want them to think that we singled station wagon owners out as a special object for taxation. We think they are worthy people, fine people, but we think they ought to pay a little bit more than a passenger car because half the time they are using them for trucks, and I believe that if they fully understand what we have been trying to do here, they will be more lenient and will stop sending the type of postcards that I was getting.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, just a minute for further clarification. This bill 1831 now sets up a suburban classification for station wagons. Heretofore we had a rather hazy administration of the Act for some station wagons registered as passenger cars and others registered as R-plate trucks.

It is highly desirable for a more efficient operation for the Department and highly desirable by people affected by this legislation, dealers and what have you, to create a suburban classification for these vehicles. Hereafter there will be no possibility of applying for a truck plate or a passenger plate, it will be only the one classification, suburban classification for station wagons.

Mr. MOODY. Mr. Speaker, as an owner and operator of a station wagon, is the $3 increase sufficient interest in the bill to prevent my voting on it?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. It is not.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, rather than taking the time of the House in debating this bill, we have discussed it at length at a prior time, I would like to submit the following for the record. I ask the Members of the House to vote "aye" on this.

Pennsylvania must be prepared to participate with any Federal Highway Program which will emerge from the next session of the National Congress.

The Commonwealth cannot participate unless it has, first, sufficient funds to match the Federal dollars, and, second it must have engineering plans, locations, surveys and designs which can be submitted and approved by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads.

Fortunately for Pennsylvania, the Department of Highways since last January has completed, or has in preparation, plans which will completely take up the Federal allocation of $42,000,000 under the 1954 Federal-aid Act. It also has in hand sufficient money to match dollar for dollar the Federal allocation.

Because of the high standard of construction required by the Federal Bureau of Public Roads, the mileage which can be built with the more than $80,000,000 available for the biennium, is comparatively small. It must be expanded.

In addition to the highways on the Federal system, the Department of Highways has plans to improve the 100 per cent State system. These are the roads which do not qualify for Federal-aid. These are the roads which have been sorely neglected by previous administrations. They can no longer be ignored if the Commonwealth is to meet its obligations to all segments of our population.

Expressways and by-pass routes around our urban centers of population are the newest and most spectacular features of a modern highway system. These are vital links and Pennsylvania needs more of them and intends to build more of them. They are expensive, but if the Commonwealth expects to handle tomorrow's traffic efficiently, nothing must interfere with this type of construction. Every driver knows State roads, farm-to-market roads and other types of highways are in drastic need of attention to overcome years of neglect, poor planning and political mishandling.

Thus, we have two vital problems in our highway planning. On the one hand we must insist that the responsibility for the roads on the Federal system be met. The State can no longer ignore its responsibility for constructing and properly maintaining the neglected State road system.

One of the difficulties confronting the new Highway administration last January was the muddled and confused financial situation which it inherited. The budget, which was prepared by the previous administration in November 1954, made no provision whatever for any expansion of the Federal-aid program. No consideration was given to the possibility that there might be an expanded Federal program, although the National administration had for months previously discussed such a program.

General Lucius Clay, appointed by the President to make a survey, recommended that the Federal Government develop a program which would double our present mileage. He further recommended completion of a highway system that would be adequate to take care of increasing traffic at least until 1974. When this recommendation reached the Legislative stage, the new Highway administration revised its figures to take advantage of any Federal program based on the Clay Plan. No legislation, however, was enacted to implement the Clay Plan. The State Highway Department was ready, however, to take advantage of this program.

Then the Gore Plan was proposed. This was a five year plan which would provide for a 300 per cent increase in Federal aid to States. No financing plan was specified, but in the Congressional debate, the matching factor was obviously predominant. Again, the State Highway Department was prepared to adapt its program to benefit from the Gore Plan, but it too failed of enactment.

Then the Fallon Plan was proposed, which would be financed on a pay-as-you-go basis, the revenue to be derived through increased user taxes. Despite the crying need for new highway construction, the Fallon Bill was lobbied to death.

All the months the Federal Congress debated, the highway legislation, the Department of Highways was prepared to participate in any national program, which finally was approved. In the meantime, the regular work of the Department proceeded in an orderly manner.

The Department realizes today that in the next session of Congress a highway bill will be enacted. It will be ready then to get for Pennsylvania the full benefit of whatever legislation is enacted. The necessity for a greatly expanded highway program, with the Federal Government working shoulder to shoulder with the States, is a recognized necessity. It rises above any cheap partisanship. It must rise above partisanship in Pennsylvania.

Use of the highways is not confined to Republicans; nor do the Democrats monopolize the roadways. The State Highway Department does not ask a contractor whether he is a Republican or a Democrat when he bids on a highway construction job. The low bid and ability to do the work are the only requisites asked for by the present administration of the Highway Department.

Recently, I had an opportunity to study the financial position of the Highway Department. What I saw was most encouraging.

Before presenting an analysis of the Department's fiscal position today, I want to call attention to one figure which struck me and that is the financial position of the Department on January 18, the day the Democratic administration took over.

The cash balance on that historic day was just about EIGHT MILLION DOLLARS. Now $8 Million Dollars is a pretty slim purse for a Department which does a half BILLION dollar annual business. But our Republican friends explain the depleted funds by saying "well that was an election year."

The Motor Fund Cash balance is in a much healthier condition under Democratic management. As of October 31 there were $83,158,588 in the fund. The total commitments against the fund through October 31, 1955 were $220,138,612.57. Among these commitments construction contracts authorized totalling $73,456,290, which indicates the scope and volume of the work the Highway Department has done since January 18.

In addition to actual construction contracts, the Department under agreement for the design and location surveys totalling $3,590,000. Most of the work under these agreements is well under way and will provide for a substantial shelf of completed plans to take care of present and future construction programs.

Other items in the commitment total is $33,525,294 for the acquisition of right-of-way. Right-of-way is an essential factor in the construction of highways and has always been segregated as a separate cost from construction accounts. This has always been a practice in Pennsylvania, and in every other State.

State Highway and Bridge Authority rentals totals $6,355,510.83. This item is for obligations previously assumed by the previous administrations.

Payments to municipalities total $16,824,851.54.

Purchase order balances total $9,749,049.46 while miscellaneous commitments total $228,786.27.

Under existing laws the State Department of Highways is compelled to allocate to other State Departments a total of $48,475,864. In addition, commitments against Act 18-A passed for the repair and rehabilitation of roads and bridges destroyed or damaged by the August 18th Hurricane total $16,000,000.

Thus we have commitments totalling $220,138,612.57 through October 31, 1955.

Despite the muddled financial situation the present administration inherited last January, the State Highway Department has succeeded in having under contract or has advertised contracts which will total more than $100,000,000. The target set for 1956 is also $100,000,000 with plans for an additional $45,000,000 in sight for June. This will be the greatest highway construction program in the history of the State.

Nothing, absolutely nothing, except the lack of finances will deprive the people of Pennsylvania from the highways and bridges which are long overdue. Pennsylvania can no longer permit its multi-billion dollar investment in its highway plant to deteriorate. It will deteriorate unless sufficient money is made available to modernize its highways and bridges. It will fall into obsolescence unless the finances are on hand to take advantage of any Federal highway legislation which provides for an expanded highway program. No longer can Pennsylvania's State highway system be permitted to become impassable.

Every community in the State is trying to attract new industries. The first question a community must answer is whether or not the location is served by adequate roads. Other States competing for new industries promise construction of high speed highways to serve new plants.

In the location of the Curtis-Wright plant in Clearfield County, the first question asked of the Governor was about the roads. The State Highway Department was able to assure the Company that adequate highways would be constructed to serve their needs. These roads are now being built.

In the location of the Schick plant in Lancaster, the Highway Department after several years delay, was able to begin the construction of an vital interchange which would serve the great plant.

The location of a big cosmetic plant in another Lancaster County city was dependent upon the Department's ability to reconstruct the roads leading to the plant.

Every week the Department of Highways is called upon for help in rebuilding and modernizing obsolete roads to aid communities, the help, the resettlement of city dwellers to provide safe roads and bridges for travel to churches and schools.

It is often said that Pennsylvania has a modern highway system. In some respects, that is true. Many of our roads are spectacular engineering examples, but the majority of the mileage on the system needs rehabilitation. The hard core of the system is becoming obsolete. Our 100 per cent State system needs a complete rehabilitation.

The ability to meet the needs of modern traffic, the expansion of industrial activity transcends any political consideration and is one of Pennsylvania's first problems which must be met.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, on December 6th, as Mr. Petrosky says, we debated this bill quite at length.

I just want to quickly summarize the arguments that I made at that time against this bill, which seeks to raise the borrowing power of the Highway and Bridge Authority so that the State Government can borrow enough money to match the increase in Federal aid for this current biennium, over and above the preceding biennium.

As we figure it, the amount will be $32 million. We find on examining the Governor's budget that he has made a provision in the Highway budget for this increase in the matching money required to match the Federal aid highway appropriation. Further, I know the argument was made that we need to have this borrowing power so that in the event a gigantic road building program passes in Washington the State of Pennsylvania will be able to borrow the money for purposes of matching that type of requirement.

From what information we have, if this gigantic road building program passes this session of Congress, it will merely be enabling legislation now, then next year they will appropriate the money for the program. We are practically into the second year of this biennium and therefore we will be back here next January and if any gigantic road building program passes which will require unusual outlay on the part of Pennsylvania we will be here in January and actually in several days could pass a bill which would do the necessary job, if we choose to borrow the money for Federal matching.

As we understand the Federal highway program, the state's share of that new program will only be ten per cent. I have seen figures where Pennsylvania would be allocated about $50 million a year. That would mean that we would only have to come forward with $5 million. Certainly we could take that out of our motor license fund, with the practically ten per cent increase today in the taxes that we are receiving from gasoline, together with the overage from the gasoline tax which will be available from the extra penny we put on for the flood project.

Therefore, I say that we do not need to increase the borrowing power of the Highway and Bridge Authority at this time. If the money is necessary, we can do it next January or next February when we come back here for the session of 1957-59. And what is more, when Governor Leader campaigned, he told all over the state how we Republicans had borrowed money for the General State Authority, for the Highway and Bridge Authority, and so forth. And he said that is an indication that there is something wrong with the way Pennsylvania has been operated under the Republicans. And he said, "believe me, I am going to investigate that when I am Governor."

What has he done? He has investigated it and he apparently finds that what we did was ok because I read in the paper where he wants to increase the ceiling on the borrowing power of the General State Authority, and here today is a bill wherein he wants to almost immediately increase the borrowing power of the Highway and Bridge Authority by $32 million.

For reasons expressed in December and for reasons expressed now, we are asking the House to vote against this bill.

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, there are sufficient safeguards in this proposal that is before us to hold within the limits of the amount of money that must be matched with Federal allocations, in order to avail ourselves of those monies when they are forthcoming out of the present session of Congress.

Certainly we would be remiss in our duties in the event we were not to make ample provisions to procure those funds when they are allotted by the Federal Congress. Every Member of this House knows of the inadequacy of the highway system throughout the nation. Every other state in this nation is going to pass upon those funds and match them and then we are going to be left holding the bag.

But if we had a sufficiently safeguarded piece of legislation that will allow us to borrow the money to match those funds and get those allocations from the Federal Government, then and then only will we be able to put out a well rounded program that will enure to the benefit of all the people of the Commonwealth.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I will be very brief about this, we still want to approach this in a non-partisan manner.

The measure before us is a new piece of legislation and it has three very important points in it. It will set up the allocations for the local municipalities for the allotments to be received by them from the Motor License Fund.

House Bill 1311 is the first time we have ever had a measure of this nature. It can really and truly be called a home rule program. Under House Bill 1311 we set up a permanent schedule of allocations for return to the political subdivisions of moneys from the gas tax funds.

No. 2, we increase that from the $36 million that was allocated under prior administrations to $60 million with this proposal.

No. 3, we do not require any matching funds. There are many instances where certain municipalities would have to raise local taxes in order to match the funds allocated in that category by the Highway Department.

Certainly there has been a slight change in the formula set up in this legislation, but in all the conferences and deliberations out of which came this legislation we find it is more nearly an equitable distribution of these funds than we have ever had in the past.

I ask the membership on both sides of this House to go along with this measure. They know the need of the local administrators for funds to place their highways in proper condition. It is good legislation, it is legislation that is necessary for our local administrators back home.

We on this side of the House have taken an honest position. We have voted to provide revenue to allocate sufficient funds to the people back home so they can do a job on the rural road program.

Mr. Speaker, I ask the Members of the House, to support this legislation.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Westmoreland, Mr. Petrosky, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. PETROSKY. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me the meaning of the term "official census figures" in this bill?

Mr. PETROSKY. The meaning of the term "official census figures" is those figures which are tallied in the respective political subdivisions by the Federal Census Bureau.

Mr. ISAACS. The last one then, Mr. Speaker, would be the census of 1950?

Mr. PETROSKY. That is a decennial census. A census can be undertaken by the administrators in a political subdivision just so long as it is an official census, as I have noted, and transmitted to the Department of Highways. Then those figures will be used as and when they are taken.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, this official census about which the gentleman speaks, does he mean a census taken by the people who conduct the census every ten years?

Mr. PETROSKY. I do not know whether they use the same procedure as they use in a decennial census. However, just so long as they apply to the Federal Bureau of Census and have the census taken by that Bureau and the figures certified to the Department of Highways, those figures will be accepted. That is as clear as I can make it, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me how much the political subdivisions will receive under this bill per mile and per capita?

Mr. PETROSKY. Mr. Speaker, I can give the gentleman an approximate rate of the allocations under the mileage and the population basis. It will be approximately $275 per mile and it will be approximately $1.35 per capita. You can realize that I must use the word "approximate" because the figures for the total population of the state can change with these official census being taken. How many of them are going to be taken, I do not know. That is up to the local administrators.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, can the gentleman tell me as to the revenue from the fuel taxes upon what period he is basing this figure?

Mr. PETROSKY. What figure is the gentleman speaking of?

Mr. ISAACS. The figure of $275 per mile and so much per capita?

Mr. PETROSKY. I am basing that upon the 20 per cent of the four and a half cents in the legislation, plus the amount that will be accrued and divided according to the existing formula under Appropriation Act 18-A as passed in this House some time ago.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, presupposing this bill becomes law and a political subdivision has a census taken, we will say in May of 1956, when would the official census figures in this new census be reflected in the payments from this fund?

Mr. PETROSKY. At such time as they are certified to the Department and on the next payment date.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, the reason I am asking these questions, I represent a number of townships and boroughs that have doubled and even trebled in population since the census of 1950. In my county alone we have had an increase of 125,000, maybe 175,000, in population. If all these political subdivisions have a new census taken, will that reduce the per capita and the per mile payments?

Mr. PETROSKY. It would not reduce the per mile payments, because that would only reflect in the per capita, but of necessity I must say it would in the event your census would show an influx of population. It stands to reason that would reduce it. So, therefore, as you will recognize, I have used approximate figures in every instance.

On the question recurring,

HOUSE BILL No. 257 MADE SPECIAL ORDER

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that House Bill No. 257 on page 8 of today's calendar be made a special order of business immediately.

The motion was agreed to.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair lays before the House the special order of business for this time, being House Bill No. 257.

Agreeably to order,

The House resumed the consideration on final passage of House Bill No. 257, as follows:

An Act amending the act of April twelve one thousand nine hundred fifty-one (P. L. 90) entitled "An act relating to alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto regulating and restricting the manufacture purchase sale possession consumption importation transportation furnishing holding in bond bonding in storage traffic in and use of alcoholic liquors alcohol and malt and brewed beverages and the persons engaged or employed therein defining the powers and duties of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board providing for the establishment and operation of State liquor stores for the payment of certain license fees to the respective municipalities and townships for the abatement of certain nuisances and in certain cases for search and seizure without warrant prescribing penalties and forfeitures providing for local option and repealing existing laws" authorizing licensed establishments to sell until two o'clock antemeridian on Sundays

The General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby enacts as follows:

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I think all the Members of the House should know, if they do not know, that this is a bill which would allow public liquor licensees to remain open until 2:00 a. m. on a Sunday morning.

This bill was defeated some time ago and has been on our calendar quite a long time. I think it should be disposed of.

I would like to point out that at least in my own humble opinion we are not invading the Sabbath in any way when we vote for this bill. I say that for the reason that ever since liquor was made legal again in Pennsylvania back in 1933, all clubs have been allowed to stay open until 2:00 a. m. or later—I guess it is 3:00 a. m.

Many other states have seen fit to adopt a rule of conduct through their laws which will allow places selling liquor or beer, to remain open past midnight on a Saturday night.

I realize that many people are bitterly opposed to this legislation because they have a feeling it is invading the Sabbath day. But I repeat as long as our law allows clubs to remain open until 3:00 a. m. on a Sunday morning, it seems to me that if we are invading the Sabbath at all we are doing it now and we have been doing it since 1933.

After all a club is nothing but a building with members who have some common interest in going there, either on club business or for social recreation.

I cannot see why it makes any difference whether a person drinks beer or liquor in one building or drinks it in the building next door to it. Both of them under the law have to remain orderly and decent, otherwise they should not be operating at all. Why it makes any difference in which particular building a person drinks, I don't know.

Bills have been introduced this session which seek to legalize drinking in public places during the whole afternoon and evening of a Sunday. It is a reasonable argument that would invade what we consider to be the prerogative of the Sabbath day. It might divert people from going to church in the evening or from some church service in the afternoon, but I don't believe anybody can honestly argue that if somebody chooses to do his drinking from 11:00 at night to 2:00 in the morning on a Saturday night that that is going to keep him from going to church or Sunday school or any other religious function.

I am asking the Membership to vote for this bill on the ground that it is in line with what many other states have done. I think it is in line with the thinking of the people of Pennsylvania, the majority of them. I think they know how to drink carefully, and decently, and there would be no abuses following the passage of this bill.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to say a brief word with respect to this bill.

I would be less than truthful if I said I agree with Mr. Readinger on the fact that this bill is not a transgression against the moral law. I respect every Member here who sincerely believes liquor should not be sold on Sunday anywhere in this Commonwealth. But the answer, of course, to that, is let us close the clubs.

What I take opposition to, and why I think we should pass this bill is because there are many Members here who are not against the bill because it violates or transgresses the moral law. They are against it for selfish interests because of these one-man clubs which contribute very little to the revenue of this Commonwealth. Yet they make virtually all the profit. We would be closing our eyes to something that actually exists throughout this Commonwealth, and especially in the large cities, if we were not to say that that was the truth.

I think these taproom owners today throughout the Commonwealth, because of the financial circumstances of the small families, are suffering a crisis today, they are losing money, and it must be recognized for economic reasons that Saturday night is the only opportunity there is for these men to make a decent living. They are entitled to it because we extract quite a bit of money from them every year. They are entitled to this revenue. They are facing this serious crisis today because the working man comes out until late on a Saturday night, maybe 10:30 or 11:00, after watching television, and he has to leave the taproom because under our law it closes at 12:00. There is no one here that says anyone cannot get a drink merely by going a block or two away or getting into his car and going to Jersey.

So I say for economic reasons those who are not sincerely opposed to this bill on the grounds of moral reasons, should support it and recognize that these taproom owners are respectable citizens and taxpayers and they are entitled to make this living.

Mr. MOSCRIP. Mr. Speaker, just to temper somewhat the economic crisis which our tavern owners face, I have had a number of bartenders and proprietors tell me that they were glad the bill was defeated before, and they hoped it would not pass. I live in a border county where a thirty minute drive will put you in New York state. So all of them are not facing a crisis.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, I have been waiting a long time for this bill. I am sorry I don't have all my notes with me.

I would like to oppose it. I see no reason for a bill like this. The only sensible reason that has been suggested here is that since the clubs are permitted to do it, then we ought to let the licensed places do it.

They admit, however, that it is wrong morally for the clubs to stay open until 2:00 o'clock in the morning. Then the remedy is not extending another wrong. Two wrongs don't make a right, Mr. Speaker.

I submit if you want to help this matter, the thing to do is to close the clubs at 12:00 o'clock on Saturday night rather than to extend the closing time of drinking places to 2:00 o'clock on Sunday morning.

I happen to live right next to New York state. I say this is the entering wedge. The liquor lobbyists want this to keep their own jobs. For the benefit of you folks who don't live near another state like I do, next to New York state, that is open on Sunday afternoon, let me tell you this, that it certainly does corrupt the Sabbath when they open up in the afternoon.

I realize that this bill does not open it up in the afternoon, but you can't tell me or any sensible person that has studied it, if you stay up until 2:00 a.m. in the morning and drink at any one of these taverns, that you are in shape to go to church in the morning.

The alcoholics that we have heard so much about, the Alcoholics Anonymous organization, for instance, and I have one of them in my Sunday School class at home, I have heard him say over and over that he has to go to church on Sunday in order to keep himself going the way he should.

We are spending a lot of money, we are worrying a lot about alcoholics in Pennsylvania. Here we are doing one of the worst things we could do if we pass this bill. By the time you get home, after staying in a tavern until 2:00 or 3:00 o'clock in the morning, if you get home safely, you will be in no condition to go to church in the morning.

My experience with the ones I have talked to in my county, is that the owners of the taverns don't want it themselves. They say they get enough of it all through the week until 12:00 on Saturday night.

It seems to me that those who must drink, and I am not saying we must go back to prohibition at all, it seems to me they ought to be able to get tanked up by 12:00 o'clock. If they don't there is something wrong with them. They can take it home and drink it at home.

I would like to close with this little quotation from the Bible. Some of you think we are narrow minded, those of us who are against bills like this one. What does the Bible say about a stumbling block? Look it up yourselves. It says that anybody who puts a stumbling block in the way of their brother or sister, it would be better that a millstone be hung around their neck and that they would be drowned in the depths of the sea.

I submit to you, ladies and gentlemen of this House, if you vote for this bill you are putting stumbling blocks in front of your brothers and sisters, and maybe your own boy or your own girl, or your own grandson or your own granddaughter, who knows.

It would be better for you as it says here, that you should be drowned in the depths of the sea. Let us think it over, folks. Let us be sensible. You are not going to stampede me on any bill like this and I am proud to stand up and talk against it.

Mr. AMARANDO. Mr. Speaker, I have thought this over and I am ready to vote on it. Let's go!

BILLS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Without objection, the Chair will pass over the remaining bills on the final passage and third reading calendar. The Chair hears none.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I realize it is very late. I had some remarks to make today which I think are of great importance to the membership.

However, I believe I will give up the opportunity today and ask for recognition tomorrow to make my remarks.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair thanks the gentleman.

STATEMENT BY SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

The SPEAKER pro tempore.

The Chair asks the indulgence of the House for a moment. The Chair would like to make a very short statement.

The Chair wishes to state that he very much appreciates the invitation of the Speaker to preside as Speaker pro tempore during today's session.

That pleasure is only exceeded for me personally by the pleasure of seeing our Speaker back in the Hall of the House, physically well and able to perform his duties. I know that I personally, and I think I speak for every Member of this House, when I say to him that we wish him continued good health and Godspeed.

At this time I turn the gavel back to the Speaker.

The SPEAKER (HIRAM G. ANDREWS) in the Chair.

The SPEAKER. The Chair desires to thank the gentleman from Armstrong for the particularly able way in which he presided today.

The Chair desires to compliment the House. This House today has been a Chamber of which anyone can be proud. You have complied with all of the parliamentary requirements contingent upon the dignity this House should enjoy.

The Speaker wants to say for himself that he thinks in his head he is perfectly well, but someone has not informed my legs. When I start out I find that my feet and my knees don't do what my head tells them to do, so for a few days I hope that by using the talent in the House you will forgive me if I don't stand here during a long session. I think by another week I will be able to take on all comers.

RESOLUTIONS PASSED OVER

The SPEAKER. Without objection, the order of business of resolutions will be passed over. The Chair hears none.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to compliment the Majority Leader. We have seen a miracle here today. After thirteen months he had one hundred percent attendance and I think he should be congratulated.

The SPEAKER. Prod him enough and he will get 101 per cent attendance.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to thank the Minority Leader for his misdirected thanks.

I do not think anything I did or said brought our Members here today. I think they always want to be here, but today it seems as though they were not delayed or kept away by some great reason. So I think his thanks should be directed to the entire membership of the Democratic party, and I add mine to it.

The SPEAKER. Constant practice makes perfect, and we have been practicing for a year.

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE PENNSYLVANIA TRAINING SCHOOL AT MORGANZA

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, pursuant to a Concurrent Resolution, adopted by the Senate and the House of Representatives, Resolution No. 113, creating a Joint Investigating Committee to investigate alleged unhealthy conditions at Morganza, I have the honor to inform the Members of the Senate that the committee held five days of public hearings, at which time quite a number of witnesses were heard. In addition, there were 1,135 pages of transcribed testimony taken.

I also wish to report to the Members of the Senate that the report I am about to file is unanimous. Every member of the committee signed this report, with the exception of Senator Holland, who is absent. However, he concurs in the subject matter contained in the report. I also wish to advise the Members of the Senate that after this report is submitted, mimeographed copies of the findings of the committee will be placed upon the members' desks.

Before submitting the report, Mr. President, I wish to publicly thank the Members of the Senate who served on the committee and the Members of the House who served on the committee. I believe there was very little politics, if any, in this investigation. I am proud to work with such a fine group of men.

Mr. President, on behalf of the Joint Investigating Committee, investigating the Morganza conditions, I present to the Chair the following report.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President, having served as Co-Chairman of that Investigating Committee with Senator Lane, I merely wish to concur in the statements which he has made. The committee worked in harmony; the committee attempted to do what the resolution directed it to do, with only one thought in mind, that we would bring recommendations that would, in some way, act for the betterment of the institution. We believe that we have done that and we sincerely trust that the Senate and the House of Representatives will approve and accept our report.

The PRESIDENT. This Report will be noted in the Appendix to the Legislative Journal.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REPORTED FROM COMMITTEE

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to make report from committee at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am directed by the Committee on Education to report a Senate Concurrent Resolution, as committed, relating to Senate Bill No. 192, Printer's No. 246.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease for a moment.

(The Senate was at ease.)

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, Senator Mullin informs me that this resolution, which I just reported from the Committee on Education, was to be re-referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare and reported for that purpose. Therefore, I will amend my report.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RE-REFERRED

Mr. BERGER, from the Committee on Education, returned to the Senate, Senate Concurrent Resolution, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

RETURNING TO THE GOVERNOR SENATE BILL No. 192 WITHOUT AMENDMENT

In the Senate, January 23, 1956.

Resolved (the House Concurring), That Senate Bill No. 192, Printer's No. 246, entitled "An Act providing for and regulating the licensing and practice of practical nursing; imposing duties on the State Board of Nurse Examiners and imposing penalties," which was recalled from the Governor December 28, 1955, for the purpose of amendment be returned to the Governor without amendment.

which was re-referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

INTERROGATION

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, I desire to interrogate, the gentleman from Potter, Senator Berger.

The PRESIDENT. Will the gentleman from Potter, Mr. Berger, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. BERGER. I will, Mr. President.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Did I understand you to state that this resolution was to be re-referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare?

Mr. BERGER. That was the request that I made at the prior request of Senator Mullin, who said that was the understanding he had with the Chairman of the Committee, Senator Wagner.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Mr. President, may I ask whether or not that was the recommendation of the Committee on Education, which had this bill and reported the bill from committee?

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, unfortunately, I left the committee meeting at 10:30 o'clock in order to attend a meeting of the Committee on Labor and Industry. However, Senator Wagner handed me the resolution, prior to leaving Harrisburg, and requested that I report the resolution out, saying that that had been the action of the committee. Just now Senator Mullin came to me and said that he had arranged with Senator Wagner that this resolution should be re-referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare. In all fairness, Mr. President, I will say that the bill under discussion, to which the resolution refers, came from that committee, if I am not mistaken.

Mr. SCHMIDT. Yes, that is true. The bill did come from that committee. Whether or not the committee made that recommendation, I did not know about that. I understood it was reported out. If that is the understanding, I am perfectly satisfied that it be re-referred to the Committee on Public Health and Welfare.

Mr. BERGER. Mr. President, I am only taking the word of Senator Mullin, that that was the arrangement which he had with Senator Wagner.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. MILLER. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, last night I had an enjoyable experience in listening to a good discussion pertaining to the Northwestern Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike. At this meeting, which was called by the Western Pennsylvania Regional Planning Association, headed by Mr. Sahli of Beaver County, there were present many men from labor and industry, and men from local, county and State governments. We had quite a few House Members present and, from the Senate, we had Senator Blass, Senator Chapman, Senator Mahany, Senator Barr, Senator Dent, Senator Lane, the Lieutenant-Governor and myself present. I think we all came away from the meeting with a fuller understanding of the possibilities of economic growth in western Pennsylvania.

Therefore, Mr. President, because I thought the meeting was very important and pertinent to what we are studying here in the State Government, I would like to have added to the Legislative Journal a report of the meeting which was held last night.

The PRESIDENT. The remarks of the Senator from Beaver, together with the added report, will be made a part of the Legislative Journal.

(Following is the material requested to be made a part of the record by the gentleman from Beaver, Mr. MILLER:)

REMARKS BEFORE THE PENNSYLVANIA TURNPIKE COMMISSION

BY

I. S. SAHLI, CHAIRMAN

WESTERN PENNSYLVANIA REGIONAL PLANNING ASSOCIATION

The Western Pennsylvania Regional Planning Association was organized in 1954, for the purpose of advocating the construction of a Pennsylvania Turnpike Extension, running North and South from Lake Erie to the West Virginia border. The membership of this Association comprises a representative segment of the business, civic and political interests of ten Western tier Counties of Pennsylvania. The policy of this organization has been to compile and present to the proper authorities and the general public, the logic of a North-South Turnpike extension.

It is realized that one of the criteria for the establishment of a route for a toll road is the assurance that sufficient revenue will accrue to the operating authority to permit rapid amortization of the investment.

The terrain is more suitable for such construction than any other proposed route.

1. The route traverses a heavily populated sector of Pennsylvania. The ten Counties traversed have a population of 4,000,000 or nearly 40% of the State's total.

2. Western Pennsylvania is one of the most heavily industrialized areas in the world, with invested capital of ten billion dollars, or nearly 40% of Pennsylvania's total. The value of manufactured products approaches eight billion dollars, or 33% of the State's total. Approximately 4000 industries are located in ten Counties.

3. 775,000 or 27% of all Pennsylvania's motor vehicles are registered in these ten Counties.

4. The Western Pennsylvania North-South Turnpike would serve as a link in the proposed short route to the South. With the completion of the New York Thruway and all the traffic arteries that serve it from the East and North, and with the completion of the Ohio and Indiana Turnpikes and other express highways in Michigan and Minnesota, it is obvious that a tremendous volume of Southbound traffic would be funneled into this route, part of which is already realized by the completion of the West Virginia Turnpike. If built, this highway would be the shortest route to Florida from all of Western Pennsylvania, the Mid-West, and all the traffic arteries serving the New York Thruway.

5. The completion of the St. Lawrence Seaway and the challenge it will bring to the Port of Erie, is another very important reason why the Pittsburgh industrial area should be connected with an improved Port of Erie by this Turnpike Extension.

6. There is a greater concentration of institutions of higher learning in Western Pennsylvania than in any other possible location in the State. The activities of these time-honored campuses should add materially to the total revenues of this Turnpike Extension.

7. Today a large percentage of Pennsylvania's economic strength emanates from installations in Western Pennsylvania. Not only would the construction of such a facility encourage them to remain here and expand their businesses, but inevitably new industries would be attracted to this area.

You will note that this Association does not pinpoint this route, but presents it in general with the thought in mind that the Engineers will locate it where most practical.

8. We believe that Turnpikes, wherever economically feasible, are the answer to the critical need of immediate modern highway development. It is our firm belief that the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission in their wisdom, based upon engineering surveys and the logics presented above, will move quickly on the authorized Erie Extension.

Respectfully submitted,

PLANNING ASSOCIATION

JOHN W. GRAJCIAR, DIRECTOR, DISTRICT 21
UNITED STEELWORKERS OF AMERICA

TO THE

PENNSYLVANIA TURNPIKE COMMISSION

JANUARY 24, 1956

Gentlemen:

As a representative of Labor in Northwestern Pennsylvania, I have been greatly disturbed over the past number of years by the industrial picture in this section of our State. I have advocated, wherever it is possible, the setting up of various kinds of Area Development Associations for the purpose of trying to promote industrial growth in this part of the State, because I realize that it is much easier to keep up with the growing American Industrial Development in a growing community than it is in a community that is slowly dying out. We have seen the picture of unemployment in a great number of communities in the State of Pennsylvania, particularly in the Northeastern part of our State and the Southern part of the Western tier of counties in the State. For that and other reasons which I will enumerate later, I am very much interested in trying to make our area, once again, one in which the area could compete with other places, not only in holding what industries we have at the present, but to induce other industries to come into this part of the State. Let me give you briefly some of the things I am talking about.

In the year 1931, United States Steel Corporation had plants in New Castle, Pennsylvania, and Farrell, Pennsylvania, employing approximately 18,000 people. Today, they do not have a single person employed in this area. In the National Tube Company of Ellwood City, Pennsylvania, they had up until recently, approximately 3,800 employees and are now down to less than 2,200 employees, and we have been desperately fighting with the corporation not to shut down this plant as they said that they would do in a very short time. In the United Engineering and Foundry Company of New Castle, Pennsylvania, there were approximately 2,600 employed 5 years ago, and just recently they moved completely out of this area. The Bossert Division of Rockwell Spring and Axle Company, had 1,900 people 18 months ago, and are now down to less than 500 employees.

We have had no growth in the so-called heavy industry or durable goods industry in our district. Mercer County is losing ground in our industry. Venango County is in bad shape. Crawford County also is in bad shape, and Erie County has been slipping fast.

Most of these plants that I have enumerated that have been moving away from this section of the country have moved away on to waterways for cheaper transportation. We have no waterway transportation in this entire area with the exception of a slight movement of freight on Lake Erie, in Erie, Pennsylvania. Freight rates have jumped more than 200% since 1941 in the type of industry that we have in this area. Our only hope of preserving what we now have, and possibly of bringing in new industry, is to have some form of transportation that can meet at least partly some of the savings that are had by the people on the waterway transportation routes. It might interest the Commission to know that the sole remaining basic steel producer in this area is the Sharon Steel Corporation, and that in order to stay in business, they are now shipping 70% or more of their finished product by truck.

I also want to point out to the Commission that in 1954 the U. S. Department of Labor listed 43 different cities as being in the critical labor market area in this country. This means that these cities had 8% or more of its workers unemployed at that time. Eight of those cities were in the State of Pennsylvania and two of those 8 were in the area that we are representing here today. One of those cities was New Castle, Pennsylvania, and the other was Erie, Pennsylvania. Furthermore, the only reason that Mercer County was not placed on the critical labor market area was the fact that the U. S. Department of Labor had placed Mercer County into the Youngstown labor market area, but the actual story is that in Mercer County much more than 8% of the workers were unemployed during the 1954 slack period. The same thing was also true with most of Crawford County.

Another observation which I noted recently and which I made to the Commission, and I can only speak for the Steelworkers' Union alone in this regard, is that we have approximately 4,000 less dues paying members today in this area than we had in October of 1953, and if this trend exists in other industries, it certainly does not present a very nice picture for the future. This fact, as the records indicate, shows that we are not keeping pace with the growing population in providing enough jobs for the younger people in this area, with the result that many people have to go to other places to get employment. It is estimated that in New Castle alone, there is over 4,000 people working in Youngstown, Ohio, and nearby communities because of lack of jobs around here.

What I am trying to point out to the Commission is, that in this area along the proposed Western Route of the North-South Turnpike that we are discussing with you today, (with the possible exception of Beaver County) is that all of the rest of the counties, namely; Lawrence, Mercer, Crawford, and Erie Counties are not doing so well.

As bad as the picture may have been up to this time in the need of added employment in industry, there is, however, a number of important developments recently, if taken advantage of could certainly change this picture considerably. One of them, is the development of the New York Thruway and the connecting up of it with this area would certainly be a great help in opening up new markets for industries in this section of the State. The other is the development of the St. Lawrence Seaway, providing that we don't let Ohio get the jump on us in port development and development of good highways and railroad facilities along the Lake Erie section of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

There have been a large number of surveys made by a number of industrial planning groups, economist from banks in this area in which they all agree that the development of the St. Lawrence Seaway could very easily change this entire area into not only a thriving industrial area, but one that could very easily develop a boom and bring in new industries and enlarging the present industries. While we realize that the Commission cannot directly concern itself with the problem of port development and railroad facilities, it can certainly help build a series of fast lateral highway networks that will be the stimulus needed to do this other part of the work that is so vitally needed in this part of the State of Pennsylvania.

We earnestly hope that the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission will give this matter the utmost consideration; we feel that we are entitled to this inasmuch as there has been consideration given to other parts of the State, and we feel that we are justified in asking for this help for the counties in Northwestern part of the State of Pennsylvania

Sincerely submitted on behalf of the Western Pennsylvania
Regional Planning Association.

JOHN W. GRAJCIAR

REMARKS BEFORE THE PENNSYLVANIA TURNPIKE COMMISSION

BY

HONORABLE ARTHUR J. GARDNER
MAYOR OF ERIE, PENNSYLVANIA

Gentlemen:

My interest in the development of the Erie Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike, closely parallels the life of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission, as it presently is constituted. But it is only natural that my conclusions cannot compare with the information that lies before the Commission; and my acquaintance with the multitude of technical problems involved can hardly match that of you men, with whom these matters are a day-to-day affair.

However, I take it upon myself, as Mayor of Erie, to discuss with you what I consider a desperate need for speedy construction of the Erie Extension—the North-South link of the Turnpike system in Western Pennsylvania.

THE OHIO FACTOR

The State of Ohio, late last Autumn, earmarked $75 million for the construction of an expressway—part toll, part free—from Ashtabula, Ohio, to East Liverpool, Ohio.

This is the core of the matter and signifies three things:

1. The State of Ohio proposes—with this expressway—to service its rich industrial area in southeastern Ohio and extending down along the Ohio River.

2. The State of Ohio proposes to service, also, the vast commercial activity of the Pittsburgh region. And, summing up these points.

3. The State of Ohio proposes to create, by this expressway, a hub of port development—in the Cleveland-Ashtabula region—that ultimately will rival, if not surpass, the activity of the Port of New York

THE HISTORIC FACTOR

Perhaps Ohio—in pushing ahead with its plans for this North-South expressway—is making a tragic mistake. But that belief is not consistent with history.

It is historic that projections of potential revenues for proposed toll superhighways have been pitifully underestimated. In nearly every case, the volume of traffic created by the modern toll road has generated traffic—and revenues—enough to stagger the imagination of the most conservative banker.

I have only to point to our own Pennsylvania Turnpike—the original, the grand daddy of all modern turnpikes. Since its early success—in the depression years, when the anticipated traffic counts and the sales of automobiles were a mere 12 per cent of the nearly 8 million automobiles produced and sold in 1955—the Pennsylvania Turnpike has stood as collateral—or as a darned good example—for every superhighway built in the past 10 years.

THE TRAFFIC COUNT FACTOR

I am told the Turnpike Commission has before it information that the Turnpike may be feasible at present up to Route 322, just below Meadville. That seems quite logical; but it stands as proof that an adequate highway—Route 322—is diverting much lake-bound traffic from the Port of Erie to the ports of Cleveland and Ashtabula.

THE FINANCIAL FACTOR

I am not satisfied that present traffic counts for the Erie Extension are a final factor in this matter.

Now I know the North-South movement of traffic in the U. S. has not been traditional. Our forefathers pushed westward; hence, the trails crossing the nation run east-west.

However, modern commercial development, more and more, are pointing to a north-south diversion of pleasure and commercial travel.

Applying this principal, the traffic counts must take into consideration the combined potential of ALL North-South roads that cross the tangents off Pittsburgh and Erie. Thus, the projection also must take into account traffic counts of certain existing Ohio highways.

I do not propose to dictate to the Commission in the matter of finances. I merely ask for clarification of the possibility that this Commission might pledge parts of its present revenues as collateral for the Erie Extension.

THE ECONOMIC FACTOR

Now, I have here a figure that does not disregard Mr. Grajciar's summary of factory shutdowns and partial shutdowns in Western Pennsylvania. It is a figure that deals with NEW industrial installations. I am informed by the Erie Chamber of Commerce that—in post-war expansion—Northwestern Pennsylvania has lagged behind Northeastern Ohio—and the figures are startling.

In Northwestern Pennsylvania, post-war industrial expansion has amounted to only 20 to 25 million dollars. In Northeastern Ohio, post-war industrial expansion totals three and a half billion.

I do not imply that construction of the Erie Extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike alone, will transpose these two figures.

But, I turn for recent proof, that Turnpikes mean increased industrial activity, to the New York State Thruway. In a recent summary, the Wall Street Journal says:

“New industries along the Thruway route are providing employment for 30,000 persons and the total estimated payroll is upwards of $100 million annually,” says B. D. Tallamy, Chairman of the Thruway Authority. “The capital cost of these new and expanded enterprises is placed at $150 million.”

“General Electric now has seven plants on the Thruway or close to it. William M. Baker, Manager of manufacturing for GE’s electronics division, Syracuse, enthuses: ‘The Thruway helps make economical a system of satellite plants.’

“GE’s operations are set up so the Thruway becomes a super connecting line between the plants, over which parts and assemblies are channeled.”

It is foolish to come before this Commission and declare that the Turnpike will inspire GE or Westinghouse or some other Company to do the same thing. At this long distance we can only act upon the accumulation of sound business acumen. In 1956, we know—as men from all phases of business life—that fast, efficient transportation facilities are an important catalyst to industrial development.

I need not recite for you men the importance of the added wealth that increased commerce will bring to Pennsylvania. You are familiar with the statistics that graphically outline what 100 new factory jobs mean in terms of added professional men, added storekeepers, added service help and so on.

Nor need I recite to you the importance of these additional wage-earning citizens in terms of tax revenues.

But the reference must be made here to help round out this report.

Moreover, the need for the Turnpike revolves around this economic factor.

We are not here today asking for a gleaming monument to which we can “point with pride.”

We are here as Western Pennsylvania businessmen, citizens and public officials. We are here to live up to the responsibilities our neighbors of Western Pennsylvania have placed in us.

For, as Mr. Grajciar has shown, and as the U. S. Department of Commerce statistics show, New Castle and Erie are among the nation’s “critical” unemployment areas.

This Turnpike—the mere decision to build the Turnpike—will result in a new selling feature for the industrial development program of Mr. Davlin, the Governor’s Secretary of Commerce.

THE PENINSULA STATE PARK FACTOR

I have talked with Mr. Maurice Goddard, the Governor’s Secretary of Parks and Waters, with regard to the Peninsula State Park in Erie. He has done more than show an interest in this “vacationland.” He is spending millions in the development of this park. Mr. Goddard’s men are up there now, turning the Peninsula into what he has aptly termed “the Jones Beach of Pennsylvania.” It is a remarkable concept. And it is even more remarkable to see the shallow, eroded beaches we knew in 1955 being shaped into sandy shoals, a quarter of a mile out into Lake Erie.

Thus Mr. Goddard is creating a resource that will be not only a recreational advantage to Pennsylvanians, it will—through the increased commerce it develops—immeasurably shore up the economy of Erie and the Erie area, through vastly increased tourist trade.

But, I am fearful now that Mr. Goddard’s lake-side paradise will be more easily approached by Ohioans and by New Yorkers than it is by the people of Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania. It is a practical matter that, on a clear, fast Turnpike, the trip from Pittsburgh could be made in less than two hours.

On a hot summer afternoon, with the highways crowded and traffic backed up for miles, the trip is a torturous four-to-five hour trial that is becoming more and more discouraging.

THE ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY FACTOR

A fast, modern superhighway will most certainly be needed if Erie—and Pennsylvania—are to participate in the vast potential to be realized by the St. Lawrence Seaway.

As of now, Erie has no direct access, by rail, to the great industrial region of Pittsburgh.

And here is where Ohio is really outsmarting us. In behalf of the ports of Cleveland and Ash-tabula, Ohio is intent upon creating a highway that will drain off the commerce of Pennsylvania industries.

Once having beat Pennsylvania to the punch, by giving our own manufacturers quick, easy access to lake transport, Ohio will have nailed the coffin shut. That highway, with none competing on this side of the border, will condemn to the grave the industrial and commercial growth of a vital section of our own State of Pennsylvania.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

BILL ON FINAL PASSAGE

RECONSIDERATION OF HOUSE BILL No. 1129

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I move that the Senate do now reconsider the vote by which House Bill No. 1129, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 17, 1929, (P. L. 1798) entitled "An act providing a fixed charge payable by the Commonwealth on lands acquired by the State and the Federal Government for forest reserves" requiring the Commonwealth for a limited time to pay charges to counties on certain federal forest reserves.

passed third reading.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I second the motion.

The PRESIDENT. How did the Senator vote?

Mr. RUTH. Mr. President, I voted with the prevailing side.

The motion was agreed to.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

AMENDMENT OFFERED

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer an amendment at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. LANE offered the following amendment:

Amend Section 1 (Section 1), page 3, lines 10 and 13, by inserting a bracket before "two" in line 10 and after "township" in line 13.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the amendment?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I rise to oppose this amendment.

MOTION TO ADOPT AMENDMENT

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, what the amendment actually does, on page 3, line 10, there is a bracket inserted before the word "two" and on line 13 there is a bracket inserted after the word "township." The amendments are necessary because of the cost factor.

The way the legislation will read now, if the amendments are adopted, it will provide that the counties will receive two and one-half cents per acre and the school districts and townships will not receive this two and one-half cents. Incidentally, these are Administration amendments, and I move their adoption and ask my colleagues to vote "yes."

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I second the motion.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I feel that if it is fair for us to give the two and one-half cents to the county, as provided in this bill, then it is also fair to give it to the township and to the school district. I think that the original intent, or the intent of the original legislation which set up this subsidy to these political subdivisions in which we have the State forests, was to allow them to have this except within the year in which they sold a certain amount of timber off of these lands. The fact that the timber was sold in one year should not preclude them from getting this subsidy in subsequent years.

Therefore, Mr. President, I feel that all we are doing by this legislation is to legislate the intent of the Legislature in the year in which the legislation was offered which is now on the books.

Mr. President, I ask my colleagues to vote against these amendments.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the motion?

Mr. LANE. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

Mr. BARR. I ask for a roll call, Mr. President.

The yeas and nays were required by Mr. LANE and Mr. BARR, and were as follows, viz:

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, in view of the fact that all of the Members are not here, I ask unanimous consent that House Bill No. 1129, Printer's No. 1154, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. DiSilvestro, will state his question of personal privilege.

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, a short while ago, I voted against a member of the Liquor Board. I want it clearly understood that my vote was not placed in opposition to his confirmation for any personal reasons. My reasons are that I have lack of confidence in the board as it is constituted today and my feeling is that as long as I am here, I will always vote against any member of the Liquor Board, whether he be the errand boy or a member of the Commission.

On the question,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

REQUEST THAT BILL GO OVER IN ORDER

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent that Senate Bill No. 446, Printer's No. 376, on third reading, go over in its order.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection?

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, this bill has been on the Calendar since November 29th and we have discussed it many times in our Caucus. I believe that most of the Republicans feel that it is good legislation. I notice that the Senator is the sponsor of the bill and he has been asking for it to go over everytime it comes up. I cannot quite understand why he does that because we here are ready to vote for this legislation.

I, personally, feel that it is good legislation. I compliment the sponsor, Senator Lane, on his ideas incorporated in this bill, and I would like to vote for it.

Therefore, Mr. President, I object at this time to the bill going over any longer.

Mr. LANE. Mr. President, I am glad to know that the Majority Leader is in favor of this legislation. As a matter of fact, I am, too. However, when I make an agreement, I keep it. I believe there are several Members who want to oppose the bill on the floor and they have so stated to me that they wish to. They are not present at this particular time and that is the reason I requested that the bill go over in order. However, if the Majority Leader objects to its going over in order,

I would like all my colleagues on this side of the Senate to support this legislation because I feel that it is good legislation. I do want to repeat, though, that there are certain Members who wish to oppose it. Therefore, Mr. President, I requested its going over in order.

Mr. MAHANY. Mr. President, I feel that if there are any Senators who are opposed to this bill, certainly we have had many Sessions at which they could have been present, and should have been present, and probably were present. I feel that there is no justification for passing this bill over any longer. I think it is legislation which we definitely need on the books of the State of Pennsylvania and I want to vote for it.

The PRESIDENT. There being objection to the bill going over in order, the question recurs.

And the question recurring,

Will the Senate agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

(During the calling of the roll, the following occurred:)

Mr. DiSILVESTRO. Mr. President, having voted under a misapprehension, I desire to be recorded as voting "no."

The PRESIDENT. The gentleman from Philadelphia will be so recorded.

The yeas and nays were taken agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution, and were as follows, viz:

HONORABLE JOHN CARL MILLER

Mr. BARR. Mr. President, I ask unanimous consent to offer a resolution at this time.

The PRESIDENT. Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

Mr. BARR offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 24, 1956.

In past years many distinguished men have served as members of the Pennsylvania State Senate. It is with a feeling of joy and satisfaction that we congratulate one such distinguished member, the Honorable John Carl Miller, upon the thirty-sixth anniversary of his birthday, which falls on the twenty-seventh day of January, 1956.

Senator Miller, though young in years, has actively pursued and attained many goals in a relatively short span of years. The son of Dr. and Mrs. John L. Miller, and the husband of Mildred Jean (nee Jeffrey) Miller, he is well known in Western Pennsylvania for his numerous activities in civic and fraternal affairs.

A veteran of World War II, he served our State and country faithfully. He has always shown a sincere interest in and extended a helping hand to his fellowmen, regardless of race, creed or color.

Before coming to the Senate he rendered distinguished service to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania as a member of the House of Representatives; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of Pennsylvania hereby congratulates the Honorable John Carl Miller on the celebration of his thirty-sixth birthday, and extends its best wishes for abundant health and happiness in the years ahead.

The PRESIDENT. The Senate will be at ease, awaiting communication from the House of Representatives.

(The Senate was at ease.)

The PRESIDENT pro tempore (M. Harvey Taylor) in the Chair.

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE TO INVESTIGATE CONDITIONS AT PENNSYLVANIA TRAINING SCHOOL AT MORGANZA

The SPEAKER laid before the House the report of the Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Representatives appointed pursuant to Resolution No. 113 to investigate conditions at the Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza, which was read by the Clerk as follows:

To the Honorable, the Members of the Senate and House of Representatives, Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

The Joint Committee of the Senate and House of Representatives appointed pursuant to Resolution No. 113 of the 141st Session of the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating to conditions at The Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza respectfully reports:

1. An inspection of The Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza was made personally by the Members of the Joint House-Senate Investigating Committee.

2. Public hearings were held by the Committee at which many witnesses were heard, 1135 pages of testimony taken and transcribed and many exhibits displayed and documents received.

3. In reply to the specific directive of the Resolution that the Investigating Committee report to the respective branches of the General Assembly as to the truthfulness of charges that The Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza is purportedly reminiscent of ancient and generally outmoded practices in its treatment of female trainees; and further that the female trainees at the training school are confined in cells with inadequate heating, clothing, no proper diet and no sanitary facilities, we find as a fact that such is the case and that there was produced at the hearings testimony and evidence to substantiate the accusations as stated in the Resolution.

4. The testimony, as heard by the Investigating Committee, disclosed that on certain occasions, known or that should have been known to the Superintendent and the Board of Trustees, events occurred at the Training School which the entire Committee agrees bordered on brutality. These included the beating of female trainees with a man's belt; the confinement of female trainees in isolation cells for periods upwards of three months without sanitary facilities or proper sleeping equipment, or even the solace of a religious representative.

5. Inspection of the premises at the Training School showed inadequate quarters for inmates, unbelievably poor sanitary facilities, unsound nutrition, outmoded school books, shacks for school buildings and an inadequate school program.

6. The Committee found that there was a lack of coordination in the chain of command and that proper supervision was not exercised. One male trainee was seriously injured, his injuries confining him to a hospital for many days, because no responsible person was present when another male trainee clubbed the first mentioned trainee senseless.

7. The Committee condemns the present merit system at the Training School.

8. The Committee found during its hearings through testimony that the fact is definitely established the Superintendent of the Training School had knowledge of conditions existing at the Training School as early as November, 1954.

9. Finally, since specifically authorized to do so by the terms of the Resolution, the Joint Investigating Committee would like to make certain recommendations to the Legislature and to the Secretary of Welfare concerning The Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza. The Committee feels that these recommendations, if adopted, will elevate The Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza to a higher standard than it now possesses. The recommendations are as follows:

A newsman quickly asked the Governor at the earliest possible time, The Pennsylvania Training School at Morganza be made an all male school and that a separate similar school for females be established.

B. When the terms of the present Board of Trustees expire, the Committee recommends that replacements be appointed to include three Juvenile Court Judges, two members of the General Assembly, only one of whom shall be from the same political party, and four members at large.

C. The Committee recommends that rehabilitation be conducted on an individual classification and that an incentive system be established at the Training School.

D. The Committee recommends that no person shall be permitted to prescribe or administer medication to trainees at the Training School without the proper license from the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

E. The Committee recommends that the education system at the Training School be accredited by the Department of Public Instruction.

F. It is recommended that an all-Faith Chapel be established at the Training School.

G. The Committee recommends that the Training School have isolation cells which are properly and sanitarily equipped. That a trainee in solitary confinement should have proper clothing and diet and that no trainees in solitary confinement should be deprived of religious counsel. Indestructible bedding and equipment should be installed in isolation cells and there should be at least one attendant to every ten occupied isolation cells at all times.

H. Specifically needed is access to medical care at all hours. The Committee recommends an improved communication system between the several buildings making up the Training School.

I. The Committee recommends that parents of any trainee, seriously injured or hospitalized, be notified immediately.

J. The Committee recommends that an on the job training program, which shall include farming and animal husbandry, be established at the Training School, and that an over-all athletic program be established under the supervision of a competent athletic director.

K. A resident Cottage Parent for each trainee cottage is recommended by the Committee and sole responsibility for trainees should be lodged in that Resident Cottage Parent, subject, of course, to the over-all supervision of the Superintendent.

L. The Committee recommends that the Superintendent, the staff, the Cottage Parents, and the Chaplains should make a quarterly report to the Board of Trustees, such report should include the status of those eligible for release and also the status of all other trainees.

M. The Committee respectfully recommends that the Board of Trustees invite the Chaplains of all faiths to attend their regular meetings.

N. The selling of the land comprising the water shed adjacent to the Training school is contemplated. The Committee strongly recommends that this land not be sold.

O. The Committee recommends that a copy of the testimony taken during the Committee hearings be turned over to the Attorney General of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. The Committee respectfully calls to the attention of the Attorney General, for his careful consideration, the testimony concerning Judy Blanque, James Moore, Robert Price, John J. Tribell, and also the testimony pertaining to the death of James O'Dell.

P. Mentally retarded children do not belong at The Pennsylvania Training School at Morgantown. These trainees should not be mixed with delinquents. A classification center is needed. The center should be located centrally in the Commonwealth. The Juvenile Courts should commit children to the center where they would receive the needed examination which will determine to which type of correctional institution the trainee should be committed.

The Committee is cognizant of the financial needs of the Training School and every consideration should be given for the proper rehabilitation of the Training School by the General Assembly.

The Committee would like to go on record as commending the Chamber of Commerce, the Junior Chamber of Commerce, other civic groups, and Episcopal Dean Moore, of Pittsburgh, for their fine work in the rehabilitation field at the Training School. Also that the two State Police Officers, Detectives T. W. Bell and W. H. Johnston, be commended. The Committee extends its grateful appreciation to the Attorney General for the use of the services of special counsel P. K. Jones.

All of which is respectively submitted by the following:

Senate Members, William J. Lane, Co-Chairman; Robert D. Fleming, Co-Chairman; John J. Haluska, Elmer J. Holland, William Z. Scott.

House Members, Michael R. Flynn, J. Dean Polen, Edwin W. Tompkins, John J. Vaughan, C. O. Williams, Raymond E. Wilt.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The report will be printed in the Legislative Journal and the testimony will be filed. Copies of the report have been placed in the mailing boxes of the Members for their information.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mrs. DONOHUE. Mr. Speaker, I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The lady will state it.

Mrs. DONOHUE. Mr. Speaker, in the Journal of Monday, December 12th, I find I was recorded as "not voting" on six bills, I am also recorded as voting on five bills interspersed.

On page 5026 on Senate Bill 773 I am recorded as "not voting" and on page 5027 House Bill 1073 I am recorded as "not voting." I know I was in my seat especially to vote on 1073, as that was the bill whereby the Department of Welfare would set up the conservation camps for juvenile delinquents in which I was very much interested.

Another reason I know I was in the Hall of the House, I have not missed any regular sessions and I have made it a point to be in my seat and answer to roll calls.

Then on page 5032 I am recorded as "not voting" on House Bill 1874; on page 5033 I am recorded as "not voting" on House Bill 1875; on page 5033 I am recorded as "not voting" on House Bill 1881, and on page 5035 I am recorded as "not voting" on Senate Bill 520.

I wish this would be corrected in the Journal.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the lady from Clinton, Mrs. Donohue, will be spread in full on the Legislative Journal.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. AMARANDO asked an obtained permission for the Committee on Motor Vehicles to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. WILLIAMS asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Mines and Mining to meet during the session of the House.

QUESTION OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Mr. TOMPKINS. I rise to a question of personal privilege.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman will state it.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, before I arrived this afternoon I understood the Morganza report was filed.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman is correct.

Mr. TOMPKINS. Mr. Speaker, in tonight's issue of the Harrisburg Evening News in their coverage of that report they have as follows:

Representative Edwin W. Tompkins bolted from the Committee on the last day of public hearings last October on the contention that "politics has crept into the hearings."

For the purposes of the record I want it to show I did not bolt that meeting. That bolt was by Senator Koprivier.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The remarks of the gentleman under the question of personal privilege will be spread in full on the Legislative Journal of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. TOMPKINS asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, there was an editorial in last night's Harrisburg Evening News as follows, it is headed "Speak Up, Governor."

In the course of his press conference last week, Governor Leader had this to say:

"The Republicans are trying to work out a beautiful scheme. They are trying to work out a beautiful scheme where they would saddle the Democratic Party with a Republican sales tax.

"And I must say that some elements of the press have not been totally uncooperative with them to pull off this diabolical scheme."

It is the last paragraph of this quotation that we would like to discuss.

A newsman quickly asked the Governor at the press conference if he was differing with the right of newspapers to advocate the sales tax and oppose the Governor's tax plans on their editorial pages.

The Governor would not elaborate on the bare bones of his broadside charge.

Other newsmen the next day brought the matter up again, asking the Governor's office for clarification.

Put in on the record, they asked.

Was the Governor referring to newspapers slanting their news stories? Was he referring to their editorials?

The Governor's office stood on his press conference declaration. It wouldn't elaborate.

It wasn't too long ago that the Governor, other Americans and many newspapers, including this one, were deploring broadside "treason" charges levelled by some Republican orators against the Democratic Party.

The Governor didn't go that far in this instance.

He limited his accusation to "some elements," not all newspapers. And he didn't challenge their patriotism. But he did question their integrity. And he left his serious charge hanging over every newspaper in Pennsylvania.

In all fairness, he should spell out exactly what "some elements" of the press have done that he considers so dishonest.

And, in all fairness, he should name names.

Does the Governor deplore broadside mudslinging only when someone else does it?

What the Governor just has done—when he charges a "diabolical scheme" and vaguely links newspapers with it—is what he and so many of the rest of us blew the whistle on when it was called "McCarthyism."

By what ever name it is called, it is one of the sleaziest tricks in politics.

Harrisburg Evening News, Monday, January 23, 1956.

Now, Mr. Speaker, it so happens that under date of January 13, 1956, there was circulated out of the Governor's office a confidential list of newspapers which were accredited for state advertising in the state of Pennsylvania, a copy of which I have here.

According to this report there are 247 newspapers in the state approved for advertising.

According to the official list as shown in the 1953-54 Pennsylvania Manual, there are 503 newspapers published in the state, not to say anything about the foreign language and professional and trade newspapers.

Based upon this information there are 256 newspapers published in the state who are barred from any state advertising.

Does this 256, Governor, represent "some elements of the press (who) have not been totally uncooperative *** to pull off this diabolical scheme?"

Among the 256 newspapers who have been blacklisted are:

Here is the record—let it speak for itself.

PERMISSION GRANTED COMMITTEES TO MEET DURING SESSION

Mr. LEONARD asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Judiciary Special to meet during the session of the House.

Mr. MORAN asked and obtained permission for the Committee on Labor Relations to meet during the session of the House.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. FILO asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to bring to the attention of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Tompkins, a newspaper item in the Evening News of January 23rd, the second section, which reads, "Ziegler Chooses City Traffic Expert." The statement reads:

"Eugene L. Simms of New Haven, Conn."—not Pennsylvania, Conn.—"will become Harrisburg's first traffic engineer February 20th."

Mr. Tompkins, I think, should interrogate the Mayor of the City of Harrisburg.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. Bell asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have sat in this House today very quietly listening to the Representative from Cameron, Mr. Tompkins, announce that Delaware County's only daily newspaper is no longer qualified to print state advertising.

I condemn this. This newspaper is the only newspaper in our county with Associated Press coverage. It is a large paper. With its being taken from the approved list, a large segment of my district will not be able to read state advertisements. I condemn this. I charge it is politics and I say it is retaliation. It is a blow at the free Press of Pennsylvania.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. JOHNSON asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, during the noon hour there was a broadcast over radio station KDKA concerning which I received a call. It was a message from the Assistant County Superintendent of Schools of Allegheny County which in effect reiterated the statewide impression that a terrific crisis is facing our schools and that it is the fault of the Legislature for not having provided the funds. I believe the message of the gentleman ended with an appeal to the people to contact their Representatives in the State Capitol to immediately end the stalemate to the end that the schools will get their money.

The remarks that I am about to make are along that very same line and the gist of my remarks is that it is not the Legislature's fault at this moment that the schools are not getting their money.

We charge that the fact that our school subsidies are not paid can be laid solely at the door of Governor Leader. As I have said before, there is money available now to pay our schools. It was available on October 14th; it was available on December 1st; it was available on December 22nd, 1955, when the Governor signed the School Appropriation Bill.

For instance, on December 1, 1955, the money available in the General Fund was as follows: Cash $15.7 million,

U. S. Loans, that is, treasury notes, $44.75 million, which makes a total of $60.45, which in effect were cash assets on December 1, 1955.

Here is a statement of the General Fund as of yesterday, January 23, 1956: There was $17 million cash in the General Fund and U. S. Loans totalling $57 million. In other words, since December 1st the Commonwealth has loaned the Federal government from $44.7 million to $57 million, or an increase of approximately $13 million in loans made by the state to the Federal government.

The total cash assets as of yesterday in the General Fund were $74 million.

The Governor signed the School appropriation Bill on December 22, 1955, which was Senate Bill No. 875. Suppose the only money available was to loan $30 million on tax anticipation notes? Did the Governor start the machinery in motion on December 22nd to loan the money? He did not. He started it on or about January 13, 1956, 22 days after the School Appropriation Bill was signed. Do you call that good faith?

The bids on the notes will be opened on February 15, 1956, and closed on February 24, 1956, over two months after the Governor signed the School Appropriation Bill.

What has happened to the three-point plan of December 20th as set out by Representative Polen to pay our schools? This plan called for:

1. Loaning the $30 million on tax anticipation notes;
2. Borrowing from the Motor License Fund which has a balance of about $60 million;
3. Using the General Fund assets, which then totaled $60 million.

Last week Representative Polen said none of the money is available under any of the three plans at this time. Information that we have received from the State Treasurer's Office indicates that the checks to the schools can go out today, and could have gone out in December if the Governor would permit them to be mailed out. Why is this instruction withheld? The Governor will say, "We need the money to pay the soldier's World War II bonus bonds on February 29, 1956, which payment totals $29 million." the answer to that is that the proceeds from the tax notes which will be available on February 24th can be used for this bond retirement.

Our answer is that the schools are not being paid because the Governor wants to present a false picture to the people—and this must stop at once. I have repeatedly said there is $907 million in taxes on our books now. Whether or not we pass a tax program here today that sum will run our government until December of 1956, so actually with proper husbandry we are only called upon to raise taxes to run the state from December, 1956, to May 31, 1957.

Here is a startling fact. The Budget Office reports that $41 million in taxes will come in during January, 1956, and $39 million will come in in February. Those are facts that anyone of you can obtain from the Budget Office or from the State Treasurer's Office. That totals $80 million in two months, revenue that has come into the coffers of this state from existing taxes.—Don't let anyone say that the state is broke with that kind of money on the books. The state has money to loan the Federal Government, but no money for our schools. Right now we have loaned the Federal Government out of the General Fund the sum of $57 million, or as I stated an increase of $13 million since December 1, 1955. If you challenge those facts, you call the State Treasurer's Office and he will give you the balance on U. S. Treasury notes on December 1st and the balance right now on U. S. Treasury notes.

Mr. Lawler, the Secretary of Highways, in his statement the other day said the Motor License Fund has loaned the U. S. Government $22.8 million, or a total of $79.8 million which our state government has loaned the Federal Government and, I repeat, no money for our schools.

We are addressing ourselves to Governor Leader and we say that he should do the following immediately:

Stop this cruel hypocrisy which is being practiced on our schools.

Immediately direct the State Treasurer to sell these government bonds and with the cash on hand, all of which would total $74 million in the General Fund, pay the money to our schools today or tomorrow. Then let us have the House Rules Committee release the bill from Committee which Representative Smith and myself introduced last week, which would permit borrowing by the General Fund from the Motor License Fund.

If this is done our schools will have their money within six days, as was promised by Representative Polen on December 20, 1955, when we passed the School Appropriation Bill.

Now is the time for action. If the Governor would move, just lift his telephone and call the State Treasurer and say, "Sell those treasury notes, sign the checks, mail them out tomorrow," our schools would have their money. We are getting sick and tired of being hammered over our heads back home by false propaganda that is coming out of Harrisburg saying that we do not have the money, we do not have the money, and it is that terrible Legislature, Democrats and Republicans, who are crippling our schools. I say that is false.

Representative McCann, I notice from the papers, made a speech last week: "Unless something is done, 22 schools are going to close," he understands.

I say that is all unnecessary. The money is available. The Governor should call the State Treasurer, issue those checks and our schools will be paid and then we can in a leisurely way here, the next week or so, pass a tax program that we on this side, if we are going to have to furnish the major part of the votes for it, will feel we can honestly vote for instead of having a Democratic bill rammed down our throats.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. POLEN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I have listened to the gentleman from McKean, and so far as his figures are concerned I do not believe I would dispute them, because I believe they are correct.

However, there are certain things which should be explained. He mentioned the three-point plan which I brought before this House in December, and I think the checks could have been sent out at an earlier date so far as the actual dollars and cents available were concerned.

I believe he used the sum of $15 million cash balance in the General Fund and $44 million which he said was loaned to the Federal Government.

I might say that this is not money loaned to the Federal Government as we ordinarily speak of a loan, but these are temporary Treasury Notes bought for temporary investment so that the Commonwealth will receive an interest return and at the same time have the money available practically as cash.

The facts in the case are that we had approximately $44 million due the fourth class school districts, which I wanted to see paid and I believe every Member of this House wanted to see paid. However, if we had liquidated the temporary cash investments and paid the school districts, it would have left the General Fund balance at approximately $15 million.

Fiscal experts have said that a safe amount in the General Fund is around $40 to $50 million.

Now we will take up further the question of borrowing from the Motor License Fund. It is true that with proper legislation we can borrow from the Motor License Fund, but the point is that any money so borrowed must be repaid within the biennium in which it is borrowed and only one borrowing can be made during the biennium. If we had borrowed this money at this time, it would be necessary to repay it by the end of this biennium on May 31st. When we consider that we have sold $60 million of tax anticipation notes and we are in the process of selling $28 million more, that will be $88 million which must be paid in cash by the end of the biennium. If we borrowed from the Motor License Fund at this time, it might have made an impossible situation unless we had a tax program.

We now have in process of selling these tax anticipation notes which the gentleman said, I think, would be on the 24th of February, and I believe he is correct.

But a further complication arose in connection with the payment of these school subsidies, and that was the fact that we have approximately $30 million of debt service due by the 1st of March. It seemed unwise to pay these subsidies and reduce our cash balance to $15 million, when we don't actually know we are going to get any bids on these $28 million of tax anticipation notes, when we were faced with paying the ordinary running expenses of the Commonwealth in addition to the bond payments that would be due by the end of February.

As I understand it, this decision was not made by the Governor alone. It was made by the Governor, the Auditor General and the State Treasurer. I think they are the fiscal officers, the executive officers, charged with that responsibility.

I want to see the schools paid and I have long labored in their behalf to see that they get their money just as soon as possible, but we must take into consideration that when we speak of the taxes that are estimated to be received in January and the taxes that are estimated to be received in February, we cannot very well place in jeopardy the solvency and the financial standing of this Commonwealth by leaving the door open to a situation which might result in a definite default on the payment of bonds and interest.

I do not think the Governor at any time has ever thought, and I have heard him say many times to the contrary, that he wanted to delay the payments to the schools or to anyone else for one minute. I am sure that no Member of this House wants to do that.

The financial situation is such though that prudence demanded that they take the steps that were taken. I felt that my plan was sound, I think it would have worked, but when we take into consideration what could have happened if the tax anticipation notes were not sold, if there were no bidders, if we take into consideration that the estimated yields of the taxes to come in in January and February were not received and we had liquidated our temporary cash investments, we would have been placed in an intolerable financial condition.

As much as I regret it the schools were not paid when we hoped they would be paid. I regret very much that it was not done, but I believe that the action taken by those charged with that responsibility was proper.

Mr. Speaker, I have been told by the Budget Office that the target date for the payment of the fourth class district school subsidies is February 10th, and if anything can be done to advance that date the Budget Director, Mr. Bradley, assured me it would be done.

As to the blame for this situation, I believe the real blame goes back to the fact that we do not have a tax program on our books. I am not going to apologize for the fact that I voted for two tax programs, and I am prepared to vote for another one today. I think it ill behooves those who have voted against a sound tax program whether they like it or not. I do not like some of the tax programs any better than possibly the gentleman from McKean does, perhaps I do not like the one we are going to vote on today, but I believe that the financial stability of this Commonwealth is paramount. I believe those on this side of the House who voted for these taxes have placed themselves in a sound position. I hope this House will resolve the tax problem and we will have financial stability in this Commonwealth.

I want to assure the gentleman from McKean that he is absolutely wrong when he said there is any plan or any motive on the part of the Governor to delay these payments one hour. I do not believe the Governor of this Commonwealth has the authority to call the State Treasurer and tell him to send these checks out. We operate under a system of the Department of Public Instruction sending the warrants to the Auditor General, they go to the State Treasurer, and I believe that is a matter of fiscal and auditors' policy and not one of the executive.

I also believe that the liquidation—I may be incorrect on this, but I believe I am correct—of the temporary investments of the Commonwealth is a matter that is also decided by the State Treasurer, the Auditor General and the Governor.

I want to assure the Members of this House that I will do everything in my power to see that the checks go out to the fourth class districts just as soon as they can. I have been pushing for that and I have been checking on it every day. I hope that we will resolve the tax problem and the checks for all of the school districts will roll as soon as possible.

Mr. JOHNSON. Mr. Speaker, I will forever defend the right of Mr. Polen to say what he has just said, but I do not believe that it is a sufficient answer to the people of Pennsylvania. I do not personally, and I am sure the Members on this side of the House do not buy his explanation. It does not hold water. You won't have any more money on February 10th to pay the schools than you have right now. Our plan would be to sell those treasury bonds and use the cash to pay the schools and then when the tax anticipation notes money comes in on the 24th of February, use that to retire the bonds.

You realize that the next four months are the highest revenue producing months as far as the Commonwealth is concerned. The corporate net income tax payments are due at that time; the capitol stock payment is due; the gross receipts tax, as far as the utilities are concerned, is due. The coffers of the state will just literally burst, you might say, with tax money, in the next three or four months.

I say that now is no time for caution as far as the state is concerned. Just because someone says it is not good husbandry to deplete the State Treasury at this time to pay our schools, I say that is information that is a caution which the emergency does not call for at this time. There is no reason for it. Back on December 22nd, the Governor should have given the State Treasurer notice to sell those bonds and use the cash and pay the schools, and you won't have any more money on February 10th than you do right now to pay the schools with.

I would like to ask Mr. Polen, where are you going to get money on February 10th? This is the 24th of January, that is just a few days away, the money will not be in from the tax anticipation notes and you are going to need that to pay the bonds on February 29th, the World War II bonds. Therefore as I say, I think that the gentleman's answer is not adequate as far as the people are concerned, because we have the money, we have the resources and now is no time for being careful about whether there is money in the State Treasury for a lot of other things. I say the most important thing right now is to pay our school districts so that our schools will go on. Then we can pass, as I said, an adequate tax program here that will meet with the approval of the people of Pennsylvania instead of our being here day after day so that the schools can get their money.

And even if we pass a tax program today, it will not bring in a dime quickly. It will be months before any money will come in from that tax program, and they will end up selling those bonds and using available cash anyhow to pay our schools.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I believe that the financial situation on February 10th will be much better known as to the cash which we will have available than it would have been in December, or than it would have been at any time during this month.

If I heard the gentleman correctly, he told us of the greatly increased tax monies that were going to come in during the month of January. Well by that time we will have the benefit of knowing how much money we will have. We will be within a short period of when the tax anticipation notes can be sold. We will know whether we have sufficient funds available without that tax sale to pay for the bond payments of approximately $30 million which will be due at the end of February.

I do not know whether Mr. Johnson, the gentleman from McKean, considers my answers adequate. I have tried to give him facts not fiction. I would say however, if there is any point on which I have not answered him correctly or sufficiently I will be very glad to be interrogated and in my limited knowledge try to enlighten him.

I do think, Mr. Speaker, as I said recently on the floor of this House, that the payment of the money to the schools, I don't believe, should be a political issue. I regret that they have not been paid but I cannot agree with the gentleman from McKean that this is not a time for caution. I believe it is always sound practice, whether it is in government, whether it is in your personal affairs, or whether it is in business, that you always provide for the moneys to take care of obligations that you have made to pay on a certain date. I believe that is wise.

I do not think that the Governor, I reiterate, has the authority to call the State Treasurer and tell him to do certain things. His is an independent office and I believe in my conversation with the State Treasurer, he definitely told me that a safe operating balance was $40 to $50 million. Certainly when we reduce it to $15 million, we are getting a little on the shaky side, I am afraid.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. McCANN asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, a moment ago the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson stated that he understood I had made a statement that twenty or twenty-two schools were closing in this Commonwealth. I, of course, am only in the western part of the state and normally only read the papers in the western part of Pennsylvania, the Pittsburgh papers and my own local papers.

The statement I made was that I had received resolutions from twenty school districts which intended to take action, two of which had set a closing date. One was from Union County and one from Bedford County, which had set the closing date of their schools as February 1st, 1956.

The other resolutions stated that they would not be able in their opinion to pay or operate past that date. I am sure there are many other school districts in the same category, because I think in my neighboring county of Fayette, in Redstone Township, I believe they have not paid any school teachers since October of last year, but I received no resolution from that school district.

I would like to clarify for the purposes of the record the statement that I made in a convention speech in Waynesburg last Friday, for which I give credit to the Pittsburgh papers which carried it in the right way, just as I expressed it, rather than what Mr. Johnson may have heard from some other paper or news program across the state.

The statement I made, I repeat again, I received two resolutions with a closing date, one from Bedford County one from Union County. The others did not have any closing date but felt they could not under any conditions pay past the first of February.

The amount of the tax on such sale, payment of which to the Commonwealth is evidenced by such cancellation, shall become a legal charge in favor of the vendor and against the consumer, which shall be collected by the vendor as provided by this section in addition to the price, and at or immediately after such collection, the vendor shall deliver one part of each canceled prepaid tax receipt to the consumer and retain the other part.

If the tax does not apply to a sale, the consumer must furnish to the vendor and the vendor must obtain from the consumer a certificate indicating that the sale is not legally subject to the tax. The certificate shall be in such form as the secretary shall be regulation prescribe, and if no certificate is furnished or obtained within the period for filing the vendor's return for the semi-annual period in which such sale is consummated, the tax shall apply.

No certificates need be obtained or furnished where the item of tangible personal property sold is never subject to the tax imposed, regardless of use.

Section 302. Issuance and Design of Prepaid Tax Receipts. Prepaid tax receipts shall be issued by the secretary in such denominations as he deems necessary. They shall be printed on durable paper, shall be of different design and distinctly different coloring for each denomination and shall bear plainly on their face the denominations represented thereby.

Section 303. Powers and Duties of the Secretary of Revenue; Prepayment of Tax. The secretary shall design and procure prepaid tax receipts. The secretary shall enforce and administer this act and he may adopt and promulgate such rules and regulations as he deems necessary to carry out the provisions thereof. The secretary may:

(1) Prescribe the form and manner of canceling prepaid tax receipts.

(2) Authorize a vendor to prepay the tax levied by this act upon sales of things produced or distributed by such vendor and waive the collection of the tax from the consumer in the manner otherwise provided in this act, but no such authority shall be granted or exercised except upon application to the secretary and unless the secretary after a hearing, advance notice of which must be given by the secretary to all vendors in the same general classification as the applicant finds that the conditions of the applicant's business are such as to render impracticable the collection of the tax in the manner provided by this act and upon the applicant furnishing bond, payable to the Commonwealth, in such amount as the secretary determines to be sufficient to secure the prepayment of the taxes levied by this act, in the manner desired, with surety to the satisfaction of the State Treasurer, with whom the bond shall be filed, nor shall the authority granted be exercised, nor the vendors actually selling the products be exempted from the other provisions of this act unless the person to whom the authority is granted prints plainly upon the product sold or offered for sale a statement that the tax has been paid in advance.

The secretary shall, for the audit of vendors' sales tax accounts and records, employ a sufficient number of auditors, not less than one auditor for each one thousand vendors' certificates outstanding.

Section 304. Powers and Duties of State Treasurer and County Treasurers, Agents. All prepaid tax receipts procured by the secretary shall be immediately delivered to the State Treasurer, who shall execute duplicate receipts, therefor showing the number and aggregate face value of each denomination received by him and deliver such receipt to the secretary and a duplicate to the Auditor General. The State Treasurer shall be accountable for all prepaid tax receipts received and unsold by him. He may appoint agents for the sale of prepaid tax receipts at places he deems expedient and require of every agent, except county treasurers, such bond or other security as he deems necessary. All county treasurers shall be agents for the sale of prepaid tax receipts and shall give bond with sufficient surety in favor of the Commonwealth in the manner prescribed by law for the discharge of all duties enjoined upon them by law, on behalf of the Commonwealth. Each agent shall receive an amount not to exceed one per cent of the proceeds of his sales. The State Treasurer shall deliver to each county treasurer and other agents the number and denominations of prepaid tax receipts, as in his judgment may be required for sale in each county and may prescribe such regulations and forms of receipts and reports as he deems necessary for the business of selling the prepaid tax receipts. On the fifth day of each month, the State Treasurer shall make a report, in duplicate, showing all sales of prepaid tax receipts made during the preceding month with the names of the purchasers, the aggregate face value purchased by each, and the office from which sold and shall deliver one copy to the secretary and the other to the Auditor General.

Each county treasurer and other agents shall pay on the first business day of each week to the State Treasurer all money arising from the sale of prepaid tax receipts by him during the preceding week, together with a report showing all sales, the names of the purchasers and the aggregate face value purchased by each, which the State Treasurer shall include in his monthly report. Each county treasurer shall retain for the use of the general fund of the county an amount equal to one per cent of the proceeds of his sales.

Section 305. Sale of Prepaid Tax Receipts and Cards; Redemption; Sales Tax Rotary Fund. The State Treasurer and his agents, including county treasurers, shall sell prepaid tax receipts only to licensed vendors. All prepaid tax receipts shall be sold and accounted for at a discount of not to exceed two per cent of the face value as a commission for handling and canceling the prepaid tax receipts. The secretary shall, by regulation certified to the State Treasurer, fix, within the limitations prescribed by this section, the rate of discount applicable to the sale of prepaid tax receipts to such classes of licensed vendors as he establishes. The State Treasurer shall redeem and pay for any unused or spoiled tax receipts at their net value and he shall refund to vendors the amount of taxes paid illegally or erroneously or paid on any illegal or erroneous assessment where the vendor has not reimbursed himself from the consumer. When an illegal or erroneous payment or assessment was not paid to the vendor, but was paid by the consumer, directly to the State Treasurer or an agent, he shall refund the amount thereof to the consumer. An application for refund shall be filed with the secretary on the form prescribed by him within ninety days from the date the tax receipts are spoiled or from the date it is ascertained that the assessment or payment was illegal or erroneous. The application for refund must be filed with the secretary within four years from the date of the illegal or erroneous payment of the tax. On filing of the application, the secretary shall determine the amount of refund due and certify the amount to the Auditor General. The Auditor General shall draw a warrant for the certified amount on the State Treasurer to the person claiming the refund. To pay refunds, the State Treasurer shall place ten thousand dollars ($10,000) collected in a special fund, to be known as the "Sales Tax Rotary Fund," and as required by the depletion thereof, place to the credit of the rotary fund, an amount sufficient to make the total of the fund at the time of each credit amount to ten thousand dollars ($10,000).

All prepaid sales tax cards shall be sold and accounted for in the same manner and at the same discount as prepaid tax receipts, but there shall be added to their price the actual cost of such cards to the Commonwealth as is certified to the State Treasurer by the secretary, and all money received from such sales, including such added amounts, shall be considered as revenue arising from the tax imposed by this act.

Section 306. Licensed Vendors to purchase Receipts from State Treasurer or Agents. Each vendor making taxable sales shall purchase and have on hand at all times prepaid tax receipts in suitable denominations and in amount sufficient to supply the normal requirements of his business. A licensed vendor shall procure prepaid tax receipts only from the State Treasurer or agents authorized to sell the receipts or the county treasurer of the county in which he is licensed.

Section 307. Returns and Refunds; Official Credit Memorandum. If prepaid purchases are returned to the vendor by the consumer after the tax imposed by this act has been collected or charged to the account of the consumer, the vendor shall be entitled to reimbursement of the amount of the tax so collected or charged by him, either through the cancellation of prepaid tax receipts paid for by the consumer or through the canceling of prepaid tax receipts paid for by the vendor and charged to the account of the consumer in the manner provided by this act. Upon receipt of a sworn statement by the vendor as to the gross amount of refunds during the period covered by the sworn statement, which period shall not be longer than sixty days, the secretary shall issue to the vendor an official credit memorandum equal to the net amount paid by the vendor for the canceled prepaid tax receipts. The memorandum shall be accepted by the State Treasurer or an agent at full face value from the vendor to whom it is issued in the purchase of prepaid tax receipts.

The applications for refunds, made pursuant to this section must be made within ninety days after the prepaid purchases have been returned by the consumer.

Amend Sec. 702, page 36, line 8, by striking out "Sep-".

The SPEAKER. Will the House give unanimous consent to the offering of amendments at this time? Is there objection? The Chair hears none.

On the question.

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, for the benefit of the House the amendments that have just been offered pertain to the Ohio state stamp collection plan which we on this side of the House have advocated and said that it would be necessary to be a part of any sales tax. That was our caucus' decision in this matter.

Yesterday, we tried to offer amendments. We offered amendments on clothing and trade-ins. Those amendments would have been offered yesterday but they are so lengthy that the Legislative Reference Bureau was unable to draw them up.

I would like to explain for the benefit of the Members of the House and those who do not know, some of the things we on this side of the House think the Ohio stamp collection plan would do.

There are a lot of arguments against the so-called Ohio stamp plan for collecting the sales tax. The arguments for this plan definitely outweigh those against them.

First of all we think, and it has been proven, that prepaid tax receipts cut down considerably on any chiseling. When a person pays a tax and gets a receipt given to him by the storekeeper he knows the tax has been paid and will reach the state. There could be no fraud with prepaid tax receipts. The receipt itself prevents that.

Just to elaborate on that, what happens is that the storekeeper will go to the place where they are selling stamps and pay $50 dollars, $25 or whatever it is, and buy so many stamps. When goods are purchased he gives the receiver of those goods a stamp with a number on it to prove to him that he has paid the tax.

Secondly, it helps our present fiscal situation, and I hope that the Majority will listen to this. In spite of the fact that it is going to take longer to draw up and put a receipt plan into effect, because of the printing problem, we do not deny that, it will mean that the state will receive millions of dollars more in revenue in this biennium. First of all, vendors will be required to buy their tax receipts in advance before they make their sales. In most cases the merchant will have on hand a supply to at least last them for probably thirty days. Many stores will even purchase more. This means that the state will get the tax money for next May and next June of 1957, at least we are bound to get that and probably a lot more for the period beyond. So, instead of giving you what you would get under the ordinary plan a possible fifteen or fourteen months, you will get sixteen to seventeen months' revenue in this biennium and that is when you need it.

On the basis of what the Majority Leader has estimated this bill will bring in in the next fourteen months. We estimate that the Ohio tax plan will provide $30 to $40 million more in revenue in this biennium, which would make it possible to eliminate the tax on clothing without reducing the revenue.

In the third place, the money for this will go to charitable and other organizations. Let me explain that for the benefit of those in the East who don't know the Ohio stamp plan. Charitable organizations, beneficial organizations, veterans' organizations, and we have included in our bill volunteer firemen's organizations, collect these stamps. They in turn turn in so many thousands of dollars into the state—the Veterans' organizations are in this also—they are practically the collectors of the tax. Those stamps in turn are redeemed at a certain percentage. I am picking this figure out of the air, but supposing they turned in a thousand dollars worth of stamps. They in turn probably get maybe a hundred dollars in return. That hundred dollars goes to their organization. So, you see it is going to help a lot of organizations in collecting the stamps and it is going to help avoid a lot of chiseling. The people will know at least that the money is going to be used for worthy causes because it is going to go to worthy organizations, and that the money will not be wasted on political jobholders, tax collectors collecting the money.

This money which will amount to approximately, we say, one, two or three per cent, depending entirely on what we make it, of the gross collections, and the tax will certainly not be lost.

We are told that the stamp plan will be expensive. Well, my answer to that is this: that for every dollar that is paid out because of the stamp plan, it will bring in at least two dollars in increased collections by the elimination of chiseling. There won't be cases like we heard of under the old sales tax of pennies going into somebody's pocket instead of to the state.

Every customer who pays the tax and receives a tax stamp will police this tax himself. And it won't be necessary to hire a horde of political jobholders to do it.

Now, if you are sincere on the other side of the House about keeping expenses down and keeping the costs of government down, I do believe that you people in the western part of the state know, and I believe your Majority Leader has admitted this, they have very few tax auditors and very few post-audits because they don't need them.

Again if you think there is chiseling being done under a tax plan, there is nothing in the world to keep you from putting more auditors on to do the job. But the people themselves will do the job for you. The people themselves will benefit by it, that is, their organizations will benefit by it, and I do admit, members you will not have a political organization doing the work and profiting by it, but the people will be doing it and they will have economies, and that is what I believe they are interested in in any tax plan whatsoever.

I would certainly ask that the Members on both sides of the House duly consider this and support it because it is a very efficient, and it is a very fair method of collecting the taxes.

We would like a roll call, Mr. Speaker, after the gentleman from Berks finishes speaking.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman made a very plausible argument, but I don't know where he got his information, or who furnished him with the arguments he has just made in support of these amendments.

I am rising to oppose the adoption of these amendments and I would like to state at the outset that just this morning I had a lengthy conversation with Dr. Albert Buehler, who was the Chairman of the Tax Study Committee appointed by Governor Fine several years ago, which Committee made several reports to this House.

I was informed by Dr. Buehler, among other things, that he has talked recently with the Ohio State Tax Commissioner Stanley Bower who has written several pamphlets and prepared material after making studies of their own plan indicating that it is not a good plan, and he has recommended to the State of Ohio that Ohio abandon its own stamp tax plan.

I read in the paper some weeks ago that Governor Lausche of Ohio has been trying for the past two years to have the State Legislature of Ohio eliminate the stamp tax plan on the ground that it does not stop chiseling and that it has proven to be very, very costly.

There have been states in this Union since 1933 or '34 which have had state sales taxes and Ohio is the only one which has found the stamp plan acceptable, and which has used it up until the present time.

To me that indicates that the other States examined the plan carefully, found it to be defective and too costly, and therefore, rejected it.

Now it might be true what the gentleman from Philadelphia said that for a very short period of time in this biennium, we might get some millions of dollars paid under the prepayment plan which would not come in under the system which we were using before of collecting these sales taxes. But I certainly don't think that we would be wise in adopting a plan which all of the other states using sales taxes have rejected and which Ohio will probably reject itself one of these days.

I have written a letter to the Commissioner of Ohio, asking him to send us any and all material he has concerning this plan. If it comes in due time, as I expect it will, if, as, and when this bill goes to the Senate, they will have the benefit of that gentleman's viewpoint on it, and can if they so desire, amend this law to provide for the Ohio plan of collection.

I say today it would be extremely unwise for us to adopt these amendments based on the arguments of the gentleman from Philadelphia, with no more facts than he has given us, in view of the position which has been taken by the Commissioner of the State which is using his plan.

I am asking the Members to vote these amendments down.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I am amazed at the gentleman on the other side of the House that he lets himself be mousetrapped.

He is now comparing what other States do as to the popularity of a tax plan. If the gentleman is going to compare us with other States and what they are doing in regard to their tax plans, he should have put out a sales tax bill on the first of January, because it must be popular when 34 states have it. So, if we are using popularity contests, and that is what the gentleman seems to be doing, I think he is very foolish in his argument.

I think it is a poor argument that the gentleman is bringing up because as I said 34 states today have a sales tax plan. I noticed he was very particular in his language when he said Governor Lausche told him, and he has a letter from Mr. Buehler saying that they were trying to pass legislation, and he used the word "trying" to pass legislation to eliminate the stamp tax plan. Well, Members, you are doggone right, they are trying to do it, but I don't care what the brass hats in Ohio want, if the Legislature and the people did not want it they wouldn't have any objection to taking the plan out. The people of Ohio are the ones who are interested out there, and they don't dare take the sales tax with the stamp plan out of Ohio, and you know it and so does everybody else know it. Even the Governor himself says they dare not take it out because it has helped the tax plan. So, when he says they are "trying" to take it out, that is the brass hats, and if it is so unpopular, let me say to you they would take it out, if the people of Ohio did not want the stamp collection plan. I can predict to him that Governor Lausche or his Legislature will never take it out as long as the people feel it is doing a job, that it is avoiding chiseling, that it is keeping a lot of political jobholders off the payroll and doing something for humanity and for their own charitable organizations.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I am glad to hear the gentleman speak so ably and well for the people of Ohio. I am afraid he is not speaking for the people of Pennsylvania though when he is making these arguments today.

When Governor Lausche, a Democratic Governor, advocates the elimination of it, I think he is speaking for a great segment of the people of Ohio. When the Tax Commissioner, who should know most about the subject, writes at length about why it is bad, then I think he is doing his duty by the very state employing him. He no doubt goes to great lengths in pointing out why it is not good for the State of Ohio. Any kind of a plan which takes from the people an unusual amount for collection is no good in my opinion, and it is not going to be good for Pennsylvania either.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make what I think is an interesting observation, especially in light of what the Minority Leader, Mr. Smith, said about the Ohio tax plan keeping politicians and jobholders off the payroll.

Last night I was having dinner and I ran into an old friend of mine whom I met up here last session. He was at that time employed as an administrative assistant to the then Majority Leader, Mr. Johnson, from McKean County. I casually asked him what kind of work he is doing now and he said, "I'm still with the Sales Tax Department." So you better be careful, in voting for this stamp plan you might be voting some of your own Republican Members out of a job.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, if we can keep these debates going, I am quite sure they on the other side are going to prove what I am saying is right. I believe a couple of weeks ago I told you you had laid very few off in the Sales Tax Department, you still had your jobholders sitting back there doing nothing—further proof offered by the Democrats.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

The yeas and nays were required by Messrs. CHARLES C. SMITH and JOHNSON and were as follows:

So the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, this morning when I was eating breakfast I read the morning Patriot and was much amused by an item that appeared up in the left-hand corner of the first page which reads as follows:

"GOOD MORNING—If you can keep track of status of sales tax, you're a better man than most of us."

One of the objects, among others, of today's debate will be to try to clarify for ourselves as well as for the public the status of the sales tax.

If you Members of the House are as weary of listening to taxes as I am of talking about them, you are really weary, and I suppose the public is just as weary reading about them.

Before I enter the discussion on this bill, I would like to read a short editorial which appeared in the Evening Bulletin on Thursday, January 19th. It is entitled Forever Wrangle, The Current Legislature (chronic Legislature might be better) seems determined to distinguish itself beyond just setting a record for long distance sitting.

The statesmen assembled at Harrisburg seem to be out for the title of most contentious, haggling, politically-conscious Legislature in Pennsylvania's history—and that would really be a championship.

Every one of these representatives of the people knows that Pennsylvania has got to have new taxes or cut back—and that they are not going to do much cutting back. In the 13th month of debate (an overly-dignified word for it), they have at last gotten over their biggest hurdle. Both Democrats and Republicans now seem ready to make it a sales tax.

One might think that now there would be easy sailing. Not at Harrisburg. Having agreed that much, the wrangling goes on over what exemptions? what rate? whose bill?

Zealous protection of the Commonwealth and its ordinary citizens is the theoretical reason for this, but not the true one. There is a desire on the part of some of the wranglers to protect certain groups of Pennsylvanians. The over-riding consideration, though, is to protect the dear old Republican and Democratic parties.

Each of the contentious statesmen apparently is naive enough to think that a sales tax can be trimmed and bent so that the other party will get all the blame for it. Few voters are quite that simple-minded. A sales tax emerging at a stiffer rate because of months of petty advantage-seeking is going to be blamed on all parties concerned.

Neither side is going to come out of this long tax mess looking heroic. The legislators might as well face it, and get the job over with.

I certainly do not agree with all of the statements made by the writer of that editorial, and I am sure you don't either. But I read it in order that we might keep in mind the background and the feelings as expressed in that editorial, at least of many people in this state.

I think the people of Pennsylvania are tired of waiting to see what kind of a tax will be enacted, and I think we are tired of being here trying to solve this problem. So we have come today to the point where we are going to vote on a sales tax. A lot of people would have liked to put off this day longer than this. Perhaps they would like never to see the day come when there would be a vote on the sales tax, but the day has come and this is it.

At the risk of repeating some of the things which were said yesterday during the debate on amendments offered and put into this bill, I am going to briefly review some of the events which led up to today and the vote on this bill.

The Democratic party in 1953 took a position that the sales tax was the wrong type of tax to finance the state of Pennsylvania. Your membership in this House, now in the minority, voted for it and the tax was imposed and it was put into effect. In the campaign of 1954 the Democratic party still maintained the position that the sales tax was the wrong kind of a tax to raise the necessary money for the Commonwealth. They campaigned against it, and the Democrats were elected as a majority of this House and a Democratic Governor was elected.

When the Session of 1955 began, much thought was given not only to what the Commonwealth would need for the biennium, but what type of tax should be enacted in order to raise that money. We knew that a graduated income tax was unconstitutional, the courts had so decided, and despite the fact that during the 1953 session this House passed a resolution over to the Senate seeking to amend the Constitution some day, which resolution died in the Senate, our party was still of the opinion that the taxes should be levied upon the basis of ability to pay.

The first tax program which was evolved by this administration and voted for by this House, at least by the Democratic Members, was the classified income tax. It was our conception of the closest type of a tax to a graduated income tax. You men on the other side ridiculed it, you fought against it and even though it passed the House it died a prompt death in the Senate of Pennsylvania. You men, just as we are, are entitled to your viewpoint as to whether a bill is good or bad. You stated your viewpoint, we stated ours, and nevertheless it did not become law because the Senate killed it.

Later on we proposed and passed in this House the manufacturers excise tax believing it to be a proper way to raise the amount of money necessary. That too died in the Senate.

During all of this time many statements were made indicating that the Republican party of Pennsylvania believed the sales tax was the only fair and equitable broad-base tax which should be enacted to raise this money.

We spent months going over the budget submitted by the Governor to try to determine the amount of money needed to finance the rest of this biennium. As stated yesterday, the figure that is apparently the most supportable at the present time is that we need $465 million if we are going to finance the appropriations that we think we should make during this biennium. I say much time has been spent on that budget, and I think when all the facts are known and when all of the arguments are over we will still be using a figure close to $465 million.

Now what has developed since the day in November, I guess it was, when we passed the manufacturers excise tax? First, the Senate of Pennsylvania saw fit to kill it, then it revived it, and that is House Bill 1879 which happens to bear my name. After the Senate revived it, it amended it, and amended it and amended it some more.

Prior to the time this was done, which was only a couple of weeks ago, there had been meetings between the Republican and Democratic Senators and the leadership of both the Republican and Democratic parties in the House, at which time certain proposals were made, one of which involved the use of an income tax. The Senate after caucusing with its leaders, the Senate Republicans I should say, came back to the leadership of this House with a flat "no" on the use of any income tax.

The decision was then made to bring out the sales tax and see how every person wanted to vote on a sales tax as a means of raising the money. After that meeting in which the Senate decided that we would have nothing, no means by which to finance our needs, except the sales tax, the Senate proceeds to amend House Bill 1879 and to turn it into a consumers use tax—just fancy words for a retail sales tax. The bill was, as I say, amended practically to death and that was done over the opposition of the Democratic Senators.

The point I am trying to make at the moment is that the bill as finally amended and which received only 23 Republican votes, because that is all that were present, the bill as amended would have raised the magnificent sum of about $225 million.

I would like to give you a short breakdown on that $225 million figure. The Senate was estimating that the bill which they proposed to pass would raise $305 million. That statement, I believe, was in the public Press made by Senator Kessler as the Chairman of the Finance Committee. As far as I can find out, the way they computed the $305 million was to take the eighth quarter of tax collections under the old sales tax which expired on August 31st of last year, which amount was $17 million for the quarter, that was at one per cent. Increasing the rate to three per cent, as the Senate had done, the collections would then be raised to $17 million per month instead of per quarter. They had an effective date in the bill of February 1st of this year and were therefore computing a collection period of 16 months. Multiplying the 17 by 16 months, you get approximately $270 million, and to this they added $35 million because they were including food and liquor for on-premise consumption. Adding those figures together you get $305 million.

However, after that estimate was given as the amount the bill would raise, an amendment was put into that bill excluding from the tax all clothing. It was discovered that the last month of the biennium, May of next year, could not possibly be included in any estimate, so that was another $20 million the figures were out of line.

They then proceeded to insert an exclusion for residential property, single dwellings, and the estimated revenue loss on that would be $16 million. They then exempted all drugs, another $2 million to be taken off. They then exempted coal, coke and wood, with another estimated loss of $8 million.

They then excluded sales by public utilities which sell gas which was taxed under the old act, another $10.5 million out.

They put some further exemptions in relating to manufacturing machinery and equipment in farming, another $15 million out of it.

As the bill was drawn the use tax paid by manufacturers under the old Act would have been excluded too, which was another $5 million. These exemptions totaled $81,500,000 as the estimated deduction or revenue loss from the original $305 million estimated, or roughly $225 million as the revenue which could be expected under House Bill 1879 had it been passed and sent over here and passed by us.

So it brings us to where we are today. The Senate of Pennsylvania was not able to pass an inadequate sales tax bill which it had so amended that it was obviously inadequate, and we would have had to raise over $200 million by some other tax bills.

I am not going to belabor this matter today. I think we have discussed sales taxes generally for the last six or seven months. Every time we discussed some other tax we would also discuss sales taxes. Our party position has been very clear against this bill. We have not wanted it and I doubt whether too many of us want it today. Nobody need tell any of us how serious the situation has become and how close to an actual state of bankruptcy the state of Pennsylvania has come.

I stated last week on the floor of this House that you would be given an opportunity at an early date to vote on a sales tax bill. Yesterday we spent a great deal of time debating whether it should be two per cent or three per cent and what the reasonably expected yield would be of a sales tax bill with certain exemptions and certain things included.

I find myself in a most peculiar position today in that while I am going to ask the Members of the House to vote for this bill, I am compelled by my own conscience and my own reason to make the arguments against the adoption of this bill. I am going to ask the Members of this House to vote for it because at the moment it seems to be the only alternative to state bankruptcy.

We listened for a half hour preceding this discussion to a debate concerning the crisis in the schools. All of us know that the hospitals have not received the money that they are entitled to under our laws, and there will be other institutions not receiving money when it is due unless we solve this problem, but there are many arguments against the rightness or wrongness of raising this kind of money through a sales tax.

I was a Member of the Tax Study Committee appointed by Governor Fine and we spent many hours and many days discussing different taxes and the pros and cons concerning the use of a sales tax.

When you raise approximately $400 million through the use of a sales tax, you must necessarily include things such as clothing, restaurant meals, and many other items that people must buy practically daily. If you exclude those things, you simply do not get the revenue or you have an exorbitant rate on the remaining items.

These various tax studies that have been made over the years use the word regressivity of a tax, meaning the fact that when certain things are included such as clothing, restaurant meals, and other items of that kind, the burden of paying that tax falls more heavily on the lower income groups. It is true and nobody can dispute the fact that every time you put an additional tax on something that the so-called lower economic class person must buy, you are putting more and more of the tax burden on him.

I do not know what percentage of a person's income which he has left after paying Federal taxes is used to buy items which would be taxable under this bill. I have not prepared any charts and have not had the time to have any prepared to show what percentage of the burden would fall on different groups. I dare say it would not take very long or it would not be very difficult to take the tax study report which was submitted to us in 1953 and again in 1955 and figure out what the burden will be under a tax of this kind.

If we want to maintain our policy of taxation according to ability to pay, I think definitely it is wrong to impose this kind of a tax on the people of Pennsylvania. I think so mainly because a study of Federal tax returns indicates that all the people in Pennsylvania who have a net tax liability for Federal purposes of $15,000 or more receive a taxable income of roughly $1,600 million. I am not singling out that group of people because I don't like them. I love them. I hope everybody some day can make more than $15,000 a year or have that as his net taxable income. But I am going to make the point that when we impose this type of sales tax on our people to raise $400 million we are going to let go by the board over $1,500 million worth of income, part of it at least, which would be taxed under an income tax, but will not be reached by this sales tax.

You can say I am right or I am wrong when I say that a lot of people whose incomes are in excess of $15,000 save some of that money. We know they do, we hope they do, it is essential that they do, but the money that is saved or the money that is reinvested is not used to buy any kind of a taxable item and therefore will contribute nothing under this sales tax.

It is true, of course, that people with incomes of considerable size buy more automobiles, they buy more equipment for their homes, they live better than other people, and so they should, but they still have a lot of disposable income which never is used to buy any taxable item under a sales tax. That is one of the reasons why I say that to me it is morally not right to raise this kind of money with a sales tax. It should be partly by a sales tax and partly by an income tax. That was one of the proposals which we made some weeks ago to the Republican State Senate and on which we were summarily rejected.

I have heard the argument made in connection with a sales tax that it is the most fair and equitable because people may decide for themselves whether they will buy anything. I say to you when we have a sales tax on clothing, on restaurant meals and on some of these other items that are now included people do not have much choice. They have to live, and in order to live they have to eat and they have to buy clothes and they are going to be paying this sales tax.

Even though people could defer purchases I wonder how many do. From my observation it seems to me that many people borrow into the future in order to buy the things they want today. That is common knowledge. To the extent that people do that they might even be paying sales taxes on amounts way beyond their own income and they will not be able to defer the payment of those taxes though into the future. They will simply be getting deeper and deeper into debt when we lay this additional burden on the people who are going to do the buying.

I say I find this to be a most peculiar position because when I argue in favor of something I like to have real good reasons to do so. In this instance I find that the only reason I can ask the membership of this House to vote for this bill is because it is the alternative to state bankruptcy. The public is tired of waiting for us to do something and we are tired of being here. I would like to see the Members vote on this bill today so the public knows exactly where each Member stands and we either get a tax program at this time or we don't get one.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I didn't have any intention of debating this bill at all today but I just have to answer some of the things the Majority Leader has said.

I am going to go just a bit further than he went, and I am going to agree 100 per cent with the editorial he read. I believe the people are getting tired. I know we are getting tired. I don't blame the people for getting tired because they sent us here to represent them. I don't think some of us are.

I think the gentleman should remember one thing when he quotes from the record or quotes facts. There was a famous Democrat whom I admire very much, who used to wear a brown derby. He was a very practical individual and he used to say, "Let's look at the record!"

Well now, if the gentleman wants to look at the record, let's look at it. It was his Governor who went across the state of Pennsylvania campaigning on the fact that he would eliminate the sales tax. I don't think he could deny that. It was also his Governor who went across the state of Pennsylvania saying that he would make the $100 million up by economies. I don't think he can deny that. If he denies it, I have a record of his platform here. It was his Governor who said that about $100 million, not our Governor and not a Republican that said it.

The gentleman talks about being here for 13 long months, and I agree they are 13 long months, but until this week we never even got a chance to vote for a sales tax or any other tax that we wanted, and he knows that. I think they are facts and I think that is a matter of record.

Today when we are getting an opportunity to vote on a sales tax, I might remind him that it is not our sales tax; it is a sales tax they see fit to give us. He talks about clothing. Again I might remind him that it is your people on your side of the House who want to tax the clothing of the working man, it is not our side. You voted the amendment down yesterday. It wasn't our side. So let's keep that record straight.

Then he talks about the tax programs they sent over to the Senate. Well, I don't condemn the Senate and I don't think he should condemn the Senate for voting down either the excise tax or the classified income tax. He knows and I know that never were any two taxes ever tried to be imposed in Pennsylvania that caused such a tremendous uproar of the citizens. The classified income tax caused the worst uproar we have ever had, and we were swamped up here when the excise tax came up. And he knows that as well as I do.

He also knows there is a gentleman on his side of the House who had a poll made out in Allegheny County, and I don't say and I am not kidding myself that any tax is popular, I am not that naive, but I know one thing, when he asked what they wanted in preference to a classified income tax he was swamped with letters that they wanted a sales tax. I don't think he has to go too far, if he would be truthful about the mail that he receives, whether people say "give us a sales tax instead or an excise tax or a classified income tax." I am quite sure if he reads the papers, he will find that it is a sales tax that the people want, if they have to be taxed.

Again let me remind you that they were elected on one thing—to get rid of the sales tax and to make economies. I would like sometime as a matter of record, if the gentleman on your side of the House would tell us some of the economies—I am sure the Press would like to know and I am quite sure they would like to report to the people because people love economies, Mr.

Majority Leader, and I think you would be doing yourself and your party a great service if you would sometime itemize such economies. In fact, you could do it today. I am sure, since the Governor has made his statement of all the money that he has been saving, that now because of this immense bookkeeping system, and it's a very accurate one I understand and very modern, that he can give us figures just by pushing a button on the IBM machines. I admire him for that. I am sure it shouldn't take too long to just tell us the economies that have been made.

While I am on that subject, ten days ago I sent a letter to the Governor asking him if he could tell us what the cash balance was in bank as of a certain date. There were about a half dozen very simple questions, and with a modern bookkeeping system, I believed the Governor would be able to give us an answer at least in two or three days. Well, I did get an answer ten days after, that he was going to refer my letter to someone else to give me the answers. I guess we will have to call their attention to the fact that with all the systems they are spending the money on the Governor himself has to pass it on, and ten days later, he deems to answer me.

I know I am only the Minority Leader, but sometimes I do like to report to the people. So while we are doing this reporting, Mr. Majority Leader, I would suggest that you give us a chance sometime at this sales tax today to vote for a sales tax that you really think Republicans would like to vote for, a sales tax that we are willing to put on our shoulders and go out of here with this tremendous load and say, "We are responsible for this." But we are not going to be responsible, some of us, to pass a tax program that you wrote, a tax program that you want, a tax program that you amended to suit yourselves.

I don't think it is quite fair to criticize the Senate when they brought up a sales tax bill and it failed, because possibly the sales tax that you are going to bring up today might fail, I don't know. You did criticize the Senate for the amendments that they put in. You say you tried to amend it in the Senate. Well, we tried to amend this bill, and they are trying to saddle us now with a bill that has clothing in it. Don't complain about clothing, Mr. Majority Leader, because it was your idea, it was not our idea. We don't want to tax the working man's clothing. We don't want to tax the working man's shoes. We don't want to tax any of those things. We don't want to tax trade-ins. We want to give the people a fair and honest and equitable sales tax—the kind of a sales tax they think they want, and the kind of a sales tax they expect, but they don't expect to be knocked over the head with your bill.

So long as we are keeping the record straight, I just thought I would bring that out. I would like to again suggest that if the gentleman would like to impress all of us and the people of the Commonwealth, he should list sometime the economies that have been made and see how close we are to $100 million that the Governor so blithely promised as he paraded around the state.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, we know full well that the Minority doesn't want to tax clothes, and we know they don't want to tax some other things that are in this bill, but we can't write the bill to suit them.

I dare say they would love to vote for a sales tax that didn't impose much of a burden on anybody. But we pointed out to them yesterday that the type of sales tax bill they would like to vote on is just the type that won't raise more than half the money necessary.

When this was pointed out the other day we were told by the Minority Leader that we should worry with the Senate Majority about how to raise the balance of the money. We have worried about that. We have asked them. We have proposed certain things and they say "no." If I understand the English language, we have been told very emphatically by the whole Republican membership of the Senate "You are going to get a sales tax and you are not going to get anything else, except perhaps a CNP"—an increase in the corporate net income tax—which will raise about $50 million. So what are we supposed to do? Pass the kind of a sales tax bill that the Minority Leader would like to have us pass, and wind up with half a budget, or half the amount of money we need? Or shall we get on the floor of the House and accept the responsibility that the people put in our laps when they elected us to office, and say, "Here we are, we are proposing something, let us see who is ready to vote for it."

If the gentleman has some solution which he would like to suggest as to how we will raise the balance of the money, if we accede to his wishes to give them a chance to vote on a sales tax such as he has talked about, the kind he would like to have, we would be happy to have that suggestion.

Up to this time the only answer we have gotten is "That's your problem." There has been a lot of talk in the newspapers about the proposal made by the Governor that we get together on a 50-50 proposition, that we give the Republicans in the Senate enough votes to pass—or rather the Republicans in the House give us enough votes to pass whatever kind of a program we want for half the money, and we will give them enough so that they can pass whatever they want. Ah, no. The next day I picked up the paper and I saw one of the most influential Senators on the Republican side say he will have nothing to do with a 50-50 proposal. I don't know whether that gentleman runs the state Senate or not, but the state Senate seems to be following him very closely, and as long as that attitude persists, I don't know how we are going to get anywhere unless we can either pass this tax bill, which will raise enough money, or find some solution which is not now visible or available to us.

It is all right to get on the floor and talk about how people in certain areas when they were sent postcards, stated they wanted a sales tax. We are here today to find out whether the representatives of the people will vote for an adequate sales tax or not. Maybe the people do want a sales tax. Maybe my party is all wrong in saying there shouldn't be a sales tax for any part of the money, or even half of it. Maybe the people do really want a sales tax. We do represent the people of Pennsylvania in the Legislature. We are the only ones who do, including the Senators. So we are going to vote today on the big question, are we going to pass an adequate sales tax or are we not. If we don't, then I would like to know what the State Senate will let us pass and give us votes for over there.

Nobody likes to come up here and vote for one tax bill after another, but that is what we have had to do. The Constitution puts on us the duty of originating tax bills.

Are we going to spend the next six months passing one tax bill after another over to the State Senate, and what is the purpose if we do it? They have told us it is going to be a sales tax or nothing.

I would like to hear some comment on that from the Minority Leader. I would like to know whether he has conferred with the leadership in the Senate and whether he knows what they will take if this bill should fail.

As far as I can learn, I don't believe the leadership in this House on the Republican side even talks to the leadership on the Republican side of the Senate. I pray the day will soon come when they do sit down and talk to each other. Perhaps they will find out they are pretty good fellows on this side and they have a lot of sense. Somebody has got to give in this matter. We are putting the thing right flatly before all of us and then we will know where we stand.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I don't like to prolong this, but I would like to remind the gentleman of one thing when he says we are not ready to produce the money that is needed.

A two per cent sales tax, for the gentleman's information, with the economies promised by the Governor, and again they were his promises, would have solved this problem if it had been taken care of quite awhile ago. I do not believe that can be denied.

You know, the Governor reminds me of one thing. He reminds me of a credit manager who gave bad credit. He gave some product to a person who just didn't have good credit and was hard to collect from, and he sends a bill collector out to collect the bill and because the poor fellow can't collect the bill he is on his back and rides him, and rides him, and rides him to death.

Let me tell you the bill would not have been nearly as high if the Governor had not wasted the $70 million when he left the one tax expire. I think that is true, that is a fact. The bill would not be nearly as high if he would have admitted his mistake long ago to the people of Pennsylvania and said to them, "All right, I made a mistake and I am willing to admit I made a mistake."

The people seem to want a sales tax and the Republicans want a sales tax. We will give them a two per cent sales tax and make the economies promised. It would have solved your problem. Because he is the one who has gotten us into this by leaving one tax expire and leaving us sit here for six or eight months without any tax except our permanent taxes, then he says to us, "Go out and solve our problems for us, you Republicans."

We did not get you into this hole. The Governor promised it. They were his promises. It was his stubbornness when he wouldn't give in in August. Last August when he knew he had no tax program, if he had come up and admitted he had made a mistake and said, "I will give you a two percent sales tax," we would not be in this hole today. He knows that is a positive fact. So the poor bill collector, the Republicans, we get the devil because the Governor just didn't know a bad credit risk when he had one.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I don't intend either to make this an interminable debate. I think practically all of us have our minds made up anyway as to what we are going to do.

But when he speaks about the Governor and his stubbornness, let me remind him that there are 111 Democrats on this side and about 22 in the State Senate who also have deep-seated convictions about the rightness or wrongness of a sales tax.

When we put this bill out on the floor and asked you to vote on it and asked our own Members to vote on it, we did not do it because we like the bill. That has been the position of the Governor ever since he was elected. He does not like a sales tax. He has done everything he humanly can to come up with some kind of suggestions as to other means of raising this money. But we don't control the Senate, so what happens? The Senate says, "We won't pass the bills you pass over to us." So the Governor is stubborn.

The Governor took a strong position in this matter and because the Governor did not immediately capitulate when the old sales tax was about to expire and say, "Well, I will take it," the gentleman criticizes him.

I can just hear the gentleman and others in the next campaign with their oratory if the Governor had done as the gentleman suggests he do. I can hear him going up and down the state saying, "look at this. He promised, the whole Democratic party promised, and what happened. When the going got a little bit tough, he said, 'I will take a sales tax, I will sign it, and so forth.'"

I could make a beautiful campaign speech if I were a Republican. I would almost delight in doing it if what the gentleman suggests had happened.

We are not taking this position because of politics. We are taking it because we do not think the sales tax is the right way to do it. We did not think so then and we do not now, at least a lot of us do not.

We are asking you to vote on this because there is no alternative left.

Mr. WATERHOUSE. Mr. Speaker, the Majority Leader has stated he is pretty tired and he would like to get out of here. I take a little exception to that, I don't think he is, because if he were he would never have offered this bill in its present form.

Turning down the Ohio system proves that he definitely does not care to hurry the thing up because he has been told repeatedly that was the one plan the minority would take. Why he feels so badly about taking the Ohio system I don't know. Because the rebates that they talk about to the charitable institutions, and so on and so forth, seem to come in pretty handy out there. It relieves the burden on the state because they do not have to contribute to some of these organizations that get their money by the people saving their tax receipts.

I think we should know a little about what is in this bill. I doubt that the Majority Leader himself is much more familiar with it than I am, and if he is not he does not know too much about it. I know this, I know we are all talking about the farmer and his hardships, and rightfully so. I have a farm myself and I certainly know that it is mighty tough to stay in the black—in fact, I don't. It takes a guy that works around the clock and does not have to pay any help.

We propose under this bill to tax insecticides, machinery, machinery parts, tractors, trucks and equipment, tires and, as I understand, even if he wants to buy another cow he will have to pay a tax on it.

I would just like to ask the Majority Leader, I bought a couple of cows the other day and I got one that I don't think is much good. Now if I want to trade her for a little extra money—probably I would have to pay a little boot—am I going to have to pay a tax on what the other cow is actually worth and get nothing for the cow that I have? Or am I going to pay any tax at all? I do not know and I would not want to be dishonest. Every time I go in the barn and look at this cow I know she does not belong there.

So we have then the question that came up yesterday of the trade-ins. That is definitely a pyramiding of taxes.

This bill that he is talking about raising 300 odd million dollars certainly will raise a lot more money than that. I think he knows it and I think the majority party knows it. I don't blame them for getting it if they can. I think the bill as it is now written will raise in a biennium in excess of $600 million, I think they know that. We certainly do.

Then we are talking about wanting to do something for the small fellow, for the fellow with the low income. So what do we do? We tax his clothes, we tax his shoes, we tax the water that he uses in his home, we tax the gas that the housewife uses to cook with and the gas used to heat with. The fact is we tax everything along that line that is not covered under the gross receipts tax.

So we are doing just about everything we can to crucify the poor devil. Yet we are going around saying that we want to get it from those most able to pay.

I think these are all things that should be known. I doubt if everyone did know it. If we were to study the bill and learn of the impact, we would find there a lot more objectionable features to the bill.

I do not think that today's vote on this bill is going to be any indication of the degree of support that a good sales tax bill can get on the floor of this House. When I say a good sales tax bill, I will take this bill that you have on the calendar today with the amendments that were offered by the sponsor to the Committee Chairman and ask that they be incorporated in the bill. That bill with those amendments would have been a perfectly satisfactory bill, but without the amendments it is a perfectly obnoxious bill.

I further charge that the majority know this. I think it is political fakery. I think the bill is brought out to embarrass the minority party and the Senate because of the fact that they know we cannot vote for it and we will not vote for it. There are a few on this side who will, but mighty few. Then they will be able to say, "We offered them a sales tax bill and they wouldn't take it."

Brother, I don't think that is good politics. I don't think this is trying to take care of the schools, the hospitals and so forth, and I don't think that it is trying to settle our problem.

I think you are crucifying a lot of your own Members uselessly. You know if you were to pass this that it would not go through the Senate. There is no question about it. They wouldn't take it. So why make your Members crucify themselves in order to try to make us look bad. If that is what you want to do, it is all right with me.

I think that about winds it up, Mr. Speaker. I still think it is a bad bill and I will attend the services a little later on in the day, unless you have most of the votes.

Mr. FLOYD. Mr. Speaker, this House has been in session for more than a year now, yet we have been unable to enact any kind of tax program, not because of the Members of the General Assembly, but because of twenty-six selfish men, if I may use that phrase, twenty-six selfish men and three millionaires, in the other branch of the Legislature.

I believe the Democratic Party should dedicate itself to the task of telling the people what has happened during this session of the Legislature. The Republican Party in the other branch of the Legislature is not representing the people who elected them. They not only do not represent the people, but they do not even have the courage to vote their own convictions. They seem only to be interested in the wishes of the owners of the Sun Oil Company, the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association and the owners of the Pennsylvania Railroad. The income tax, in my opinion, that was presented to this Legislature by Governor Leader and the Democratic Party was a very good tax program, but the big business, being in control of that other branch of the Legislature, gave orders to kill the bill—not once, but they gave orders to revise the bill and kill it again.

These facts, I think, were very, very plainly revealed to every Member of this House in an open letter by the Speaker of this House. I think it was one of the best open letters that I have ever had the pleasure of reading as far as the facts are concerned. I am sure that it was.

Mr. Speaker, this House should point out to the people of Pennsylvania that the Speaker revealed to this House and pointed out that there were more than enough votes in the other branch of the Legislature to have passed one of those bills that we sent over to the other branch of the Legislature. Nevertheless, I understand there were more than enough votes in the other branch of the Legislature to pass one of those bills, but here again big business said "no." The vote for that bill I understand would have been about 27 or 28 in favor of the bill, but big business said, "No," we do not want any part of it." The people I think are responsible for it are the Sun Oil Company, the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association.

Governor Leader and the Democratic party since that time have presented a fair proposal, not a program but a proposal, a fifty-fifty tax proposal, allowing the Republican party, the opportunity of enacting fifty per cent of a tax program they think is best for the people and giving the Democratic party the privilege of enacting fifty per cent of a tax program they think is best for the people. But here again the twenty-six men, including the three millionaires said "no." I say it is time for someone to unmask the Republican party by telling the people of this Commonwealth of the Republican party and what it stands for.

I am sure most of the Members of this House can sum it up in two words, those two words are "Big Business." That is exactly what the Republican party represents in the other branch of this Legislature. I think we should go further than that, we should let the people know the Republican party is not representatives of them, and, as I said a few minutes ago, we should also let them know that they do not even have the courage to vote their own convictions.

However, as you say I also believe the newspapers and the news commentators of this Commonwealth are partly to blame for some of the situation. I realize the newspapers and the news commentators should criticize the Republican party, or the Democratic party, or any other party, when they know they are not serving the best interests of the people of the Commonwealth. But the newspapers have failed to criticize the Republican party, they even failed to criticize them for not accepting the fifty-fifty tax program which was offered to them by the Governor in good faith.

It seems to me the newspapers are saying that the Republican party is above reproach, even though they are destroying the operating structure of our hospitals, schools and many other services of this Commonwealth.

I have expected and I was expecting the newspapers to question the Republicans, to question whether twenty-six men and three millionaires have the right to tell 210 Members of the General Assembly and a Democratic Governor, who was elected I understand by a majority of 270,000, with a majority in this House. That sounds like a mandate to me. I was expecting them to question whether the Republican party had the right to tell them that they are not even going to compromise, not even give us the fifty per cent of the tax program that we said that we would vote for.

I realize that every newspaper and every news commentator has the right to favor and to lean towards the Republican party, or any other party, if they wish to do so, but I figured it is dangerous. I think it is dangerous, to exclude any political party from constructive criticism.

I think that the Democratic party should be proud of Governor Leader. He has refused to accept the dictates of the Sun Oil Company, the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association.

I know they call him stubborn. I was listening to it today, they call him stubborn, they call him some other words too, but the more they, the Republican party and the newspapers, criticise Governor Leader, the more the Democratic party should support him.

They criticise Governor Leader for one reason, and you can believe this, their strategy is to try and knock him down. He is too strong for them; he is too popular. They criticise the Governor because they know that Governor Leader is dangerous to the Republican party of Pennsylvania. I believe if the Republican party would take the returns of the next election they will find that they have permitted Big Business to destroy the Republican party in Pennsylvania.

Mr. VARNER. Mr. Speaker, I am not rising to defend Big Business. Instead today I want to put on the record the reasons why I cannot vote for this sales tax.

So long as the administration continues to load the state payroll with political drones and does not live up to its 1954 promises of economy, I cannot vote for this tax.

Mr. Speaker, we hear today that clothing has to be included in this tax, and I say to you and to the people of Pennsylvania that this is an example of how inconsistent the Democratic politicians can be when they insist on putting clothing into this tax bill. At a rate of three per cent it will have a tremendous impact on the working people of the Commonwealth.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the Minority Leader, Mr. Smith.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Minority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker I would like to ask the gentleman a very few questions.

The first one: Are the Smiths from Germantown in Philadelphia any relation to the Smiths from the sidewalks of New York?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. They are not, Mr. Speaker, but I would be very proud to be related that way.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would further like to ask the gentleman, since he advocates the Ohio plan very strongly today on this sales tax, why he did not use the Ohio plan when he enacted his sales tax under Governor Fine?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I might say, Mr. Speaker, in fairness that there was a strong movement at that time to go along with the Ohio Plan. There were some pros and cons in our caucus with respect to it. I believe at that time it had not been known quite as well. As the gentleman knows, we did not have a sales tax in this state and at that time we knew very little about a sales tax. If we had known more about it, I believe the bill that had been drawn up would have been a better bill.

I am perfectly willing to admit that we made mistakes in that, and I believe if we knew at that time as much as we do today about the Ohio Plan we would have probably—I can say we would have incorporated the Ohio Plan then, but we just did not know enough about a sales tax at that time.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman one other question and then I would like to discuss the tax bill.

I would like to ask the gentleman, since we had a debate on the excise tax as to whether or not it was a sales tax, if he is perfectly sure that we are now voting on a sales tax?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, your Governor said it is a sales tax, and I am willing to take his word, as I did on the excise tax. He said it was not a sales tax, the excise tax.

Mr. LOVETT. Mr. Speaker, I might say to the membership of the House that we must go back and look up the record, as Al Smith said, to find out why we are in the position in the State of Pennsylvania that we are in today.

For many years I have tried to have legislation enacted to amend the Constitution of this state of Pennsylvania to make it a progressive state like the states we hear being mentioned as having a sales tax, a progressive state like the state of New York.

During the last session of the Legislature we passed a resolution to amend the Constitution in Pennsylvania to allow the Legislature to meet every year instead of every two years. The Senate of Pennsylvania passed that resolution, the House passed that resolution.

We again in the House passed that same resolution in the beginning of this session, it went to the Senate of Pennsylvania, and I might say that the Senate in Pennsylvania changed very little in the two-year period. The biggest part of the change, if there was a change, was in favor of the Democrats, so we find the very men, who agreed that we should at least give the people the right to vote on whether or not we should change the Constitution in Pennsylvania and have a session of the Legislature every year, changed their minds during this session of the Legislature, because the resolution is buried somewhere in the Senate of Pennsylvania.

I might say it means we have to go back over the years in Pennsylvania. For the neighborhood of eighty to ninety years in Pennsylvania, with the exception of two years, this state has been controlled by what is the minority party in this House today. So you see the Democrats did not have much chance to make any changes in the Constitution of Pennsylvania to correct the evils in order to bring this great state into the ranks of the liberal states in the United States.

I say, let's be fair with the Governor of Pennsylvania, let's be fair with you Members on the other side of this House, let's be fair with the Members on this side, let's be fair with the Senators, in order to make the corrections that are needed to have a correct tax program in Pennsylvania. You must move to change the Constitution in Pennsylvania, that is the only way in which we are going to eventually bring this great state of Pennsylvania in line with the other liberal states in this union.

So, my friends, I hesitated to vote against the excise tax in Pennsylvania, because I know it was a sales tax and you knew it. It was only proof to you that the sales tax is not the proper tax in Pennsylvania. I don't care where you put it, but it is not the correct tax in Pennsylvania. Those are the things that must be done if you are going to give the Legislature the right to enact the right kind of tax and make those best able to pay pay their share of the tax in Pennsylvania. I could not conscientiously vote for a sales tax in Pennsylvania when I know that the burden of that tax goes on the backs of those less able to pay, and I ask the Members not to vote for this tax in Pennsylvania.

Mr. AGNEW. Mr. Speaker, I am one of those who favor a three per cent sales tax as the solution, the broad-base tax solution to the fiscal problems of the Commonwealth.

I cannot, however, vote for this three per cent sales tax, and I am perfectly willing and ready, if not able, to give my reasons why.

Before I do, however, I would like to reply to the gentleman from Philadelphia who unmasked the Republican party in kind, by unmasking the Democratic party.

For many, many years the Democratic orators have raged back and forth across this Commonwealth, indeed across the whole country, calling the Republicans the party of special interests and big business, maintaining that they were the party that represented the "common man." You have done it very successfully, I must admit. But getting back to Pennsylvania, during 16 years of Republican administration big business and little business, business generally in Pennsylvania, has paid the highest state tax of any of the 48 states in this country, under Republican administrations, and right now the Republicans are advocating a 20 per cent increase in the highest business tax in the 48 states.

At the same time, during these Republican administrations Pennsylvania citizens per capita paid taxes to the state that rank Pennsylvania 47th out of the 48 states. The facts belie the Democratic demagogue who calls the Republican party the party of big business and the Democrat party the party of the common man.

There are some things, Mr. Majority Leader, you must remember also. We minority Members of this House campaigned in 1954 in defense of the one per cent sales tax with liberal exemptions. At that time we told the people that if additional revenues were necessary because of mandated educational appropriation increases by prior legislatures, we would be willing and we would have the courage to vote for a two per cent sales tax. We lost that election by over 280 thousand votes in this Commonwealth to a Democratic gubernatorial candidate who campaigned on a platform of eliminating this one per cent sales tax with liberal exemptions and making up the difference by good old fashioned democratic economy.

I would remind the gentleman from Philadelphia if he thinks his Governor is still popular, to go back and talk to his people. He might get an earfull. In my opinion and from what my constituents tell me your Governor, sir, campaigned on false promises and has practiced hypocrisy.

This is January 1956, and even though we lost the election, even though we are minority Members of the House, we are now called upon to vote for a three per cent sales tax, and many of us are willing to do it, including me, but not for this tax. We didn't have the opportunity to vote for our two per cent sales tax at the beginning of the biennium, and if three per cent would do it now, two per cent would do it then. We didn't have that opportunity to vote for it then because of the arrogance, the contrariness, the stubbornness and the political immaturity of your Governor.

In spite of all that, and under all of the circumstances, many of us in this House, including me, will vote for a three per cent sales tax bill, but you have got to let us write the bill. You know, and you are very happy about this, and we know it and we are not happy about it, that in the public mind as soon as the sales tax hits the people, no matter what kind of a sales tax it is, it is a Republican tax. We will take that responsibility as part of our obligation to this Commonwealth, but in taking that responsibility we want to write the bill.

If you can understand that, and agree that perhaps we have a point there, Mr. Majority Leader, there is one other alternative to this tax bill, and that is, let us write our own. We'll give you a three per cent—most of us will—a three per cent sales tax that will bring in in the neighborhood of $325 million. If you need more money, if you have to have more money, you get it any way you can but you won't get it with my vote.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I can't let that generous offer go by without making some comment.

Yesterday, on the floor of this House, everybody had an opportunity to offer amendments to the bill which is now before us. If my ears didn't deceive me, I heard the gentleman who just spoke voting in favor of reducing the rate to two per cent, and he also voted to take out clothing.

I don't know what kind of a bill he would like to vote for at three per cent, if he wrote it himself, but I would like to remind him that if the old sales tax were re-enacted at two per cent when it expired it could have been expected to raise about $250 million. I believe that it raised $120 million at one per cent for the full biennium and if you multiply that by two you get $240 million, and allowing some additional amounts for better collection and so forth, he might have gotten to $250 million. But I would still like to know where he figures he is going to get enough money under the old plan at two per cent or under the new plan, as I suspect he would like to write it at three per cent.

Miss LEIBY. Mr. Speaker, this bill is not the type of legislation with which I would ordinarily choose to raise the income which is so necessary to finance our schools, hospitals, mental institutions and other obligations of the state, but I do know that we must raise this money, and I for one am willing to compromise my beliefs by voting for this bill if it will help my state to continue to do those things which have made Pennsylvania, with all its faults, a wonderful state in which to live.

There is one thing I would like to say in answer to my friend across the way. It makes me tired when I hear so much about economy and that the Governor promised economy. Of course, I am a Democrat and I like our Governor. I think his honor and his integrity is just as fine as his looks are.

I don't know too much about financial affairs, but I know that everybody tells me that if I want to save on fuel I will have to invest some money to insulate my house and then I am going to save on fuel. I won't save the year that I invest the money but I will save in future years. I know that all the manufacturers of the United States will discard machinery which is apparently good, in order to get some new type of machine which in future years is going to reduce their expenses. How they can expect the Governor to show his economiss when he has only been in a few months and had to fight for everything he wanted, I don't know. If you want to find out whether he has given us an economical government, you wait until he has been in three or four years. That is the time to see whether he has made economies.

As for increased expenses and increased necessities, everything has increased. Just remember that we are paying very large debts for obligations which were not incurred by us Democrats, but which were incurred before we came in.

I just sat in on a hospital board where they asked for increases and they proved they need it, all these things have increased expenses in these years and naturally the Governor's expenses are the expenses for our state and have naturally increased.

Mr. EHRGOOD. Mr. Speaker, I arise today to state that I will be voting in favor of the three per cent sales tax bill. Not that I desire it as the perfect bill, but under the circumstances the best bill that is available to us at this time.

You know in politics it seems to me it is a give and take business, and I for one as a Republican, not only hope to take, I have to give a little bit, and I certainly don't like to stand up here and agree with the Majority Leader. However, I believe at this time we should. In other words, I believe the people of Pennsylvania are somewhat tired of mere politics and would like to get down to the old Greek meaning of politics, namely the art of government.

For the benefit of the state of Pennsylvania, I think that we should all vote for this bill. Certainly I would prefer to see the Ohio state collection tax plan in effect. I would also like to see clothing exempted. On the other hand I don't want to see the people of Pennsylvania saddled with another broad base tax, and I believe that we, therefore, better take the next best thing offered to us by the Democrats.

Mr. HOCKER. Mr. Speaker, I am going to try to use a little different tactics than the rest of the gentlemen and ladies. I am not going to criticize anyone. Because, to tell you the truth, I ain't mad at nobody.

I arise in defense of this bill, and if I were able I would like to take the position of Billy Sunday and try to convert a few of you people.

To start with, we have been in a major battle; we have been in a big time fight; we have gone over the ten round stage; we are at the thirteenth right now. I think the people of this Commonwealth, the people that sent us here, are tired of our saying "we won't go for this" and "we won't go for that" and "I won't do this" and "I won't do that because so and so isn't doing this and isn't doing that."

I think it is the wrong philosophy to take. I well remember thirteen months ago when we stood here and took our oaths, and I have taken it a few times, it was not my first trip. We raised our hands and we said that we would defend and uphold the Constitution and take care of the needs of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania. Are we going to meet that head on today or are we going to duck and dodge?

We need the money to operate this state, irrespective of who puts it out or how they put it out. We have to greet our own people, and I speak of many Republicans in the upper branch of the service, and we need $400 million to overcome this burden.

In my opinion I think this tax will raise that much money. I in my opinion think there will be no need to inflict an income tax along with another tax on my people in the second Legislative District of Dauphin County. That is all that I am interested in to a great degree, because of the fact that I am not and will not be a state-wide candidate. I only have to deal with the people in my district.

I have a district advantage over you gentlemen. I was at my home last night, which you are not able to be. I live in a small town and I go down to the post office in the morning. I meet a lot of the people in that town. This morning I made it my business to be there when the crowd was there to see the reaction of my name in the paper being in favor of a three per cent sales tax.

I looked that crowd over very carefully and some of them were some of my worst critics. Some of them were people that never voted for me and told me that they had not. This morning they told me that they were perfectly willing to do so, and that I was doing the right thing in trying to pay the bills, that they thought I was right by not going for a 50-50 deal.

I am not a mathematician, my friends, you know that, but it doesn't take very much sense to figure out the difference between a three per cent sales tax and a two per cent sales tax and a two per cent income tax. It does not take a master mind to figure out how bad your people are going to be hurt.

Today is a wonderful opportunity for you people who have gone through thirteen months here in this House. You went through a lot of bad legislation for the want of something on a calendar. A lot of good legislation was passed but we certainly put up with a lot of bad legislation in that time. For the want of a calendar, for the want of sending something to the Printer, for the want of keeping employees on the pay roll. I am not in favor of that.

So I say to you, my friends, and I have a few in this House, I hope, I am saying to you this is your opportunity to meet this thing head on, to solve the problems of our Commonwealth, and to get out of here and renew in the minds of the people that we are still a great body capable of doing our job.

Mrs. KOOKER. Mr. Speaker, I rise to make a few comments on this bill. I was fully prepared to vote for a sales tax because I believe a sales tax is a fair and equitable tax, but I cannot vote for this tax as it is presented today because of the fact that it does not exclude clothing. Clothing to my way of thinking is a very major factor in any family budget. Food, shoes and clothing take the greater part of any man's earning capacity, and I do not feel that it is fair, even though I am very cognizant of the revenues that are needed for our great Commonwealth.

In view of that I do not feel that even then two wrongs make a right, by placing the burden of taxation on clothing, that is ordained by a creator, and by the laws of man against indecency in order that we be clothed to meet our fellow workmen in society and in our places of business and in our factories.

Had this amendment been put into this bill I would have been very happy to have gone along with it. But as it now stands, I can be no part of laying that burden on every family's doorstep in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

I hope I can make my stand clear that that is my reason at this time, even though I am a proponent of a sales tax, I cannot support this particular measure today.

Mr. AUKER. Mr. Speaker, I do not intend to debate the bill. I am rising simply because I feel it is incumbent upon me to say something in regard to my vote upon the bill when we come to a vote.

I was the first Member on this side of the House, and probably in both Houses, to publicly state that I was for a two per cent sales tax to adequately finance all the necessary services of the Commonwealth. That was said last June, nearly three months before the old sales tax expired.

At that time I reviewed very carefully and I think very thoroughly why I was taking that particular stand on a sales tax. To review briefly they were these.

Pennsylvania by reason of increased educational and welfare expenditures over the past eight or ten years previous to 1953 has reached the point where it is necessary that we should have some kind of a broad base tax in Pennsylvania.

We were fast in reaching the point and we are still at that point, Mr. Speaker, and I am going to say this because I come from one of the so-called distressed labor areas in Pennsylvania. Industry as a whole throughout Pennsylvania has reached a very, very bad position, comparatively speaking, with the industry in other large industrial states, such as ours, New York State, Illinois, Ohio, California and other states, probably Michigan, too, all of which had broad base taxes.

I believe I stated at that time that business in Pennsylvania and corporations in Pennsylvania were taxed the highest, the highest, mind you, in first place, of any state in this union. That condition still exists today.

No one can deny that taxes on business and corporations are an integral part of the cost of the product which that particular corporation or business manufactures and sells to the people, an integral part of the cost for which it must be sold.

We are in a worse position today, comparatively speaking, as compared to other states, than we ever have been. We are finding it practically impossible to attract any number of new industries into Pennsylvania because of our corporate tax structure. That, my friends, and Mr. Speaker, is certainly not helping the employment situation in Pennsylvania. It is not helping the laboring class of people in Pennsylvania, so called, it is making it much worse for them.

Take New Jersey for instance. We rejoice in this state, we cry to high heavens and wave the flag when we get one or two new industries in Pennsylvania. Why, bless your hearts, Mercer County in New Jersey, in one year got over two hundred new industries, in one county alone. Look at their corporate tax structure, if you will, please, and compare it.

I said at that time that I would vote for a two per cent sales tax, because a two per cent sales tax based on the same exemptions as the one per cent sales tax, and based on the Ohio plan of stamp collection, and I was for that in 1953 and I am sorry it was not enacted at that time, would have solved all the fiscal problems of this Commonwealth. It would have paid off the deficit that the Democratic administration says they have inherited from the Republican administration. It would have provided for greatly increased needed salary increased for the teachers of our state and for increased salaries for experienced teachers of our state, which is very sorely needed. It would have provided extra appropriations for hospitals which they need because of the extra care they are giving to the indigent of the state. It would have given the Democratic administration possibly $100 million to play footsie with if they so desire.

Those figures are correct. So here we come today and I find myself confronted with a sales tax. But it is one of the most obnoxious sales taxes that any sales tax could possibly be. If the Democratic administration had re-enacted the sales tax previous to its expiration, they would have gained possibly at least $50 million over a two year period, or possibly more on big contracts which they could not gain by reason of the lapsing of the sales contract.

The sales tax, remember, expired of itself. Nobody killed it.

So therefore, when you try to say to me that I should vote for a three per cent tax that is going to tax clothing when that is not necessary and would not have been necessary except for the mistakes and errors of the Democratic administration, I simply am not going to swallow it.

I am voting the way I feel. The majority of the people of Altoona, my district, want me to vote regardless of party affiliations, and I am saying that sincerely.

I further could not vote for this tax because of the trade-in amendment which was voted down yesterday. That to my mind is one of the most obnoxious features of this bill.

So, therefore, Mr. Speaker, I just wanted to make my stand clear. I am still willing to vote for a two per cent sales tax and let that raise the amount of money that it will raise over the next fourteen months. Where the rest of the money comes from, is not our responsibility. It is the Democratic administration's responsibility.

Mr. STROUP. Mr. Speaker, if I might have your attention for just a few moments I assure you I shall not dwell long upon the subject at hand or weary you to any great extent. I know you are tired of debate. You have heard plenty upon the subject, and you are ready to give your vote, and nothing I may say will in any way alter your opinion at this late moment, and very likely nothing that I might have said heretofore would have changed your position as to how you are going to vote. I am well aware of that. For that reason I am going to cut the several pages of notes that I have to a very brief modicum and talk for just a moment or so.

I have been aware in this House during the past year of what I consider to be a fundamental misconception of tax philosophy, and I would like to consider that point with you for just a moment.

I have heard on the floor of this House today some criticism of the sales tax as a principle insofar as the philosophy of taxation to raise revenue is concerned in our Commonwealth. I have heard the phrase frequently bandied about the House that taxes should be imposed and assessed in accordance with ability to pay.

I wish to point out that in any proper tax program one must consider the utility purchase value of the dollar that is in the hands of that purchaser. From that standpoint then either an income tax or a sales tax can be progressive in character. A sales tax per se may have regressive characteristics, but a sales tax with exemptions on the necessities and essentials of life becomes progressive in characteristics.

There is no fundamental, solid, substantial reason for the Democratic party or for the Republican party to oppose a sales tax in principle. All it needs to do in order to tax ability to pay is to bring the proper exemptions into that bill, thereby letting the man who needs his dollar for the essentials of life, have that dollar before an income tax. That is the purpose essentially of any good sales tax plan. It is the purpose of any income tax plan.

Here today before us we have a bill which has in it one certain feature which makes it completely regressive in character, and that feature is the tax on clothes which are an essential of life. We cannot afford, therefore, to fly in the face of modern tax philosophy and pass a bill which does not exclude clothing, particularly when we have no definite facts presented to us that we need to do so in order to raise the funds to meet our budget.

For that reason and that reason only, I am opposed to this particular bill as it is presently constituted. I favor a proper tax measure. If I vote for a three per cent sales tax I will vote entirely as my people desire, if you will give us the necessary exemptions to make it a progressive piece of tax legislation.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, I am going to throw away most of my speech because I realize you are getting tired, but I just want to say just a couple things.

I sat back here and looked at this motto overhead. Can you see what it says up here in the ceiling, all of you? It says, "Ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free." Now, how many of the newspaper editors sitting around here, and how many of the people of Pennsylvania that read the headlines tomorrow are going to know the truth.

One of our good fellows on this side quoted something about Billy Sunday being a great Evangelist. Perhaps you wondered last night why I took the stand I did and talked against that 2 a. m. closing. I, too, am a Minister, perhaps the only one in this group, I don't know. I am a Methodist Minister and I am proud of it. I speak not only in the Methodist Church but in the Episcopal and Baptist, and wherever I am called. That is why I said what I said last night. And I will continually say that.

You know this debate reminds me of one thing this afternoon, and I think I will just try it out. I would like to just ask one question of the Majority Leader over there.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the Majority Leader permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. READINGER. I shall, Mr. Speaker, for just one question.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Majority Leader, have you stopped beating your wife?

Mr. READINGER. You might ask my wife. She is sitting in the gallery.

Mr. McINROY. Mr. Speaker, this is exactly the place the gentleman has tried to put us Republicans in this afternoon. We are damned if we say "yes"; we are damned if we say "no." You have got us right across the barrel. You have accomplished just what you tried to accomplish. I am glad you agree with me. You have a couple of fellows here that got up and said this was a good tax.

Now, let me remind you of this. We are for a sales tax, but this is not our sales tax; this is your sales tax. You refused to go along with our amendments and you were told by the Minority Leader a week ago today that we would go for the sales tax if you would let us have our sales tax of two per cent. It is rank hypocrisy to bring out the bill that you have brought today. You know it won't pass. You know you are doing it just to put us on the spot.

I want to tell you right now you are not going to catch me. I am going to tell you right now how I am going to vote, and I ask every Republican on this side to vote "no" on this bill. It is a big smoke screen, pure and simple. All you are doing is delaying us another week, and I am losing money by not being home and so are you. You know it isn't going to pass.

We offered to compromise with you last week. Our leader, Mr. Smith, offered that, and he had the majority of our Republican caucus with him. Why won't they take us at our word? Now, you will get a few scattered votes over here because they feel they have to vote for it. You have lost in the Senate. You have put in the papers all over Pennsylvania that the Republicans won't stand for a sales tax. That is true, we won't stand for a vicious sales tax like this. We are not quite so dumb as you think we are.

Over in the Senate the leader of your Senate group—I won't tell you his name, you know it—says if we get a sales tax in Pennsylvania, and he went on and called it a so-and-so sales tax, we will carry it out to the voters, just like you carried out our little rabbit of a tax, as I said a week ago yesterday. You stood over that rabbit of a tax with a ball club and you clubbed it to death before it even got out of this Assembly. Now you think you have got us today where you want us, so you are twisting, but you aren't going to twist some of us. We are going to stand steadfast and we are standing for just what we told you last week. I hope you won't get many votes on this side for your tax. It is your tax; it isn't our tax.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would ask the Members to be patient. We have only a few more Members to recognize and we trust that you will maintain the same temper that you have had up until now. Shortly we should be coming to a final vote.

Mrs. MARKLEY. Mr. Speaker, I have been mindful of the crisis which is confronting our schools and our mental hospitals, but unfortunately until now I have only had the opportunity to vote for the Governor's unfair classified income tax and excise tax. I am convinced through the numerous telephone calls, through the numerous letters I have received, that the great majority of my constituents feel the sales tax is by far the most equitable of all taxes.

Therefore, there is no hesitancy on my part to assume my responsibility as their representative in voting for this measure.

I campaigned for a sales tax at a time when Governor Leader and my opponents stated there was no need for a sales tax, and there was no need for a substitute tax. At that time I said he was wrong and my stand has been proven by the record breaking budget which he has submitted to the Legislature of Pennsylvania.

This bill which has been released by a Democratic controlled Committee for a vote, is not in the form which is most desirous. I voted yesterday for amendments to permit this bill to be put in the kind of form which would be acceptable to most of the Members of this House. I voted for the exemption of clothing and shoes. I also voted against removing the credit for trade-ins from appliances and automobiles. Today I voted for the amendment which would institute the method of collection patterned after the Ohio stamp plan. I have done my best to make this a good tax bill.

The Democratic majority solidly has voted against these amendments. I, therefore, am compelled to vote for it in its present status.

Mr. LEONARD. Mr. Speaker, it is common to use the term, "I'm confused," after listening to the speeches that were made here this afternoon for and against this tax bill.

In the first place, I have already voted for two tax bills emanating from the majority side. I'm confused, because if those were bad bills why didn't the Republicans pass one of those bills and eliminate the Democratic Party, because that is the sore spot, and you can't deny it.

The Democratic Party represents the people of Pennsylvania and the Republican Party represents big business. To prove that, all you have to do is follow the editorials in the Pennsylvania newspapers. The Chamber of Commerce, the Manufacturers Association and all its affiliates kept telling the people of Pennsylvania that the only tax that would be fair would be the sales tax.

Do you know what the sales tax does to the average Pennsylvanian? I am talking about the people who produce in Pennsylvania and are responsible for making the millionaires we have in Pennsylvania who are not willing to pay their way in the greatest state in this union. They refuse, and the Republican party has proven by its actions that it is taking orders from them.

Why didn't the newspapers tell the people just what the story was? Why didn't the Pennsylvania newspapers get back of the bill we produced and then permit the changes which they would want. I don't know that any of them in the Democratic party would have helped to eliminate the Democratic party.

On the other hand, it has been said on the minority side so many times in the last year that the present Governor, who I think eventually is going to be the best Governor the state ever had, campaigned on the question of economy.

I don't know whether this is true or not, whether Governor Leader prior to the campaign investigated our state institutions. You ought to holler and cry and applaud on this question. There are more than 50,000 people living in the state institutions, and I use the ugly words "are living like animals." You voted for a resolution that created a non-partisan committee from both Houses to investigate the conditions that existed in Morganza and today you got the report. Did you read it? Who brought those conditions on? The four last Republican Governors. They wouldn't raise any taxes because they were afraid the people would wake up and elect Democrats, which they finally did. That is the position the Republican minority is in today.

On the Republican side in the Senate you have 25 Republican Senators. I don't know what you call that twenty-sixth man. He says "no," and that's it. He says "yes," and that's it. The other 25 Republican Senators go right along with the orders. That is the position the people of Pennsylvania are confronted with at the present time.

I for one, based on my experience in life, will never vote for a sales tax because I do not believe in placing the man who is making three, or four, or five thousand dollars a year, with a wife and three or four children, in the same category as our millionaires.

How do you like it, boys?

Mr. KENT. Mr. Speaker, I sat and waited in this House for the past thirteen months hoping I would have an opportunity to vote in favor of a fair sales tax, a sales tax which would be acceptable to the people of Pennsylvania as well as the people of my county.

I am weary with having been here so long, as we all are and as the people of the Commonwealth are. I want to assure you, the Speaker, Members of this House and the people of the Commonwealth that there is no one any more aware of the desperate situation we are in financially right now than I am.

I had thought very seriously, and I had a genuine hope many months ago that the Governor would recede from his persistent, stubborn resistance to a sales tax of any kind in Pennsylvania. It has only been very recently and with qualifications that he has seen fit to do that. I am sure if the Governor had followed the will of the great majority of people in Pennsylvania five and six months ago, he would have receded from that position. We could have passed a two per cent sales tax, a fair and equitable one which would have been acceptable, our obligations would have been met and we would not be here at a very serious time as we are today.

I now find myself confronted with a sales tax which has been molded and fashioned by the majority party, the Democratic party, in this House. It is now being called for a vote simply, I am sure with a great deal of political shrewdness, for political purposes, when we should all of us be considering most sincerely and seriously the financial situation of this great Commonwealth. We should be more concerned, not with politics but with sincere ways and means in which to finance our obligations and the obligations of this Commonwealth.

I am not concerned so much with the rate of this tax, but I am seriously concerned with some of the things it taxes. I want to say, Mr. Speaker, that I cannot and I will not vote for a tax which includes clothing, for the same reasons which have been mentioned many times before today on the floor of this House. If the Democratic Members of this House want to include clothing and tax the clothing of the workingman, shoes for children, and all of the clothing for children and the workingman, then they can do it, but I will not vote for any tax which has that provision in it, and I voted in favor of that proposition yesterday.

Nor will I vote for a tax which does not allow the credit which is given when the people of this Commonwealth trade in their refrigerators for new ones, their washing machines, their expensive home appliances, on which in most cases they are allowed a credit for the used one, and for automobiles. Nor, Mr. Speaker, will I vote for a sales tax, and again I want to say I am not so concerned about the rate, which does not include and provide for a collection system very much like they have in Ohio.

I want to say that I come from Crawford County, which borders the State of Ohio, and my home in Meadville is about twenty-five miles from the Ohio line. I have had an opportunity to talk to people in Ohio, and the ones I have talked to, do not object to the Ohio system of collection. In fact they are very much in favor of it. As our leader pointed out, there is a great deal of doubt in my mind also that they will ever be able to repeal it or change it in Ohio.

My people in Crawford County, and I am sure this is true in Western Pennsylvania, who are very familiar with the Ohio system of collection, are very much in favor of it. I can say with all truthfulness that the only objection I have ever received as a Member of this House to the sales tax which was in operation in Pennsylvania up until August 31st, the only objection that was ever conveyed to me in any way, was about our system of collection. All of the people who contacted me about it expressed most strenuously their desire that we should adopt the Ohio system along with a sales tax, which they believe was the fairest and most equitable tax we could have and which would meet our needs and our situation in Pennsylvania.

Therefore, representing the people I do and feeling that I know something about the wishes and the wants of the people of Pennsylvania generally, not only limiting my opinion to Crawford County, I cannot in all good conscience vote for this tax which we are now considering.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Berks, Mr. Readinger, for the purpose of closing the debate.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I have no desire to shut off debate, but I would like to close if I may after the gentleman has been recognized.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Berks yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. McCormack.

Mr. READINGER. The gentleman from Berks yields.

Mr. McCORMACK. Mr. Speaker, I just want to say a few words. I would very much like to say at this time in reply to the gentleman from Dauphin, the Reverend Billy Sunday Hocker, that he has got a convert, but at this particular time, I want to paraphrase the words of another very prominent Member of the Republican party that "I am on the brink."

Certain facts to me are not disputed, I think no one can dispute them. One is that the Democratic party, the Majority Party in this Commonwealth today, passed, sponsored and sent over to the Senate two tax bills and whether or not they were fair is beside the point.

The second is that this particular tax bill No. 779 is a Republican bill. It was sponsored by the gentleman from Indiana who is a Republican, Representative Hewitt.

I think the time has come when we should rise above party politics. The Majority Leader has mentioned that we have no alternative to bankruptcy. I say to you that we have already reached moral bankruptcy in this Commonwealth because of certain factors that exists, and I won't discuss them. We are now facing financial bankruptcy.

Since this is without dispute a Republican tax, I think you should carry the ball, Mr. Minority Leader, and get your delegation to vote solidly in favor of it, regardless of whether the rate is two per cent or three per cent. If I sitting here today find that there is unanimity among the Minority Members then I will add my vote to help to pass this Republican tax.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Berks desire to yield the floor to the gentleman from Luzerne, Mr. Wallace?

Mr. READINGER. If the gentleman desires the floor, I do.

Mr. WALLACE. Mr. Speaker, I would like to make a few brief comments as to why I oppose this bill.

I do not have any conflict with the Republican party, I do not have any conflict with my brothers on this side. But I do say right is right and wrong is wrong. If I recall back in 1952 we elected our President of the United States and when the House and Senate convened the Members of Congress were Democrats and the Senate was Republican, but I do recall they said "we are not going to be obstructionists." Now, we have heard that word here quite a lot and I think it has been proven that either somebody on this side or somebody on the other side is jockeying for position.

As I have read parts of this bill I found inequities and as it was pointed out yesterday where people were over paying and were being taxed on the sales tax, the one we let expire, there were no provisions made in the bill to give the particular person or persons a rebate. Up to this date there are no provisions in this bill to give a person a rebate. For example, they would say, "Well now, there are no provisions"—and I have data and letters from various people in my brief case stating that after they had written the department they would say,—there are no provisions in the tax bill. We can not give you your money back because of some mistake that has been made where a man overpaid it.

Furthermore, I would like to state this. Mr. Auker has stated that he comes from Altoona and that he comes from a depressed area. I do not know how many idle people he has in his county but I will say this, that back in Luzerne County I think we have one of the deepest depressed areas, people being idle to the number of about 38 thousand. I might also say that some of the people retired from the mines, receive $50 a month, some of them are able even at sixty to work, and here is what you are going to do with that sales tax.

You will give them relief but you will take it back with the sales tax. That is what you are going to do.

I know a lot of these people that are getting relief. Some of them have their budget so closely watched that some of them cannot even go to church. Some of them go to church for the reason that they will sacrifice food on the table. How could these poor people on relief afford this three per cent sales tax or a two per cent sales tax?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman from Berks wish to yield to the Minority Leader?

Mr. READINGER. I do.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I had certainly no intention of speaking again but I cannot let the gentleman from Philadelphia hide behind the skirts of a phony.

I do not think it is going to make a lot of difference what he says. I do not think it is going to make a lot of difference what I say. I feel the Press will report the bill honestly as they have in the past. He knows that it is not a Republican bill even though it has a Republican sponsor. We were not able to control the bill, we were not able to amend the bill the way we want it. Let me say to him and to this House that if we ever have the opportunity of giving you a Republican bill regardless of rate, there will be a lot more Republican votes than you are going to get today. It is not a Republican bill, it is a Democratic bill by the Majority Leader's own admission. They put the bill in the shape they wanted it and it is not in the shape that we want it. For the matter of record I had to make that statement at this time.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, first, I would like to compliment the Membership on the contributions they have made to the debate on this subject. I think they were vigorous, well stated and I think we have covered the subject quite thoroughly.

As to whether it is a Republican bill or a Democratic bill, I guess at this point it does not matter too much. I might state something that probably will meet with the approval of the Minority Leader in this respect, that this is a Republican sponsored bill, as rewritten by the Democratic membership of this House, for the reason stated before that we cannot write it any other way at this time.

Maybe we ought to put the matter to rest as to whether it is a Democratic bill or a Republican bill. The fact still remains that the sales tax method, that idea of raising the money we need, is still a Republican sponsored idea, and I defy the gentleman to argue himself out of that fact.

The lady from Bucks, Mrs. Kooker and the gentleman from Bedford, Mr. Stroup, and several others have stated the very reason why probably a lot of Democratic Members are going to vote against this bill today. They stated that it includes clothing and, therefore, they find themselves unable to vote for it.

Perhaps many other Republicans will vote against this bill today because it includes clothing. Perhaps some will vote against it because it taxes meals that people will eat away from home. Perhaps they will vote against it because they too do not like a sales tax of three per cent.

I would like to point out in concluding this argument today, that two facts seem to be outstanding in all this debate; first, nobody has disputed the amount of revenue that will be collected under this legislation, and nobody as far as I have been able to hear today, has suggested any other way of raising about $200 million.

When Mr. Hocker was speaking I think he made the statement that he will not inflict on his constituents any income tax. He spoke about the two per cent and two per cent proposal which was discussed before, the two per cent income tax and two per cent sales tax. I believe he said it does not take a master mind to figure out that two and two is worse than a three per cent sales tax. What he is overlooking, and perhaps a lot of others are overlooking, is the fact that if we did have an income tax such as we proposed to raise part of the money, some $210 millions, you could have written this sales tax in any way you wanted to practically, because you would only need about $165 million from a sales tax.

So I say we conclude this argument today by hearing some of your Members, some of our Members saying "We cannot possibly vote for this because it includes clothing." Still you say nothing about how we are supposed to raise the rest of the money.

I have been asking the Members to vote for this as the alternative to state bankruptcy, but I am not surprised to see a lot of your Members vote against it as I won't be surprised to see a lot of our Members vote against it. But nobody up to this time except our party has proposed another way of raising this money. You say "no" in effect to an income tax, the Senate has said "no," and if you think you can go back home and say "I voted against this tax because it included clothing," I hope you have an answer to your people back home as to how the rest of the money is supposed to be raised when you control the votes in the Senate, and you say nothing but "this."

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Agreeably to the provisions of the Constitution the yeas and nays were taken and were as follows:

NOT VOTING—11

Boies,	Guthrie,	Lutty,	Thomas,
Filo,	Kratz,	Murray, J. J.,	Walsh,
Foster,	Lippincott,	Scarcell,

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

REASON FOR VOTE

Mr. BANKER. Mr. Speaker, Re House Bill 779. I know the people of Huntingdon County want to see a Sales Tax enacted. I am equally certain that they do not wish to be crucified by such a bill as this.

There is no doubt in my mind that this misbegotten bill as set up by the Democratic Party will produce closer to $600 million than $365. This is simply highwaymen tactics.

I am voting against it because I think I am doing what my folks would want me to do.

I might add that even if it is passed here today it will never reach the Governor's desk. If I am wrong, I will soon find out when I return to my home.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. DAVIS. Mr. Speaker, I request consent of the House to file a statement on my reasons for voting against the sales tax measure before the House today.

Mr. Speaker, I regret that in good conscience I have no other course than to vote no on this bill, House Bill No. 779, as well as House Bill No. 780.

I will wholeheartedly support a sales tax bill up to 3 per cent which includes

(1) the Ohio stamp plan in substantially its entirety, and

(2) the same exemptions which were in the lapsed 1953 one per cent sales tax.

Such a bill, I believe, is acceptable to my constituents.

Any bill which falls short of these exemptions, and of the Ohio plan concept for collections, in my opinion, does not measure up to what the people of Forest County have a right to expect in the way of taxes.

Moreover, Mr. Speaker, I refuse to be stampeded into voting for so unacceptable a set of tax measures as the two bills before the House this day, by the public relations efforts of the Governor's Office. The public relations staff are endeavoring to tie the tag of pure obstructionism to those who vote "no." Despite an impending fiscal crisis, still I refuse to be stampeded into a course which I believe to be an unfair burden upon my constituents.

Briefly and finally, my position is this: I will not vote for a sales tax which bears harshly upon those of low incomes. But I shall vote for a sales tax bill which does ease the burden upon those of low income. And the measure I shall support will include the Ohio plan.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. GRAMLICH. Mr. Speaker, I desire to file my comments on House Bill 779 and 780, better known as the Sales and Use Tax Bills.

I intend to vote for these bills with reluctance—I have always favored a sales tax as the best method of financing our educational system, however, I feel that a two per cent tax would be sufficient, but now as ninety per cent or more of the schools in my district are in dire need of funds and at the late date in the present biennium, I feel that three per cent tax will be necessary for the balance of this biennium. However, I recommend that take home food, clothing and prescription medicines, and all trade-in articles be exempted.

Also I recommend that if this tax is approved that the method of collection be patterned after the Ohio Plan with the use of stamps or coupons and the latter to be written in the measure.

REASONS FOR VOTE

Mr. HELM. Mr. Speaker, with the hope that the Senate will exempt clothing from taxation and permit trade-ins as a deduction from the retail price before tax is added and that the Ohio stamp plan will be written into the bills, I cast my vote in favor of the above bills. About ninety-six per cent of the school districts in Armstrong County are in dire need of financial aid now and I must cast my vote to raise these needed funds.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

The result of the vote on this tax bill, Mr. Speaker, certainly is what everyone has been expecting. We knew and you knew that a three per cent sales tax written on Democratic lines, with clothing, trade-ins and non-acceptance of the Ohio plan, could never get 100 per cent support from this side of the House, that it could only be passed if you yourselves provided the majority of the votes for the bill that you so amended.

We have stood all along for a sales tax, and I want to be very emphatic about this, we still are for a sales tax at the proper rate and with the proper exemptions. The tax bill that the majority of our caucus said they would support, and which I told you on the floor of this House, is one with a two per cent rate and exempting clothes and trade-ins.

I believe we could go so far as to say today that our caucus, if we were allowed to write the bill in our way, would go for a three per cent rate with the proper exemptions and the proper handling and the proper collection of the tax.

Such a tax will produce $200 million minimum and it could possibly go, if it is three per cent rate, to $300 or $350 million. That is under one supposition, that we act and act at once and quit playing politics and trying to kid the public.

This will meet a great part of the requirements of our schools and hospitals if it is two per cent. If it is three per cent, it will probably cover all of them. If it had been enacted last year, when it should have been enacted, it would have met all of the requirements, as I said before, of our state budget coupled with the Governor's economies that he promised, but so far has not produced.

Then you are going to say to me, if it is two per cent, what about the rest of the money? I say to you, if we can only produce enough votes for a two per cent tax, we are in the minority, as you know, and we are going to provide for a two per cent tax a major portion of the votes for a tax bill that will produce sixty per cent of what is needed in your budget. If that is all we can produce, you will have to come up with the other forty per cent. We can't be expected to do that.

If you let us write our bill and amend our bill the way we want to amend it—let's play ball fairly—if we give you a three per cent tax, it will provide most of the money and you can say you didn't pass any taxes if you want to do that. That is the way we feel today. I am not saying to you what the tax will be, if it is going to be two per cent or what it is going to be or what is going to be used as a matching fund with it.

I am not saying what the Senate will agree to pass. I cannot speak for the Senate and I do not presume to speak for them. What we are willing to do and what we are speaking of is the kind of sales tax we can vote for, and we on this side will do everything humanly possible to pass it.

When that sales tax is passed, if the Governor sees fit to sign it—he has not yet said that he would sign it, or sign any sales tax—the major portion of what is needed to balance the budget at two per cent will be provided, I am sure. We cannot see why we should be held responsible for the fact that $70 million in revenue has already been lost in this biennium by the Governor's refusal to consent to the sales tax.

If you do feel that we should be held responsible for the Governor's attitude in this, a three per cent tax may possibly solve it. We do not feel that we should be responsible for providing money for the Governor's pet projects and for his untried programs which the people of Pennsylvania do not seem to want and the Governor is the only one trying to initiate them.

The first thing to do here, it seems to us, is to find money for the things the state needs, the things the state is already committed to, instead of trying to find better ways and newer ways of spending money.

I might again say to the Governor, if we are only able to produce votes for a two per cent tax of the kind you gentlemen don't seem to want, perhaps it might be well to remind him that half a loaf is better than none. If the school teachers and the schools are paid on time in the next two months, or in the next month, it would be better for us to do that than for all of us to sit here and not attempt anything.

I only pass that on to you on the two per cent rate. There seems to be a feeling on this side of the House that if we write the bill and it is our bill, maybe we can get you enough votes for three per cent with some help from your side.

It is back in your hands. When you make up your minds what you will let us do with the bill, let us know. You are trying to hang it on our shoulders. We are willing to let it hang there, but we are going to have it hang in our fashion and not in yours.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, I think the membership of the House should be assured that the defeat of this bill is not going to stop any activity on our part to try to solve this problem. Whether the solution will be in line with what the gentleman suggests or not, I do not know and neither does he, but we are certainly going to keep on making efforts, one after another, to get this thing solved. He says it must be solved, we say it must, and we all know it must.

If the day ever comes when we are going to be forced to take half a loaf and run a couple hundred million dollars deficit in this biennium, he will find that the people on this side are willing to vote for anything they can get by way of raising money so our schools do not close.

That day has not come, and I say we are going to make every effort to go on from this point and try to get this solved in some sensible way. There will be no delay. I have been seeking conferences with the gentleman and with anyone who in some way might be of help to solve this problem. That will continue.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair is pleased at this time to return the gavel to the Speaker.

The SPEAKER (Hiram G. Andrews) IN THE CHAIR

The SPEAKER. The Chair resumes the gavel for the purpose of making a statement as Speaker, a statement as a Speaker who presides over a parliament composed of the representatives of two parties.

I hope we all realize the gravity of the situation at which we have arrived. We are confronted with a situation, not a theory, a situation which will not permit all of us to treasure our particular ideologies or to continue in complete devotion to our particular philosophies.

I want to say to the new Members, some of whom I have no doubt, regarded me as a bit of a partisan devil. I have always been a party man, but during my career here no one ever heard me personally abuse a Republican Governor. No one. I have earned my right to speak to the Members of this House. There may have been greater parliamentarians as Speakers, there may have been more eloquent orators, but I do not believe the oldest Member of this House can recall a Speaker who has been more consistently devoted to the interest of this House.

When you came back you got a $500 check. Do you think you got that because the people arose and demanded it, because you were so pretty, because you were so diligent in your job? No. You got it because a few Members of this House, Adam Bower, the gentleman from Lancaster, gentlemen over on our side, went out on a limb and demanded that you get it. The Speaker was one of the hinges upon which those series of checks turned. Once in a while when you cash them in the days to come, just think of the Speaker, because he may not be around then.

We are going to pass a pension bill and it is going to become a law. Do you think that comes about because you are so pretty, because you have all been so diligent in your tasks, because you never have been absent without leave, because the public admires you so? No. It is an anchor cast to windward so that in the days to come this House may have greater stature and greater dignity, and I believe the Republican Members of this House, the older Members, will concede that the Speaker is one of the hinges upon which that bill will turn.

I am simply saying this to fortify my right to speak. What measures we will take in the future I do not think is within the province of the Speaker to comment upon, but I have listened to the debate today and I have listened to the recent comments of the Minority Leader and the Majority Leader. We cannot solve the problem that faces us by glaring at each other in anger across the middle aisle. It can't be done.

Neither party at this time can muster the votes for an adequate financial program. We might as well face the fact. I do not believe any financial genius can frame a program that will have 106 votes on the Democratic side or that will have a full amount of support for a complete program on the Republican side. So we must needs establish some means of non-partisan communication, consideration, conference and compromise.

Another thing, we must become increasingly conscious, and all the factors on this Hill must become increasingly conscious, of the dignities and the responsibilities of this House by virtue of statute and by virtue of the Constitution. We are the custodians of the responsibility of framing the fiscal policies of this Commonwealth. We surrender our prerogatives and we stand on our dignity and our responsibility, and we are defeated before we start if we say we can't do this because perhaps the other Chamber will not go along. If we are to take that attitude, we might as well decamp from the Hill and place sole responsibility on that other Chamber.

I notice that the faces long familiar in the Senate that were honoring us with their presence this afternoon, upon the termination of a discussion concerning taxes have decamped from our midst.

The Senate of Pennsylvania perhaps consistently can refuse to support a tax program that comes to that body if it is a program which all the Democrats voted for and all the Republicans voted against. I do not know if I were a Republican Senator and I were faced with that sort of a division, whether I would likely repudiate the judgment of all of the Republican Members of the House. But no coordinate parliamentary body can refuse to honor a fiscal program that comes before it backed by a majority of the Republicans in this House and backed by a majority of the Democrats in this House and comes to it stamped with the hallmark of bipartisan endeavor.

To these newer and more enthusiastic Members, I would say you can not pass a tax program just by kicking the Governor around. To my Democratic friends I say that when you have a majority in both Houses it is frequently amusing and worthwhile to kick the Republicans around because of past sins.

For our purposes we stand in an entirely new day. If we enter this new day burdned by party animosities, the new day will be just a day like the days that have gone since January 1st.

You know there are some curious things—and I think the Speaker has a right to comment—when we sent the first tax bill over to the Senate there was a plea for three Republican votes. They decided that three Senators were indispensable and could not be sacrificed. But when the situation arose in the House, and there were ninety-some Republicans to be sacrificed who were dispensable, there was all kinds of pressure, all kinds of pressure, that they line up. Talk about clubbing Democrats. I hope some of the Republican Members are feeling their heads to determine the extent of the bruises.

I am suggesting that beginning as of this hour the Majority Leader, with such advisers as he may elect to select, and the Minority Leader, with such advisers as he may elect to select, enter into conference for the purpose, for the purpose, of reaching an initial agreement upon a program which can be submitted to this House meeting in Committee of the Whole. The Minority Leader says he is going to make no bargains behind closed doors. The Majority Leader says he is going to make no bargains behind closed doors. There is no possible parliamentary way that we can ascertain our situation regarding the strength we have in both parties for a bona fide bipartisan tax program than to devise such a program and consider it in Committee of the Whole.

Of course, if in that Committee we are conscious only on the Democratic side of past Republican error and Republicans are conscious only of fancied or real Democratic dereliction we can't get anywhere. Most certainly, we will never get anywhere by abusing each other across the center aisle. We must recognize the fact that no party won the last election—no party won. When there is a Republican Senate and a Democratic House, it stands a draw, but we cannot win this battle, we cannot win this tax battle, if we surrender to the other Chamber before we even begin to think. It is intolerable, it is politically indecent, that the leaders in any parliamentary group should assume the attitude of overlords and presume that we in this House are children to be told, "Now get busy, boys. Here's what we insist you do."

I say the will of this House concerning tax legislation is an imperial will, and instead of the other Chamber saying, "Do this," I favor a bipartisan program to be sent to the other Chamber with the word that this is it. Changes in draftsmanship we will accept, error we will permit to be remedied, but here in those measures is represented the sovereign will of this House and we are prepared to insist before all the world that that will prevail.

The Chair now returns the gavel to the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Lopresti.

Mr. LOPRESTI IN THE CHAIR

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, In view or the — — —

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, — — —

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the gentleman desire to yield to the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Smith?

Mr. READINGER. I will yield. I think he wants to make a motion to recommit a bill.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I thank the gentleman.

Mr. Speaker, I would like to suggest to the majority side at this time, if they are as sincere in their desire to solve this difficulty as we seem to be, that they go along with us right now on a motion to place the sales tax bill which just failed, on the final passage postponed calendar so that we on this side of the House can work on it and help solve their problems. We will give some support to that motion if they will.

Mr. READINGER. To reconsider the vote and put the bill on the final passage postponed calendar?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair would suggest that under the motion to make House Bills Nos. 779 and 780 a special order of business, the Chair must lay before the House at this time the second special order of business, which is House Bill 780, Printer's No. 1314.

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. Mr. Speaker, I was not going to make a motion, I was asking at the time whether they would help with a motion at this time.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I yield for the purpose of the next order of business on 780.

I would also suggest, if it meets the gentleman's approval and he does not want to consider our other suggestion, that we recommit 780. That would probably tell us how he feels on the other motion.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I had risen for the purpose of moving that House Bill 780 be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means in view of the defeat of 779.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman yield for a moment?

Does the gentleman wish to make any further remarks before we proceed to that order?

Mr. READINGER. I do, Mr. Speaker.

In line with the request just made, I realize the importance of time as much as the gentleman does, but I certainly think one day's delay in making a decision as to whether to put 779 on the postponed calendar or to recommit it to Committee will not unduly delay this House. I expect he would not object to my requesting one day in order to make the decision that he has requested.

A motion to reconsider the vote by which the bill was defeated can be made tomorrow as well as it can be made today. I am asking him to withdraw his request for immediate action, otherwise I will have to oppose it.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The gentleman has not made a formal motion. it was in the form of a suggestion and there is nothing to withdraw.

SPECIAL ORDER ON HOUSE BILL NO. 780

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair lays before the House the next bill on the special order of business fixed for this time, being House Bill No. 780.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 780, entitled:

An Act providing revenue by imposing a tax on the use and storage of tangible personal property within the Commonwealth providing for the assessment collection and lien of the tax imposing duties on prothonotaries requiring sellers maintaining a place of business in this Commonwealth to register make returns and collect the tax prescribing penalties and providing for the use of the proceeds of such tax for public school purposes

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

BILL RECOMMITTED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be recommitted to the Committee on Ways and Means.

The motion was agreed to.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. RIGBY asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

I was going to speak very briefly on the letter that we received yesterday from our Speaker. If the mockery is over that we witnessed today I recommend that the suggestion made by the Speaker be adopted and that we get down to business and get together so we can all agree on a tax.

The only thing, I would like to go a little bit further. I would like to suggest that the Governor and the President pro tempore take a brief vacation so that we can sensibly solve our problems. I do not think it will have to be a lengthy one.

RESOLUTION

CONGRATULATIONS

The SPEAKER pro tempore. There is a very special privileged Resolution to come before the House at this time. The Resolution refers to the Dean of the House, and the Chair would like to have silence and attention during the consideration of this Resolution.

Messrs. ROYER, PAUL G. MURRAY and ESHLEMAN offered a resolution which was read, considered and unanimously adopted as follows:

In the House of Representatives, January 24, 1956.

The Honorable Norman Wood, representative of the second legislative district of Lancaster County, celebrates his second birthday anniversary to occur during this session of the General Assembly, on Tuesday, January 24, 1956. This event is significant, as it is a token of his double-barreled efforts to further the inception and advancement of well-considered legislation.

Mr. Wood has served in this legislative body without interruption since his original election in 1922. During his long years of dedication to public service, he has served on the Local Government Commission, the Pennsylvania Historical and Museum Commission, the Governor's Advisory Farm Labor Committee, and as Chairman of the Commission on Interstate Cooperation.

Mr. Wood's outstanding record has much to commend it in the way of keen analysis of legislative affairs and honest and well-founded concepts of public problems. These concepts have been of great worth in the evaluation of the various tasks confronting this body during his many years of service; therefore, be it

Resolved, That the members of this House of Representatives extend their individual good wishes and congratulations to the Honorable Norman Wood on his birthday anniversary, and wish him health and happiness for many years to come.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. The Chair recognizes the gentleman from Lancaster, Mr. Wood.

Mr. WOOD. Mr. Speaker, I wish to thank my colleagues for this Resolution. There are not many people that can have two birthdays in one session. I hope this session will soon be over so I will not have to serve a third one here.

SENATE BILL FOR CONCURRENCE

The Clerk of the Senate being introduced, presented for concurrence, bill numbered and entitled as follows:

SENATE BILL No. 446.

An Act providing for examination by the Workmen's Compensation Board of persons prior to appointment or reappointment as workmen's compensation referees.

Referred to the Committee on Labor Relations.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS HOUSE

Mr. READINGER asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the House.

Mr. Speaker, during yesterday's proceedings after the sales tax was soundly defeated, the Minority Leader suggested that we immediately reconsider the vote by which it was defeated and place it on the final passage postponed calendar.

Being a little bit tired at the time, I did not want to make a decision on it, but I have made one since.

I would now suggest that the bill remain in its present condition, dead, inasmuch as we have five legislative days within which to revive it if the decision is finally made to do so.

In the course of our discussion yesterday somebody advanced the idea, I don't know whether it was the Speaker or the Minority Floor Leader, that we immediately resume negotiations seeking to solve this tax problem, but not behind closed doors. Whose idea that was I do not remember and it does not make much difference.

At this time I would like to publicly and emphatically invite the Minority Floor Leader to have lunch with me somewhere out in the open where we can discuss social matters and not touch on taxes. The word "tax," as far as I am concerned, will not even be mentioned. Every time I meet a newspaperman he wants to know whether we are going to meet and where we are going to meet. Up to this time I have not known myself, but I am now inviting Mr. Smith to have lunch with me.

I might add that the Press is not invited because these are purely social matters that we are going to discuss. I hope the gentleman will see fit to accept my invitation. This will be at my own expense, not his.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Does the Minority Leader desire to be recognized at this time?

Mr. CHARLES C. SMITH. I certainly do. I don't get invitations like that too often.

I would suggest to the Majority Leader, if he is doing this in good faith, and I know he is, that probably if we could eat at the Tavern we might give the Press advance notice and we could reserve a table for ten. Then, if we should mention taxes, they would be eating beside us and it would be perfectly clear, it would be in the open.

As long as it is on the Majority Leader, I suggest we do that right away, reserve a table for ten.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, knowing the members of the Press, that place is much too expensive for them to eat in. I suggest we eat some other place.

ADJOURNMENT

SENATE

MONDAY, January 30, 1956.

The Senate met at 1:00 o'clock p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. GEORGE D. WOLFE, Pastor of St. Peter's and St. Paul's Lutheran Churches, Erie, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Lord God of Hosts, merciful Father of all who believe, we remember in humble praise how Thou hast ruled by Thy Spirit in the councils of Nations and of States, ever making perfect Thy strength in human weakness, overruling errors and making even the foolish wrath of men to praise Thee. Thou hast promised to be with us to the end of the ages, even in the affairs of this great Commonwealth of ours. Fulfill again Thy promises that in the business in which these chosen leaders in the Senate of our State are engaged Thy love and Thy wisdom shall prevail.

We pray that Thou wilt bless each one, for Thou knowest their strength and their weakness, their desires and their needs, their motives and their hopes. Wilt Thou cast the mantle of Thy strength and wisdom about them, that they may feel the resurgence of hope in the pressing business before them.

May each of us remember that Thou art concerned about all that is said here, and may everyone have a clear conscience before Thee. Bless us, one and all, according to our greatest need, and use us for Thy honor and glory. We ask in all humility, in the name of Jesus Christ, our Lord, Who liveth and reigneth with Thee and the Holy Ghost, ever one God, world without end, Amen.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, about ten days ago, I brought to your attention the fact that one of our leading jurists in Philadelphia, Judge Vincent A. Carroll, was threatened, requiring a police guard and whatnot. A year ago, a Judge in Warren County was killed; a few months later, a Judge in Cumberland County was maimed; and from Philadelphia County, threats. This should not be tolerated, Mr. President.

Therefore, I am introducing a bill which will provide a Draconian penalty for such a threat.

BILLS INTRODUCED AND REFERRED

Mr. STIEFEL read in his place and presented to the Chair Senate Bill No. 958, entitled:

An Act amending the act of June 24, 1939 (P. L. 872), entitled "The Penal Code," prohibiting the intimidation of judges by threats of bodily harm.

L. 537), entitled "An act relating to counties and townships and county and township officers," changing the amount to be retained by the county treasurer from dog licenses issued by him and the amount of his compensation acting as agent for the Commonwealth.

Which was committed to the Committee on Local Government.

PETITIONS AND REMONSTRANCES

Mr. LANE. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I noticed by the newspapers on Saturday that the Joint Investigating Committee of the Senate and House, which was authorized by Senate Concurrent Resolution No. 113, to investigate conditions at Morganza, was criticized by the Secretary of Welfare because of a subject matter contained in the report.

I might say to you, Mr. President, and to the Members of the Senate and to the Secretary of Welfare, that this committee was strictly a bipartisan committee. There were no political angles in our report. I believe that the committee members applied themselves diligently to try to do a good job for the people of Pennsylvania and for those poor unfortunates who are committed to Morganza. We tried to think along a constructive line.

Under the provisions of the resolution, we have the authority to make recommendations. Of course, there is no guarantee that the recommendations are going to be carried out. However, I observed, in particular, that the Secretary of Welfare criticized our position in regard to the appointment of three Juvenile Court Judges to the Board of Trustees at Morganza. I believe the Secretary of Welfare also stated that he would not remove one member of the Board of Trustees. For the information of the Secretary of Welfare, this committee did not recommend the removal of any member of the Board of Trustees at Morganza. What we did say was that at the expiration of their respective terms, we recommended that three Juvenile Court Judges be appointed as members of this Board of Trustees. I want to tell the Membership of the Senate of our thinking along that particular line.

Mr. President, I think all of us will agree that the rehabilitation of juvenile delinquents is, itself, a specialized field. We felt—and the committee was unanimous, if you please—that the appointment of three Juvenile Court Judges would be a step in the right direction because we believe that they are specialists in that particular field. They are from the courts that commit these unfortunates to Morganza. I feel that they should have a right and a privilege and a responsibility, too, to see that these children are properly rehabilitated. We have no ax to grind with any member of the Board of Trustees at Morganza. I want the Membership to know that I am personally acquainted with a number of them and they are very fine persons. However, I feel also that we must have persons who are actually learned along that particular line to do the job.

Mr. President, we set up all sorts of standards around here and we must set some standards up at Morganza. Serving as a member of the Board of Trustees at Morganza is not like serving on a Board of Trustees at a Teachers College because you are on a highly different echelon altogether. As you know, Morganza is the only institution of its type in Pennsylvania. I feel that we were right in the position that we took.

I believe, too, that the Secretary of Welfare mentioned something about the fact that had a committee filed a report fifty years ago, it would have come up with similar recommendations. Of course, Mr. President, I do not know what happened fifty years ago. However, I, for one, feel that this is a very constructive report and I am proud to have my name on it. The Secretary of Welfare talked also about the Members of the Legislature serving as members of the Board of Trustees. By the way, one newspaper said that our report was an indictment of the Legislature, but our thinking along the lines of putting two Members of the Legislature on this Board of Trustees was as follows:

There has always been a controversy in regard to the appropriation of moneys for institutions. We felt that if two Members of the Legislature served on the Board of Trustees at Morganza, they would be on the scene; they would be familiar with conditions; they would know whether or not the money asked for was justified. We felt we could lick the problem in that way. We also felt that this was a good suggestion. By the way, it specifically spells out that of the two Members of the Legislature, there should only be one from one major political party. Therefore, there would be a Republican and a Democrat serving on the Board of Trustees at Morganza. I feel that is a constructive approach because we, of the Legislature, especially the gentlemen from the east, actually are not familiar with Morganza just as I, from the west, am not familiar with the problems of the institutions in the east. I will be glad to have the advice and counsel of a Member of the Senate from the east to tell me what is needed in those institutions. As a Member of this Senate, I would, of course, accept his advice.

Therefore, Mr. President, I, for one, speaking as an individual, feel that this criticism was sort of unjustified. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, if you gentlemen will take the time to read the record, you will find that in the closing days of the hearings, I personally asked all participants, "Do you feel that we have conducted a fair investigation? Do you feel that we have been strictly nonpolitical? Do you feel that you have been fairly treated and do you feel that you have had time to present your case to the membership? The answer was unanimous. Each and every participant said that we had conducted the investigation upon a high plane. We did not go into Morganza to persecute or to assassinate the character of any individual. We went into Morganza with one thought in mind, and that was to do something for the poor kids who are in Morganza. We wanted to find out if we could not do something to do away with the brutality that did exist there.

If you will read the record, you will find that the Holsopple Report, which was written by a very able investigator for the Department of Welfare, set forth that these brutalities did exist. It was in writing and the superintendent had a copy laid upon his desk.

I recall, too, Mr. President, that when I talked to one of the members of the Board of Trustees at Morganza, who happened to be on the scene with a newspaper reporter at the time the children were confined to cells in the wintertime, with the windows knocked out, this particular member of the Board told me that he did not know that these conditions existed. He was a Member of the Board and for that reason I say that, with all due respect to the gentleman. He is probably busy in private life the same as I am and the same as quite a number of other people. I feel that it is a specialized field and we are not ignoring the public. Your Juvenile Court Judges are elected by the people; your Members of the Legislature are elected by the people and the other four members should be chosen from the various fields in private life.

I do not care what the newspaper editorials say. That is just the thinking of one individual. There may be a contest or controversy between the metropolitan newspapers of Pittsburgh, but that is no concern of mine. They can go ahead and fight as long as they want to. We are sworn here to do a duty and to do a job. We went out and we did the job without fear and without favor. I will stand before the Secretary of Welfare and I have written him a letter to the effect that I will answer any of his questions, either publicly or privately. I will defend this report. I feel that each and every recommendation made here in this report was made honestly. I ask that the Secretary of Welfare, at least, give these recommendations some consideration. After all, this is the action of the elected Members of the Legislature, the men who are elected to present the people. We respectfully filed this report and we respectfully urge that the Secretary of Welfare give it his consideration.

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I also happen to be a member of this committee and I fully concur in the remarks made by my colleague from Washington County, Senator Lane.

I had no intention to discuss Morganza on this floor because I felt that it was my duty to take an active part in the investigation and to do a good, conscientious job. I want to pay my respects to the members of this committee, Senator Lane, Senator Fleming and Senator Scott, who attended the meetings with me and who were sincere and honest in all deliberations. At no time were we at odds, especially politically. If at any time we were, it was not between the Democrats and Republicans. On several occasions, there were little flare-ups between Senator Lane and myself at the hearings. They were nothing of great importance, but a matter of procedure.

Mr. President, I wish this committee could put in print or I wish I could stand here today and tell this group what we know and what we have found. It would rock this Chamber. No public institutions could get any lower, morally, among the patients. That is bad; among boys and girls, girls and girls. When an employee is indicted or involved morally with trainees, it is time to take action. We are all fathers; we all have children and probably none of us can sprout any wings. However, no person in this Commonwealth would dare tolerate what we found in Morganza.

Mr. President, the Secretary of Welfare should make it his duty to call this committee in and hear it firsthand from all of us. He would be shocked. Our report is very modest, very kind. We just scratched the surface. Conditions at Morganza are intolerable. Those trainees will not be fit to go back into society. I talked personally to a little girl from Johnstown, a trainee, a beautiful little creature. She told me what she is doing and why she is doing it. I thought of my own daughter. I shuddered; I could not believe it.

Because we are trying to do a job, we are criticized. Any more publicity condemning this committee will compel me, Mr. President, to speak openly and out loud, in plain language. I promise to do that if I, as one, or any of my colleagues, are further criticized. I shall speak and ask that you clear the room in order for me to tell my colleagues what I know, what I have found and what I have learned at Morganza.

Mr. MALLERY. Mr. President, I was not a member of the committee, but I did read the report and I wish to commend the members of the committee for their recommendations.

Quite a number of years ago—I do not remember how long ago it was—I was a Member of the Local Government Commission when we met in the western part of the State and we were taken through Morganza. It has always been my opinion that girls and boys should not be taken care of, or provided for, in the same institution. I think the recommendations of the committee are splendid.

Mr. FLEMING. Mr. President and Members of the Senate, I, too, was on that committee. I acted in the capacity of Co-Chairman, with Senator Lane. I feel that probably anyone has a right to criticize the findings of the committee if they so desire. However, as Senator Lane did, I would call to the Secretary's attention that this report was agreed to by all the members of the committee.

We spent many hours in going over the testimony, in hearing testimony and then sifting through it and coming up with what we thought were recommendations that would be for the betterment of that institution. Those recommendations were made in good faith. They were actuated, I am sure, by the finest of impulses of every member of that committee. I would also like to call the attention of the Senate to this. Secretary Shapiro was invited to appear before that committee. That invitation was ignored. Not at any one time did he appear before the committee, when we were holding hearings in Washington, Pennsylvania, and offer any suggestions that he might have.

Mr. President, I am very happy to hear Senator Maltery get up and say that he thinks we have done a good job. I certainly feel that we did a good job with our recommendations. I can only hope that at either this Session, or at succeeding Sessions of the Legislature, some of the recommendations that we did make will be put into effect so that we will have possibly a rehabilitation center not only for boys, but for girls who, unfortunately, have to be committed to such a type institution.

Which was committed to the Committee on State Government.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION TIME OF NEXT MEETING

Mr. SCOTT offered the following resolution which was twice read, considered and agreed to:

In the Senate, January 30, 1956.

Resolved (the House of Representatives concurring), That when the Senate adjourns this week, it reconvene Monday, February 6, 1956, at a time to be fixed by the Senate; and when the House of Representatives adjourns this week, it reconvene Monday, February 6, 1956, at a time to be fixed by the House of Representatives.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the House of Representatives for concurrence.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

MEMORIALIZING CONGRESS TO PROVIDE ADEQUATE SAFEGUARDS, INCLUDING IMPORT QUOTAS, IN TARIFF AND TRADE LEGISLATION

Messrs. WAGNER, VAN SANT and SCOTT offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Constitutional Changes and Federal Relations:

In the Senate, January 30, 1956.

Whereas, The increased importation of numerous products that come into competition with the output of factories, farms and mines of Pennsylvania, replacing the products of Pennsylvania's industries, is a constant menace to the State's continuing economic stability;

Whereas, The lower wages paid abroad make it impossible for many of our smaller and medium-sized producers to compete with imports without resorting to ruinous price-cutting, which in turn would result either in financial losses or heavy pressure for wage reductions and outright unemployment; and

Whereas, Our National obligations have reached such extreme proportions that the National income must be maintained at its present unprecedented high level, or close thereto, lest we become involvent; and

Where as, Unemployment caused by the imports of residual oil which increased 300% from an average of 45 million barrels in 1946, to more than 136 million barrels in 1954, or the yearly equivalent of 33 million tons of coal; and unemployment caused by imports of crude oil; various types of glass, steel, aluminum, brass and zinc products; pottery and chinaware; granite, tiles, cement, hardwood, plywood, hardware, plumbing, flat glass and other building supplies, lace, carpets and all kinds of woolen, cotton and synthetic fibre manufactured goods; leather and fabric gloves; bicycles; hydraulic turbines; machine tools and other machinery; heavy electrical equipment and other electrical industry products and electronics; watches, clocks and parts; optical industry products; cutlery; scientific apparatus; pencils and pens; pins, clips and fasteners; soft fibre; insulation board and manufactured cork products; chemicals; toys; mushrooms; farm, dairy and dried milk products, wallpaper, hats and millinery, printing industry products ladies hand bags and leather goods; nails, wire, screws, bolts and nuts and many other commodities; will render the upholding of the economy at its high levels most uncertain and difficult, unless all import trade is placed on a fair competitive basis and the potential injury therefrom thus eliminated; and

Whereas, Agricultural products such as wheat, wheat flour, cotton, butter, cheese and peanuts enjoy the protection of import quotas; and

Whereas, A maximum of satisfactory trade results from a prosperous domestic economy freed from the threat of a breakdown resulting from unfair import competition; therefore be it

Resolved (if the House of Representatives concurs), that the General Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania hereby memorialize the Congress of the United States that adequate safeguards be provided in tariff and trade legislation, including import quotas, against the destruction or lowering of our American standard of living, the labor standard of our workmen, and the stability of our economy by unfair import competition and that the existing trade agreement legislation be amended accordingly; and be it further

Resolved, That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the President of the United States, the Vice President of the United States the Secretary of State, the Secretary of Commerce, the Secretary of Labor, the Secretary of Agriculture, the Chairman of the United States Tariff Commission, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and each Senator and Representative from Pennsylvania in the Congress of the United States.

PERMISSION TO ADDRESS SENATE

Mr. STIEFEL asked and obtained unanimous consent to address the Senate.

Mr. STIEFEL. Mr. President, I am about to present a lengthy resolution on behalf of myself and my colleagues, Senator Dent and Senator Barr.

Mr. President, I do not hail from Pittsburgh; I am from Philadelphia. Therefore, I do not have to curry favor with anybody in Pittsburgh. This resolution which I am about to present pays homage to a great Pennsylvania industrialist, H. J. Heinz II, for his vision and for his genius in erecting a new structure which will be the last word in the world on food processing.

Invariably Pittsburgh is now known as the "Anvil of Titans" and the Miracle City, which was made possible by the genius of Mayor Lawrence. This resolution pays tribute to Mr. Heinz and to Mayor Lawrence.

Mr. President, I present this resolution and it will probably be referred to the proper committee.

SENATE RESOLUTION REFERRED TO COMMITTEE
EXTENDING COMMENDATIONS AND CONGRATULATIONS TO H. J. HEINZ II AND THE HONORABLE DAVID L. LAWRENCE

Messrs. STIEFEL, DENT and BARR offered the following resolution which was twice read and referred to the Committee on Rules:

In the Senate, January 30, 1956.

From the gray mists of mankind's pre-dawn antiquity to the contemporary global combats of Nations in this our atomic age, the supply of food of the belligerents was and still remains the dominant factor in attaining victory. Appomatox, Compiegne and the redbrick schoolhouse in the shadows of the Rheims Cathedral tell the story of our Republic's vanquished foes who begged for food even prior to armistic negotiations.

A gifted author by the name Jacob in a fascinating and edifying book entitled "Six Thousand Years of Bread" has projected mankind's story against the backdrop of availability of bread showing how this basic food shaped the destinies of nations.

The study of food, the abundance or paucity thereof in certain parts of the globe, the curse of its waste and the blessings of its preservation, its nutritional values, the evolution and invention of new products—all offer wider horizons and new challenging frontiers of research and production.

Food engineering is gradually forging to the fore to occupy a position of eminence along mankind's benefactors such as chemical, mechanical, electrical, civil and industrial engineering. Food engineering is the food equivalent of chemical, engineering and represents a blend of mechanical engineering and the biological sciences.

Then there is now coming of age food technology! Tidal waves of technical progress are running through the food industry swept along by fast-paces improvement in operations and processes—these involve investigation, development and application of cold sterilization ultrasonics and a host of new in-stream quality control techniques. The coming attainments of food-technology are fascinating. Thus ultrasonic waves may be utilized to mix, homogenize, disperse, extract, precipitate, sterilize or measure food ingredients and products (ultrasonic generators already are used in breweries abroad to obtain greater extraction from hops in brew kettles). To control quality in process, developments are going beyond instruments which regulate such variables, as temperature, pressure, flow and level. Acidity, density and crystal state are under automatic control. And even such more subtle factors as color, texture, blend—even odor and taste—will be robotized.

In several European countries, notably in Germany, Food Engineering and Food Technology have been recognized to such an extent that they have been lifted to the levels of college education and Special Food Colleges created therein for that purpose.

Several months ago—Plans for the construction in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania of one of the most advanced food-research facilities in the world, a new Heinz Research and Quality Control Center, were announced by H. J. Heinz II, president of H. J. Heinz Company.

The new structure, to be built at a cost of three million dollars, will be constructed at the company's Pittsburgh headquarters and will serve as the research and development center for the domestic and international operations of the Heinz Company.

Announcement of plans for the imaginatively designed structure of aluminum, glass and steel was made by Mr. Heinz at the firm's annual meeting at Pittsburgh in August 1955. The target date for completion of the seven story building is January 1957.

The building will be erected on the site of the two older structures which were recently razed and adjacent to the present Administration Building. The new Center will contain a pilot plant, experimental kitchens, research laboratories, quality control laboratories and the scientific library of the company's Research and Quality Control Division, and also the executive officers for the worldwide operations of the company.

The new building will be a completely sealed structure with a double external glass skin, the transparent sections of which will be glare-proof and heat-proof. To service the entire external glass surface, a completely automatic window washing device will travel up and down between the internal vertical aluminum spandrels.

In the new Center all laboratory and research activity will be gathered under one roof except crop research, which will continue at the experimental farms in Ohio. In the building, such tongue twisters as the Organoleptic Laboratories—in which Heinz varieties are sampled carefully and consistently for flavor, color, consistency and appearance—will be housed with such other important investigative activities as the Packaging Research and Microbiological and Nutritional Research Laboratories.

"We are placing a building under construction that we believe will be in keeping with the new Pittsburgh at the same time it answers our own needs for a most important facility," so announced H. J. Heinz II, President of the H. J. Heinz Company and one of Pittsburgh's Titans of Industry.

The City of Pittsburgh—Pennsylvania's "Anvil of Titans" and the Miracle City of the Nation has a degree of similarity with the legendary Phoenix, not that it emerged from ashes in its pristine shape, but it planted magnificent industrial buildings in many of its sections that only a few decades ago were grimy soot-covered dilapidated slums, that blighted the heart of a mighty metropolis—Witness The Golden Triangle!

It is the vision and genius of a great leader, administrator and organizer, Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, who succeeded in mobilizing Pittsburgh's great industrialists, labor, financiers and leaders in all fields of cultural endeavors irrespective of party affiliations, around the banner of unsagging progress, that made possible the miracle of Pittsburgh. Towering among these Pittsburgh industrialists is H. J. Heinz II, a man of great vision and dynamic enterprise.

Be it therefore resolved, that the Senate of Pennsylvania extends its commendations and congratulations to H. J. Heinz II as a great Pennsylvanian and a man of vision and dynamic enterprise, who may yet be the one who will establish in Pennsylvania a College of Food engineering and Technology, as well as to the Honorable David L. Lawrence the great helmsman of Pittsburgh's Progressive and phenomenal rebuilding, and

Be it further resolved, that upon the passage of the instant resolution the Secretary of the Senate be and he is hereby directed to forward copies thereof to H. J. Heinz II and to the Honorable David L. Lawrence, Mayor of Pittsburgh.

REMARKS EXPUNGED FROM RECORD

Mr. HALUSKA. Mr. President, I just want to correct the record. During my discourse on the Morganza affair, I used the word "convicted." We convicted no one. I would like to have that stricken out and probably say, in my mind, "indicted." The committee convicted no one and I, therefore, would like to change the record accordingly.

The PRESIDENT. The remarks of the gentleman from Cambria, Mr. Haluska, will be spread upon the Legislative Journal.

BILLS ON SECOND READING

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 3 of today's calendar, House Bill No. 1385.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1385, entitled:

An Act amending the act of May 22, 1933 (P. L. 851) entitled "An Act fixing the pay and mileage of jurors and witnesses" requiring employers to make certain payments to employes when on jury duty.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to

Ordered, To be transcribed for third reading.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I call up on page 4 of today's calendar, House Bill 1856.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the second reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1856, entitled:

An Act making an appropriation to the Department of Welfare for the maintenance of certain hospitals.

The first section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

Mr. WORLEY offered the following amendments:

Amend Sec. 1, page 1, lines 2 to 4, by striking out "twenty-one million four" in line 2 all of line 3 and "000" in line 4 and inserting "twenty-one million four hundred sixty thousand forty dollars ($21,460,040."

Amend Sec. 1, page 11, line 18, by striking out "28,000" and inserting "51,040."

On the question.

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, this is the amount that the administrator of the Annie M. Warner Hospital in my county of Adams has requested I ask be appropriated to them. They inform me that they absolutely need this much money.

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I rise to oppose the amendments to House Bill 1856 offered by the gentleman from Adams, Mr. Worley.

It is true, as it is true in most every case, that the hospitals ask for amounts greatly in excess of the amounts they have earned in the past or possibly could earn in the future.

For the information of the House, the amounts that are appropriated to the hospitals must be earned on a per diem basis as free patient days.

In this case there seems to be no justification whatever for increasing this amount. I might state that this bill 1856 was introduced over two months ago and in every case where any of the Members, or the hospitals themselves, brought to our attention that they felt it should be increased, or possibly decreased, we considered every case. In this case we had no request from Mr. Worley nor any request from the hospital in question. The amount that we allocated in this bill, which must be earned to be paid to the hospital, is an increase over the previous biennium and we feel is a fair amount. The Hospital Association of Pennsylvania has endorsed the amount shown in the bill, and I see no justification whatever for increasing this appropriation for the Gettysburg Hospital from $28,000 to $51,040.

As a matter of fact, if we had prepared this bill on the basis of the requests made, it would take many, many millions of dollars in excess of the amount that is contained in the bill. The bill does provide an increase from $16,772,000 over the 1953-1955 biennium to $21,437,000 as contained in the bill.

Mr. Speaker, there has been no information given to the Appropriations Committee by anyone which would justify any increase whatever in the appropriation to Gettysburg Hospital. For that reason I ask the Members of the House to vote down these amendments.

Mr. WORLEY. If I understood the gentleman to say that they have no request for the $51,040 that statement is incorrect. The secretary to the Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee showed me my request that I had made, which was on file with them; just this last week, it is on file. I made the request in writing.

I also made the same request to the Senate Appropriations Committee, and the Secretary to the Appropriations Committee, Mr. Stoner can show him my request over there. I made the request not only to the House Appropriations Committee, but I made the request also to the Senate Appropriations Committee.

If I understood the gentleman to say I did not make the request, he is absolutely incorrect and his records will show it. I can take him back to his own Committee room and show him by his own records that I made the request, I made it for $51,040. Does the gentleman deny that?

Mr. POLEN. Mr. Speaker, I did not say that. What I said was that that is the amount the hospital did request through Mr. Worley and the amount that the hospital requested. What I said, and I think he did not understand my statement, was that this bill carrying a $28,000 appropriation had been introduced over two months ago and during the interim, we had no request from either the hospital or Mr. Worley for any adjustment, nor any facts or figures given us that would justify the appropriation of over $51,000 which he is now requesting and which it is true he requested in the beginning.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, may I interrogate Mr. Polen, please?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Washington, Mr. Polen, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. POLEN. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, do I understand the gentleman to say that he does have in his records a request by me for $51,040?

Mr. POLEN. That is correct and I so stated.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the amendments?

Mr. WORLEY. Mr. Speaker, I ask for a division.

On a rising vote, thirty-one Members having voted in the affirmative and eighty-seven in the negative, the question was determined in the negative and the amendments were not agreed to.

On the question recurring,

Will the House agree to the section?

It was agreed to.

The second section and title were separately read and agreed to.

And said bill having been read at length the second time and agreed to.

They were agreed to.

The section was agreed to as amended.

The second section was read and agreed to.

The third section was read.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the section?

NOT VOTING—0

The majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the affirmative.

Ordered, That the Clerk present the same to the Senate for concurrence.

Agreeably to order

The House proceeded to the consideration on final passage of Senate Bill No. 467, entitled:

An Act providing for the creation and incorporation as bodies corporate and politic of joint service districts by counties cities boroughs towns and townships to perform certain functions prescribing the powers and duties of such joint service districts and the duties of participating counties cities boroughs towns and townships and conferring jurisdiction on courts of quarter sessions in connection therewith

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. BELL Mr. Speaker, this bill is the Joint Service District bill. When this bill came to this House from the Senate, it did not include cities of first class. Since then the bill has been amended to include cities of the first class.

Under this bill upon resolution of two or more adjoining municipalities and upon petition to the court of quarter sessions of the larger county various municipal functions of the adjoining municipalities could be turned over to a regional service district.

I charge that this bill as presently written constitutes a back-door attempt at partial annexation of the municipal functions of the municipalities of Delaware County, the attempt being by Philadelphia County, and Delaware County does not want any part of this annexation.

Right now in Delaware County we have an estimated 600,000 people; in 1950 we had a census of 425,000 people; in other words, we have now approximately 175,000 more people than we had in 1950. I make this estimate on the basis that we had in the 1954 election 247,000 registered voters.

Delaware County is composed of forty-nine separate municipalities and a number of these border on the city of Philadelphia.

This bill as written and as amended would permit a municipality to divest itself of its functions, its municipal functions, to a regional service district, and when I talk of its functions, I am talking about fire, sewer, police, schools, parks, highways and all the other functions of municipalities, leaving only a shell of the municipality plus the duty to pay the bills, plus the duty to collect the taxes.

I would like to go back to this past spring. We had a committee meeting of this House on House Bill 1544, I believe the number was. At this committee meeting Dr. Charlesworth, one of the Governor's braintrust, testified that legislation of this nature was in the nature of efficiency. He also told the legislative committee that it should disregard the desires of the boroughs and of the townships. I recall his statement, it was words to this effect, "you gave the boroughs and townships their powers, you can take them away." That is the type of efficiency you have in this bill, and I condemn it. I say it is un-American.

Where did this bill come from? The bill, which has been amended to be very close to 1544, is a brain-child of Mayor Clerk, the recent Mayor of the city of Philadelphia.

I would like to give you a little picture of our county, In our county of forty-nine different governments we find a fierce county pride; we find a fierce borough and township pride; we are proud of our own home rule; we are proud of our own local government. We do not need and we do not want help or interference in our boroughs and townships from the city of Philadelphia.

Delaware County, and its municipalities have been fully competent of governing by their own home rule since the days of the Swedes. Why are small local governments favored over this big city government?

First of all, the council, or the township commissioner, is accessible to the people. By that I mean, if you have a complaint you can go to your township commission, you can go to your borough council. What do you do if you have a complaint in the city of Philadelphia? I don't think you would be able to even find the mayor's office.

With respect to direct responsibility, the small boroughs, the small townships, they have a direct line to the voter. You will find in the small boroughs and townships great participation in local government and you find pride in government.

I mentioned the fact that we had risen in population from 425,000 to 600,000 in a little over five years. This is not due to a high birth rate, it is due to people who have left the city of Philadelphia and come out to the County of Delaware to establish new homes. They have left Philadelphia because of the high taxes of Philadelphia, the wage tax. They have left Philadelphia because they have sought happiness in their new community. These same new citizens of Delaware County are proud of their new homes.

Mayor Clark in his testimony on House Bill 1544 made a statement that Philadelphia wanted to help the suburban counties. When I was a small boy in school I learned a proverb, "Beware of Greeks who come bearing gifts." So I suspicion the crocodile tears of any Philadelphia politician whose heartstrings are torn by his desire to help my county. We do not feel we need the guidance of Philadelphia and we point with pride to the comparative status of Delaware County Schools, parks, sewage disposal—and we had sewage disposal long before Philadelphia ever was forced into it. We point with pride to our water, to our police, and, incidentally, we did not have to put on 105 new detectives in Delaware County and we do not need to put police guards on people going around collecting for "March of Dimes." We are proud of volunteer firemen in Delaware County, and we are not proud of a prospect of facing Philadelphia's taxation.

I charge the Philadelphia City Hall politicians are seeking through this amended bill a way by which they can reach across the county line and tax the residents of Delaware County and tax our industries.

Let us judge this bill by what would happen if this bill were passed and if any municipality in the County of Delaware were so foolish as to submit itself to the jurisdiction of such a district. It would be under the jurisdiction of the Philadelphia courts.

I also say that when these services are rendered the bills follow. Delaware County citizens would then be taxed to support a bureaucracy, not subject to local governmental control but directed from City Hall, Pennsylvania.

Mayor Clark criticized me at the hearing on House Bill 1544 because I spoke of what our community stood for, our tradition. I was accused of looking back to William Penn's time. I again say that tradition in this great country of ours is one of the finest things we have, and I say that the tradition of the free boroughs, the free townships, must be encouraged. We must not let a big city like Philadelphia seek to engulf the townships and boroughs of the surrounding counties.

I charge that if this bill were to pass this House and become law we would very shortly see Philadelphia politicians intervening in Delaware County borough and township elections, and we do not want them in there. I think that Philadelphia has enough problems of its own and I think they should spend all their time cleaning the mote out of their own eye.

Ladies and gentlemen, I want to thank you for your attention. I ask that you vote with me, that you don't follow party line on this, but vote for the right of the free borough, the free township, to maintain its freedom, to maintain one of the inalienable rights of American democracy.

Mr. TOLL. Mr. Speaker, in connection with this bill, it seems that the gentleman from Delaware has singled out and pointed out the largest city in the Commonwealth as the city where the danger lies.

This particular bill, without Philadelphia, did provide for joint service districts in communities bordering on Erie, Wilkes-Barre, Scranton, Pittsburgh and other large cities in the state. It seems to me that apparently the communities surrounding these other large cities are not as much worried about the effect of a joint service district as are the communities in Delaware County.

Dr. Charlesworth pointed out that there are considerable benefits to the joint service districts as a result of this bill. As a matter of fact, I can tell you that right now there are communities surrounding Philadelphia that rent from the City of Philadelphia the right to pass their sewage through the Philadelphia system.

I do not know whether any of them are in the Delaware County area, but I know that we have some in the Montgomery County area near my home. Since they are already renting the Philadelphia service, this is obviously a step in the same direction to have these communities perhaps improve the transportation and movement of the sewage.

It may well be that they may decide to have some common area in which they will maintain fire protection. Does it make any sense where I live, close to Cheltenham Avenue, and there is the problem of a fire close by that the fire engines must stop at a certain street and cannot get to the fire?

Let me call this to your attention. This bill is not necessarily a political bill. This is a bill which provides for referendum. This is a bill, if you will read one of the pages, provides that the community may do certain things; they are not forced to do anything. This merely gives them the legal basis for accomplishing what they want to accomplish.

So the gentleman from Delaware said if a little area, a borough or a municipality, is so foolish as to decide it had same advantages in lining up with Philadelphia, they will be overrun with Philadelphia politicians. The word "politician" in Philadelphia has been greatly cleaned up in the last four years. We do not have politicians in Philadelphia today, we have statesmen, we have the leading people in the community.

I feel the gentleman from Delaware should not be alarmed. I think this is a bill sponsored by the administration which is beneficial for all the communities in the state, and I hope that you will support it.

Mr. BELL. Mr. Speaker, I would like to add a few remarks to this rebuttal.

My good friend, Mr. Toll, the gentleman from Philadelphia, stated this was not a political bill. I hope that the Democrats from boroughs and townships heard him say that, because I am appealing to them to support the position of Delaware County.

He also stated that already services are being rendered across the city line. I say that services can be rendered by agreements between municipalities, by municipal authority.

In my own county, I live in the Borough of Upland,

I drink water from the Chester Municipal Authority and the sewage is carried through the Chester sewers. We have had compacts for years, and you know in your own county it works.

I again condemn this bill because if you do not think it is possible for the city of Philadelphia to look down the Delaware River into the Township of Tinicum with its tremendous industries—as a matter of fact, part of the Philadelphia airport is located in that township—if you do not think they are looking down that way and looking north and looking west, you are not reading the papers, because they are doing so.

Once they drain the little municipality of its municipal functions through such a district, the only duties left on the borough or the township fathers is the job of paying the bills and raising the taxes.

Ladies and gentlemen, I say this bill goes against what I have been taught to be the democratic system of government in this country. I have been taught that the closer you can get to the people, the better the government you give the people. There is nothing closer to the people than the boroughs and townships, these forty-nine different communities. The proof of the pudding consists of those 150,000 to 175,000 Philadelphians who have moved across the line in the past five years to the freedom of our small boroughs and townships.

Mr. Toll says this is not a political question here. I am asking the Democrats to support my friends among the Republicans and vote this bill down.

Mr. THOMAS H. W. JONES. Mr. Speaker, I would like to add one word to what Mr. Bell said in opposition to the bill.

It seems to me the great problem with this bill is not that it is a political bill but rather that it creates, as it were, a new level of government. At the present time the county commissioners, or the city administration in Philadelphia, is charged with the problem of sewage disposal, fire, police, and the like. If we take that away from the city government, or in Montgomery County the county government, the township and borough governments, it means we are turning it over to a joint service district and that the commissioners, township officials, city officials, and so forth, will have less to do. It means we will be paying people to manage this joint service district that we never had to pay before.

It means, in effect, that we are perhaps subverting the constitution. I feel we already have too many levels of government. We have our state government, our city government, all the rest of it, including the county government. In addition to that, we have school districts and municipal authorities. It seems to me simply a waste of the taxpayers' money to go into this sort of an arrangement.

It may be that there is some merit in it, but I do not think it has been given proper study. I think if you want to go into this sort of thing it might be better to amend the Constitution.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. TOLL. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I want to ask the gentleman

if he offered an amendment to Senate Bill No. 467 last week?

Mr. TOLL. I believe I did, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, did the gentleman tell this House at the time he offered this amendment that the amendment was not controversial?

Mr. TOLL. I don't recall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. I will remind the gentleman that he did, and I do not believe the Floor Leader on my side of the House even had a copy of the amendment.

Mr. TOLL. Just a minute, Mr. Speaker. I understand the amendment was cleared with both sides by the man who gave it to me.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, could I defer with the gentleman for a minute and ask permission to interrogate the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson?

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from McKean, Mr. Johnson, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. JOHNSON. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman from McKean if he received a copy of the amendment before it was offered?

Mr. JOHNSON. No, I did not receive a copy of the amendments, but I will have to say that the Majority Leader the day they were going to offer the amendment did say the gentleman was going to offer non-controversial amendments to the bill.

Mr. ISAACS. I would like to ask the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, if he was familiar with House Bill 1544?

Mr. TOLL. I was, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Was the gentleman aware that a public hearing was held on this bill by the Chairman of the Committee on Counties, Mr. Wheeler?

Mr. TOLL. I was, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. ISAACS. Would the gentleman still contend that the bill was not controversial?

Mr. TOLL. House Bill 1544 contained elements of controversy which resulted in the hearing. This particular bill passed the Senate 49-0.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I would like to ask the gentleman if the amendments he slipped into this bill did not make it very similar to House Bill 1544?

Mr. TOLL.. I do not know whether this is exactly like 1544, but this was merely broadened to include Philadelphia. Since this bill passed the Senate by the unanimous vote of the Senate, there was no reason for leaving Philadelphia out of this bill.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, will the gentleman tell me what the difference is between Senate Bill 467 in its present form and House Bill 1544?

Mr. TOLL. At this moment I cannot, Mr. Speaker. I will have to examine both bills in order to give you a proper reply.

Mr. ISAACS. I thank the gentleman, Mr. Speaker. He just said he was familiar with the bill.

Mr. TOLL. Not in the sense, Mr. Speaker, that I can tell him the exact nature of the differences between the two bills, but I am generally familiar with the both bills.

Mr. ISAACS. Mr. Speaker, I wish to add to the remarks made by my colleague from Delaware, Mr. Bell, with which I agree wholeheartedly.

At the hearing before the Committee on Counties on House Bill 1544 conducted by the gentleman from Fayette, Mr. Wheeler, former Mayor Clark of the city of Philadelphia made this statement, and I can almost quote it, that he was very much in favor of 1544 and he said before that Committee it was a weak bill he had offered in 1544, and the only reason a stronger bill was not offered was because he did not want to stir up too much controversy.

I have no fight with the city of Philadelphia so long as they confine their government to the city of Philadelphia. However, some of their officials, their former Mayor has been complaining about his stores moving out, his business moving out and a lot of his substantial people moving out.

The reasons for that I am not going to relate here. However, there must be a reason. I think it behooves the city of Philadelphia to make Philadelphia such a place to live that its business, its people and its stores will not want to leave the city.

Philadelphia has nothing that Delaware County wants. Anything we have I contend we have better. I have in my own borough people from Philadelphia moving out by the hundreds, and for the information of the gentleman they are coming out there and making good republicans.

I am going to ask the Members on both sides of the House to vote down this vicious attempt at slow annexation.

Mr. CONNELLY. Mr. Speaker, I would just like to add to the information Mr. Toll gave in regard to regional service.

Some of the communities in Delaware County do have such service with Philadelphia. I want to explain to the Members of the House just what it will cost those different municipalities. I happen to be a commissioner down in Upper Darby Township, I am in my twenty-fifth year as a commissioner. Before I went on that board and up to the present time we had been using part of the system into Philadelphia to take care of our sewage. I judge for the past thirty years or more we have been paying $1,000 per year. Starting next year, or the year after—now this is regional service—it is going to be $132,000.

If we go into the other services, our police department in Upper Darby Township—incidentally, while we are a township, according to the highway figures, we are the seventh largest community in Pennsylvania. We pay over one-half million dollars for our police protection. If we were to get that from Philadelphia, judging by what they are going to charge for sewage, there could not be enough money in Upper Darby Township to pay just for police service.

We have our own highway department, and we have a very good highway department the same as we have "good" in every department we have in Upper Darby Township.

Our people appreciate Philadelphia to a certain extent, but they do not want to belong to Philadelphia and that is why they are out with us. We have, I suppose, at the present time in Upper Darby Township 100,000 people and I just wanted you people to know what the service is going to cost the communities outside of Philadelphia.

Incidentally, I would like to see this bill passed over to give the different associations of this state an opportunity to bring this up at their conventions. If this were brought up at the Township Commissioners Association of the State of Pennsylvania, I doubt if one of those townships surrounding those cities and supposed to be in line to get this service would want service from another community. That would also go for the second class townships, the boroughs and third class cities.

I ask for a slow roll call and only those in their seats to be recorded.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, the gentleman from Delaware, Mr. Isaacs, made a statement that I think should be explained. He inferred, or stated, that the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, had slipped some amendments into this bill. I do not think his choice of words was particularly fortunate.

At the time I spoke to Mr. Johnson concerning the amendments which were then offered by Mr. Toll, I had no idea that they would be controversial. I knew they would add Philadelphia to this bill and, if I made the statement to Mr. Johnson that I thought they were not controversial, it was in error. I will admit being in error, but I know the gentleman from Philadelphia, Mr. Toll, did not slip any amendments in, in that respect. He offered them, they were not contested. They are in the bill now and they seem to be highly controversial. So I say if I was in error in thinking they were not, then it was my error and not any reprehensible act on the part of the gentleman from Philadelphia.

A lot of things have developed in this debate which I do not think are fully understood by the Members who are not from the Philadelphia area, and for this reason and in order that we might have more time to consider arguments made by the gentlemen from Delaware and others as to whether this is or is not a good thing, at this time I move that this bill be postponed.

On the question recurring?

Shall the bill pass finally?

There being no objection

House Bill No. 1782, Printer's No. 1114,

was passed over at the request of Mr. READINGER.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1872, entitled:

An Act amending the act of August 9, 1955 (Act No. 130) entitled "An act relating to counties of the third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" authorizing the appointment of depositories for county funds by the county treasurer.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. LOPRESTI. Mr. Speaker, just recently we passed a county code in this House and that county code changes the law with reference to the designating of depositories by a county.

Prior to the recent county code the county treasurer was the individual who designated the depository for the county, and all county funds were placed there without any approval from the county commissioners. The county commissioners, being the group who are the actual administrators of the county and who many times were required to go out and borrow funds on temporary loans, or perhaps longer term loans, in many cases found their depositories were in small banks located at the county seat which under law were not in a position to make loans to the county. The commissioners found themselves going to larger banks asking for approval of loans, and at the same time those banks were not participating in the deposits of the funds of the county.

After considerable discussion back and forth between the county treasurers and the county commissioners of Pennsylvania, the code was amended so that both the county treasurer and the county commissioners jointly, acting together, would name the depositories. That was a sort of compromise arrangement which was made between the commissioners and the treasurers at the time the county code was passed.

The bill that is before us today seeks to destroy that compromise and return to the county treasurers the sole right to name the depositories. To my knowledge, this is the only case where a municipal treasurer has the right to designate the depository for funds. Your law governing boroughs, cities, school districts and, to my knowledge, all the other municipal corporations of Pennsylvania allows the governing body, either the council, or the school board, or the supervisors, whoever the governing body may be, to name the depositories.

I think in the interest of good business that is the way it should be done, and inasmuch as the recent county code represented a true compromise between these two groups of individuals, the county commissioners and the county treasurers, I think this bill should not be permitted to pass the House at this time.

Less than the majority required by the Constitution having voted in the affirmative, the question was determined in the negative and the bill falls.

Agreeably to order,

The House proceeded to the third reading and consideration of House Bill No. 1828, entitled:

An Act repealing section 445 act of August 9, 1955 (Act No. 130) entitled "An act relating to counties of the third fourth fifth sixth seventh and eighth classes amending revising consolidating and changing the laws relating thereto" further regulating the payment by the counties of expenses of the association of county commissioners solicitors and chief clerks.

On the question,

Will the House agree to the bill on third reading?

It was agreed to.

On the question,

Shall the bill pass finally?

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I would like to interrogate Mr. Swartz, one of the sponsors of the bill.

The SPEAKER pro tempore. Will the gentleman from Lycoming, Mr. Swartz, permit himself to be interrogated?

Mr. SWARTZ. I shall, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I desire to ask the gentleman exactly what this bill will do. I notice it repeals a section of the 1955 County Code relating to the payment by the county of expenses of certain county officials, but I do not understand just what the bill does.

Mr. SWARTZ. Mr. Speaker, this bill will repeal Section 445. It is stated above the amount that would be designated for the expenses of each of these officers, but down below it says:

"In addition to the expenses herein before authorized, the necessary expenses of the association of county commissioners, county solicitors and chief clerks shall be apportioned among the counties holding membership in the association in amounts provided for by the rules and regulations of the association, but shall not total more than . . ."

In addition, the third class county would be assessed $300 for the state organization, the fourth class county would be assessed $250 additional, the fifth class county $200 additional and the sixth class county $150 additional, besides the amount allotted for the different officers.

Mr. READINGER. May I ask the gentleman whether I understand correctly that this bill would eliminate any contributions by the counties to the general purposes of these associations and their meetings and would allow only a certain amount to be paid by the county for the officials who would attend them?

Mr. SWARTZ. This act reads in the code:

"In the case of county commissioners, county solicitor and county clerk, county controllers, sheriffs, registers of wills, county treasurers, recorders of deeds, prothonotaries, clerks of courts of quarter sessions and district attorneys the portion of the annual expenses charged to each county shall not exceed seventy-five dollars ($75). In the case of the directors of veterans' affairs the portion charged to each county shall not exceed fifty dollars ($50), and in the case of the probation officers an annual membership subscription not exceeding six dollars ($6) per member shall be paid by the county and shall be in lieu of the expenses hereinbefore in this section provided for other county officers."

In other words, the preceding part of this Section 445, which would be repealed according to this bill, is in addition to what I just read.

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I do not like to prolong this, but I am afraid I do not understand it. May I suggest that this bill go over until I get an opportunity and the other Members get an opportunity to read the statute that the gentleman has been reading to us?

I believe the bill might have merit and I would like to see it passed, but I would rather understand it a little better first.

Mr. SWARTZ. That will be perfectly all right.

On the question recurring,

Shall the bill pass finally?

BILL POSTPONED

Mr. READINGER. Mr. Speaker, I move that this bill be placed on the final passage postponed calendar. The motion was agreed to.

SENATE

TUESDAY, January 31, 1956.

The Senate met at 10:00 o'clock, a. m., Eastern Standard Time.

The PRESIDENT (Lieutenant-Governor Roy E. Furman) in the Chair.

PRAYER

The Chaplain, Rev. GEORGE D. WOLFE, Pastor of St. Peter's and St. Paul's Lutheran Churches, Erie, offered the following prayer:

Let us pray.

Almighty God, Father of our souls, grant to the Members and Officers of this Senate a moment of sacredness and quiet before they take up the tasks of the day. As we meet again for the work to which Thou hast called us, keep us ever remindful of our duties to our fellow leaders and to our people at home, as we shall have to answer to them and to Thee for all that is done.

Keep before us the figure of our Lord, who for our salvation kept even the least of the law's demands all the way to the terrible cross that we might live.

Give us patience, fidelity and zest for the hours and the efforts that are required of us. Give us thankful hearts for the gifts Thou hast bestowed upon us, that we may offer them gladly in Thy service and the service of our State. Let Thy Holy Spirit direct, inspire and empower us in the business of the day that our work may be well done.

We ask this in the Name of our Lord and Savior, Jesus Christ. Amen.
